TORONTO MAN DIES ON FLIGHT HOME

Reds Pledge Lifting Of Blockade

Ask Only 2 Conditions Want Meeting; Western Ban Halted

NEW YORK, April 28.—(CP).—A top-level British source today revealed that Russia's Jakob A. Malik gave verbal assurances the Berlin blockade will be lifted if a Council of Foreign Ministers is called.

The Tass News Agency report said these were the conditions: Simultaneous lifting by east and west of transport restrictions and setting a date for a meeting of the foreign ministers.

The source said there was no expectation here the blockade would be lifted within three or four days as reports from the German capital suggested.

He said there probably would first be a meeting here of representatives of the four big powers to decide on dates for lifting the blockade and convening the Council of Foreign Ministers.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, American ambassador - at - large, submitted yesterday the request that the Russians say officially and in writing what they have in mind as terms for lifting the blockade, a main cold-war irritant.

Jessup's 92 - minute meeting yesterday with two Soviet deputy foreign ministers, Andrei A. Gromyko and Jakob A. Malik, was surrounded by unusual secrecy.

Reports said Malik told Jessup that Russia would not ask the Western Allies to change their plans to set up a West German republic, independent of the Soviet zone. There had been a lot of speculation that the Kremlin had sprung the new overtures in an effort to block formation of the Western republic.

Thus far the Russians have stood publicly on an announcement by their official news agency, Tass, that they have offered to lift the blockade if the Westerners will lift theirs and bring the entire German issue to four-power discussion.

Until the Tass announcement, the Soviet Union had insisted that the four-power meeting precede lifting of the blockade, a condition which the West rejected.

Here Mr. and Mrs. Frost are cheered by the delegates after the results of the balloting was announced. Standing behind Mr. Frost is Mrs. George Drew, wife of the national leader.

No Decoy Duck Mitchell Says

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell told the Commons Wednesday he was "not going to be a decoy duck" for the Communist party in connection with the East Coast shipping strike.

Terming the ship tie-up the result of a jurisdictional dispute between unions, Mr. Mitchell said that since it started he had received many telegrams "such as one receives only from the Communist party — the language is obvious."

(The Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), which called the strike, is alleged to be dominated by Communists.)

"I am not going to be a decoy duck for the Communist party," Mr. Mitchell added, declaring that by this he meant no reflection on Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South), who had asked the question that prompted his statement.

Radar Screen Plans Completed In U.S.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (CP)—Plans for a radar screen to protect the United States against air attacks have been completed by the armed forces, said Maj.-Gen. Francis L. Ankenbrandt, director of communications for the air force.

The plans were worked out in conjunction with plans for a similar radar system being designed by the Canadian government.

Ankenbrandt said that approximately half the material needed for construction of the huge screen is available in supplies left over from the war.

Military officials have estimated its total cost at about $161,000,000.

Kill Mrs. Quezon Nine Others In Big Ambush

MANILA, April 28 (AP) — Mrs. Aurora Quezon, widow of the Philippines' first president, her daughter and son-in-law were killed today in a bloody machine-gun ambuscade that brought death to 10 persons. Ten others were others were wounded.

President Elpidio Quirino, notified of the ambush in the mountains of Northern Luzon, ordered an immediate campaign against the killers, whom he identifies as bandits.

Incomplete reports here said the party was moving through a narrow gorge of the Sierra Madre mountains, 88 miles from Manila, when a burst of machine-gun fire riddled the first two automobiles. They carried Mrs. Quezon and her immediate party.

Constabulary troopers returned the fire. There was a sharp fight in which the troopers suffered three dead and seven wounded.

Killed were Mrs. Quezon; her daughter, Maria Aurora Quezon; and Felpie Buencamino, husband of Mrs. Quezon's youngest daughter, Zenaida.

Also dead were Mayor Ponciano Bernardo of Quezon City, Maj. Primitivo San Augustin and his brother Maj. Antonio San Augustin, both noted guerrilla fighters during the war with Japan, a lieutenant and three constabulary privates.

Mrs. Quezon was beloved by Filipinos for her charity work with children, for leading the suffrage movement for Filipino women and as chairman of the Philippine Red Cross.

Red Pincers Closing Fast On Shanghai, Take Soochow

SHANGHAI, April 28—(AP)—The escape gate from Communist-threatened Shanghai began closing slowly today. For foreigners, the last ships were preparing to get under way. For the Chinese, land routes were coming under Communist troop domination. RAF planes stood by in Hong Kong, ready to evacuate the British community of Shanghai if authorities decide it is necessary. British warships still are in the Yangtze and Whangpoo but British authorities have not yet undertaken emergency evacuations.

Big naval craft moored down the river, out of range of Communist shore guns, may depart tonight or tomorrow, one naval officer said.

The approaching Communists appeared to be at least 30 or 40 miles away in mid-afternoon although they took Soochow (Wuhsien), about 50 miles west of Shanghai early yesterday. Their advance may be slowed down because they still have not sufficient forces ferried across the Yangtze to handle the various drives which are developing.

The Nationalists' "retired" president, Chiang Kai-shek, left early today on a destroyer after he had appealed to the people to fight "Communist tyranny." It was announced that Chiang, who said he was here only as a private citizen, would go to Amoy, opposite Formosa which has been built up as a "last stand" Nationalist bastion.

The Communists appear to have three spearheads moving toward objectives in this region. The one approaching Shanghai is reported to contain about 40,000 men. The one going from Soochow toward Hangchow, 85 miles south of Shanghai, appeared somewhat smaller. A third force of undetermined strength moved south.

Winning Fight For Baby's Life

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—A day-old baby boy today was reported in "fairly good" condition in hospital following transfusions completely replacing his blood.

John Lee Griffiths, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Griffiths, was rushed to the Hospital for Sick Children Wednesday night in an ambulance that took only 50 minutes to make the 57-mile trip from Barrie.

Doctors had given the baby little chance for survival. Suffering a blood malady, he was in an incubator since birth and was kept alive by administering oxygen continuously.

An emergency donor was waiting at the hospital. The child's type RH negative blood in which anti-bodies were destroying the cells, was completely replaced, officials said.

The baby weighed six pounds 10 ounces when born yesterday to Mrs. Griffith, 25-year-old war bride from Surrey, England, who married her R.C.A.F. husband overseas. The couple has another four-year-old daughter.

13 People Injured Seven Cars Derailed

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 28—(AP).—Thirteen persons were hurt today as a diner and six Pullmans of the Pennsylvania Railroad's westbound Broadway Limited were derailed as the train approached Fort Wayne.

Two passengers, a brakeman, six waiters and four cooks were taken to hospital.

The eleven members of the train crew also taken to hospital for examination were shaken up as the diner left the rails.

Dan Seibert, trainmaster of the Fort Wayne division, said the derailment apparently was caused by the breaking of a journal box on the first unit of a twin dining car. The break caused the derailment of this car, Seibert said, and six sleeping cars followed it off the rails.

None of the cars turned over.

OTTAWA AGAINST BARS

OTTAWA — Controller Daniel McCann gave notice that he is going to propose a bylaw forbidding any more cocktail bars in Ottawa.

CCF Sees Federal Election Another Smear Campaign

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said today he has "disturbing information" that there will be a repitition" that there will be a repetielection of "the smear campaign of misrepresentation and abuse" which was directed at his party in 1945.

He also told a press conference that he will be making a coast-to-coast tour to back up a campaign into which the CCF will inject some 200 candidates and in which he thinks the party can make "substantial gains."

The real fight, Mr. Coldwell said, will be between the Liberals and CCF with the Progressive Conservative probably suffering a net loss in Commons strength.

Mr. Coldwell said he had hoped the 1949 campaign "would be as clean as we could keep it." But there were signs of a revival of the "vicious newspaper ads of 1945" in which his party was represented as "wanting to take over every corner drug store and to nationalize the ice cream cone."

The vested interests, he said, were frightened because of CCF gains in Federal by-elections, the Ontario election and gain in total votes in Saskatchewan.

The "smear campaign" was backed with hundreds of thousands of dollars by "big business," he said, but he knew of no direct link with the two old parties.

The CCF would combat this as best it could with "very limited funds."

Loses Race With Death From Hospital

Jump Price Of Trip $275 To $650 Mid-Way To Ontario

TORONTO, April 28 (CP) — A 57-year-old Toronto man died in his wife's arms Wednesday night aboard a chartered aircraft bringing him home from a Battle Creek, Mich., hospital to die.

Hyman Bolter, who doctors said was suffering from incurable cancer, died before the plane reached nearby Malton airport.

His doctor, Dr. S. M. Linzon, said the trip was a "nightmare."

Three different Chicago air services promised to make the flight, then cancelled it because they were refused clearance to fly to Canada, he said.

A fourth air service was three hours late picking up the party, then increased the price of the trip from $275 to $650 in mid-air, he said. The pilots told them "they would turn back if the price wasn't satisfactory."

Had it not been for delays, he said, Mr. Bolter would have reached Toronto alive.

"He was dying," the doctor said. "But we wanted to get him home alive for his family."

No Comment

He said he did not know who told the air lines they could not get clearance to Canada. The pilots returned to Chicago and were not available for comment.

Dr. Linzon said the family motored to Battle Creek and from early yesterday morning until late yesterday afternoon tried to charter a plane for Toronto.

"Why they delayed a flight like that is beyond reason," he said.

Over Detroit, he said, the pilots told them they had not been able to get the aircraft they had originally arranged for, and the one they were using would cost more money. Mrs. Bolter wrote a cheque in mid-air for the extra money.

The aircraft they used was three hours late picking them up at Battle Creek, he said

Philip Accepts Post As College Chancellor

BANGOR, Wales, April 28 — (AP)—Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, described himself as a member of a "lost generation" today.

Accepting the honorary post of Chancellor of Bangor College, he said "the war cut short any chance there was of acquiring a higher education.

"The immense strain upon the resources of all the universities at the present moment is largely due to this lost generation trying to make up for what it missed between 1939 and 1945."

First official act of the 27-year-old Prince as Chancellor was to bestow an honorary degree of Doctor of Music on his wife, Princess Elizabeth. He said he hoped it would enrich her "precious life."

Inquiry Continues

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—Investigation into the Easter Monday disturbance at Collins Bay penitentiary is still being conducted, Justice Minister Garson said in the Commons today. Answering a question from John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), he said the report on the incident would be tabled as soon as he received it.

JOHANNESBURG, April 28 (Reuters).—Sixty-eight persons, mostly non-Europeans, today were killed when a passenger train crashed into the rear of another train halted at a small station on the main line eight miles west of Johannesburg.

Cabinet Changes Rumored After Meeting

TORONTO, April 28 (CP). — Speculation on possible Cabinet changes occupied political circles to-day in the wake of Leslie M. Frost's election yesterday as Ontario Progressive Conservative Leader.

The present Cabinet, headed by Premier Kennedy, met this morning, but Mr. Frost, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Mines, was not present. He is to confer with Mr. Kennedy later in the day when they are expected to decide when the new Leader will be sworn in as Premier and head of the Government.

It is reported in government circles that all members of the Cabinet will submit their resignations to give Mr. Frost a free hand in choosing his ministers. It is explained that this is purely formal procedure and does not signify any wholesale changes. It is also reported that the resignation of Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Minister of Health, will not be included because of his illness. He suffered a heart attack recently and is still in hospital. It is said his doctors have advised him to retire from his Cabinet post.

A Toronto paper reports that Dr. M. Phillips, member for Grey North, will succeed Mr. Kelley. It also suggests that W. E. Hamilton, member for Wellington South, and F. S. Thomas, Elgin, will enter the ministry, saying they are slated for Minister of Education and Provincial Treasurer, although it does not say which.

Charge Poland Hiding Issues

NEW YORK, April 28 (CP).—Canada to-day charged Poland introduced the controversy over Polish art treasures held in the Dominion to distract the United Nations from real issues.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's permanent delegate to the UN, said Poland's Julius Katz-Suchy was incorrect in stating the Canadian Government agreed to take custody of the treasures.

The art treasures went to Canada in 1940 for safekeeping from Nazi seizure and were never at any time in the custody or possession of the Canadian Government or any of its officials, McNaughton said

Approve Formula

LONDON, April 28—(Reuters). — Morning newspapers today overwhelmingly approved the formula by which India will remain within the Commonwealth after she becomes a republic. The announcement of the successful conclusion of the Commonwealth talks on India's status was widely played on front pages and evoked lengthy editorial comment.

Elect Leslie Frost Head Of Ontario Conservatives No Cabinet Changes Yet

Gets Big Majority Over 3 Toronto Lawyers With 834 Of 1,462 Votes; Face Country As United Party—Pledge

TORONTO, April 28—(CP).—Leslie Frost, an easy winner in Wednesday's Ontario Progressive Conservative leadership convention, will become Premier of Ontario, probably next week. The 54-year-old lawyer from the eastern Ontario town of Lindsay said he would meet today with Premier Kennedy, who is still Government leader. He had not had time to consider Cabinet changes, Mr. Frost said.

The vote which ended the three-day convention gave the Provincial Treasurer and Mines Minister 834 of the 1,462 votes cast and a whopping majority over the three Toronto lawyers who ran against him. Attorney-General Blackwell polled 442; Kelso Roberts, former member of the Legislature, 121; and Dana Porter, Education Minister, 65.

"I got into this leadership race only two weeks ago and I haven't had time since to think about anything else," Mr. Frost told newspaper men who asked about his plans.

There is speculation that he will make W. S. Gemmell of Sudbury Mines Minister. Another question concerned the intentions of Mr. Blackwell, who resigned as Attorney-General last year and then agreed to remain in the cabinet for a time.

Surprised To Win

Even Mr. Frost, favored candidate in pre-convention speculation, was surprised to win a clear majority on the first ballot. The number of votes polled by each candidate was not announced to the convention but chairman Alex McKenzie told the delegates Mr. Frost had won.

As the results were announced delegates swarmed over the platform and surrounded the smiling victor. Mr. Blackwell made his way through the throng to the microphone and asked the convention to make the choice unanimous. His motion was seconded by Mr. Roberts.

As the grey-haired Mr. Frost pushed his way to the microphone, the delegates who had sat in the packed hall under the blazing newsreel lights for more than two hours burst into "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. Frost who left his Lindsay law practice 22 years ago to take his seat in the Legislature, waved to the crowd and apologized for his "bewilderment" at the lights and the emotions of the moment.

He told the still-cheering crowd: "In all humility I accept the great trust you have placed in me."

Lindsay Preparing Welcome For Frost

LINDSAY, April 28 — (CP). — A public homecoming reception will be held next Tuesday for Leslie M. Frost, Lindsay lawyer who yesterday was named leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in Ontario.

County and municipal officials, along with children, cadets, Legion members and citizens are expected to turn out in thousands to welcome Mr. Frost, who automatically becomes Premier of Ontario, back to his home riding of Victoria and Haliburton.

Poles May Take Treasure Case Before UN Group

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) —The case of the priceless art treasures, long-sought in Canada by Communist Poland, may turn into a verbal duel before the United Nations or the permanent court of International Justice at The Hague.

This turn of events presented itself as Eugeniusz Jan Milnikiel, the Polish Minister to Canada, told newspaper men that in no case will his country consider taking the art-treasures "dispute" before the Canadian courts. It was an "international" affair, he said, and one strictly between the Canadian Federal and the Polish governments.

Although the greater part of the art works which Poland brought to Canada for safekeeping in 1938 had been confiscated by the Provincial government in Quebec in 1948, Mr. Milnikiel said he had never approached the Quebec government or its Premier, Maurice Duplessis, about the treasures.

The Polish Minister held a press conference to clear up and explain a 3,000-word note he had handed to the Federal government the week previously.

This "moral and material satisfaction," the minister said, did not mean that Poland would accept "monetary compensation" from the Canadian Federal Government in place of the treasures.

The treasures, which had been taken from the public museum at Krakow—the 16th century home of Polish kings—were "priceless."

Threaten Drew With Expulsion

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—Under threat of expulsion from the chamber, George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, today in the Commons withdrew a charge that Defence Minister Claxton had been attempting to "mislead" the House.

Mr. Drew retracted the statement after Prime Minister St. Laurent called on Speaker Gaspard Fauteaux to exercise the sanction if the Progressive Conservative leader did not withdraw.

Dr. Fauteux himself, pointing out that he had not had to order a member from the chamber in the five years of this dying parliament, urged Mr. Drew to withdraw so that that drastic disciplinary step could be avoided.

Mr. Drew agreed to do so, and the incident ended there.

Armed Police Seize Locks From Reds

Russians Make Vain Attempt To Take Over 3 Locks In British Sector

BERLIN, April 28 (CP) — Armed British military police in jeeps and an armored car seized control today of three canal locks in the British sector after the Russians made a vain attempt to take over the locks.

The Russians claim control of Berlin's waterways. They ordered their lock keeper to prevent craft from entering or leaving the locks without showing registration with the Soviet water control. The Russians gave a similar order yesterday but rescinded it after a British protest.

After the new Russian order, 24 British military police, led by a Major, drew up at the Charlottenburg lock, all armed with revolvers.

The British Major served a virtual order on the Russian Colonel from Soviet military headquarters, saying British authorities would not tolerate any Soviet interference with barge traffic in the British sector.

However, subsequent negotiations appeared to have been conducted in a friendly spirit. The Russian Colonel said he would bring back a reply from his Karlshorst headquarters later in the day.

The east-west "cold war" had flared up again when a group of Russian tommy-gunners closed the locks, situated in the British and French sectors of the city, and halted four barges on their way to Gatow airport to pick up airlift supplies.

Technically, the canals passing through west Berlin form part of the inland waterways system of the Soviet zone and are under control of the Soviet military administration.

"Nevertheless," a British spokesman said, "we do not recognize any Russian right to interfere with barges carrying airlift freight from Gatow airport to warehouses in the western sectors particularly since they do not go anywhere near Soviet territory."

Cadets will have a few days leave before reporting to various establishments of the three services for summer training.

India Assured Of Place With Dominions

LONDON, April 28 (CP)—India's continued membership in the Commonwealth after she becomes a sovereign republic, under a constitution expected to take effect next August, was assured today in a historic declaration by the eight members of the world's oldest family of nations.

In 212 words the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan and Ceylon jointly pledged themselves "to remain united as free and equal members of the Commonwealth of Nations, freely co-operating in the pursuit of peace, liberty and progress."

The eight-power declaration was the fruit of the Commonwealth Conference here of seven prime ministers and L. B. Pearson, Canada's Minister for External Affairs.

It produced a way out of one of the most formidable constitutional problems in Commonwealth history—how a monarchy and a republic can exist in the same framework.

India will continue as a full member of the Commonwealth. The declaration says that the Asiatic sub-continent of 300,000,000 people will recognize the crown as "the symbol of the free association" of the Commonwealth's independent member nations "and as such the head of the commonwealth." But India will not acknowledge allegiance to the King.

Britain, Canada, Australia, New eZaland, South Africa, Pakistan and Ceylon continue as constitutional monarchies owing allegiance to the King.

St. Laurent Plans To Report On China

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) asked the government in the Commons Wednesday for a new statement on the situation among Canadians in war-torn China. Many people are anxious about relatives or friends, he said.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said the situation changed "from hour to hour" and promised to obtain as late a report as possible.

He said the Canadian Ambassador, Hon. T. C. Davis, has been very concerned about the whereabouts and safety of Canadian nationals.

Pipers March

As he continued to speak, three pipers marched into the hall followed by delegates carrying huge banners lettered: "congratulations Premier Frost."

"We will face the country as a united party," Mr. Frost said. "The friendly rivalry is over."

"Your leader is here to lead you but after all you are the soldiers and the people who do the work. I know I can count on all of you being united behind me as leader of this very great party."

Collection and counting of the ballots took precisely one hour. Delegates meanwhile fanned themselves in the sweltering heat, occasionally broke into song, or listened to a five-piece orchestra in a corner of the hall.

Only Delegates There

The hall was open only to delegates, who filled all the seats and lined the walls. Other spectators crowded outside the doors craning to see.

The afternoon's tumultuous scenes climaxed three days of spirited campaign by all four candidates.

Mr. Frost's pipers made regular trips around the convention floor led by a delegate literally covered in "Frost-for-leader" buttons. Mr. Roberts supporters were armed with noisemakers and showered delegates with balloons. Visitors to Mr. Porter's suite were entertained by a girl accordionist. Mr. Blackwell spent hours shaking hands and chatting with delegates who milled about his booth on the convention floor.

Many Telegrams

Led by the pipers and surrounded by well-wishers, he left the hall and returned to his hotel suite to read congratulatory telegrams.

The first was from the Board of Trade of his native Orillia. He and his brother Cecil Gray Frost began a law practice in Lindsay after the First World War in which they both served with the Simcoe Foresters. Leslie was severely wounded in 1918. The partnership continued until his brother's death in 1947.

The brothers went to school together, went to war together, worked together and married sisters. They saw eye-to-eye on politics and Cecil was president of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association from 1938 to 1943.

Leslie Miscampbell, Frost's godfather, Andrew Miscampbell, represented Simcoe East in the Ontario Legislature for years. His father, William S. Frost, was mayor of Orillia. His wife, Gertrude Jane Carew, is the daughter of John Carew, former Conservative member of the Legislature for Victoria.

Two CSU Crews Forced To Leave Ships

By The Canadian Press

Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) crews were forced Wednesday to abandon two strike-bound ships, one in Antwerp, the other in Long Beach, California, while in Halifax the rival Seafarers International Union (A.F.-L.) put a crew aboard the freighter Dufferin Bell.

In Montreal, the Canadian National Steamships announced all its principal ships now are manned by the S.I.U. sailing of the Lady Nelson marked resumption of the C.N.S. West Indies service, interrupted by the C.S.U. general strike call March 31.

Belgian police stood by in Antwerp as 27 C.S.U. men from the steamship Marchport were put ashore by their captain.

In Long Beach, a United States judge ordered 26 strikers on the Canadian freighter Argojohn to surrender immediate possession on the vessel to its owners, the Argonaut Navigation Company. The crew struck April 20.

Sixth Vessel

The Dufferin Bell is the sixth vessel, left idle in Halifax by the CSU since the strike started, that has been taken over by the rival union. Wednesday night a 30-man crew went aboard.

In Victoria, a restraining injunction ended CSU picketing of two eastern-owned freighters, the SIU-manned freighters Seaside and Riverside.

Blackburn Prospers With New Industries

BLACKBURN, England, April 28 (CP)—Blackburn, whose fortunes used to fluctuate with the cotton trade, now is enjoying a prosperity based on a variety of industries.

In the 1931 depression 31,000 of the Lancashire town's 109,000 inhabitants were registered unemployed. Even in 1937 the figure was 10,000. Now it is only 331.

While Blackburn still is the fourth largest weaving town in England, many new industries have been established. Factories now produce clothing and leather goods or specialize in high quality fabrics like silk velvet and silk tie cloth.

In 1929 some 63 per cent of the town's employed workers were engaged in textiles. Now the figure is about 25 per cent, with a similar number in engineering.

The town's long-term plans call for establishment of heavier industries which would provide additional male employment.

Food Analyst Solved Many Crimes Retires

VANCOUVER, — (CP) — Inspector, J. F. C. B. Vance, Vancouver's "Sherlock Homes," has retired after 42 years as city analyst during which he solved many crimes though never officially connected with the police department.

The white-haired, dynamic man looks more like a successful businessman or school principal than a criminologist. His title as inspector was purely honorary, in recognition of distinguished services.

For 14 years, ever since a series of attempts were made on his life, he has worked quietly behind the scenes in his laboratory containing $100,000 worth of scientific equipment — spectroscopes, microscopes and ballistic testing apparatus.

Along two walls he has arranged his museum, a record of almost all the major crimes back through the years.

He once reconstructed the events of a murder so convincingly that four Indian suspects claimed "black magic" and confessed. Tiny shreds of fabric near the death scene were the only clues.

His official job was to examine foodstuffs for possible impurities But Inspector Vance answered police calls to the scenes of most major crimes in Vancouver and has assisted authorities in almost every part of the provinces.

He developed a mechanism for photograhping odors with the aid of the spectroscope. No two individuals have exactly the same odor. Perfection of this device so that its finding will be accepted in court on the same basis as fingerprints is one of his retirement projects.

"The most satisfactory phase of our work," he said in an interview "has often been to establish beyond all doubt the absolute innocence of men who might otherwise have been convicted on the strength of overwhelming circumstantial evidence."

Mr. Vance remains silent about seven attempts to murder him made in 1935, saying "it is best forgotten about." The culprits were never found.

Searchers Have Clue From Plane Picture

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP). — The R.C.A.F today has embarked on a new photo-survey trek in an unrelenting effort to trace the whereabouts of an R.C.A.F. aircraft and seven men aboard, reported missing eight days ago.

While air force planes were grouping at Greenwood, N.S., preparing to carry out another 3,500-square-mile photo survey, at the outer edges of the 7,000-square-mile area covered two days ago, army photo interpretation officers were still scouring finished photos, trying to pinpoint the aircraft.

It is believed to be down somewhere in the hills or woods of New Brunswick. So far, they had not located the missing plane.

However, the photographs showed up one clue — a break in the ice of a lake 50 miles east of Presque Isle, Me., where the aircraft was last heard from. The clue was passed on to officials at Halifax, who will follow it up.

Declares Women "Braver Sex"

LONDON, — (CP) — Women often have a good deal more courage than men, judging by some of the anecdotes in "Fire Service Memories," a book of reminiscences recently published by Commander Sir Aylmer Firebrace, chief of fire staff for Great Britain from 1941 to 1947

He tells of how a firewoman was asked "Were you ever badly frightened during service?"

"Yes," she said and went on to relate:

"During a lull in a raid I had opened up my canteen van in front of the town hall at X Suddenly a second wave of bombers came in and quite a lot of incendiaries were dropped all around. I couldn't leave the canteen van and there was nowhere to take cover."

"Why didn't you get under the van?" she was asked.

For Men Only

"I tried to," she said "But there were 14 men under it already and there wasn't room."

Sir Aylmer recalls he told the story to a woman service officer and she capped it by this one:

One night, during a V-Bomb attack, she entered the mess and found all the men officers taking cover under the dinner table while two women auxiliaries waited to hand around the vegetables as soon as the men resumed their chairs.

Finally Sir Aylmer tells of a letter he got from a friend whose farm had just been hit by incendiary bombs. The letter ended:

"The bulls were terrified. The cows took no notice."

Urges Respect For Game Laws

CAMPBELLFORD, April 28—(ENS)—More men, women and children are interested in wild life than hockey or baseball," Pete McGillen, outdoor editor of the Toronto Telegram and former City Editor of the Peterborough Examiner, told the Campbellford and District Fish and Game Association Wednesday night.

Mr. McGillen stated that he preferred to live in small places where the people knew where they were going. He said that dwellers in large cities lived under a canopy of soot and smoke and their horizon was a mass of brick, cement and stone.

"Man in his stupidity upsets the balance of nature," he remarked. "Game laws should be strictly respected and associations such as yours are a powerful influence in preventing poaching and spearing. Remember, a fish caught out of season is a fish stolen from you."

Should Be Studied

He saaid that the fish were disappearing in Belmont lake and that a biologist should be stationed there for one season to explore the reason.

Reports on the number of fish caught, food conditions and water temperatures should be carefully kept. He believed that by performing such a test-tube experiment, types of fish suitable for this particular lake could be found. "The problem of re-stocking our lakes and streams should be done in a scientific and intelligent manner and through the co-operation of the people."

He said that Canadians should display more enthusiasm when speaking of their town and country. "Enthusiasm is like a smile, it catches on," he said.

T. J. Wilson introduced the speaker and Dr. O. C. Watson moved vote of thanks. Forrest Dennis was in the chair.

The New Ontario Leader

The Honourable Leslie Miscampbell Frost, K.C., has been chosen leader of the Ontario Conservative Party. It is an especial honour and responsibility for shortly he will become the sixteenth Premier of the Province of Ontario in succession to Premier T. L. Kennedy, veteran figure in the Ontario Legislature who is resigning the Premiership. We offer our congratulations to Mr. Frost with particular warmth because he is the member for neighbouring Victoria County, a resident of Lindsay, and is personally well known in Peterborough and the counties of this section of the Province of which he is now to become governmental head. His native Orillia where he was born 54 years ago, and the town of Lindsay where since the mid-twenties he has resided and practised the profession of law, will justly feel honoured by his elevation to party leadership and subsequently to the Premiership.

* * *

Mr. Frost has sat in the Provincial House since 1937. Since 1943 he has been Provincial Treasurer. He has demonstrated an administrative competence, an affable ability to follow and adopt party policies laid down by leaders under whom he has served, and his selection as head of the Ontario Conservatives on the first ballot by a large majority is proof of the delegates' confidence that he will be a trustworthy pivot of Conservative caucus as well as their belief that he will be a forceful leader. Mr. Frost is a rational man, endowed with a lawyer's power of analysis, valuable to him and to the Province in the onerous responsibilities he is now to assume. He is also in the full vigour of years and health, important assets to a man faced by the multitudinous exhausting duties of high office.

* * *

All people in this province must wish the new Conservative Leader well in his new position, for what he does and how he does it is important not only to Mr. Frost and the Conservatives, but to the Ontario public generally, since he will be the next Premier, the chief custodian and director of Ontario's large affairs.

Increased Pensions

The Federal Minister of Health introduced legislation which would raise by ten dollars the present basic old age pension rate to forty dollars a month. Since the House of Commons may act with special speed the new Bill is likely to go through before Parliament is dissolved. The change would mean that Ontario pensioners would be qualified to receive up to fifty dollars a month.

Such a sum is by no means full security against want in old age. There are three principal approaches to the matter of social security for the elderly. One supported by many enthusiasts for free enterprise is that the State should not encourage people to depend on the State for social security. They believe that old age pensions should not be granted holus-bolus, and some argue that there should be no such things, that they discourage thrift and individual enterprise and could undermine our economic system and the resourceful character of the people. According to this way of thinking, grants to elderly people should be given only when necessity is proved and then the grants should not be any larger than will keep the wolf away from the door.

A second approach to the matter is that old age pensions should be automatic for all when they reach a specified age, that there should be no means test, and that the pensions should be sufficiently large to allow elderly people to live on them comfortably. People who argue this way believe that the State owes people over the age of sixty, sixty-five or seventy, the means of existence and a materially comfortable old age. We have not yet seen any practical way in which such a comprehensive pension plan could be paid for in our dollar economy.

The third approach, and the one followed by the present Ottawa Government and most of the Provincial Governments is along a medial line between the two. These governments ensure that elderly people will not suffer privation, but the pensions are by no means munificent hand-outs to people whose only claim to reward may be that they have lived to be seventy.

The whole matter of social security at all stages from the cradle to the grave is part and parcel of the large economic and philosophic divergence of attitude between socialism and capitalism and not a lack of general desire for social security. The huge amount of life insurance sold in Canada, and the great numbers of people who are voluntarily subscribing to pension plans or taking out annuities testify to the popular demand for social security. The question is —should the State provide it or should individuals provide it for themselves? The present official Canadian answer is a compromise, which is what the basic pension rate is.

Do You Want To Know It Will Snow On The 24th Of May?

A scientist belonging to the Smithsonian Institute who studies sun-spots and various related climatic matters said in Washington the other day that it is possible to predict the weather accurately twelve months in advance. He says he has done it for Washington—that is, in daily temperatures. He may be able to perform such supernatural feats in and about Washington, but we defy him to do it in southern Ontario. Come up here for a year, Dr. Charles Abbot, and try your luck. We'll lay a dime on the international line that you couldn't have predicted the miseries of Easter Monday's weather or April days of snow.

Perhaps you would be unwise to try your luck in these parts, in case you should prove able to foretell with the detailed accuracy you say is now possible. You would not be popular if you were able to say with certainty that on May 24th there will be an inch of snow, that on the First of July it will rain cats-and-dogs, and that next Christmas will be green and clammy. We have been conditioned to take these calamities as they come, to put up and growl. We have not been conditioned to look forward to them with equanimity of spirit and mildness of temper. On third thought, Dr. Abbot, you had better stay in Washington. The truth may make us free, but the truth about the weather a year ahead of time would drive us batty. It is the sort of thing you do not whisper to your best friend, let alone set down on a cold public chart.

And where would half the pleasure of balmy bright days be if we were to expect them in advance, to have no delightful surprises? On the whole, rain or shine, it seems best to allow the weather in these parts its unpredicted vagaries. Allow us, Dr. Scientist, to continue to like or lump it as it comes.

An End To The Blockade?

It is right that the United States and Britain should warily study the reputed Soviet offer to lift the Berlin blockade. The Russian conductors of overtures have a way of making the music sound more pleasant than the play which is revealed when the curtain is raised. The western authorities have now had sufficient experience of Soviet methods not to be beguiled into approval merely by the sound of introductory notes. Nevertheless, there are reasons to believe that the Russian proposals may have virtue, and that good results may come of them.

One reason is that Britain and the United States have the upper hand in western Berlin. They have risen above the blockade, through the Berlin Air Lift. Thus the blockade has failed of its purpose, which was to drive the western nations out of the city. Further, western Germany is beginning to flourish, despite the efforts of Russia to undermine it. The new Anglo-American-sponsored West German State is about to come into healthy existence. The Russians may well be convinced that the blockade is now not only of no use but harmful to them. It is a restraint of trade and communications which even the Russians find irksome, and while the blockade continues, Berlin, including the Soviet sector, cannot operate as a useful city.

Should the blockade be lifted the international world will have moved a step toward toleration.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A psychologist asserts that human intelligence is about 450,000 years old. This merely serves to increase our admiration for the long, successful fight which great fields of human activity have waged against its incursions.

A pig which was one of the test animals at Bikini still shows no signs of shock from the atomic bomb. Obviously when the bomb has destroyed human civilization, the pigs will have to take over.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE WHITE GODDESS, by Robert Graves (Faber and Faber). This book should have been reviewed last autumn, when it first became available in Canada, but I started to read it, left off in the middle for some reason, and have just finished it. But it is a book that can wait, for it is likely to be a book of permanent value, and I do not see how anyone will be able to set up as a critic of poetry in the future who has not at least a nodding acquaintance with it. Graves calls it "A historical grammar of poetic myth" and it is the strangest and most fascinating book that I have ever read.

The book is a searching investigation of the subject: What is poetry? There are many answers to that question, all of them vague and many of them flabby, but Graves' answer is the most definite, and the least flabby that I have encountered. He says flatly that most of the stuff which is written as poetry nowadays is not the work of poets but of what he calls "gleemen"—fellows who compose more or less catchy verses on any theme that takes their fancy. The real poet writes for and under the inspiration of the Muse, and this Muse is the White Goddess.

Who, pray, is the White Goddess? She is, he says, the original Triple Deity who was worshipped throughout the whole of Europe long before the gods of Olympus were dreamed of; she was the goddess whose worship was dominant in that immensely distant past when civilization was not patriarchal, but matriarchal. Her three forms are The Maiden, or Beloved, the Mother, and The Hag, or Layer-Out of the dead. She was irresistibly fascinating and delightful and she was also unspeakably horrible and cruel. True poets, Graves asserts calmly, worship her still, whether they know it or not.

This is not mere vapouring. By an extremely complex train of argument involving detailed excursions into mythology and anthropology, Graves proves his case to his own satisfaction. Undoubtedly he will not prove it to the satisfaction of all his readers, but this is not a book which can be brushed aside, for it must be answered in its own terms, and men learned enough to dispute with Graves on this ground are very few. The most violent attacks on the book are likely to come from the Christian clergy, for Graves' assertions about the poetic nature of large sections of the Bible, and his relationship between Jesus and religion of the White Goddess open up remarkable new trains of speculation. Already Graves has given his views on this aspect of the matter in his novel "King Jesus" but in "The White Goddess" he makes them even plainer. Christianity, he says, contains not one single original element except the personality of Jesus himself; all else is Judaic, or Olympian, or perversion of the original worship of the White Goddess, who was given a somewhat inferior place in Christian worship as the Virgin Mary. But Christianity is essentially a religion which exalts the male above the female, and that is directly contrary to the rule of the Goddess.

To attempt to criticise such a book in detail, or to make a guess as to its ultimate value, is work beyond the capacities of the present writer. I am content to recommend this book to the curious, with the warning that they may find it hard reading. I dare to predict, however, that if they will follow it to its conclusion they will find it richly rewarding, for it is a huge book in its scope and implications. I intend to reread it as soon as possible.

THE SCENIC ART, by Henry James (edited by Allan Wade) Harper. This is a collection of Henry James theatre criticism, from 1872 to 1901. It must be said at once that this book represents James at his silliest and most tiresome. He appears to have liked the theatre, but in a chilly, lace-mitten fashion which accords ill with that lusty, rough-and-tumble form of art. He thought the American theatre of his time beneath notice; the English theatre (which was, we must recall, the theatre of Irving and Ellen Terry) he regarded as contemptible; there was only one theatre, and that was the theatre of France — no, of Paris (and indeed in Paris the only theatre of which he thoroughly approved was Le Comedie Francaise, and he was dreadfully fussed when that great organization once visited England). James admired "well-made" plays and he liked acting which was highly polished without being in any sense eccentric or original, as was the acting of Irving.

Yet James at his most irritating and foolish is good reading. It is not possible for a great writer to be a fool consistently, and among the old-maidish tut-tuttings and fantods of his theatre criticism there are many penetrating judgements, and some admirable first-hand descriptions of first-class French acting by a man who was a brilliant observer and analyst. James will not go down to history as a great drama critic, and indeed why should he? Surely it it enough for him to be in front rank of nineteenth century novelists. But this book is of permanent value for the shrewd observations on the theatre which it contains by a man who had no stomach for that vulgar and delightful habitation.

A Park At The Windmill

The Dominion authorities who have already done so much, and are doing even more, to establish and improve a chain of small national parks along the upper St. Lawrence are missing a golden opportunity to add one more link to that chain by failing to improve to that end lands adjoining the historic windmill below Prescott which are already the property of the Crown.

It is not because of its historic significance that we would urge the creation of a small park area at this spot, although it might easily qualify on that score. Rather is it because the headland in question dominates the St. Lawrence to the east as well as to the west and south and because in a heat wave it is perhaps the one spot along the river where one can be almost certain to catch a cool, refreshing breeze.

No large outlay of public funds would be required to put this project into execution.

THE COLD GREY DAWN

The Truth About Hockey

(R. D. OWEN IN KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, has stirred up quite a hullabaloo in the ranks of "big time" hockey promoters. He denounced the virtual bondage into which young players are forced under present conditions.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, offered some sanctimonious nonsense in rebuttal. He said the N.H.L. offered young men a "career" and would never interfere with their education. Only a few weeks ago Hugh Bolton was plucked out of Queen's University and put into a Toronto Marlboro uniform the moment his services were needed. That is simply one example.

"Big time" hockey certainly provides lucrative careers for its promoters. For the players hockey is something they can play profitably for a few years. When their day is over they are simply discarded, almost invariably with no training in any other kind of work. Undoubtedly hockey as operated in recent years has hurt many, many more players than it ever helped. It gives them a taste for "easy money" early in life and no way of getting that "easy money" a few years later when their value has been lost to their owners.

Capt. James Sutherland, a man who has devoted much of his life to hockey, is one of the few concerned with the game who doesn't seek to make money out of it. He is merely the exception which proves the rule.

For those who are professionally engaged in promoting the game, and lining their pockets with the proceeds, to talk about hockey as a "career" for young men is arrant balderdash.

Clubs in the N.H.L. own and operate most of the better "amateur" teams, either openly or on the quiet. They are merely dealing in hockey players as a drover deals in cattle. Their aim is to make money. There can be no objection to that. What is objectionable is that they dictate almost every move of young players and control their immediate futures absolutely. For these promoters to adopt a "holier than thou" attitude is ridiculous. Anyone who knows anything about the way hockey is being operated now, knows that Dr. Hall was right, even if he may have exaggerated a bit to prove his point.

Carpentry For The Blind

Britain's Minister of Pensions, Mr. Marquand, recently watched demonstrations of a machine which opens up new opportunities and profitable employment for the blind. These have just been installed at St. Dunstan's Training Centre for the Blind. They enable sightless people to saw and plane wood mechanically without risk of injury.

In these workshops, war blinded men and women are trained for suitable employment. Recently 166 ex-service men have acquired the necessary aptitude to take up work as capstan lathe operators in factories. Others have been trained for employment which requires a relative degree of skill even in people with normal sight.

St. Dunstan's authorities have just noted the first sign that the number of persons blinded in the Second World War is beginning to decline. It has dealt with 1,500 blind persons since the end of the war. This is almost identical with the number helped after the First World War. But between the two wars this total was doubled due to delayed effects of wounds and gas.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, When a man or woman shall commit any sin that men commit, to do a trespass against the Lord, and that person be guilty; then they shall confess their sin which they have done: and he shall recompense his trespass with the principal thereof, and add unto it the fifth part thereof, and give it unto him against whom he hath trespassed. (Num. 5: 5-7.)

And Jesus entered, and passed through Jericho. And, behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus, which was the chief among the publicans, and he was rich. And he sought to see Jesus who he was; and could not for the press, because he was little of stature: and he ran before, and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see him: for he was to pass that way.

And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said unto him, Zacchaeus, make haste, and come down: for to day I must abide by thy house. And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully. And when they saw it, they all murmured, saying, That he was gone to be guest with a man that is a sinner. And Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord; Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold.

And Jesus said unto him, This day is salvation come to this house, forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham. For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which is lost. (Luke 19: 1-10.)

MADE-IN-CANADA textile goods, ranging from soft cotton diapers to tough industrial fabrics, have helped in the battle to save U.S. dollars. Modernization and expansion of plant capacity in certain key industries in Canada has meant more goods made at home, fewer to be imported. Textiles is one of those key industries.

Dominion Textile, a part of the primary textile industry in Canada, is proud to have had a role to play in this important venture. The modernization of our plants which we have undertaken is part of our natural responsibility of keeping up with the times, of maintaining plants and equipment at a high level of mechanical perfection in order to increase the supply of top quality cotton goods for the consuming public and provide the best and most effective working conditions and opportunities for our employees. It is gratifying to know that following this policy has meant further assistance to the Canadian economy beyond our normal contribution of producing goods and providing jobs.

Marvel Gets Doubtful Fall Over Villmer In Main Tilt

The unmasked Marvel—Lew Reynheer—won a doubtful deciding fall over scrappy Ray Villmer in the main mat bout at the Brock Arena last night. The crowd swarmed around the ring as they mixed briefly afterward and Lew required police protection from angry fans to get to the dressing room. Villmer later asked for a rematch with a different referee.

The Marvel, at 250 pounds, took the final fall in eight minutes when he was caught up for an airplane spin but kicked off the ropes to unbalance Villmer, scaling 224, and pin him. Just before that, Ray picked up his husky opponent and spun him fast to flop on the Marvel but in the spinning he knocked Referee Bert Maxwell flying and Bert didn't get up till long after the usual count and Ray lost his big chance then. They had roughed it up hard, each in turn rasping the other's eyes, in a wide-open go which had the fans yelling, and pulling for Villmer.

Evened It Up

Ray took the second and equalizing fall in 10½ minutes with a long airplane spin after first jumping over the Marvel on a flying tackle off the ropes and then catching him on another with his shoulder. It was a lively finish to a fine round as the bigger and rougher Marvel threw the works at Ray but found the "toy bulldog" a fast, tricky and scrappy rival. The referee was kept busy as they mixed it all the way, Lew pulling his usual illegal stuff and Villmer ploughing right in in scrappy fashion to keep the unhooded horror on the jump throughout.

Lew won the first fall in 18 minutes with a "cobra hold," much like a choke neck-hold, but legal, and a spread. They had mixed hard in open mat warfare, pulling hair, using elbows and fists and generally keeping the place in an uproar. Ray early decided he had to rough it to hold his own with tough Reynheer who tried to wear him down with superior weight and illegal tactics. He did well with high speed and tricky moves, as the referee repeatedly warned Lew to lay off certain grips and tricks. The crowd was all for Ray and he gave them a real show before finally being clamped and felled by the Marvel.

Both Giants

Hi Lee, towering at 297 pounds, won the semi-final over 235-pound but tall Ben Sharpe in 24 minutes with a slam and a spread after punching Ben coming off the ropes. It was not a popular fall as Hi played it rough in the "battle of the giants." There wasn't too much wrestling seen as the husky young grapplers turned in a slam-bang performance with more boxing and barroom brawling than scientific mat work. Ben held his own for quite a time in the lively brawling but Lee finally caught him to gain the decision as the fans booed.

Pat Flanagan, popular 223-pounder from Toronto, took the prelim in 15 minutes from Bill Greathead, 260, with drop kicks and a body spread. Bill, a newcomer here, was big and rough but not too experienced and the speedy Flanagan earned the decision to the fans' delight. Greathead roughed it up from the start and he tossed Pat out of the ring after hanging him on the ropes, but Pat flew back shortly to chuck Bill out. The latter used a bandage on Pat's eyes, despite warnings, until Pat's mule kicks slowed him down and softened him up gradually for the fall. They battled after the bell, with Pat returning to the ring to show his superiority.

Confederation Wins First School Game

Hammering out 16 runs in a huge second inning yesterday on the East City diamond, Confederation opened their senior Public School Softball League season with a victory over King George. The latter used three twirlers in a vain effort to halt the flow of runs in the loose contest. The teams:

Confederation: Holden, Bryan Daniels, Outwater, Crowter, Tyndall, G. Simmons, Holland, Martin, C. Simmons, Brooks, Dunstan.

King George: Crowder, Ash, Withers, Sharpe Starr, Harding, Barkley, Roote, Barker, Williams, Thompson, Johnson, Bell.

Umpires: A. Hill and G. Ball.

Junior Puckists Honored At Club Dinner

The junior "B" hockey Oddfellows wound up their season last evening with an enjoyable dinner at the Empress, put on by the Triple Link Club. Glen Edwards, hockey club chairman, was master of ceremonies and head table guests included Ald. Hurrell Dodds, Frank Barrie, Noble Grand of Peterborough Lodge No. 111; Carl Milheron, Noble Grand of Otonabee Lodge; and Fred Vivash, District Deputy Grand Master of District No. 44.

The chairman briefly outlined the season's activities in a congratulatory speech to the players, and he announced that Ken Anderson won the most valuable player cup for the team.

Put in Plant

Ald. Dodds, representing the Mayor, outlined the work on the arena and said the artificial ice plant and terrazo flooring would be installed by July 1. He said "This secondary rink should never go in the red—there is room also on the lot for other recreational activity. Another thing, this Civic Arena will never be sold over the heads of the players. Despite the weather, the past season was a good one." He extended civic congratulations to the juniors on a good showing last winter.

Mr. Vivash, Mr. Barrie and Mr. Milheron also extended congratulations to the team and to the IOOF for its backing of the juniors. The press was thanked and Don Pagett, as team captain, thanked club officials. Later a hockey film was shown, with Jack Coons at the projector.

Bowls 395 Single

COBOURG, April 28—(ENS)—High single bowling score of the year was registered last night by Ed "Gabby" Harnett of the Dunham Aces. Gabby rolled 395 of which nine consecutive strikes were recorded but on the 10th the five-pin was left standing. The score was made in a game between the Dunham Aces and Earl's Men's Wear.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Derby County, an historic club in English football entered the game's Hall of Fame three years ago today. After 62 years in big-time soccer, the Rams, runners-up for the Cup final three times previously, had their name inscribed on the 75-year-old Football Association Cup. They did it with a convincing 4-1 victory over Charlton Athletic.

Sets Speed Record

CLEVELAND, April 28 (AP)—Harold E. Thompson of Stratford, Conn., yesterday set a world speed record for helicopters of 129.016 miles an hour. The previous record of 124.3 miles an hour was set June 28, 1948, at White Waltham, England, by Sqdn. Ldr. B. H. Arkell of the RAF.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Jim Flowers, Harriers Club secretary, asks for a plug on their three-mile road race from the "Y" at two Saturday aft. Glad to mention it, as these runners are strictly amateurs who race for the fun of it or the odd trophy. Definitely no cash as no admission is charged. In fact, distance running of five and 10 miles was a regular thing with us each autumn in more youthful days. We thought nothing of a jog to Nassau and back any evening at all. We think even less of it now. The race is open to anyone in the district with prizes up for first, second and third. Harriers practice each Tuesday and Thursday night at 7.30 in the Oval, and everyone is welcome to take part.

Though the government grant toward the Civic Arena here has been cut from 10 G's to $5,000, plans are going ahead for the flooring and artificial ice plant in the rink. To be ready in the fall. Some $3,400 profit was made last season and the necessary equipment all paid for. This was an excellent showing for a poor season of hockey, the weather being against hockey in a natural-ice centre, the OHA grouping for senior "B" being nothing to brag about, and some friction between teams cutting down at times on the gates. Yet, the arena cleared more than three grand and expenses in an abbreviated season. It should do much better next winter with artificial ice.

Scramble For Players

Yes, the scramble is on for players in the men's City Softball League since the certificates were handed out Tuesday night. Rumors fly thick and fast but we'll wait a bit to get more official word on the playing rosters of the various clubs. Five are in: Knights of Columbus, Irvin-Godson Outlaws, Uniteds, Cosmopolitans and the Peterborough Credit Jewellers. These titles will be cut down in news writeups to fit headings, but there they are. Managers, respectively, are: Johnny Russelle, Stew Richardson, Ken (Wimp) O'Toole, Howie Dalton and Stan Houlihan. If the Bowl is in shape, the schedule will open a week from next Tuesday. Umps should apply right away to Secretary Bert Bailey.

Seven teams will go in the Girls' Softball League this season: Lindsay, Lock Co., CGE, Marines, Westclox, Woollens and Ashby's. Lindsay will have home games in the Scugog centre, it was decided at last night's meeting, and the league starts play at the Bowl on Wednesday, May 25, with Westclox playing Marines at seven, followed by Lindsay vs. the Electrics. Schedule will be drawn up shortly now that Prexy Bill Bennett knows how many entries he has for the loop. The girls' and men's leagues plan to share expenses of a new home plate for the local diamond. Four umpires to date have applied but none selected as yet. So, the decks are cleared now for action in the femmes' circuit.

Marvel Gets Odd One

In the main mat go at the Brock last eve, the unmasked Marvel won a screwy final fall over Ray Villmer. Ref was down when Ray was on top but right on hand when Lew Reynheer flopped on Ray. Ray is 224 pounds and certainly can't be called small, yet he looked small in with the Marvel. Some smaller guys—like Mickey Walker, "toy bulldog" in boxing, and King Clancy in hockey, to name just a few—are big-time because of their furious fighting spirit and color. Villmer looks this type in wrestling. He has just about everything, mat science, speed, experience and rough stuff when needed, too, and he gave big Lew a real scrap with the crowd right behind him. Hi Lee won over Ben Sharpe in the semi-final, and Pat Flanagan took Bill Greathead in the prelim.

* * * * * *

Junior "B" puck Oddfellows had a nice club dinner at the Empress last eve, put on by the IOOF. These officials rate much credit as we really doubt if there'd be any OHA junior play here the past several winters if it weren't for the Triple Link Club. It was announced that Ken Anderson had won the most valuable player trophy, and he was a worthy candidate for it. Ald. Dodds spoke for the Mayor and said that the artificial ice plant and flooring would be in Civic Arena by July 1, which was welcome news to the gathering. Three prominent IOOF officials, Messrs. Barrie, Vivash and Milheron spoke briefly, and Glen Edwards was chairman.

Cricket Club Prepares Busy Season

By C. H. IRESON

Local cricketers are busy preparing for another season, one which may prove a landmark in the Peterborough sport. Owing to difficulty obtaining a full schedule, the Peterborough-Whitaker Club decided to join the Toronto Cricket Council. Outside of Grove School, and TCS at Port Hope, the nearest opponents were Oshawa and Toronto previously.

The club was warmly received by the Toronto Council and a good schedule of matches has been arranged for June, July and August. The Council has 18 clubs divided into three division with six teams in each. These are (1) Continental Life, (2) Godin division, and (3) Rawlinson. As expected the local club was placed in the Rawlinson section, the other teams in the being: Dovercourt, Parkdale B. New Hambledon, Grace Church B and Oshawa. These teams meet twice a season in home and home matches, making 10 games in all. The first match for the locals is against Grace Church B here on June 4.

Other Matches

Other matches may be arranged, including Grove and TCS, and there will be the county championships for the R. S. Matthews Challenge Trophy, now held by Peterborough County.

The club has last year's leading batsmen, F. Booth, H. B. Fyle and W. Wright. These three also were successful bowlers and, with Frank Dyer, formed a formidable attacking quartet. A. Pagett, out last season, will be on hand, while S. Jennings is an efficient wicket-keeper and B. Roberts should have a good season. There are also three newcomers in W. Evans, W. Freeman and E. Tomset, experienced players from the Old Country.

The local team will play TCS in Port Hope this Saturday, though it is early for the game and the players have had little or no practice. They hope to get together tonight for a workout, weather permitting. Following is the Council schedule:

June 4—Grace Church B at Peterborough.
June 11—Peterborough at Dovercourt.
June 18 Parkdale B at Peterborough.
June 25—Peterborough at New Hambledon.
July 9—Peterborough at Oshawa.
July 23—Dovercourt at Peterborough.
July 30—Peterborough at Grace Church B (UCC).
Aug. 6—New Hambledon at Peterborough.
Aug. 13—Peterborough at Parkdale B.
Aug. 20—Oshawa at Peterborough.

City Hall Tops Bowling In Mercantile

City Hall won the championship of the Mercantile Bowling League, finishing with 86 points, as Braund's No. 1 team was the runner-up with 78. Loblaw's No. 2, 56, Prudential 53, Bond's 42, Utilities 16, and A & P 14. The consolation on the final night went to Lift Lock with a count of 3015. Nylons were won by Joan Ronco with 237 and Irene Penrose with 216.

City Hall rolled the best scores of 3243 with a single of 1257. Ladies' high single went to Marjorie Armstrong with 338 as Winnifred McCarrell had best triple of 749. Ruby Pearse had high average of 216 for 81 games. Men's high single was taken by Bob Willshaw with 360, and Harold Cawker took top triple with 820. Harold Mesley had high average of 218 for 63 games. Sixty per cent of the games had to be played. The annual banquet is May 4 at Kawartha Club with team cap-having tickets.

Central Gets Win From Queen Alex

Central seniors opened their Public School Softball League schedule yesterday with a 13-3 victory over Queen Alexandra. They hit the ball hard to tally, four runs each in the first two frames, adding three in the third and two more in the fifth, as Queen Alex counted one in the second and a brace in the third. The teams:

Queen Alex: McFadden, Woods, R. Nicholls, B. Nicholls, McIlwain, Kingston, Oliver, Griffin, Macklin.

Central: Rowley, ss; Kelly, 1b; Delahaye, 2b; Black, c; Harte-Maxwell, 3b; Lush, lf; Gardner, rf; Nible, cf; Foster, p; Patterson, 3b; Brooks, cf.

Prince of Wales romped to a 20-6 senior School League softball opening triumph yesterday against King Edward. Both sides worked in a number of sub players in a game which started well but ended in one-sided manner. The teams:

King Edward: Frizzelle, p; Ball, c; Stuart, 1b; Whatley, 2b; Hunt, 3b; Harrison, ss; Murduff, rf; Crow, cf; Hobart, lf; Chalmers, Peters, Bryan.

Wings Bounce Newark 12-5

By The Associated Press

Russ Derry is starting the International League season as though he wants another shot at the big leagues.

With five home runs in the first six games, Rochester Red Wings' right-fielder is public enemy No. 1 of the league's pitching fraternity.

Derry, an ex-Yankee, hammered two homers and a single Wednesday as the Wings thumped Newark 12-5.

Jersey City clung to the league lead by drubbing Toronto 13-5 in a free-hitting contest. Led by Len Schulte, who had four hits, the Little Giants banged three Toronto pitchers for 16 hits.

Montreal scored seven runs in the first inning but just barely nosed out Syracuse 10-9 on a ninth-inning homer by Dee Fondy. Bob Morgan, Al Gionfriddo and pitcher Dan Bankhead homered for the Brooklyn farmhands.

Bingo Binks hit a two-run homer with two out in the last of the ninth to give Baltimore a 7-6 edge over Buffalo and their fourth straight victory.

Louis Begins Career At Fight Promoter

DETROIT, Apri 28— (AP). — Joe Louis' career as a fight promoter began auspiciously here on Wednesday night with Jack Dempsey, another former heavyweight champion, and featherweight champion Williel Pep in supporting roles.

A crowd of 10,062 fans saw the debut of the International Boxing Cub with Louis as promoter and matchmaker for a hand-picked card which grossed $21,490.80.

Every bout was a lulu. Two ended in knockouts and two others were bruising and thrilling a pair of fights as ever seen in Detroit.

Even a four-round exhibition between Champion Pep and Elis Ask, featherweight titlist of Finland, turned out to be a rough scrap, though fought with 12-ounce gloves.

Pirates Thump Cards 7-1 But Stan Rojek Injured

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Injuries to Stan Rojek, Bob Elliott and Lou Boudreau, all key men in the major-league races, overshadow the scores in today's baseball news.

Rojek's injury may be the most important. If the Pittsburgh shortstop, the "hustle guy" of Bill Meyer's infield, is lost for any appreciable time, the Pirates' pennant hopes may go a-glimmering.

A pitched ball by Ken Johnson, fifth St. Louis pitcher, struck Rojek near the left eye in the ninth inning Wednesday night at Sportsman's Park. He walked a short distance and collapsed.

Early reports from the hospital indicated that no fracture was found.

The incident took most of the zing out of the Pirates' 7-1 victory over the Cardinals. Murry Dickson, the ex-Cardinal who was purchased for $125,000 last winter, faced his old mates for the first time and handcuffed them with seven hits.

The victory put the Bucs in a first-place tie with New York Giants for the lead in the National League.

Felled by Drive

In Philadelphia the Boston Braves' third-baseman, Bob Elliott, was carried from the field on a stretcher. The big power man on the Boston attack was felled by a line drive off the bat of Puddin' Head Jones, Philadelphia Phillies' sensational rookie. Later it developed that Elliott's injury was not considered severe.

Despite Elliott's accident, the Braves shut out the Phils 2-0 on a fine three-hit effort by Warren Spahn.

Boudreau was forced to leave the Cleveland-Chicago afternoon game when hit on the left elbow by pitcher Orval Grove. The Cleveland player-manager said later he expected to play at Detroit tomorrow.

Cleveland went on a batting spree to ruin the White Sox 11-3, with Mickey Vernon and Ken Keltner hitting home runs.

New York Yankees' march was rudely interrupted at Washington when the Senators came from behind to break a seven-game losing streak, 4-3 in 10 innings. The Nats scored three in the ninth after Allie Reynolds pitched shutout ball for 8 2-3 innings. In the extra frame Washington hung the loss on Fireman Joe Page.

Another seven - game losing streak was broken when St. Louis Browns shaded Detroit Tigers 4-3 in 12 innings with Karl Dres outpitching Hal Newhouser.

Has Big Day

Vern (Junior) Stephens had a big batting day for Boston Red Sox in a 10-6 romp over Philadelphia A's. Stephens hit two homers and a single, driving in five runs. It was the second time he has done the same trick this season.

Afternoon action in the National League was featured by New York Giants' 11-8 victory over Brooklyn in a wild contest at the Polo Grounds. Rookie Pete Milne's pinch homer with the bases loaded helped the Giants come from behind after blowing a 6-0 lead.

Johnny Vander Meer fell victim of an old ailment—wildness—which Chicago Cubs turned into a six-run rally and an 8-3 victory over Cincinnati.

West's Victory No Matter Who Wins Cup

By MEL SUFRIN

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP). — The Allan Cup may be emblematic of country-wide senior hockey supremacy, but no matter who wins this year, it will still be a victory for the west.

That's because, of the 30 players on Ottawa Senators and Regina Capitals, no less than 23 originally come from west of the Great Lakes.

It's not going to make any difference to the hotly-partisan Ottawa fans, however, and more than 8,000 of them are expected to jam the auditorium here tonight for the opening game of the best-of-seven series.

Every member of the Caps is from one of the three prairie provinces. Three are from Alberta, including Sweeney Schriner, Ab McDougall and Bill Van Dellan, one—Toby Brown, speed artist from Brandon — is a native of Manitoba, and the rest are from Saskatchewan.

On the Senators, Winnipeg has a monopoly with seven players coming from the gateway city, while Stu Smith of Kenora, Ont., rounds out the western contingent.

Similarities between the two teams don't end with home towns, however. For one thing veterans dominate the lineups, and while a lot of players won't disclose their exact ages, the average works out to about 27 years per player for each squad.

Coach George (Buck) Boucher of Ottawa will use three forward lines headed by the tricky trio of Nils Tremblay, Ed Dartnell and Bill Robinson. The high-scoring line led the scoring race in the Quebec Senior Hockey League this season.

Regina also will have three well-balanced lines with starry Mel Hill and veteran Sweeney Schriner, both former N. H. L. players, centered by Chuck McCullogh on one unit.

Batting— Vern Stephens, Red Sox, hit two homers and a single, driving in five runs as Boston downed Philadelphia Athletics 10-6.

Pitching — Warren Spahn, Braves, shut out Phillies 2-0 with three hits.

Rouyn Wins

THESE ARE THE KIND of beauties trout fishermen dream about catching on Saturday in their favorite streams. Those above being admired by Alderman Adam Sands and children were taken last season. They are sufficient proof that our well-stocked streams contain enough for all, if you know where to go.

Trout Fishermen Be Out On Streams Early Saturday

Trout fishermen work harder at their sport than any other sportsmen. If they are not tying flies and building new rods as they dream through the long winters, they are varnishing reels, patching wader boots and getting into heated arguments about tensile strengths of lines and leaders. But to them it pays off, this year one day earlier, in the chilly dawn of Saturday morning.

They will be rolling along the roads that lead to trout haunts of their choice while headlights blur through the morning mists on the Cavan brook, Millbrook stream, the Ouse. Those with more money to spend and summer cottages to base their operations will go farther afield on Friday night. Their Utopias will bear map names such as Eel's Lake, Grindstone and Mosquito. They will be found in Haliburton in the Land o' Lakes and small streams of Durham and Northumberland counties. Not a few American cars can be seen around the city recently, trout-bound to spots only known to themselves. They are a tight-mouthed breed and if you get right down to it, a full creel is not the object of this frantic exodus.

To worm through tag alders at the expense of torn clothes and snarled tackle, is part of the game. And when they are tired of their first tussle with nature, they are content to sit on a rotting log with pipes drawing well and listen to the spring songs of birds that are busy about home building.

Two or three trout is the reward that satisfies most trout fishermen. When they get back to the city and show their catch to admiring friends, they will never tell where they were taken but wave the hands in some vague direction and smile knowingly as if to infer that they could turn around and go to the same spot for more. They are probably kidding themselves but it makes good yarning and it all is part of the splendid sport of trout fishing, months of preparation, a few speckled victims and enough dreams for a lifetime.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian Educational Association said Wednesday at Toronto that high school students who leave school to play hockey tend to become "hockey bums."

But the National Hockey League is "anxious to remedy the situation," a CEA report said.

"It appears the hockey situation as it applies to secondary school students is fairly serious in Ontario and to some extent in Montreal." Commenting on the report, president Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs said: "either the CEA's facts are false or it doesn't know what it is talking about."

At Fort Francis, Ont., Gordon Fraser, coach of ort Frances Canadians Hockey Club, said Wednesday night Al Pickard of Regina had suggested the club represent Canada in Europe this fall. Pickard is president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Fraser said he had approved of the proposal provided Pickard would agree to send the Canadians—defeated in the Western Canada senior finals by Regina Capitals—to Europe early enough in the fall to enable them to return here for the opening of the local hockey season and the new Memorial Arena.

Jake La Motta, whose iron chin has shown signs of rust lately, appears to hold the inside track as the next opponent for the middleweight boxing champion, Marcel Cerdan, on June 21. The tournament of champions, which was left holding an empty ball park when Tony Zale retirtd on Tuesday, huddled at New York with American representatives of the Frenchman in the hopes of coming up with a match to replace the cancelled Zale-Cerdan

At Windsor, Assumption College Purple Raiders Wednesday night swept into the Canadian Senior basketball final by defeating Montreal YMHA Blues, 67-45, to take the Eastern Canadian title in two straight games. The College team now meets defending champions Vancouver Cloverleafs in the first contest of the best-of-five game series at Vancouver starting May 2.

Commons Cheers India's Plan To Stay Partner In Commonwealth

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP) — The Commons greeted with thunderous applause Wednesday night Prime Minister St. Laurent's announcement that India has decided to remain a full partner in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Mr. St. Laurent read the text of the London statement detailing the results of the deliberations of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers on the constitutional question.

He said he was sure all Canadians would "rejoice in this new demonstration of the traditional capacity of the Commonwealth to strengthen its unity of purpose, while adopting its organization and procedures to changed circumstances."

"Everyone will rejoice in fact that, notwithstanding the exercising by the people of India of their right to determine the form of their democratic government, it has been found possible to have India remain as a member of the Commonwealth, and to continue the association of those nations whose traditions give them the same concept of a proper way of living and of democratic processes designed to further the welfare of the men and women of their respective nations."

Momentous Decision

George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, said the outcome of the London conference constituted 'one of the most momentous decisions" in many years and marked the first time in the long Commonwealth history that an Eastern nation has joined the Commonwealth as a full and free partner."

"It may well mark the beginning of a new period of growth and development of the greatest institution of free men that the world has ever known."

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said the development did not constitute the "liquidation" of the British Empire "but the evolution of something far greater than the Empire has ever been."

Children Studied Before Being Adopted

A special study of all permanent wards of the Children's Aid Society who might be permanently adopted by foster parents was made this year, Miss Rachael Young, superintendent, on Wednesday told the annual meeting of the Society.

This study was undertaken with a view to gaining enough information about the wards that they might be put in adoption homes. Inadequate knowledge of the children's background had in many cases prevented this.

As a result of the study 13 wards ranging in age from one to 12 years were placed on adoption probation, and 10 of them remained in the homes in which they had been living. The changing of foster homes produces a feeling of insecurity among the children, Miss Young stated, and therefore these changes were considered one of the greatest weaknesses of foster home work.

Miss Young said that invaluable assistant had been given by Dr. R. Matthews who gave the children psychometric tests.

She also stated that it meant a financial saving of $4,500 for the year and also accounts, partially, for the decrease in pay care chargeable to the municipality.

GODERICH, April 28 (CP) — W. Raywood Smith, 60, retired Middlesex County Engineer, and well-known conservationist, died in hospital here Wednesday after a brief illness. He was one of the early promotors of the upper Thames valley authority.

Police Hold Minister

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 28— (AP)—A 40-year-old clergyman was charged Wednesday night with first degree murder in the slaying of his wife. The charge was lodged against Rev. George P. Hetenyi four days after the body of Mrs. Jean Hetenyi, 25, was found lodged in driftwood in the Genesee River.

Historically Famous HURONIA

Three hundred years ago, an important outpost of Christian culture in the new world was wiped out when the savage Iroquois massacred the French Missionaries of Fort St. Marie. Today Huronia, as this part of Ontario is called, is visited by more people every year, both for its historic interest and because the 30,000 Islands on the east shore of Georgian Bay are as lovely a summer playground as any in the world. Whatever you look for in a vacation you will find there, with historical sites and interest thrown in. The famous 30,000 Islands cruise by lake steamer is a pleasant and relaxing way of seeing them. It leaves from Midland, whose Chamber of Commerce can give you full information on the whole area. You can drive to Midland in a day from Windsor or the Quebec border (Highways 2, 11 and 12), and in correspondingly less time from other points. There is good rail service from Toronto.

In Ontario we have a holiday paradise . . . let's do all we can to encourage visitors from across the border. Published in support of the tourist business by John Labatt Limited.

Cruel Treatment In Shipping Of Old Horses

Support of the Peterborough Humane Society has been sought by the Ottawa Humane Society in efforts now being made by the latter group to bring to an end alleged cruel treatment of worn out horses being shipped from Canada to European countries for slaughter. The request was made in a letter just received by the local group from G. A. Youle, president of the Ottawa society, which is trying to arouse a united front of humane societies all across the Dominion in an attempt to marshal public opinion against this traffic.

Mr. Youle enclosed with his letter a copy of a translation of an article on the subject which appeared in a recent issue of a Belgian newspaper. The article told what happened after the International League for the Protection of Horses, whose headquarters is in London, sent an inspector to watch the unloading of a shipment of horses imported from Canada for slaughter.

Many Ailments

The inspectors' report, the article related, "was far from favourable." It told of many of the shipment of 840 horses suffering from various ailment, such as: "more than half had swollen feet, stiff joints, and were in highly nervous condition. Twenty-seven had open wounds near the tail. One was badly injured in the shoulder and under the eyes, a second one had to be killed at the time of unloading and a third lay helpless on the quay, its head grazed and swollen."

The Belgian newspaper did not, however, lay all the blame for the horses' mistreatment on Canada, as it charged that the animals were also subjected to bad treatment after they reached Europe, including being left in closed wagons, "without the slightest care or attention waiting patiently for merciful death in a public slaughterhouse."

Probad to Minister

The Ottawa Humane Society also proposes that a deputation call upon the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa to press the case for suppression of his traffic as early as possible in the month of May. It is also proposed that "a Dominion animal protection society" be formed, with headquarters in Ottawa, which would be a central co-ordinating society or federation of all humane societies in Canada. These suggestions arose out of a conference held in Montreal on April 12, attended by the presidents of the Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa Humane Societies.

Mr. Youle also forwarded to the Peterborough group of copy of a letter he wrote on March 11 to an Ottawa newspaper in which he mentioned that "the only cure is virtual prohibition of the traffic", which was achieved in the United Kindom after some twenty to thirty years of "struggle against vested interest."

ATTENDING Annual Junior Farmers' conference at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph this week, farmerettes took time out to visit livestock barns. Here Thelma Silver and Marion Nicholson of Parkhill admire lambs and ewes.

Drop One Bill

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP).—Parliament will not consider this session legislation to nationalize overseas telecommunications. Such legislation was forecast in the speech from the Throne opening Parliament last Jan. 26, but the office of Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday the telecommunications bill will not be introduced.

New Israeli State Faces Rigid Austerity Planning

TEL AVIV, April 28 —(AP)— Israel's one-year battle against the armies of five Arab powers is over. But her fight for economic survival is only beginning. It is going to be the longest and hardest of the two.

1. The state is not self-supporting. It never has been. But it must achieve an economic balance somewhere near paying its own way.

2. The immigration program of doubling Israel's population in five years upsets all the normal rules of state economy.

In direct consequence the average Israeli finds his cost of living up 50 per cent in the last year, his taxes virtually doubled —and his wages increased only about 10 to 15 per cent.

He hasn't figured out yet how he will make ends meet. Neither has his state.

The states is hoping to find the permanent solution within itself: in its willingness to sacrifice, and its own potential to produce.

That means at least five years of "rigid austerity." The man just given the job of imposing it is Montreal-born Dr. Bernard Joseph, former Jewish military governor of Jerusalem and now director of provision and supply.

Still Working on It

His formula is still being planned. But the public here has been prepared for what it will amount to: a four-to-five-year program of controls patterned roughly upon Britain's wartime and post-war austerity program which economists here regard as an "admirable model."

It is expected to include freezing of wages and prices, control of profit margins, and a stern effort to reduce production costs, limit consumption, and increase industrial output.

Most economists here say it will have to be "at least as hard as the British austerity program —maybe harder."

In a world short of food, Israel has almost twice as much land under cultivation than little more than a year ago. She has little hope of becoming a food exporter. But she hopes to come nearer to feeding herself.

However, those planning long-time economy do not look to an agricultural future. They want high industrialization instead. They want factories to meet the enormous needs of a new, fast growing state. They want output for the world markets to get the trade credits necessary to import such goods as cannot be manufactured here, and to buy the raw material for those which can.

No one here thinks it will be an easy job.

Tunnel Wall Falls 20 Men Escape Injury

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)— A wall collapsed today while almost 20 workmen were constructing a sewer tunnel 48 feet underground. No one was injured seriously.

The workers—many of them stunned—made their way to the surface unassisted.

Authorities said a sudden release of air pressure in the tunnel apparently caused a wall to collapse.

Woman With Heart Of Pioneer Keeps School Going In Kunming

If anyone is interested in hiring a financial wizard, business executive, school principal and a very charming woman, all in one package, apply to Mrs. Teng Kiat Chiu of Kunming.

Tall and slender in a silver brocaded Chinese gown, Mrs. Chiu, who is attending the St. Paul's Synodical ni Peterborough, would never be taken for the very capable business woman she is. At first glance, one sees only an attractive, cosmopolitan Chinese woman. But her slender figure masks a pioneer's heart.

When she and her husband arrived in Kunming in October, 1941, to etsablish a church and school, they had to start from scratch. With little in the way of funds, Mrs. Chiu and her husband enlisted the support of the parents. In the autumn of 1942, their first school was opened in temporary buildings with 120 pupils which included a kindergarten and four grades. The school was operating even before the church was established. For a time their services were held in the assembly hall of the YMCA.

Their earlier days in Chungking had some compensations. At that time, the city had become the crossroads of China. It was the centre of communications as the Japanese took over the coastal areas. The American air force was stationed there; planes flying over the Hump went to Kunming, and it was the gateway to Chungking and many other important Chinese cities during the war. It also became a cultural centre. Four or five refugee universities, including Peiping university, moved to Kunming and reorganized to continue their teaching.

Supplied Teachers

These universities were a tremendous help to the Chius, for they supplied teachers with unparallelled qualifications. There was no shortage. But after the capitulation of Japan, the boom bubble burst. The jeeps and cars disappeared and the old horse-drawn vehicles reappeared. The colleges—and the teachers—left. Mrs. Chiu had to start scrounging to keep her school staffed.

But nothing daunted, she was equal to the situation. Since the province of Hunan is very primitive, qualified college graduates will not leave the coastal areas. So Mrs. Chiu has decided to organize her own normal school and train her own teachers. In four or five years, she hopes not only to have augmented her own staff of 24, but to have enough locally trained teachers to man six other stations in the province.

When Mrs. Chiu was preparing to come to Canada in the autumn of 1948 she had 140 children in the kindergarten with only one qualified teacher and five girls in the process of being trained to look after them. But the kindergarten supervisor is a gem. With 25 years teaching experience in Manchuria and an Irish background to fall back on, she can cope with anything, Mrs. Chiu says.

It is a good job, the up-to-date equipment in Peterborough's schools was not on display during Mrs. Chiu's visit, or she might have been tempted to tuck a little under her arm to take back to her poorly equipped Kunming classes. She has two aims before she returns home this year. One to get enough money to take back some visual equipment, and two to get a small victrola and records to aid her music appreciation classes.

There is nothing outdated about Mrs. Chiu's curriculum. Since they have no junior classrooms the kindergarten meets in the newly built auditorium every morning from 9 to 12. The primary and other grades (350 pupils) come in the afternoon. Here they are taught singing, folk dancing, music and music appreciation (western style).

Present From Army

The only musical instrument in use at the present time is a piano. But this piano has a history. It came to the Chiu school when the American Army pulled out of Kunming. To describe it as battered then would be an understatement. It is falling apart. There are 23 of the strings missing and many of the felts are off. They have taken some of the remaining felts from lesser used parts of the keyboard to keep the central part of the instrument operating. But when it came to the strings, she was stumped.

So, like everyone else in Kunming, Mrs. Chiu turned to a mechanical engineer, a graduate of one of the former refugee colleges there. He is a musician and not only repairs and tunes the pianos for the whole city, but also helps out with the music classes when they are stuck, Mrs. Chiu laughs.

Tough Business

Running a school and trying to make ends meet in China these days is a herculean task, but this slender Chinese woman's doesn't bat an eyelash. In the face of the galloping currency inflation, she figured out a system of paying tuition in terms of rice. Roughly it worked like this. The rate was based on the value of 250 pounds of rice. The fees are paid every five months.

While paid in cash, it is based on the selling price of the 250 pounds of rice at that time. In February 1948, Mrs. Chiu said each pupil was paying $1,800,000 Chinese dollars. In May 1948, each had to pay $40,000,000. Many are the pitfalls created with the soaring inflation.

School Too Small

One of her biggest problems is turning back students for whom they have no room. This graduate of Baylor University in Texas says it is really heartbreaking to see the mothers begging for their children to have a chance.

One day before she came away, a mother brought her little girl to enter the kindergarten, but there was no room. Undaunted the mother went to the classroom. One of the pupils was away, and so she placed the child on the chair and returned triumphantly to the principal's office. There she announced proudly, she had found her little girl a place and there was lots of room.

"What could I do," laughed Mrs. Chiu. The child remained.

What will happen to the Kunming school if the Reds continue their advance, no one knows. But gallant Mrs. Chiu and her husband the Rev. Mr. Chiu are planning to return to their church and school there at the end of this year. They also hope to bring some of the benefits of the west to their little Chinese friends.

House Adopts Government Bill To Increase Old-Age Pensions

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP). — The Commons rolled swiftly ahead in its pre-dissolution drive yesterday, with all parties seeking to accumulate election ammunition along the way.

After an opening tangle of procedural questions, the Chamber quickly adopted a government bill to increase old-age pensions from $30 to $40 a month, virtually completed a bill to permit the building of oil and gas pipe-lines in western Canada and re-opened the lingering budget debate.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and other party chieftains walloped the government for introduction of a motion to extend the sitting hours of the Chamber from now until dissolution, probably Friday night.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit party head, agreed that the government should have disposed of certain important bills on the order paper befor going to the country.

However, Mr. St. Laurent's motion carried and the house will sit mornings, afternoons and evenings from today on.

Continue Assistance

Earlier Mr. St. Laudent announced the government intends to continue paying freight assistance on feed grains shipped from western to eastern Canada. The assistance was due to expire July 1.

He told Hazen Argue (CCF-Wood Mountain) he was not able to say whether amendments to improve the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act will be introduced before the house dissolves.

The Senate adopted a government bill to increase the number of Quebec superior court judges and heard Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, call for judicial reform in Quebec.

In the brief pensions debate, Health Minister Martin reported that the $10-a-month increase will go to 90 per cent of the country's 275,000 old-age pensioners.

He told Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) the legislation will be proclaimed just as soon as an agreement with any province is signed. These agreements are necessary because the provinces pay 25 per cent of the pensions. The Dominion pays 75 per cent.

Rev. Dan McIvor (L-Fort William) welcomed the bill as "not all I've asked for, but something." He hoped that some day "We'll get the other things we want."

Battles Lines Ready In N.S.

HALIFAX, April 28 —(CP)— Battle lines for the June 9 Nova Scotia general election announced yesterday by Premier Angus L. Macdonald already have started to take shape.

From speeches in the legislature, at public meetings and in radio broadcasts during the past few months the three major parties have given a good indication of the platforms they will use in their battle for the 37 provincial seats.

Liberals, who captured 28 of the 30 seats in 1945, will go to the polls in its record of administration since 1933.

At dissolution yesterday Liberals held 24 seats, four were vacant and the other two were held by the C.C.F. opposition members.

The C.C.F., if it follows the line of attack its members did in the legislature, will stump for additional social security and health benefits, and expanded educational facilities.

The Progressive Conservative party, under a new leader, Robert L. Stanfield, has been preparing for the election for the past few months with a steady campaign.

House Bars Baxter For Unparliamentary Talk

LONDON, April 28 (CP) — Beverley Baxter walked out of the Commons Tuesday night after Cmdr. H. Pursey, spoke of "the scrounger types" in the British Legion. The Commons was discussing servicemen's charities when Pursey, Labor member for Kingston-on-Hull, spoke of "the scrounger types in which the British Legion specialized."

Amid opposition shouts of "shame" and "withdraw" Baxter, Conservative member for Wood Green, said: "That is a caddish thing to say."

Deputy Speaker Milner said the word "caddish" must be withdrawn as unparliamentary.

Baxter, a native of Toronto, said he was president of his own British Legion branch and knew the quality of heroism and patriotism of its members. He insisted Pursey's remark was "caddish."

"I cannot withdraw it, but I will withdraw from the House," Baxter then strode out of the chamber.

Thinking that was the end of the episode, Baxter was preparing to meet some guests whom he had invited to dine with him at the House. Instead attendants asked him to leave the precincts of the House.

Say Mayhew Best Young Diplomats

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 28 (CP)—New responsibilities are crowding fast on youthful Christopher Mayhew, central figure in recent searching debates on whether Britain really needs Marshall-aid dollars.

As chief foreign-office spokesman in the Commons, Mayhew is getting his first taste of Parliamentary battle conditions.

He is strictly on his own. With Foreign Secretary Bevin and State Minister McNeil both often out of the country, the undersecretary shoulders the full burden of replying to debates and answering questions on the order paper.

On tricky supplementary questions, he took cues from McNeil, then in London.

At 34, Mayhew is one of Britain's youngest diplomats. He is considered one of labor's bright young men.

He is still a bachelor, but told a reporter jocularly that he wants to get married.

"I can't face another election campaign as a bachelor," he said. The result was 46 letters from women, each proposing marriage.

In his off-moments, Mayhew likes to sing. At Brighton recently, the London Philharmonic Choir was singing the last movement of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. Mayhew mingled with the chorister and sang (in German).

Can Raise Rent 5% If Heat Supplied

TORONTO, April 28—(CP)—Tenants who signed a two-year lease about May, 1947, soon may face a five-per-cent rent increase if their landlord supplies heat. Many other tenants have paid the extra five per cent since last fall and will not be further affected.

Rent control officials said landlords can make the increases when the two-year leases expire, provided they notify tenants before expiration of the leases that the tenants are being placed on a monthly tenancy basis and that they serve notice on Prices Board forms of the intention to raise the rent.

The five-per-cent increase, applying only to self-contained accommodation such as apartments and heated duplexes, was permitted by the Prices Board to cover increased costs to landlords of heating premises.

Backache, Rheumatic Pain "Could Hardly Do My Work"

Got Bad Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Nervous, Couldn't Sleep. Found Prompt Relief By Taking Syntona, He Says

MR. EDWARD ANTISS

The following experience of Mr. Edward Antiss, Victoria Street, London North, Ont., will be of interest to all sufferers of rheumatic pain and other common ailments which may be caused by disorders of stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels. It is typical of the many men and women who have found relief from their suffering by taking a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound, and may lead you to use this medicine and obtain equally good results.

Here is his interesting experience:

"For years I was troubled with backache and rheumatic pains. My limbs, joints and muscles became very sore and stiff and pained badly whenever I moved. Often I could hardly get around to do my work.

"I became rundown, nervous, got dizzy spells and couldn't get to sleep after going to bed at night. My stomach began to act up and I suffered constantly with gas, and sour acidity after my meals.

"You can imagine I tried many different things, but nothing ever seemed to help me.

"One day when I was in the drug store they advised me to try Syntona. Before I had finished the first bottle I could feel an improvement, so I was very encouraged and kept on taking it. Now, that's several weeks ago and in that time this medicine has practically cleared up all the pain, soreness and other troubles that I had. I eat well, enjoy all my meals, get around to all my work without any trouble and actually feel years younger.

"I am certainly pleased with the results I got by taking Syntona and highly recommend it to others."

VOL. XCVIII, No. 99 — THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1949 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

Variety Show Presented At Trade Fair

Although the doors of the Armouries swing open at two o'clock every day to welcome visitors to the Kiwanis Trade Fair, it is not officially opened until someone in the west balcony about 8 o'clock at night declares it so for that day.

Wilson Gemmell did the honors Wednesday night.

Back in the Little Theatre, the Examiner Varieties played to another capacity house. Top talent from Toronto mystified and humored the audience for nearly an hour.

Rod Roddick, a magician, conjured up several good stunts with green silk handkerchiefs and a set of steel rings assisted by three young Peterborough lads from the audience. Roddick has a smooth line of patter and his act is well dressed and presented in a fast style that kept all wondering what was coming next.

Ted Rust who puts the words into the mouth of another 'fugitive from the forest' dubbed Pat is an excellent ventriloquist and his dummy is another Charlie McCarthy, quick on the pick-up and just as ribald in his style. Ted's act was tops, his humor clean and clever and he kept the audience in gales of laughter with his wit and comment. Herb Mullins a local boy did a reverse of a strip tease and got into costume right on the stage in full view of his audience, much to their delight. He played a fiddle, doing several clever imitations with the bow and cat gut. His old time fiddlin' was well received.

Highlight of the acts was a routine done by El Jones and Ted Rust.

The oddest loaf of bread this reporter has ever seen is on exhibit at the fair. It is a large loaf cut into the shape of a wheat sheaf. It was executed by a baker in Ashburnham especially for the fair. Made from one piece of dough and modelled before it was baked, it is twenty-eight inches high and about twenty inches wide at its broadest point. It is a clever piece of work from the bake shop.

One of the speckled trout in the Lands and Forests' exhibit died yesterday. Conservation officers claim that a young 'zoot-suiter' walked by with a pair of drapes that were a bright cherry red. The trout took one look at the young gaffer, and turned over and died.

OTTAWA RATE UP 3 MILLS

Ottawa municipal council has adopted an "all-time record budget of $8,543,453, an increase of $842,460 over last year, and tax rate of 44.50 mills, three mills higher than in 1948."

Lawyer Has Three Parking Tickets

E. F. Sheehy, a Peterborough barrister, will argue that the city parking bylaw is non existent downtown on Wednesday afternoons, when he conducts his own defence Thursday next week.

Mr. Sheehy appeared in city police court before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, to plead not guilty to an alleged parking offence on Simcoe St. He said he had two other parking tickets which he intended paying, but he claimed that on Wednesday afternoon the bylaw does not operate.

Indian Dad Gets Treaty Pay For Baby Few Minutes Old

ALDERVILLE, April 28—(By Staff Reporter). — Irvin Smoke drove his mud-spattered car furiously to the new Alderville Indian Reserve School-House on Tuesday afternoon. He managed to find a parking place and hurried down into the basement of the schoolhouse and stood figeting with fellow Mississauga Indians while Indian Agent V. M. Eastwood of Peterborough solemnly opened the ritual of the payment of spring Treaty Money at exactly 2.15 p.m.

Seated on benches in front of him Smoke could see family heads of the Bigwins, the Beavers, the Comegos, the Crowes, the Tobicos and many others. He watched nervously as each person came forward when his name was called by Mr. Eastwood to receive ten dollars in Treaty Money from the Crown. They were all slightly disappointed for they had expected $15 and hope that in the autumn the grant will come to that amount in order to make up the average $25 yearly payment.

Name Is Called

"Irvin Smoke," called the Indian Agent.

The young man came forward hurriedly, twisting his hat brim in nervous fingers and sat down to sign his name in the official record book. He fumbled frantically in his pocket and produced a crumpled piece of paper which he handed to the Agent with a beaming face. It was a note to Mr. Eastwood from Dr. G. H. Field, MD, of Roseneath.

Mr. Eastwood's face broke into a broad grin and he read the note aloud for the benefit of the gathering. It said that Smoke's wife had been delivered of a baby boy at their home just five minutes before. Amid the loud roars of laughter Mr. Eastwood peeled off another ten dollars and gave it to the proud young father who signed again and bolted upstairs on his way home.

"I cannot remember when such a stork race happened before," said Mr. Eastwood and admitted, in an undertone, that deaths were not reported as quickly, to his knowledge.

This amusing incident put one and all in such good humor that the ordinarily-long procedure quickened in pace. It also made them forget the smaller payment they received. Chief Norman Marsden and Albert Crowe and George Beaver, both 81, stepped up and signed in a business-like manner when their names were called. There was money for little Derek Bigwin, whose mother was a Dutch war bride, and his mother as well, since she had married an Indian. She is going home for a visit this month to see her people and hoped that the flowers would still be in bloom over there. Except for a slight touch of homesickness, she likes Canada, she said.

Hopes to Graduate

John Beaver received his payment, too. He explained he was a bit weary having just arrived

Mental Hygiene Centre Needed In City

Parents should neither smother their children with affection nor treat them with aloof detachment Dr. D. J. Griffin, Medical Director, National Committee for Mental Hygiene on Wednesday night told the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society.

He also told his audience of more than 90 city and county officials and children's aid workers that Peterborough should have a mental hygiene centre.

Dr. Griffin advised parents to avoid both emotional extremes in raising children. He jocularly reminded the audience that as a father he had a practical as well as a theoretical approach to the subject.

PCVS Band To Give Concert In Auditorium

The band of the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School is giving a concert Friday night in the school auditorium under the direction of their instructor and leader Mr. Albert Croasdale. They are being assisted by Toronto talent.

The band is now in its second year, and in this program it will have an opportunity of displaying the progress they have been making in spite of the loss of some of the original members at 1948 graduation.

REQUEST FOR CARS

Officials of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association issued an appeal today to association members and others interest in forest conservation to help in transporting a number of Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs to Buckley's Lake on Saturday, where the association will begin the work of planting 5,000 young trees. Any persons who can make cars available for this purpose are requested to be at the CNR freight shed, Charlotte and Aylmer streets, at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

Lindsay Plans Big Welcome For New Leader

Lindsay was fashioning this morning congratulations and reception to its newly distinguished citizen, Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Premier of Ontario.

Representatives of the town and county councils were meeting to arrange for a civic welcome and other community tribute to the man who was chosen leader of the Progressive-Conservative Association of Ontario at the provincial convention in Toronto Wednesday.

Mr. A. L. Allely, Lindsay's municipal clerk, said the homecoming greetings might be deferred until next week.

"Nothing has been decided yet," Mr. Allely said. "It might be Friday evening when Mr. Frost arrives from Toronto. Some suggested that it should be held over until the new Premier is sworn in. Victoria county councillors and members of the town council were meeting this morning to start the arrangements". Mayor R. I. Moore was out of town.

The Premiership of Ontario was still eluding the metropolitan centres of the province as it shifted from the farm home of Hon. T. L. Kennedy near Dixie in Peel county to the industrial town of Lindsay in the Kawarthas.

Toronto had a triple entry in the running Thursday, Leslie Blackwell, Dana Porter and Kelso Roberts, but none of them was even close. The man who might have been dubbed a small-town lawyer were it not for the fact that he had manifested his abilities in the company of the legislative assembly as Provincial Treasurer romped into the leadership when the ballots were down.

First From Central Ontario

Hon. Leslie Miscampbell Frost is the first Premier of Ontario from the central Ontario constituencies. Victoria county and the town of Lindsay have had distinguished parliamentary representation in the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia in the First World War, and many years ago contributed an Ontario cabinet minister in the Hon. Casey Wood.

The new Premier was not in his office at Queen's Park, Toronto, this morning, presumably resting after the excitement of the concluding events of the provincial convention Wednesday afternoon. In all the tributes that were paid to him by the Progressive-Conservative delegates, there were probably moments when he thought of his brother, the late Cecil G. Frost. In their law practice and also in their activities in the Conservative party as in all their relationships they had been close together.

Cecil Frost attained even before his brother a high place in the national councils of the Progressive-Conservatives. He was provincial organizer at his untimely death a few years ago, and was chairman of the national convention that was held in Winnipeg.

The Frost brothers were born in Orillia. Both enlisted in a Simcoe battalion in the First World War, in which the new Premier was seriously wounded. They moved to Lindsay after the war, acquiring the law practice of the late Leigh R. Knight.

Hon. Mr. Frost was first elected to the Legislature for Victoria in 1937, and has been a member of the Cabinet since 1943. He has many friends throughout this district, and Peterborough feels today that it has a neighboring share in the honors which the new Premier has brought to the riding adjoining Victoria.

Dog, 4-Footed, Nears Top Of Biggest Pyramid Club; $2048 Talk; But $200 Takes

Peterburians are pyramiding. There are as many as 200 pyramid parties in the city each evening this week, and that is only the beginning of things. Talk of big money takings is flying from Armour Hill to Hospital Hill and along the pipe lines from the Waterworks at the north end to the Sewage Disposal Plant at the south end. And of course George St. is buzzing with rumor. It is a fact, believe it or not that a dog (four-footed) is nearing the top of one of the lists and is due to collect $200 on Sunday night.

The largest club was started a week ago. The man who began it picked up the bug in Toronto. Wednesday night there were 32 parties held in this "club," 32 parties in 32 different places. Tonight 64 are scheduled.

The mathematics behind the theory of the pyramid clubs is complicated for a layman, but the principle is plain — easy money. The person who begins a club invites people to a party. Each pays in one dollar. The initial person's name goes on top of the list.

Next evening each person at the first party gives a party and every guest forks out a dollar. These go to the first man. When the pyramid is complete the man at the top of the list may receive $2,048. As he pyramids to the top others rise with him. That seems to be the way a club operates, but apparently one has to be an ardent pyramider, a member, to understand fully all the ramifications.

Nobody in the Peterborough clubs has come into the big chips yet, but rumor is rampant that people are taking in as much as $500 or $1,000. The reality is that the top man in the biggest club has received since Friday night $195, but he still has to make his collections for Wednesday night which may be four times as large.

Due To Collect $2,048

By Saturday night he is due to collect the full sum of $2,048, provided there are no interruptions in any of the branches of the club. By interruptions the pyramiders do not mean a police raid — though there is supposed to be a taint of illegality about pyramid clubs in Ontario. They mean somebody failing to hold a party when due, or guests failing to chip in. That is why a dog happens to be near the top of one Peterborough pyramid.

One of the men in the first tier of this club dropped out the night he was to hold his party. In desperation the dog's name was substituted, the owner holding the party. This Sunday the dog is expected to collect over $200 — which is not chicken-feed, and makes pretty good dog-feed. His owner collects on Monday night, and the man's wife Tuesday evening.

The leader of this club said that during the first few days people were leery about joining. But when they saw the club was paying off, they all wanted to get into the pyramid.

"In the past week I've met more people than in all the time

Driver Suffers Back Injuries, Car Total Wreck

James Allen, Bonaccord St., had a narrow escape from death or serious injury at 2.00 p.m. Wednesday when the car he was driving left No. 28 Highway two miles north of Burleigh Falls, turned over twice, and landed in the ditch a total wreck. Allen escaped with back injuries and lacerations. Another motorist took him to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where his doctor said today his condition was not serious.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation by Constable A. F. Grayling of the Peterborough headquarers staff of the Provincial Police. Because of his condition, Allen could not be interviewed by the police yesterday, but his car is believed to have gone out of control for some reason on a hill.

The car, a brand new 1949 model sedan, owned by the Peterborough Football Club, was damaged beyond repair, it having received a terrific battering in its headlong departure from the highway. The driver is considered very fortunate to have escaped with his life.

The car seems to have been jinxed ever since it came into the possession of the football club, as it is the same one which caused two members of the club to be arrested in Ottawa several weeks ago on charges of illegal sale of raffle tickets The pair were fined and police of the Capital stopped sale of the tickets, which was being conducted in order to raise funds to provide equipment for junior football players of Peterborough. Since that time the sale of tickets has continued locally, but had still about two months to go when the car faded out of the picture in Wednesday's accident.

Officials of the club said today that the car was insured, which factor will no doubt enable the club to purchase another car so that the sale of tickets can go on.

Physical Neglect Of Children No Longer A CAS Problem

Physical neglect of children is no longer the chief concern of the Children's Aid Society, Miss Rachael Young, Superintendent of the Society reported on Wednesday at the annual meeting.

"The shift of emphasis in the type of neglect necessitating the service of the Society to families is quite marked," she said. "Not so many years ago great number of the families came to our attention because of physical neglect of children. This is found comparatively infrequently now and our statistics show that separation of parents, delinquency of children, marital discord, personality problems, and non-support head the list of reasons for our services being requested."

Miss Young empnasized that one of the chief difficulties was allowing problem parents to understand "the emotional roots" of their family troubles.

Keep Families Together

Because the Society recognizes the value of children remaining in their own families, considerable emphasis has been placed on family work. There were more than 1,000 children in the families that came to the attention of the Society, Miss Young said.

"In our total picture of Children's Aid work we see the deep-rooted desire of children to belong to a family," said the superintendent. This means not any family but the child's own family.

"The sense of 'belonging' must be recognized in any work with children," she added.

There was a slight decrease in the number of children admitted to care during the year, but an increase in the number looked after outside their own homes. This was chiefly due to the fact that fewer children were taken from their own families for reason of neglect.

In 1948, for example, nine children were admitted to care because of desertion and eight for evictions while this year only two were admitted for these reasons.

Only 13 of the children admitted to care went to the Shelter; it has been used to an increasing extent for those who needed special care and understanding. Commenting on this situation Miss Young said, "Unfortunately when the time arrived when it was felt these children were ready for placement, foster homes have not been available and the children have had to remain for longer than was necessary."

Few Unmarried Parents

The number of unmarried parent cases has decreased by approximately 22 per. cent, compared with last year. A lot total of 105 were reported. Miss Young pointed out that this was only slightly below the average for the six years previous to 1948. Last year the incidence was particularly high, she said.

About 50 per cent of the unmarried mothers keep their babies, Miss Young reported. In placed in adoption homes by the Society, or made wards.

Mental health services and the co-ordination of services are two things greatly needed, she said. The local Society had brought the matter of mental health services to the attention of the Association of Children's Aid Societies; and recently the Board of the VON decided to enlist the co-operation of interested agencies and present the need to the Provincial Department of Health.

Some families may not be getting needed services because of the overlapping of local agencies, stated the Superintendent and she contended that what is needed is a Council of Social Agencies, to co-ordinate this work.

Statistics in the annual report of the Mamily Court will record an increase in cases, she said. But she added that this is not necessarily an indication of greater delinquency and more marital problems, but rather that the Court is being used more. Demands on its services may continue to grow for several years,

Three Murder Charges

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., April 28 (CP)—RCMP officials Wednesday said three separate charges of murder have been laid against Andrew Balatsky, a Polish displaced person under police guard in hospital here for a week. The charges arose from the deaths of his wife, their six-year-old son, Bohdan, and Theodore Adamovic. They were killed last week on Adamovic's farm at Tarnapol, 45 miles southeast of here.

Find Data Slips

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—An agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation swore Wednesday that papers seized in the pocketbook of 27-year-old Judith Coplon, on trial for espionage, told of her alleged efforts to snatch a "top secret F.B.I. report" summarizing Soviet spy activities. Robert R. Granville, supervisory F.B.I. agent in New York, said that more than 30 "data slips" were found in the handbag when Miss Coplon and a Russian engineer attached to the United Nations were arrested last March 4.

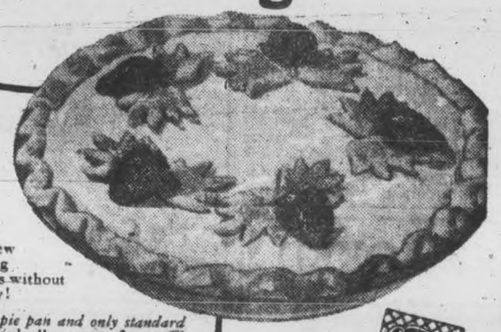
Now easier and quicker to bake flakiest pies with Swift'ning*—the NEW kind of shortening!



LEMON POSY PIE

It's easy to bake the kind of cakes and pies you always wished you could—with Swift'ning, the new kind of shortening. Quick-mixing Swift'ning saves time, work. Keeps without refrigeration. Get Swift'ning today!

Preheat oven 450°F. Use a 9-inch pie pan and only standard level measurements. Sift 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour and ½ tsp. salt in a bowl. Cut ⅓ cup Swift'ning into flour with pastry blender or 2 knives until particles are size of small peas. Sprinkle cold water, a little at a time, over different parts of flour mixture, tossing lightly with a fork. Use as little water as possible—just enough to make dough hold together (3 tbsps. or less!) Place dough on waxed paper. Press gently with the paper into a ball. Let stand at room temperature for a few minutes.

Cover board with pastry canvas and rolling pin with knitted cover, both lightly floured. Roll dough in circle, ⅛" thick. Use light strokes, work from center out. Lift rolling pin as it nears edge. Invert pie pan on dough, cut dough 1¼" beyond edge of pan. Fold dough in half; lay fold in center of pan; unfold. Fit pastry in pan, pressing with finger-tips from center out to remove air bubbles. Prick with fork in several places. To form standing rim, double under the pastry extending over edge of pan. Flute with fingers. Cut 10 leaves from remaining crust. Bake until light brown, allowing 12 to 15 minutes for pie, about 5 minutes for leaves.

LEMON FILLING

Soak 2 tsps. unflavoured gelatin in ⅓ cup cold water about 5 min. Put 3 slightly beaten egg yolks, ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¼ tsp. salt in a double boiler. Cook over boiling water until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add gelatin, stir until dissolved. Add 1 tbsp. grated lemon rind, remove from heat, chill until beginning to set. Beat 3 egg whites until fairly stiff, gradually add ½ cup sugar, beating constantly. Fold into cooled gelatin mix. Pour into cooled pie shell; chill till set. Trim with prepared strawberry halves or other fruit, and the pastry leaves sprinkled with green-colored sugar.

Digestible—nutritious too!

Find Illnesses Have Seasons

LONDON, April 28 (CP)—Illnesses, it seems, have seasons—just like flowrs.

Dr. Percy Stock, chief medical statistician at the general register office, kept track of the ailments of a cross section of Britain's population for three years. Results of the survey indicate, he says in an official report, that you can tell the month of the year almost as well by the diseases prevalent as by the calendar.

January. Worst for stomach upsets.

February. Colds, 'flu and respiratory diseases.

March. Rheumatic and heart diseases, nervous complaints.

April. Skin diseases and sore throats.

May and June. Skin diseases.

July and August. Good health.

September. Sore throats.

October and November. Ear, eye and veins anaemia, gastro-intestinal and ill-defined conditions.

December. Varieties of the above, plus colds and 'flu.

Something Up In Cold War

MOSCOW, April 28 (AP) — A feeling that Russia and the three western powers may be on their way toward a new stage in post-war mutual relations prevailed today in Moscow.

No one was going so far as to predict settlements, beyond lifting of the Berlin restrictions. But informed diplomats agreed this could be the stepping stone to great events.

Handled correctly and with infinite care by all sides, some sources said, this new state of affairs could lead to an ending of the cold war.

(This dispatch passed through the Moscow censorship. The copy as received in the United States, does not show that, if any, excisions were made by the censor.)

The skepticism that has usually accompanied new moves in the cold war was lacking in western quarters today.

The Russians themselves seemed to be proceeding with caution. Neither of the leading newspapers Pravda and Izvestia, made any comment on the new attitude toward the Berlin communications situation. They printed no news of it, either.

Honored On Departure For Sault Ste. Marie

HAVELOCK, April [illegible] — Members of the Young Peoples' Choir, the Senior Choir, Sunday School workers, joined with the Young People's Union of Havelock United Church on Monday evening to say farewell to Miss Helen Anderson, who left on Tuesday afternoon to take a position in Sault Ste. Marie.

Receive Gifts

The event took the form of a social evening during which Miss Anderson was presented with a beautiful bed lamp from the two choirs, presented by Miss Brenda Lucas, and a cosmetic set from the YPU, presented by Robert Hill. The address covering both presentations was read by Mrs. Fred Chase and expressed appreciation for the kindly services and faithful leadership Miss Anderson had rendered in many ways in Havelock United Church.

Honored on Birthday

Another feature of the evening was the celebration of the birthday of Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, who was presented with two books "The Robe" and a "Webster's Giant Dictionary" as a memento of the occasion, Miss Joyce Agnew made the presentation on behalf of the YPU. James Watson extended birthday greetings to Mr. Vanderburgh and voiced the appreciation of the young people for his splendid leadership which had resulted in an increased membership for their organization.

Community singing was enjoyed under the leadership of Misses Helen Anderson, Marie Vanderburgh, and Mr. Vanderburgh. Two contests were won by John Anderson's team and Bruce Melville's team.

Lots Of Variety In Offerings By Drama Groups

By KAY REX

TORONTO, April 28.—(CP)—Little Theatre companies from Eastern and Western Canada are competing in the Dominion Drama Festival with plays as far apart as the groups' home towns.

From the delicate poem-like quality of a Tennessee Williams play, an enthusiastic crowd of theatre-goers yesterday moved through the tense drama of an O'Neill work, to be touched a short time later by the charm of the modern French writer, Jacques Bernard.

"National 6," which Adjudicator Philip Hope-Wallace said is his favorite of all Bernard's plays, was produced by Ottawa's La Comedie Nouvelle as the final offering on Wednesday night's program.

Mr. Hope-Wallace found a cut version of O'Neill's "Emperor Jones," produced by the Mount Allison University Players of Sackville, N.B., a difficult piece to judge in view of the fact the complete play would be presented by another theatrical group.

In Flemming Gray, as Emperor Jones, he saw "a promising Negro actor." And said his presence and voice reminded him of Paul Robeson in another O'Neill play "All God's Chillun Got Wings."

Yesterday's matinee saw a young group of players from British Columbia bring forth Williams' wistful fantasy "The Glass Menagerie."

Visual presentation of this work produced by the Vagabond Players of New Westminster, was described by the adjudicator as a "brilliant effort."

Ottawa Drama League has been having its troubles remaking some of its "stage-props" for the three-act comic satire, "Fortune My Foe," which it will present tonight at the Festival.

Written by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, the play contains a puppet show and it has been necessary to remake the puppets to suit the Royal Alexandra Theatre, scene of the DDF.

"Courtney Bond who makes and manages the puppets has had to make larger ones because the theatre here is so large, said Mrs. Gwendolyn Blair, director of the play.

Curtail Debate On Steel Bill

LONDON, April 28 (Reuters)—Prolonged opposition booing in the House of Commons Wednesday night greeted the government's use of the "guillotine" to curtail debate on its bill to nationalize Britain's iron and steel industry. Labor members staged a counter-demonstration.

The government decided to use the guillotine procedure to make sure that the bill keeps to parliamentary timetable.

George Strauss, Minister of Supply, announced that to meet opposition criticism the government has decided to add a clause to the bill imposing a duty on the iron and steel corporation, which is to control the industry, to avoid all undue preference between private and state consumers.

Yesterday was the first of four to be devoted to the report stage of the bill—when it is reported back to the full house after being amended by a small all-party committee.

The bill received second reading in the House of Commons last November.

Find Provinces Ready To Pay Pension Shares

By The Canadian Press.

Most Canadian provinces are ready to pay their share to increase old-age pensions $10 a month.

A Canadian Press survey showed that legislation to supplement latest Federal moves to boost the pensions is before the Legislature in New Brunswick, and has been passed in Ontario. Manitoba has undertaken to pay its 25 per cent of the increase.

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said residents of his province would contribute their share "as soon as we are able"—probably as soon as the Legislature to be set up there passes the legislation. Quebec has been paying $30 a month since May 1 and in the past has boosted its share along with the Federal Government.

Under the Federal legislation, passed Wednesday night, the Federal Government offers to pay 75 per cent of the cost of old-age pensions of up to $40 a month. At present it pays 75 per cent of pensions of up to $30 a month.

The Ontario Legislature at its recent session increased the basic old-age pension to $32.50 from $30—a boost sufficient to cover pensions on the new basis. In addition, the Ontario Government pays a monthly bonus of up to $7.50 in cases of special need.

Pays 25 Per Cent

Saskatchewan now pays 25 per cent, $7.50 of the $30 pensions, plus a supplementary allowance of $5. On the new basis, and if the allowance is continued, it would pay $15 monthly.

Alberta's Health and Welfare Minister, Dr. W. W. Cross, said the Federal measure would cost Alberta $500,000 for its share of the $10-a-month increase and another $500,000 if pensions were paid to women at 65 years. He added that the additional $1,000,000 has not been provided for in this year's estimates.

It is estimated that the proposed increase would cost British Columbia an additional $900,000 a year. That province now pays its 27,000 pensioners a $10.00 monthly bonus, bringing their present basic monthly rate to $40.

Nova Scotia has been paying its 25-per-cent share of a $30 monthly pension.

'Woman of Year' Pioneers In Human Motion Field

By MARIENNE IZSAK

NEW YORK, April 27 (CP)—Dr. Lillian Gilbreth has an answer for women who complain the 24 hours of the day are too short for them.

It is "bear and raise 12 children; help your husband in his work; study for your doctor's degree in your spare time, write at least half a dozen books; and, just for good measure, go on a lecture tour now and then."

If you still find the day too short, add a few more duties and you'll be surprised to find that everything will fit in somehow.

"Woman of The Year"

This amazing woman, who is still active at 70, holds the title of "Woman of the Year for 1948." The American Women's Association, in a national poll, made the award for eminent achievement in "discovering, recognizing and formulating the laws of human motion which in industry are accepted today as fundamental."

Dr. Gilbreth and her husband, thelate Dr. Frank B. Gilbreth are credited with pioneering in the field of scientific management and with launching the science of "motion study." The firm they established many years ago, Gilbreth, Inc., has served as efficiency expert for many big plants in the United States, Britain and Germany.

The Gilbreths devised a method of analyzing motion which they called "Therbilg," Gilbreth spelled backward with two letters transposed.

Motion Unit

A "Therblig" stands for a unit of motion or thought and there are 17 of them. Each is classified into an activity such as "search," "find," and "grasp." This motion-in-study was at first applied only toward making industrial jobs easier but recently Dr. Gilbreth has applied it to housework and to rehabilitating disabled persons.

A "heart" kitchen, for women suffering from heart trouble, emphasizes functional storage utensils which should be placed at the centre of first use. Thus, near a sink where vegetables are prepared there is storage for everything needed in the process—peeling and cutting utensils, strainers, sauce pans and vegetables.

A newly-published book, "Cheaper by the Dozen," written by two of Dr. Gilbreth's children, explains how the "Therblig" system was first tried out on the children at home.

Family Council

According to the book, Dr. Gilbreth and her husband decided soon after their marriage:

1. To have a family of six boys and six girls;
2. To establish a family council so the children would participate fully in family life;
3. To try out all methods and devices of effective work which her husband had discovered in his many years of diversified industrial experience.

After Dr. Frank Gilbreth's death in 1924, his wife continued his work, even to taking the lecture tour overseas which he had planned and for which he had even bought tickets.

Sun Adds Charm To Spring Tea, And Big Bazaar

Perhaps the power of suggestion had something to do with Wednesday's weather surprise, however the members of King George Home and School Association who were staging a spring tea and bazaar were most grateful for the sun. As the sun came out, so did their guests, and filled the kindergarten room to capacity, before the appointed hour to commence selling. But Mrs. John Nornabell, general convener, had arrangements well in hand.

The variety of articles for sale ranged from bridge tallies, gay felt cushion covers, diamond socks, babies' knitted goods, children's dresses with hand-smocking, sun suits and aprons, to valuable picture prints and then varied to house and outdoor plants. A white elephant table offered a selection of ornaments and novelties.

"Gingham and Georgette" recipe booklets were the feature offering at this event. They comprise combinations for plain and fancy dishes, as the name applies, but they have the important virtue of being tried in Peterborough kitchens and being approved by local epicures. Mrs. J. Robinson was selling them at the tea but they will also be available at any time from association members.

There was a supply of home cooking that made tables stagger under its weight — but not for long—with so many housewives specifically intent on getting a special treat for the family's supper. Mrs. Don Walker was in charge and her sales assistants were Mrs. R. Sanderson, Mrs. A. Townsend, Mrs. J. Skelton. Stocks of home-made candy also depleted rapidly, dispensed by Mrs. J. Watters, convener, Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. K. Wyatt.

Bazaar convener was Mrs. Carlyle Ferguson and assistants included Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. W. Woodward, Mrs. Howard Peters, Mrs. G. Barns, Mrs. F. McConnachie, Mrs. W. O'Neill, Mrs. Reg. Tuck, Mrs. C. English, Mrs. W. King, Mrs. H. Merrett, Mrs. I. Lathangue.

The tea room was arranged in a classroom on the first floor and Mrs. J. B. Bell, president, and Mrs. E. Ingall received. For a time the guests were queued in the hall, but no one minded waiting and they conversed happily in the interval.

Pale green candles flanked the spring bouquet that centred a handsome cloth of cutwork and filet. Mrs. A. W. Nelson, Mrs. D. Munro, Mrs. Charles English and Miss Margaret Eastwood took turns filling teacups.

Mrs. Ken Ferguson was convener of the tea-room and hostesses were Mrs. G. Willamett, Mrs. J. Rodgers, Mrs. F. Ash, Mrs. G. R. Pulkinghorn, Mrs. R. Greenly, Mrs. D. Worboy, Mrs. Darwin, Mrs. H. Morrison, Mrs. Choate, Mrs. C. McInroy, Mrs. W. Hepburn, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, Mrs. M. Clysdale, Mrs. Brook, Mrs. A. Roberts, Mrs. M. Cox, Mrs. G. Chambers and Mrs. Campbell.

Decorating was done by Mrs. Romeyn Stevenson. Treasurer were Mrs. J. H. Thornton and Mrs. F. Ford. Mrs. Roy Sanderson was telephone convener.

Civic Alumnists, Nurses And Graduating Class Have Novel Dinner Program

The "Four Seasons Banquet of 1949" will be recalled often with pleasure by Peterborough Civic Hospital Alumnae members and the graduates of many other hospitals who attended the event Wednesday evening. And it will be particularly memorable to 18 nurses who are this year's graduates of Civic School of Nursing, the special guests of the Alumnae.

Novelty arrangements were first apparent to guests on entering the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room as hostesses enquired the season of their birth, and thus directed them to one of four tables. Very attractive decorations on each were significant of spring, summer, autumn and winter and a "year round" menu was served.

Honor 1949 Class

Mrs. Maurice Pringle, president, welcomed more than 90 nurses including a number of Alumnists from Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Leeson, formerly superintendent of nurses at Nicholls Hospital. In a short address to the graduating class she said "You are near completion of your cherished desire by which you will become "distinguished" citizens. I hope that after graduation you will keep on perfecting yourselves to bring to completeness whatever good traits nature has endowed you with. Leadership is contagious so strive to do your best at all times, overcome complications and maintain the distinction of your profession." Mrs. Pringle extended an invitation to join the Alumnae.

Miss Helen Watts responded on behalf of Misses Vera Fallis, Joyce Cavano, Sally Humphries, Isla Bott, Vivien Wilmink, Dorothy Brenton, Beth Magee, Charlotte Langton, Marion Beatty, Jean Werry, Isabel Everson, Alice Todoroff, Doris Hanna, Viona Bronsell, Eleanor Brown, Jean Taylor, and Jean Nelson. The class entertained at this point by singing the "1949 song" which has original humorous wording.

Principal Miss A. L. Thomson expressed her pride in this class particularly because she has guided them in all but two months of three years training.

What Is Worthwhile?

Miss Myrtle Sargent, only non-member of the profession present, was the guest speaker.

"Take the temperature and pulse of your own attitudes and see how you feel today," Miss Sargent urged. "Take away the 'Plush Curtain' that so many Canadians are living behind and get to the things that are worthwhile. Surely we can impress other nationalities with more than our fine electric appliances and groaning tables." An actual happening in this city recently illustrated that possession of things and plenty of good food is too often deemed all-important.

Deplores Indifference

Miss Sargent expressed great concern about the indifference and lack-a-daisical way Canadians take the wealth of resources in this country for granted instead of thinking of what greater things could be done with them. She deplored the lack of knowledge of politics, especially among young women, and pointed out that British women strive to be conversant on political matters and to know all about the affairs of their nation.

Miss Sargent was introduced by Miss Jean Clark, supervisor of public health nurses in the city.

Miss Mary Robson of Civic Hospit staff delighted with her beautiful renditions of "Mother Machree," "Galway Bay," and "Now Is The Hour" for the encore insisted upon. Miss Mae Renwick was her accompanist.

Four Season Program

The four season's program included a speaker from each table who was introduced by the hostess for that group.

Miss B. Greatrix read horoscopes for March, April and May, and asked all to join in the Spring song "Easter Bonnet." Prize for the birthday nearest March 21 was won by Miss Jean Metcalfe. "Telephone Courtesy" was the subject chosen by Miss Eulah Rosenburgh. Her splendid voice on how to make pleasant and profitable contacts by telephone and ensure a good impression was concluded with the suggestion "Always answer as if expecting it to be your best friend and carry on the conversation as if it were."

Summer hostess was Mrs. H. I. Walker who read the season's forecasts and awarded a prize to Mrs. Lloyd Graham of Toronto, born on June 21. Miss Mary Robson spoke on "Significance of the uniform," tracing its evolution and showing appropriateness to the task for which it is worn. "The colors are clear and the lines good," she said and asked that it be not defaced with colored handkerchiefs, bright nail polish, straggly hair and caps askew. The song for this group was "Take me out to the ball game."

Mrs. A. Edwards, Autumn speaker, said "You can't take yourself too seriously" and proved it is a fact. "Living is serious business" she said. "We don't even begin to understand what it is until we take it seriously, and then we find that real fun and pleasure comes through serious work."

Hostess Miss Mary Greer gave predictions of the Zodiac and discovered that Miss Ruby Cunningham was born on September 21. "Harvest Moon" was the seasonal song.

"Every person is a public speaker and should be careful how they use the gift of speech," Mrs. Eva Breckenridge, winter's speaker, warned. She said "You can make a difference in how you are thought of just by the way you say 'hello' or 'thank you.' Shyness should never be mistaken for modesty and is a curse to be overcome. Have affirmative personalties that will help to mold the characters around you." Her remarks were based on an address to nurses by Jan Chamberlain. Prize for a birthday on December 21 went to Miss Muriel Buckerfield. The hostess, Mrs. Roy Taylor, read horoscopes, and led a rousing chorus of "Jingle Bells."

A vote of thanks to speakers, soloist, pianist and especially Mrs. Pringle, who arranged the evening's entertainment, was moved by Mrs. Roy Taylor.

Crowe-Grills Vows Pledged

HASTINGS, April 28.—(ENS).—A pretty wedding took place Saturday at one o'clock when Evelyn Pearl Grills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Grills of Stirling, was united in marriage to Gerald Frederick Crowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crowe of Frankford. The Rev. E. W. Rowland of Peterborough officiated at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Jack Johnston, Hastings Rd.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of slipper satin, styled with gores of flowered net in the skirt, the fitted bodice, with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists. The floor-length veil was held in place by a heart-shaped headdress of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Reitha Weese of Peterborough, as maid of honor, was gowned in yellow taffeta with matching headdress and carried blue tinted carnations. Bridesmaid, Miss Norma Crowe, sister of the groom, wore pale blue sheer with matching headdress, and carried pink carnations. Miss Lois Hoard of Campbellford was flower girl, dressed in pink silk, matching hat and carried a nosegay of forget-me-nots.

Groomsmen were Donald Crowe, brother of the groom, and Billy Johnston, nephew of the bride.

Wedding music was played by Miss Phyllis Grills of Campbellford, cousin of the bride. During the signing of the register Miss Dorothy Buller of Burnbrae sang "I Love You Truly."

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and daffodils. Mr Donald Johnston, nephew of the bride, was usher for the 40 guests.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Jack Johnston, the bride's sister, in rose crepe and corsage of rosebuds; Mrs. Joe Grills, the bride's mother, in printed silk and a corsage of rosebuds; Mrs. Fred Crowe, mother of the groom, in printed silk jersey and corsage of red roses.

For their honeymoon to Ottawa and points East, the bride travelled in a printed jersey dress, loganberry coat and black accessories. They will reside near Frankford.

Garden Tea at Murray St Draws Crowd of 250

There is no prettier sight than a spring garden and none more attractive could be found Wednesday than the indoor garden that was setting for a lovely afternoon tea in Murray St. Church parlors. The Young Married Couples' group staged the money making event. As their fame is spread by appreciation of more than 250 guests this year, they can depend similar success in future years.

The garden was a picture, lacking only the sun's rays for completeness. Goldfish darted back and forth in a pool with pretty rocks on the bottom and a celluloid duck floating gracefully, while a giant bullfrog appeared to contemplate a jump to the water lily in the middle. On the grass plot nearby a toy dog with soft blonde fur was the delight of all guests, but particularly the small size ones who patted and mauled him at will.

A real "fishing well" in this garden offered fulfilment of cherished desires for just a penny and it collected quite a few.

The platform had become a verandah where comfortable canvas chairs were grouped around a metal coffee table, cheerily centred with a flowering geranium and colorful magazines. The garden fence was entwined with flowers, and apple blossoms and pussywillows were everywhere. Bird houses in pastel blue and pink were too attractive to remain empty long, except indoors.

The vegetable garden was not forgotten in this flowery array and a water can, wheelbarrow and tools with seed envelopes scattered about, gave every appearance of work in progress.

A stroll down "Melody Lane", decorated with notes of the base and treble cleft, brought guests to the tea room, where they were seated at quartette tables. Each of these ten small tables was centred with figures and novelties representing a popular song such as "Bicycle built for two", "I love you truly", with a bride and groom, and "Easter bonnet," and the tunes were all played during the afternoon by Mrs. P. Johnston and Mrs. Don McKenzie at the piano.

Snapdragon, varying in shade from pink to deep red formed the delightful flower arrangement on the serving table and it was highlighted with slender flower candles burning brightly. The cloth was lace embroidered linen, and dainty covers were on each of the small tables.

Mrs. Ivan C. Morgan assisted Mrs. B. Wilkinson and Mrs. M. Middleton to receive the guests who were first greeted by Mrs. Gordon Duncan at the treasurer's table in the flower-decked hall.

Mrs. C. Ruth, general convener, was hostess in the tea room. Small tables were in charge of Mrs. R. Baer, Mrs. J. Hayward, Mrs. A. Jonah, Mrs. J. Buchanan, Mrs. F. Ephgrave, Mrs. R. Allchin, Mrs. L. Horning, Mrs. C. Wills and Mrs. J. Arnott whose ingenuity was responsible for the decorations, with Mrs. Horning doing the tables.

Tea cups were filled by Mrs. H. Frise, Mrs. Raymore Scott, Mrs. A. W. Wray and Mrs. A. Haddow.

Plates were replenished by Mrs. T. Smoothie, assisted by Mrs. C. Smedmor, Mrs. J. Lustic, Mrs. K. Jones, Mrs. E. Shiner and Mrs. J. McCulloch, who made the tea.

A table of home cooking was in charge of Mrs. H. Tranter, assisted by Mrs. H. Doughty, Mrs. E. McNabb and Mrs. G. Hodgson. Home made candy in attractive colored baskets was sold at a prettily decorated booth by Mrs. D. Harwood and Mrs. G. Whatley.

Fish and fishermen decorated the front of the "fish pond" where anglers made catches with assistance of Mrs. C. Boorman and Mrs. Wm. Osborne.

DOROTHY DIX

Husbands Who Avoid Chores Around the House Chastised

DEAR MISS DIX: I believe that the sour attitude so many husbands take towards housework is a lot more important than what they do, or don't do, to help their wives. It doesn't matter one bit if a man can cook a good steak or whip up a meal if he never takes hold and does it when it would do some good, or if he does it grudgingly and condescendingly.

Dorothy Dix

Some men harbor the myth that some women have a special talent for all the unlovely chores that go with marriage and children and home. No man should expect his wife to do regularly anything he won't take hold of and do himself on an occassion. And that includes babies and dish.

All this adds up to one thing: Men are generally irresponsible and immature in their attitude towards marriage, and they pride themselves, in direct proportion to the degree thy succeed, in NOT participating in any part of home-making, except paying the bills.

What do you think about this?

M. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I agree with you that men are, generally speaking, "irresponsible and immature in their attitude towards marriage," because most of them do not have the slightest idea of what they are letting themselves in for. A man will marry a girl who has a peaches-and-cream complexion and cute little ways, not because she knows how to cook and run a budget. He craves a home, but he doesn't want to pay the price of one. In reality, the average man's idea of domestic life is a state in which all of one's desires are automatically supplied, and in which there will be no bill-collectors, no crying babies, nor cantankerous wives.

Within His Rights

Probably it is because men are so sold on the idea that if the husband brings home the bacon, it is the wife's duty to fry it without any help from him. Anyway, the question of who will wash the dishes is as good for a dad spat as a nickel is for a ginger cake.

And what complicates the situation is that the man who never does a hand's turn of work around the home brags about the marvelous dishes he cooks when he goes fishing. And the woman who considers herself a slave to the cook stove won't let her husband or children even come into the kitchen.

But such is home life.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My daughter, who has always been a very jealous person, has married a divorced man and they have a baby whom I have to take care of because she is so green-eyed that she will not let her husband out of her sigh. His business requires him to travel a great deal and she goes with him on all of his trips, day and night.

Her husband would make a success of his job, except that she tags after him wherever he goes, and the public does not care to have a man's wife standing around watching every move he makes. I impress on my daughter that the place of a businessman's wife is in the home, but she will not listen to me, though I try to tell her that she is missing the happiest time of her life when she will not take care of her baby.

What should my daughter to?

ANSWER: Of course, she should stay at home and take care of her baby. That's her job, but evidently she has passed the buck to you and is going to make you do all the baby-sitting, instead of doing it herself.

No woman can be a greater handicap to her husband than the one who spies on him all the time and who makes him give an account of every move he makes.

Yet many wives do it. If their husbands are professional men, they are always popping into their offices to see if, perchance, there is a secretary around who is under 70 years old. If their husbands have to go on business trips, these wives insist on going along, to the ruination of the deal they had in prospect. It cramps a man's business style for his wife to always be listening in when he is trying to make a sale.

A wife must have a very poor opinion of her husband if she thinks that he is so contemptible and dishonest that he cannot be trusted out of her sight. Of course, the jealous wife claims that the reason she keeps such a close watch on her husband is because she loves him so dearly, but if she hated him she could do him no more deadly a wrong than she does.

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it proper for a girl to call up a boy on telephone? Some say it is and some say not. What do you advise?

F. M. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you want to lose your boy friend, you could take no surer way of doing it than by hounding him over the telephone. Boys hate girls who are telephone pests. Let the boys do the calling.

Mrs. Leslie Frost Happy Small Town Girl

TORONTO, April 28.—(CP). — Mrs. Leslie Frost, a trim, grey-haired "small town girl," was unruffled Wednesday when she found herself the wife of Ontario's next premier.

In a grey suit and navy hat, she smiled for photographers, handed out roses from her bouquet to friends and described the whole day as "exciting but humbling."

Gertrude Jane Frost was one of the first to congratulate her husband when he was elected to head the Provincial government at the Progressive Conservative convention.

"Les really does deserve it," she told reporters later. "I have to listen to all the awful things people say about my husband, but I think he's wonderful."

Born and raised in Lindsay, Mrs. Frost is the daughter of the late John Carew, former Progressive Conservative member of the Legislature for Victoria — the same seat her husband now holds.

She says she married a "struggling young lawyer" 23 years ago after working two years in her father's lumber yard office, and has lived a quiet, interesting life as a "small town girl."

"I've no children, cats, dogs or canaries, but I think the thing I'm most proud of is that every child in Lindsay knows me and calls me Aunt Det,'" she said.

GOING HOME—Simeoni Yerark, five-year-old Eskimo boy, right, smiles happily at the prospect of returning to his Chesterfield Inlet home after seven weeks' treatment for poliomyelitis in a Winnipeg hospital. His six-year-old companion, George Tanniak, does not seem impressed at making the 1,000-mile plane ride following his first visit to civilization. Four doctors on their way to examine other stricken Eskimos were aboard the plane which carried the two boys back to their home.

Fears Church In China To Be Forced Underground

The Christian Church in China may be forced underground for a time, the Rev. Teng J. Chiu, a Chinese Presbyterian minister, in Canada for studies, Wednesday afternoon told the Toronto and Kingston Synodical Society of the Women's Missionary Society meeting in St. Paul's Church. The Church is not unprepared to meet the situation, Mr. Chiu said when addressing the three day annual meeting.

In the program of the church in China they are making special emphasis of the Christian home movement, Mr. Chiu said. All church literature was designed to help the Christians revive their home religion. Promising young leaders were being singled out more and more for training in the hope that they would one day lead the church.

Mr. Chiu said that today the church of China was going through the fourth great crisis in the 19th century. Every time it had come through stronger than before.

The Communists were trying to make an east-west issue of the present struggle in China, Mr. Chiu declared, whereas it was a social, economic and religious revolution.

The Communists would like to have forced the hand of the western powers' over the shelling incident in the Yangtze River recently but the governments were taking the matter in a much more careful way than they would have done a few years ago.

In explaining the failure of the Nationalist Government, Mr. Chiu said it had been faced with an almost impossible task. The Government had the responsibility of leading a country where 70 per cent of the population was illegitimate and the people were unable to read or write and could not think for themselves. They had to jump from the middle ages to the modern era.

In the 1930s, when the Government had the people more or less on the right lines, the Japanese war started. The Nationalist Government tried to centralise the power in their hands. There was a one party government to lead the people against the foreign aggression.

Power of Love of God

"When we have power and we have not the power of love of God it is so easy for us to misuse that power," Mr. Chiu declared. "The one party government led into a great deal of corruption."

As the war went on new problems arose which created dissatisfaction. After V-J Day the Government made some grievous mistakes when it sent officials to take over the country.

When the ethics of the social ideals are not grounded on a sound theology they will not last, the minister said. That was the root trouble with a great many things in China today.

The Communists talked of democracy in China, but it was not founded on sound ideals. He compared Communist teachers to artificial flowers.

Mr. Chiu did not know how much longer Christian schools could be kept open in China. The Communists encouraged them to remain open but at the same time, brought pressure to bear on the leaders to such an extent that the task was becoming increasingly difficult.

Financial pressure was brought about by not allowing the schools to accept fees or to claim money from the Mission Boards. The Communists sent advisors to the schools who would not allow the teaching of history, social science or ethics and students' self government associations were set up which resulted in the principals almost losing control of the schools. The Christian medical workers were also working under handicap, Mr. Chiu said.

A memorial service to the late corresponding secretary of the synodical, Mrs. John Williams, was held at the afternoon session. Mrs. Williams died recently at an executive meeting of the Synodical Society in Toronto. The service was led by Mesdames I. Rawson, Hill and Fraser.

During the morning conference it was stated that total receipts to the General Fund had amounted to $67,841.79, an increase over the previous year's figure of $5,212.79. Receipts for the Supply Fund had been $2,512 and 5,293 lbs. of supplies valued at $7,267.01 had been contributed by the Presbyterial.

Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Sadly missed by wife and children.

FIFE—In loving memory of Victor A. Fife, who passed away April 28, 1944.
"Just a thought of sweet remembrance
Just a memory sad and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of one who thinks of you"
—Ever remembered by daughter and son-in-law, Mona and Arnold Worboy.

WATKINS—In loving memory of our daddy, Bill Watkins, who died so suddenly April 28, 1946
A silent cord in memories harp
Is softly touched today,
For our daddy we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away
But we treasure happy memories
Of the one we loved so much.
—Lovingly remembered by daughters Norma, Greeta and Dianne.

WATKINS—In loving memory of our dear brother, A. W. (Bill) Watkins, who passed away suddenly three years ago today.
—Always remembered by his brother and sister-in-law, Joe and Marguerite, Brantford.

WATKINS— In loving memory of a dear son and brother Albert Wallace (Bill), who died suddenly April 28, 1946.
Come to My Heavenly Garden
And see in perfect bloom
The flower you loved so dearly
And thought that I plucked too soon
Then you will know My reason
Though you will know it not to-day
Why in his promising manhood
I took your son and brother away
—Lovingly remembered by mother, sisters and brothers.

WATKINS—In loving memory of my husband, Albert Wallace (Bill), who died suddenly April 28, 1946.
You left me beautiful memories,
Ofter silent tears,
But you will always be with me
As I journey through the years.
You are always in my mind, Bill,
No matter what I do,
Never for a moment
Are you very far away
Absent, yet near, you seem
But dearer every day
—Sadly missed by wife, Wanda

Have Poor Appetites

TORONTO, April 28 (CP) — An increasing number of persons "have a poor appetite for breakfast and are getting quick satisfaction from a cigaret and a cup of coffee," Dr. W. M. McCormick, nutrition expert, told the Ontario Health Officers' Association Wednesday. "The predominant use of tobacco is altering the taste of adults for normal foods," Dr. McCormick said. "A cigaret before eating in the morning will take the edge off any craving for food, but leaves one flat in the end."

Frost Not Worrying Market Gardeners

"Frost in low lying places tonight" sounded rather ominous in the noon weather broadcast today, but market gardeners say their vegetable crops are not advanced far enough to be damaged.

"The season is backward, but I don't think we are behind the usual schedule yet," said Harold F. Doig. "Asparagus has broken ground, but it can't be hurt much by frost yet. It needs warm weather to bring on growth. The question of help to take the crop off is causing some concern."

Even the planting of early cabbages has been delayed, John Kitney said. Chilly nights have been tending to hold up the garoening program.

Cocktail Bar Ban

TORONTO, April 28 (CP) — A ban on further cocktail-bars in Toronto will be enforced, Board of Conirol decided Wednesday and turned down an application for a cocktail bar in the central district. Council earlier voted on the undesirability of further liquor outlets.

CAS Re-elects T. T. Rodger

T. T. Rodger on Wednesday night was re-elected president of the Children's Aid Society at the annual meeting held in the YMCA. He is beginning his fourth term of office.

Mrs. Charles Pilon is the new secretary succeeding Mrs. James Wharry who has held that post since 1941, with the exception of one year.

home from his final year at Queen's University and he hopes in a few weeks to be able to add B.Sc., after his name, a full-fledged electrical engineer. He became interested in electronics overseas with the RCAF where he was attached to the tactical force reading radar on the continent. He starts steady employment with the Ontario Hydro Commission on Monday. His wife received his Treaty Money while he was in the service and he admits it helped together with DVA, to put him through university.

"The Indians are a proud and independent race," Mr. Eastwood said and went on to outline the benefits they receive from the Crown. The Mississaugas were first mentioned in history as one of the minor tribes under command of wily Pontiac at the siege of Detroit. The monies they receive are not Government handouts but interest on capital funds held in trust for them by surrender of their Treaty Rights to the Federal Government. The last treaty they entered into in 1923 abolished their rights to hunt and fish and they became subject to game and all laws like every other citizen of Canada. Their fund helps each band to pay for road improvements, the care of public buildings, and grounds, local old age pension schemes and cemetries. Family allowances, health and education expenses are not drawn from this fund but paid outright by the Indian Affairs Branch in Ottawa.

Treaty money cannot be attached by creditors, nor are creditors allowed in the building at payment time. Besides paying funds, the Indian Agent acts as district registrar of births, marriages and deaths. He does not deliberate on the band's problems but passes on their wishes from the Chief and his three councilmen. But he may give any amount of advise when asked for it.

There are 240 recipients of Treaty Money in the Alderville Reserve, which by the way is known as the Alnwick Band. Alderville used to have a post office and was named many years ago after a Dr. Alder who first settled and ministered to the Indians in the Roseneath area. Alnwick is the name of the township.

The payment was finished at four o'clock and from the papa of the papoose whose name went on the payment roll at the age of ten minutes to old Mrs. Betsy Smoke who does not see very well, everyone seemed happy despite the fact that they were five dollars short.

Dog Nears Top

I've been in Peterborough," the top man said.

A teen-ager attended a pyramid party Tuesday night, his girlfriend paying the admission fee of a dollar each. They went to a house on Chamberlain street where the money was paid. They were told how the club operates and when they were to hold their parties. The boy is having his party tonight. It will be one of the 64 parties in the large pyramid club.

A Dollar To Join

At the Chamberlain street party guests varied from salesmen to store managers to teen-agers. Each paid his fee, and the member holding the party phoned the man at the top of the list, who collected the money.

"It costs only a dollar to join. If it falls through that's all you lose and you can win over $200, the teen-ager said.

The north-end of the city has two neighborhood pyramid clubs, and these are expanding each day. One club takes in nearly every person in three blocks.

Whether the pyramiding ends with a bang, a whimper, or $2,048, this is sure—clubs are mushrooming all over the city. If the one in which the dog is a top member continues to flourish in the next few days, that particular dog would undoubtedly be the most valuable critter in Peterborough—worth, apart from his dogflesh and role as Man's Best Friend, the princely sum of $2,048. Wow! That's something to bark about.

Accused of giving beer to an eight-month-old baby, Frank Weatherdon, 307 Pearl Ave., was today acquitted by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., at city police court The mother of the child, Mrs. June Hill, 514 Water St., said when she returned home from the show on March 29, having left her child with a baby-sitter, she found Weatherdon was leaning over the child with a bottle of beer in his hand. The bottle was either in or near the baby's mouth, she said. She could not say whether the child had had any beer.

Weatherdon said he had often been invited by Percy Hill, Mrs. Hill's husband, to visit him at his apartment. He had not known that Hill was working at night on that date.

The accused pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor and was fined $15 with $2.50 costs.

Gordon Sanderson, who roomed at 219 Charlotte St., who was with Weatherdon in the apartment, was acquitted on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. The Crown offered no evidence.

Cobourg Constable's Smart Work Leads To Discovery Of Huge Loot

COBOURG, April 28 (ENS) — Some good detective work by district Provincial Police officers touched off the investigation which on Tuesday night resulted in discovery of a cache of alleged stolen goods valued at $25,000 at Wasaga Beach, near Collingwood. The investigation by Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg into two comparatively minor break-ins at Gore's Landing led the investigation to Wasaga Beach where the huge store of loot was found, and as a result of which Gordon John Barrett, proprietor of Sunrise Lodge was arrested on a theft charge.

On Monday night of last week the store of Albert Adams at Gore's Landing was broken into and about $500 worth of merchandise, mostly electrical fixtures, taken. Next day Mrs. Lyle Wallace of Gore's Landing noticed that the door of the Kidd summer home was open, and a check-up revealed that it had been broken into and some plumbing fixtures, paint and electric motors stolen.

Tire Tracks Tallied

During the course of his enquiry, Provincial Constable Nicol learned that on March 30 Les Blakely, garageman of Gore's Landing, had pulled a truck out of the ditch, and Blakely recalled that it had the name of either Sunset or Sunrise Lodge, Wasaga, on the side of it. Nicol went to where the truck had gone in the ditch and the tire marks were still visible. He found that they were the same kind of marks as had been discovered near the Adams store and the Kidd summer home. The constable decided to play a hunch and got in touch with Provincial Constable Russell Pollard of Bowmanville, who had recently investigated a robbery near there in which plumbing supplies had been stolen from a tourist lodge. They went to Wasaga and got a warrant there to search Sunrise Lodge. They were accompanied in the search by Provincial Constable Gerald Brennan of Wasaga and Pat Poland of Barrie. The search revealed a large cache of allegedly stolen goods, and shortly afterward Gordon John Barrett, proprietor of Sunrise Lodge, was arrested at Bradford.

Police in the Collingwood area believe that the loot is part of a large quantity of goods stolen over a period of two years in robberies that had fanned out from that part of the province into the Rice Lake area, Muskoka district and other sections.

Barrett has been charged with the Gore's Landing robberies.

Mental Hygiene

Surveys made in elementary schools show that emotional disorders and emotional distortion are prevalent among children from Grade I to Grade VIII. In about 20 per cent of the cases these were recognizable, he said.

About 10 per cent of them were relatively serious cases, he estimated. They were handicapped by the distortion and twisting of personalities while very young.

Dangerous Attitude

He said that some people regarded children as just little bundles of reflexes that responded mechanically to environment. "People get the idea they can be moulded like clay and follow the adage 'as the twig is bent so the tree's inclined'."

This attitude of adult detachment in which the children are regimented, manipulated, and controlled in groups in order to lead them into mental health, is a dangerous one, Dr. Griffin stated.

Too often the "model child" is just the obedient child, Dr. Griffin said. "A model child in many schools and in many homes is obedient; does nothing to distress adults; always does what he is told when he is told; never has a temper tantrum; and never shows hostility to adults."

These children are just conforming to what the adult thinks should be done or not done, he said.

"Some people make a fetish of being detached emotionally; and there is a danger of being too scientifically detached."

Never Recapture It

Children who are deprived of their natural love, home atmosphere and environment, after reaching the age of two or three years, can never recapture completely the personality which is lost, he quoted an American child specialist as saying.

On the other hand he counselled against too much emotion. Too many parents in his opinion were over-concerned about their children. There should be parental tenderness for the young child, but too often it was a matter "not of mothering but of smothering."

To emphasize the extremes he had outlined for his audience, Dr. Griffin pointed out that psychologists had found an interesting point of similarity in Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin. All had over-emotional mothers and aloof authoritarian fathers.

Improve Home

Often it is better to leave a child in a bad home than take him away from the unskilled parents, said Dr. Griffin. The emphasis has now shifted from removing children from a poor home to trying to improve the home unit.

"It is normal for a child to be frustrated," said the speaker. He said that it was a law of life that as the child grows he makes an impact on his environment and the people in that environment. By doing so he comes into conflict with both.

"Some of the emotional anguish experienced by children is to be expected and should be dealt with in an understanding way."

Parents by patience, sympathy and understanding can help their children through these emotional crises, he stated.

"There is no substitution for family life," he said, summing up his previous remarks.

Need Centre

At the conclusion of his address he stated that Peterborough should have a mental hygiene centre, either on a permanent or temporary basis. The two obstacles at the moment are lack of personnel and lack of money, which means lack of public support, Dr. Griffin said.

The Dominion Government through the provinces is making grants for psychiatric work he told the audience. And he added that it was the group there assembled from which support for such a measure could be expected.

He also stated that he hoped one or two teachers could get leave to take a mental hygiene course in Toronto. When they returned the knowledge they gained could be passed through the teaching staff.

A hygiene centre could be of service to the Children's Aid Society, other social agencies, and the general public, he contended. At the moment there was not sufficient personnel available in this line, but by asking for them a demand could be created.

Dr. Griffin was introduced by Dr. R. M. Matthews and thanked by Mrs. F. J. Lynch. President T. T. Rodger was in the chair.

Mission Field In India Most Difficult

"I would like to take those people by the scruff of the neck who ask how the church has the nerve to impose their faith on the people of other countries," decared Miss Laura Pelton on Wednesday evening at St. Paul's Church, when adressing the annual meeting of the Toronto and Kingston Synodical Society of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society. Miss Pelton is the executive secretary of Overseas Missions.

"If you look at those people, you can see the hunger and darkness," she said. Naturally it is there because they are made in God's image.

Miss Pelton, who recently returned from a tour of the East, described missionary work in China, Japan, Formosa, and India. In India the church had one of the most difficult mission fields in the world, Miss Pelton said. There were people who were rooted in the relentless Hinduism whose thoughts and actions were governed by the superstitions and fatalistic beliefs of their religion.

Christians converted from heathen religions were often expected to attain perfection, Miss Pelton said. They were, however, like all other Christians, and she found them squabbing among themselves just as Canadian Christians sometimes did.

The Koreans in Japan were having a difficult time, Miss Pelton said. Many of the non-Christian Koreans were causing disturbances and the Christian Koreans were assuming the burden of their actions. The Koreans in Tokyo had raised money for a church of their own and the plans were ready.

Giants in the Faith

In China Miss Pelton found a Christian church and school in Yunnan which belonged to the Chinese people. They were not dominated by the missionaries, who realized they were there as guests doing great work. Miss Pelton spoke of many of the Chinese people there as giants in the Christian faith.

The Formosans had a church of their own which had emerged after the war, broken but still alive. It was their plea that the Canadian missionaries stand by them to help regain their former strength. The Formosans wanted a theological college where their own leaders could be trained.

Angus MacKay, a missionary in the Jhansi field of India for more than 20 years, described the difficulties of converting an illiterate race of people who were bound by the Hindu religion. He was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Paye.

Advancement was obtained more by prayer than by any other method, Mr. MacKay declared.

St. Paul's choir sang at the evening session and a solo was sung by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell. Mrs. A. R. Bennett sang a solo at the afternoon meeting and Rev. Tene K. Chiu and Mrs. Chiu a duet.

Indiana Strike Forces Car Plants To Close

DETROIT, April 28 —(AP)— Packard Motor Car Company announced Wednesday it will be forced to close its assembly plants tomorrow night because of a shortage of brake equipment.

Packard is the third car-maker to be forced down by the strike in the Bendix Aviation Corporation plant at South Bend, Ind. The others are Nash and Kaiser-Frazer.

The Packard closing will affect 8,00 workers and bring to approximately 34,000 the number of workers directly and indirectly affected by the Bendix stoppage.

The Bendix dispute centres largely around the dismissal of 41 workers accused by the management of slowing down output.

Smash Bus Head-On, Three Killed

Fourth Victim Run Over After Truck Jump; 8 Injured Near Barrie

BARRIE, April 29 — (CP) — Four persons were dead and eight injured, two of them seriously, in a head-on collision Thursday night between a panel truck—taking six of them home to Belle Ewart from an evening drinking party—and a Barrie-bound bus.

Provincial Police said the six in the truck, all residents of the same house at Belle Ewart, 10 miles south of here, had been drinking in a Barrie beverage room and later in the truck itself before crashing at high speed into the Gray Coach Lines bus. The accident occurred about nine miles south of here on Highway No. 11.

Dead are: John Matteer, 36, and 35-year-old Donald Hill who died in the cab of the truck. Lloyd Robbins, pried from behind the steering wheel, died before he could be taken to hospital here. Mrs. Dorothy Chartier, another passenger in the truck, died of injuries in hospital an hour after the early-evening accident.

Police said she jumped from the truck seconds before the impact and was run over by an approaching truck.

The truck's two other passengers, Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. Hill were in serious condition in hospital here today. Mrs. Robbins still unconscious with a fractured jaw, fractured femur and head and leg cuts, had a good chance of recovering, doctors said. Mrs. Hill suffered chest injuries and remained conscious.

Had No Chance

Bus driver James C. Dickson 33, of Toronto, who was treated for hand and knee injuries, told police he was unable to avoid the collision.

Five bus passengers were injured, but none seriously. Two of them—Robert McAllister and J. J. Langan of Toronto—were treated at hospital here and the rest allowed to go home after roadside treatment.

Police said they believed the truck party had consumed a number of bottles of beer after leaving Barrie. Two cartons of beer were scattered and smashed in the collision. Four bottles of wine had been bought in Barrie and only one was intact after the crash. Unbroken wine-bottle seals indicated no wine was drunk during the ride, police said.

Miss Helen Ganitos of Barrie, seated behind the bus driver, was one of the injured passengers. She said:

"I saw the truck coming right at us. And he was certainly coming at a clip. I saw the truck swing over and I saw another truck in front of the bus swerve over to avoid the first truck... before the crash I saw the door of the panel truck open and a woman come tumbling out... she

Safe-Cracking More Profitable Than Movies Extra Makes Quarter Of A Million In Thefts

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—A former Hollywood movie extra was the central figure today in a real-life story involving scores of safe-cracking jobs.

Kenneth L. Scott, 29, whose only bids to screen renown were bit parts as a card player, boasted a better record as a safe burglar.

"I'm the third-best safe-cracker in the country—and I'm not sure the other two are better," he told detectives.

Detectives at first regarded skeptically Scott's boasting, but he soon proved his ability by opening a "crackproof" safe in about five minutes.

Scott was arrested yesterday in a tourist camp east of Columbus. Also arrested was Thomas N. Reilly, 28, who Scott described as his "apprentice." Police said the men admitted breaking into 11 safes in Columbus.

Scott was accused of robbing 79 grocery stores of some $65,000 in loot.

"I've grossed better than a quarter of a million dollars," Scott casually remarked.

Steel-Helmeted Policemen Battle CSU Strikers Twice On Saint John Piers

SAINT JOHN, NB, April 29—(CP).—Violence flared anew on west Saint John piers today between striking Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) members and steel-helmeted RCMP and city police. The battle broke out when officers aboard the strikebound freighter Federal Trader cut her hawsers and moved into the stream. No members of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) were reported in the area.

As the ship moved away from the pier, the clash broke out and 20 men were arrested.

It was not immediately known what led to this second riot. There were uncofirmed rumors that an S.I.U. crew would board the Federal Trader in mid-harbor later today.

Pre-Dawn Scuffle

The incident was similar to a pre-dawn fracas in which two C.S.U. members were seriously injured in a scuffle with police.

Names of the men were given as Harold McGoverin and Adrian Bresu.

The clash occurred between some 200 police, mostly R.C.M.P., and C.S.U. pickets after a 30-man crew of the rival Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) boarded the strike-bound freighter Cottrell. The ship later sailed for an unannounced destination.

Twenty or 30 other C.S.U. members were being held without charge by city police.

St. Catharines Girl Missing Bicycle Beside Canal Fear It May Be Murder

Leaves Friend's Home Around Midnight But Not Seen Since That Time; Police Unable To Find Any Other Trace

ST. CATHARINES, April 29—(CP).—Police are conducting an area-wide search for 20-year-old Joyce Patterson who mysteriously disappeared Thursday night after she left the home of a friend at 11.30 o'clock. The girl was riding a bicycle and normally should have made the trip in 15 minutes. Police constables called in early today found the bicycle and a flashlight between two bridges on the old Welland Canal but no further traces have been discovered.

When last seen the girl was reported to be in good spirits. She was wearing blue slacks and a black and white checkered jacket when she disappeared.

Employed at a rug factory near here, the girl left the home of Grade Hadlow just before midnight for the ride to her home, just outside the city limits.

Call Police

When she failed to arrive home, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Patterson, called police and a widespread search of the area started.

"She disappeared," said acting police chief Duncan Brown. "At this time I am not going to commit myself as to what may have happened to her."

Provincial Police were to be called in to help search the district.

Miss Hadlow said she was sure the girl had met with foul play.

"Joyce has been visiting our place almost nightly," she said. "She promised to return tonight That makes me feel something serious has happened. If she hasn't met with foul play she is being held against her will."

Say Hangchow Main Target For Red Troops

By FRED HAMPSON.

SHANGHAI, April 29 (AP) — Communist troops today seized Wuhing, a key point 40 miles north of Hangchow, the main prop for Shanghai.

Wuhing is 36 miles west of Kashing, control point on the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad.

A Nationalist communique said a drive on Shanghai appeared to be a move to protect the flank of the southbound Communist columns.

It asserted the force coming from the west had been checked about 37 miles west of the metropolis near Kunshan, on the Shanghai-Nanking railway. Trains to Kunshan had quit running.

The Shanghai garrison reported the captors of Wuhing now were advancing south toward Hangchow. It earlier had reported the Communist 23rd army was operating in this region.

Hangchow Target

It appears that the main push is aimed now at Hangchow, not Shanghai. With the capture of Hangchow, Shanghai would be sealed off by land.

This could mean that an attack on Shanghai will be delayed.

The garrison said the Communists were headed toward Nanking, 25 miles northwest of Hangchow.

The garrison charged the Communists were looting the countryside in occupied areas searching for food.

Air lines said evacuation from here had slackened. Some flights reported a few vacancies and cancellations.

Several Hundred Youths Clash In Berlin Riot

BERLIN, April 29.— (AP). — Several hundred Communist and anti-Communist German youths clashed in bloody street fighting early today.

A number were taken to hospital after the battle, which was broken up by police. The fighting took place in the American sector, near the Soviet sector's border.

The Communists claimed their opponents tried to break up their pre-May Day meetings in the American-occupied borough of Tempelhof. The Communist press charged American military police inspired the disorders.

American authorities said no Allied personnel was involved.

American public safety officers said the Communist Free German Youth Organization had been given permission to hold a meeting. They said that scores of those attending the meeting came from the Russian sector and this "invasion" created resentment among the anti-Communists.

The ruckus stirred fears of further clashes Sunday when Communist and anti-Communist trade union federations plan to stage rival May Day celebrations. Each organization has accused the other of planning 'provocations' Sunday.

Western Berlin's German police were ordered on full alert for the week-end.

Ontario May Become Centre Of Empire Industry—Welsh

The Province of Ontario is on the threshold of becoming the industrial centre of the British Empire, Col. the Hon. Arthur Welsh, Ontario Minister of Planning and Development, told a representative gathering of Peterborough industrialists and civic leaders on Thursday night in the Empress Hotel. He said that many British industries are anxious to move to Ontario and that his department, through continuing negotiations with the British Board of Trade, is meeting with increasing success in overcoming the British Government's reluctance to permit export of capital.

Col. Welsh was guest speaker on the occasion of a banquet tendered by the City of Peterborough to heads of local industries and exhibitors at the first annual Trade Fair being presented under Kiwanis Club auspices in the Armories all this week.

The banquet was presided over by Alderman Richard Raine, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council, and the speaker was introduced by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests and Peterborough representative in the Legislature. Others at the head table were: Mayor M. J. Swanston, V. M. McCabe, president of the Kiwanis Club; W. M. Gemmell, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Les Reid, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and E. C. Braund, president of the Businessmen's Association.

Proud of Expansion

Mayor Swanston, in a brief address, said the city was "very proud of its industries, whose continued progress and expansion have been largely responsible for the continued prosperity of the city."

His Worship pointed out that in the past ten years the city's population had increased more than 12,000 and that during this same period the assessment of city property had increased from 24½ million dollars to over 35 million dollars. Much of this increased assessment valuation is represented by large additions to manufacturing plants. He said that it was also a source of pride to the civic authorities that a fair measure of this increased assessment was traceable to new housing. Ottawa authorities had assured the City Council, the mayor said, that "the housing program in Peterborough has been better conducted and has been more successful than in most cities."

Mayor Swanston declared that the industries of Peterborough are "well managed and pursue an aggressive and progressive policy" and that the city was "particularly proud of the splendid record of labor relations established by our industries." He praised the "friendly understanding which exists between management and labor, which has resulted in the peaceful settlement of all differences and permitted

Asks Statement About Uranium

OTTAWA, April 29.—(CP).—C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria) asked the Government in the Commons Thursday night to disclose why it was declining to assist in the development of uranium deposits at Wilberforce.

Mr. Hodgson said that expert geologists have stated that uranium deposits exist in the Wilberforce area, but since 1930 the government had refused to provide any assistance for development.

He wanted to know why the government was refusing to issue a report made on the area by the chief geologist in the Resources Department. He said the making of the report had been financed by the people in the Wilberforce district.

Top geologists, said Mr. Hodgson, were saying that existing uranium deposits in Canada are "running out." For that reason he could not understand why the government would not be anxious to assist in the development of new deposits.

Reds Apologize To British About Barges

BERLIN, April 29.—(AP). — The Russians apologized today and the brief "battle of the barges" appeared to be over.

Soviet headquarters notified authorities that Russian soldiers who attempted yesterday to halt traffic in British sector canal locks had acted without authority.

The Soviet action opened the way for a conference of British and Soviet transportation chiefs on the question of barge traffic tomorrow.

Barge traffic was normal this afternoon and the atmosphere much more friendly.

Five Russians carrying sidearms, who had announced their intention to remain at the canal locks to stop barges lacking Soviet registry, left during the night, leaving the British forces in sole command until two Soviet officers showed up early today.

Announce Oleo Law In Effect May 16

TORONTO, April 29—Ontario's oleomargarine law to regulate the manufacture of the butter substitute, will come into force May 16, Premier Kennedy announced Thursday. An order-in-council proclaiming the law as of that date was passed at Thursday's cabinet meeting.

The law will restrict the moisteur content of margarine to 16 per cent, which is the maximum for butter, and will limit the yellow coloring to 1.6 degrees. It is understood the margarine manufacturers will be permitted to supply purchasers with additional coloring matter in a separate package.

Public eating places serving margarine will be compelled to post notices on the premises to this effect. The product must also be packaged in a different shape to that of butter.

At Winnipeg, where a similar law has been enacted, the regulations will take effect June 1. The Manitoba regulations limit the coloring to 1.6 degrees of yellow or yellow and red. Restaurants are instructed to indicate on their menus whether margarine is being served. Mixing of butter and margarine is forbidden.

Boy's Plea For Maps Starts Treasure Hunt

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—(AP).—Dave Curtis, 13, wrote to Falmouth, England, for maps and data on sunken ships and touched off a treasure hunt 6,000 miles away.

He hasn't received any charts but a newspaper man who telephoned from London told him the idea had Cornish fishermen searching the beaches for doubloons and pieces of eight.

Dave asked the Falmouth Chamber of Commerce for information on the Portuguese Caravel, St. Andrew, which sank off Mounts Bay in 1526.

"I think people are taking this all wrong. I just wanted some maps and stuff. I didn't think they were going to tell it to the papers and everybody."

Angry Policemen Gun For Bandits

MANILA, April 29 (AP)—An angry constabulary today went gunning in the retreats of the Communist-led Hukbalahaps for the ambush killers of a Philippine president's widow and 11 other persons.

The bodies of Mrs. Aurora Quezon, widow of Manuel Quezon, first president of the Philippines, her daughter, Maria Aurora, 33, and her son-in-law, Felipe Buencamino III, lay in Manila funeral parlors. Thousands of grieving Filipinos visited the parlors.

There were cries from congressmen for martial law in the Huk country north of Manila, where the slayings occurred yesterday.

That land of violence produced a second ambush in the same general area only a few hours after Mrs. Quezon's party was waylaid. Mayor David Ventura of Santa Rosa, two members of the Philippine constabulary and a civilian were reported killed.

There was official reluctance to identify the attackers as the armed peasants under Communist command who go by the name of Hukbalahaps.

But Manila newspapers and most citizens agreed with Brig-Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, delegate to the United Nations, who said he believed the Huks committed the killings.

New Type Radar Speeds Air Lift

BERLIN, April 29 (Reuters)—A new type of radar navigation aid developed by American technicians has been the secret behind the recent big increase in tonnage carried by the Berlin air lift, United States officials revealed here today.

The new apparatus, called CPS 5, has just come off the secret list. It enables ground operators to pick up planes when they are still between 50 and 70 miles away, give pilots their course, height and speed, and ensure their approach to specified airports at exactly right intervals.

CPS 5 was given its biggest test April 16 when nearly 1,400 flights brought almost 12,000 tons of supplies to Berlin in 25 hours.

American experts claim that up to 14,000 tons of supplies could be brought in in 24 hours if enough planes were available, they stated.

Trying To Establish Relations With Mao

LONDON, April 29 (AP) — Britain is trying to establish "friendly relations" with the Chinese Communist government, a foreign office spokesman said today.

He said such contact with the Chinese Communists will not affect Britain's present relations with the Nationalist government.

Diplomatic observers, meanwhile, speculated that his statements suggest Britain may soon give de facto recognition to Mao Tze-tung's Communist Government as the only effective authority in most of troubled China.

Keays Son Pleads Guilty In Police Court

BELLEVILLE, April 29.—Stanley Keays, 17, arraigned before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county court Thursday morning, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving laid by Ontario Provincial Police. He was remanded for sentence.

The youth recently pleaded guilty to another chargt of speeding laid against him by city police.

Stanley Keays is the son of Constable Ernie Keays, who was key figure in the recent Royal Commission probe into activities of Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville.

Britons Tuned To BBC Shocked To Hear Oaths Blasting Sedate Royal Academy Event

LONDON, April 29—(AP).—Britons tuned to the staid BBC were shocked to hear oaths and curses suddenly come hurtling out of the ether last night.

The occasion?

A broadcast of the first post-war dinner of the Royal Academy—an event expected to be at sedate as a temperance tea.

But the diners, who included Winston Churchill, the Archbishop of Canterbury and Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, got involved in an argument on modern art.

Retiring President Sir Alfred Munnings, 69, said modern painters were daubers who "cannot paint a tree to look like a tree." He went on to make slighting cracks about French modernists Pablo Picasso and Henri Matisse.

Outraged supporters of the modern painters shouted, banged on tables and yelled language which is banned from the air all over the world.

U.S. Envoy Holds Talk With Soviet

NEWYORK, April 29.—(CP).—Philip C. Jessup, United States ambasasdor-at-large, today accepted a request from Russia's Jakob A. Malik to meet this afternoon for talks on the next step in negotiations to lift the Berlin blockade.

A spokesman for the United States delegation to the United Nations told reporters at the General Assembly in Flushing Meadows Jessup would see Malik late today at the Soviet delegation offices. Jessup, he said, would not reveal the nature of his talks with the Russian deputy foreign minister until he had reported to State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Neither United States nor Russian officials have stated what stage the negotiations have reached.

But western diplomatic sources have previously expressed the belief the next step in the talks would come when Malik received instructions from Moscow on the United States request for details of Russian proposals to lift the blockade.

Fear Two Trappers Drowned In Rapids

KAPUSKASING, April 29 — (CP) — Two trappers were believed drowned yesterday in rapids of the Groundhog River near here.

Missing are Joseph Gauthier, 68-year-old widower of Fauquier, Ont., and Jean Ratte, 25, also of Fauquier. Their canoe was found upside down and stuck on the rocks in the rapids seven miles north of Fauquier.

The men left home April 26 intending to return home the same day. Searchers found the water too high and swift for dragging operations.

Picton Sailor Missing

MONTREAL, April 29 (CP) — A 20-year-old Picton seaman, Tommy Rosseau, who three weeks ago was kidnapped, beaten and robbed in Montreal, has been reported missing by the Ontario Provincial Police, it was learned here today. Rosseau was to have returned to his Picton home from Montreal but never appeared there, a report from the Ontario department said.

77-Year-Old Man Shoots Himself In Cabin As Two Policemen Arrive To Arrest Him

TIMMINS, April 29 — (CP). — Police said today 77-year-old William Daniel Hazen shot himself to death on Wednesday night as two officers approached his backwoods cabin to arrest him for liquor offences.

Cons. Tom Houldcroft of the Ontario Provincial Police said he and Cons. Tom Speakman heard a shot as they approached Hazen's cabin, 20 miles west of here, to arrest him. They found Hazen lying on the floor with a bullet wound in his temple, they said. He died instantly.

The two officers said they knocked on Hazen's door Thursday night and a voice asked them what they wanted. They replied that they were police officers who had a warrant to arrest him on charges of keeping liquor for sale.

There was no answer. Seconds later they heard a shot, they said, then broke in and found Hazen's body.

Chandler Suspends Durocher Indefinitely

CINCWINNATI, April 29 (AP) —Leo Durocher, manager of New York Giants, today was suspended indefinitely by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

The suspension was the result of a disturbance following the game yesterday between Brooklyn and New York, when Durocher allegedly struck a fan.

Durocher was ordered to appear before the commission in Cincinnati May 2.

Dairy Council Brief Asks Government Declare Definite Butter Policy

Requests Assistance In Solving Problems Affecting Milk And Cheese; Wants Restrictions On Exports Removed

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP).—The Cabinet has taken under consideration a National Dairy Council brief which appeals to the Government to help solve milk, cheese and butter problems caused partly by the introduction of margarine in Canada and partly by declining foreign markets. The brief, presented to Prime Minister St. Laurent and members of his Cabinet yesterday, asked the Government to declare a clear-cut policy on butter floor prices, explore the international field for more dairy markets and otherwise help stimulate the sale of dairy products.

J. H. Duplan, the council's president who submitted the brief, particularly asked that the Government remove export restrictions on cheese and butter and so allow the industry greater freedom in the export field.

He also suggested that instead of the government storing vast surpluses of butter in its efforts to maintain a floor price, it should consider granting dairy producers a straight subsidy and allow the butter to be sold at a below-floor level.

Otherwise, the council foresaw tremendous surpluses of butter accumulating in the hands of the government

Advisory Committee

To do away with the confusion in the industry which had resulted from dwindling overseas markets and the introduction of margarine in Canada, Mr. Duplan proposed that an advisory committee, representative of the industry, be established under the agricultural prices support act.

This committee would make available to the prices support board "knowledge and experience" to help solve the many "complex" problems involved in the current dairy situation.

Mr. Duplan indicated that even though Canada had a 50,000,000-pound cheese contract with the United Kingdom this year, there still would be a surplus of cheese in Canada over and above that amount.

Need Other Outlets

There had to be other outlets for the sale of that product, as well as for butter, the Council president said. There also had to be a certainty that Canada would again be able to dispose of some of her skim milk powder production to the united nations chilrens' emergency fund.

In 1948 more than 50 per cent of total skim milk exports—or about 18,000,000 pounds—went to the fund.

"Failure to announce administrative policy is having lasting and harmful effects on all branches of the industry," Mr. Duplan said.

"Unless the industry is made aware of such policies and procedures in the very near future," the Council president added, "it is difficult to foresee how it will be possible to carry on efficient operations or assist the government in minimizing the difficulties which are anticipated"

Will Stand Trial

TORONTO, April 29 —(CP)—John Patrick Murray, 22, Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter. He was originally charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, William Ross Wilson, but the charge was reduced by the crown last week. Wilson died following a fight at a house party. Murray was released on $5,000 bail.

Report All Groups Sag On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 29.—(CP). — All groups sagged lower in dull trading on the Toronto stock exchange today. Base metals continued sliding at the lowest price level in a year and industrials and gold extended their losing streak. Western oils opened firmer but soon joined the rest of the market in the decline.

Volume for the first three hours was 354,000 shares, about 27,000 shares less than yesterday's similar period.

Losses ranged up to a point in the industrial groupings but a slight recovery trend appeared in mid-session. Papers led the declining issues with several stocks touching new low.

Almost all base metals slipped lower in Labrador and Sherrit touching new lows.

Senior golds weakened fractions and losses were held about five cents in a scattered junior gold group.

Careening Truck

Hugh Ness of Stroud, driver of the second truck, said he saw the panel truck coming towards him and "it was careening all over the road. It swerved from side to side and I had to cut sharply to the left to avoid a collision.

He said he "had no chance to avoid hitting" the woman who fell out of the panel truck.

Police said treatment at the accident scene was administered by Muriel Dupuis, en route on the bus to her home at Midland. She graduated in nursing from St. Joseph's hospital, Toronto, in 1946.

Twenty-two other passengers on the bus escaped injury.

The two Robbins children, in the little summer resort community of Belle Ewart, were not told of their father's death. They were cared for Thursday night by their grandmother, Mrs. Violet Mateer. Their injured mother is a sister of John Matteer.

Police said they believe the fatally injured Mrs. Chartier has two children living in Montreal.

Dr. Frank Shannon of Churchill a village a mile south of the scene of the accident, said an inquest will be held but no date has yet been set.

U.S. Pledges Germans Get A Fair Deal

Acheson Prepared To Do His Best For Soviet Agreement

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—State Secretary Acheson pledged Thursday night that the United States will leave no stone unturned, if four-power talks with Russia are resumed, to work out a settlement on Germany that is fair to all.

He promised there will be no bargaining away of rights and security of the 45,000,000 Germans in the Western occupation zones, or of the rest of Europe.

Acheson, addressing the annual dinner of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, emphasized that the way still is open for four-power agreement on a united Germany.

The New York Times said an authoritative source has disclosed that, if four-power talks are resumed, the United States and Britain will propose merger of the Soviet zone and the West German republic to form a single German federal staff. The Times said the proposal is designed to draw the teeth from Soviet manoeuvres which the Western powers expect. It added that the United States also will propose sharp reduction of all military occupation forces, but will not agree to an expected Russian proposal for complete withdrawal of occupation armies.

Basic Safeguards

West Germans, Acheson declared, "may rest assured that this government will agree to no solution for Germany into which the basic safeguards and benefits of the existing Western German arrangements would not be absorbed...."

The United States wants to see an integrated German people, "or as large a part of them as possible" qualify for a place in "a new common structure of the free peoples of Europe."

Western agreements on the future of Germany had held unswervingly to that line, and represent a "sincere effort to deal with existing realities in the spirit of the original Allied covenants pertaining to Germany."

our plants for many years to operate without strikes." He closed his speech by extending the thanks of the city to the Kiwanis Club for their successful sponsorship of the Trade Fair.

Hon. Mr. Welsh, who following the banquet officially opened the Trade Fair for its Thursday night edition, declared that Ontario was heading into a period of unparalleled industrial development. He emphasized that 65 per cent of the industrial wealth of Canada was located in this province, though it contained only one-third of the Dominion's total population. He added that Ontario was "in the very fortunate position of having the largest percentage of the necessary raw materials for industry right within its borders."

The minister told his hearers that Peterborough citizens should be very thankful that their city was not a "one-industry town" as the diversity of industries of this city made for much greater stability. This was particularly true in the field of labor relations. He noted an increasing trend towards decentralization of industries, which was having the effect of improving employer - employee relations.

Col. Welsh invited all the industrialists present to take full advantage of the facilities offered by the Ontario Research Foundation, which during the past year had studied 164 different projects of smaller industries in the province.

The speaker was thanked by Ian McRae, works manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., who referred to Peterborough as "the finest industrial city in Canada". He also thanked the Kiwanis for sponsoring the Trade Fair.

President McCabe of the Kiwanis Club addressed the gathering in the absence of Ex-Mayor William Ovens, general chairman of the fair, who could not be present owing to the death of his brother. He said that the club's objective is to make the fair an entirely "made in Peterborough fair", adding that "we have industries here that cannot be matched anywhere else in Canada or the U.S."

At the beginning of the banquet Alderman Raine asked all to stand and drink a toast to "that distinguished citizen of our neighboring town of Lindsay, Hon. Leslie Frost" on his election to the Premiership of Ontario.

Roof Destroyed By Sparks From Nearby Chimney

A spark from a neighbor's chimney caused the shingle roof of the two-storey house of Frederick Somerville, 16 Inverlea St., to go up flames late Thursday afternoon. The fire also gutted the attic attic attic occupying a partial third storey.

A complete new roof will be required and damage is set at $1,000.

The ironic feature of the blaze is that the Somerville family did not have their furnace lighted. A strong gust of wind is believed to have carried some large sparks from the chimney of a nearby home. The roof ignited about four feet from the eavestrough and the flames spread up to the peak and ate through into the attic.

Furniture, books, and other household valuables were destroyed in the attic, but the chief damage was to the shingle roof will have to be replaced.

Had the wind been from the east instead of from the west it believed the roof of the residence of Mrs. Ford Turner, 800 Water St., only a few feet away, would have been burned as well.

The fire was first sighted by Mrs. Turner's daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Turner who had stepped out into her backyard to bring in some clothes. She heard a crackling sound and looked up to see a four-foot wave of flame starting up the Somerville roof.

She rushed back into the house, turned in the alarm, and then went to warn her neighbors. By that time others had seen the fire and Mrs. Charles Ray, 808 Water St., and her aunt, Miss Margaret Moffat, 803 Water St. had informed Mrs. Somerville who was alone in the house and unaware that anything was amiss.

Fanned by a west wind the fire rapidly spread over the whole roof and enveloped the attic.

Firemen used a booster line on the outside, and a 2½-inch hose line on the inside. It was impossible to salvage anything from the attic and those lending assistance to the family were forced to limit their help to removing valuables on the second floor to a place of safety.

Douglas MacQueen, 786 George St., a roofer by trade, proved of great assistance in moving the household furnishings and helping to wipe up the mess when the fire was finally extinguished.

Mr. Somerville said he thought the Fire Department did a good job. "They put down tarpaulins over the skeleton remains of the roof."

Two or three spots of fire started on the nearby shingle roof of the Turner family, but these were speedily doused by firemen. "It's a good thing the wind was blowing in the opposite direction though," Fire Chief George Smith commented.

Pakistan Sure Agreement Works

LONDON, April 29—(Reuters). —Liaquat Ali Khan, Pakistani Prime Minister, said today that India's becoming a republic was not likely to affect relations with Pakistan.

He said he was satisfied with the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference and hoped the results would be satisfactory.

Asked if the "white Australia" policy affected relations between Pakistan and Australia, the Prime Minister said he disliked racial discrimination.

"I am only hoping that all the countries of the world will recognize this fact: that there are no whites, no browns, no blacks, but that we are all human beings created by one God and are equal in every respect."

In answer to another question he said Communism was "only a name" in Pakistan.

But such was his country's geographical position that whenever action was taken against Communists in neighboring countries they "just walked quietly into eastern Pakistan."

Oshawa Show Official Gets 6 Months In Jail

OSHAWA. April 29 —(CP)—Kenneth Rolland Downs, Oshawa show producer, today was sentenced to six months definite and three indefinite for false pretences.

DETROIT, April 29 (CP) — More than 10,000 workers were laid off in four Chrysler Corp. plants due to parts shortages caused by two wildcat strikes involving only 89 workers, a company spokesman said Thursday. Plants involved and their workers were DeSoto, 1,300 employees; Chrysler Jefferson, 3,000; Plymouth, 3,000 and Chrysler Kercheval, 3,200.

Merger of US With Europe Envisaged By Churchill

LONDON, April 29—(AP).—A merger of the United States with a United Europe was envisaged by Winston Churchill on Thursday as a possible development of the new British Commwealth agreement. Such an association eventually might give a harassed and struggling humanity real security and freedom for hearth and home, the Conservative Party Leader told the Commons.

The new Commonwealth agreement provides that India, which has decided to become a republic, will remain in the Commonwealth.

Churchill is an active advocate of European union

The wartime prime minister told the House: "It is the duty of us all to try our best to make this new expression of unity of our world-wide association of states and nations a practical success. I feel the tides of the world are favorable to our voyage.

"I am unfeignedly glad that an impassable gulf has not opened between the new India and the British Empire and Commonwealth of Nations or between our famous past in India and our anxious present all over the world."

Saying that nearly everybody in the House wanted India to remain, he declared that it was fortunate that the institution of the British monarchy had not proved a barrier to India.

"As one who has always stood staunchly for the Crown," Mr. Churchill said, "I cannot feel that either the majesty of the Crown or the personal dignity of the King is impaired by the conditions under which India remains in the Commonwealth."

Government circles in New Delhi welcomed the outcome of the Commonwealth conference.

DETROIT, April 29 (AP) — A group of Detroit Negro business and professional men today announced plans to develop a mile-long Negro resort on the Canadian shore of Lake St. Clair.

Joe Louis, retired heavyweight boxing champion, is a member of of the syndicate negotiating for purchase of the property from a Detroit family.

The site is near Stoney Point, three miles east of Belle River. It will be known as "Canadian Riviera," the group said, and will become one of the Negro showplaces of North America. The property comprises 150 acres and a nine-room house.

Irving Roane and John White, co-owners of the Gotham Hotel here, said the syndicate has put up 60 per cent of the purchase price and expects to close the deal by May 10.

Newfoundland Votes May 27

ST. JOHN'S, April 29.—(CP).—Newfoundlanders vote May 27, their first political decision in 17 years.

Interim Premier Joseph Smallwood announced the provincial election date Thursday night before 1,500 delegates and guests to the first convention of the Newfoundland Libral party. Nomination day is May 17.

Islanders have only a month to choose between two parties in the provincial field—the Progressive Conservatives already are firmly entrenched and have signified their intention of contesting all 25 districts and 28 seats. The C.C.F. is not expected to enter the provincial race but are probable starters in the federal election, probably June 27.

Varieties Acts Delight Crowd

Featured at the Thursday evening performance of the Examiner Varieties at the Kiwanis Trade Fair in the Armouries, was Bernie Bray, who displayed several different sizes of mouth organs. Billed as "The Virtuoso of the Harmonica," Bray lives up to this designation by turning in a fine performance.

One of his best numbers was Kern's "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes." He did a clever imitation of the Scotch bagpipes, using a large toy balloon to play the bass as it slowly exhausted itself into the reads of the harmonica while he played the treble. There must have been a lot of Scotchmen in the audience, as he swung into "Road to the Isles" the rafters rang with applause.

Clever Impersonations

Joe Murphy of Toronto, "The Voice of the Stars," did several clever impersonations of screen and radio personalities. His best was Eddie Cantor doing "If You Knew Susie." Murphy has a nice style about his patter and the crowd thoroughly enjoyed it.

MC "El" Jones introduced a sister act from Peterborough that was exceptional, to round out the bill. Marilyn and Rosalyn McIlroy did a few acrobatic numbers that were sensational. Standing on the edge of a table, one of the girls does a back bend unto her hands and cartwheels upright again to the front of the stage. Their balancing work is splendid and it held its own with the professionals on the stage last night.

Indian Socialist Head Objects To Agreement

PANA, India, April 29 (Reuters)—Jaiprakash Narain, Indian Socialist leader, said here today that the London Commonwealth agreement was a "national blunder" and the Indian Socialist party would take the first opportunity of undoing it.

Narain, general secretary of the party, declared that he had no doubt that India's international position as an independent sovereign state "preserving its neutrality as between the two power blocs" had greatly suffered by her decision to remain within the frame-work of the Commonwealth after a republic is formed.

He described the agreement as a "triumph for British diplomacy" and not for India's prime minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

A New Commonwealth

"It would be idle to pretend that the existing constitution of the Empire or the British Commonwealth of Nations . . .is easily intelligible or in any degree logical". Thus wrote the late A. B. Keith, the great authority on the Imperial and Commonwealth constitution when beginning his analysis of it as it appeared after the Statute of Westminster, 1931. What would he have said about the intelligibility or logic of the Commonwealth constitution today when it can include republics neither accepting nor acknowledging allegiance to the Crown?

* * *

By the Statute of Westminster the Dominions were formally recognized by Britain as being free, independent and completely self-governing nations — which freedom had in fact been gained and given full de facto recognition by the end of the Great War—united together in the British Commonwealth of Nations by the Britannic Crown. The Preamble to the Statute contains two conditional phrases particularly cogent at this time: "Inasmuch as the Crown is the symbol of the free association of the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and as they are united by a common allegiance to the Crown".

* * *

The joint declaration issued in London on Thursday by eight Commonwealth countries, a declaration resulting from the Prime Ministers' conference on the status of India, destined to be a Republic, in relation to the Commonwealth, states that India accepts the King as "the symbol of the free association of its (the Commonwealth's) independent member nations and as such the head of the Commonwealth" and that India's continued association with the Commonwealth does not change the basic of membership of other countries, who "accept and recognize India's continuing membership in accordance with the terms of this declaration".

* * *

Therein is the crux of an extremely important historical document, which, according to L. B. Pearson, Canada's representative at the Conference, means that "a new commonwealth of nations is brought into being". Is this so, and if so, does it mean that the British Commonwealth of Nations has been ushered out of existence?

* * *

A comparison of the relevant terms of the Statute of Westminster and the Declaration made on Thursday reveals a notable similarity, and also what may be a decisive difference. The similarity lies in the phrase of the Preamble to the Statute, which we have already quoted: "The Crown is the symbol of the free association of the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations". The words of yesterday's Declaration are almost identical: The King is "the symbol of the free association of its (the Commonwealth's) independent member nations". The difference, and the crucial gradation which makes it possible for a Republic of India or any other nation now in the Commonwealth which may become a Republic to remain in the Commonwealth, even though it has an elected President rather than a hereditary King as titular head of the nation, is cheek by jowl with the similarity. The Statute of Westminster, 1931, states that the member nations are "united by a common allegiance to the Crown". The Declaration of April 28th, 1949, states that the King, as symbol of the free association is "head of the Commonwealth". There is no mention of allegiance, and that is why India is able to remain within the Commonwealth.

* * *

On the surface of the phrases, the Declaration is not revolutionary. In meaning it is. For the first time in history, by an involuted phrasing and an urgent will on the part of the Prime Ministerial Conference to reach a painless and workable compromise for a measure of co-operation with, at this time, India, monarchical and republican forms of government are contained within the same framework. Is the framework more than verbiage? Has it any strength, any fibre? Is the new commonwealth of nations (be it noted that Mr. Pearson gave the phrase without benefit of the adjective British or capital letters) a Commonwealth at all?

* * *

Time will tell. Keith said, writing after the Statute of Westminster, "the bond of union in form is primarily the common allegiance to the Crown" (The italics are ours.) Now the common allegiance as concerns India at least, is severed. How much has and does that allegiance to the King mean? In Canada? In South Africa? In India? Was it formal allegiance to the Crown which most securely united the Commonwealth before and during the recent war? Perhaps that matter of formal allegiance has played a much smaller part in Commonwealth relations than constitutional theorists believe, or imperial sentimentalists aver.

* * *

Keith has also said this: "In the second place, the governments and peoples are linked together by common understandings". That is a prime tie, though changeable, and, between various member nations of the Commonwealth, slack or taut as conditions vary. It is significant of the "common understandings" that India wishes to keep her cultural, economic and military ties with the Commonwealth.

* * *

Now that allegiance to the King, the last formal link between Britain and the Dominions and with each other, is no longer a requisite of membership in the Commonwealth, the Commonwealth has indeed changed its formal nature. It is the end of the Commonwealth as it now exists. But there have been constitutional changes in the Empire before—in 1783 (the recognition of American independence), in 1849 (responsible government in Canada) and in 1931 (freedom and equality of status). The British system of colonies and nations has thus far survived its changes, and remains more firmly united and unanimous than any other union of nations under the sun. The war revealed its united strength. Under the new form, clearly anticipated in the Statute of Westminster, its survival is not doomed. The accommodation that has been provided for India has not put the other Dominions out of the rooms they occupy. The constitution—if such it can be called—of the British Commonwealth is logically absurd, but the British Commonwealth and Empire has not been built and sustained by logic.

Canada Authoritatively Portrayed For Twenty-Five Cents

The "Canada" Handbook for the year 1949 has now come off the presses. Somewhat larger than usual (288 pages) because of longer articles on trade, finance and industry and more numerous illustrations, it is to our way of thinking the best book bargain at twenty-five cents, the most informative of current handbooks on Canada and one so useful and attractively made up that it deserves to become a best seller and warrants a place in any home, school or office in which there are people who care for and are interested in this country's condition and development.

"Canada 1949" contains two special articles—"Canadian Petroleum Production and Outlook", and "Citizenship and Canadian Unity", and two dozen regular chapters which do give, as hoped in the Prefatory Note by the Dominion Statistician, Mr. H. Marshall, whose Bureau prepares the Handbook. "a balanced picture of the general economic and social structure of Canada". The writing is plain and to the point, the statistics are not cumbersome, and the illustrations give realism, even glamour, to story of Canadian enterprise and the Canadian scene in the last year. Since the book was prepared before Newfoundland's entry into the Dominion and the material primarily relates to the year 1948, Newfoundland is not considered in its general scheme. There is, however, a frontispiece with reproductions in colour as tribute to Newfoundland, and a message from the Prime Minister about the entry of the new Province into the Canadian federation.

The handbook "Canada 1949" may be had from the King's Printer, Ottawa, for twenty-five cents.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is reported that a Calgary fellow-workman "unmasked" the spy Dimitry Leshchenko. And of course exposed a red face.

The U.S. Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan has resigned in protest against the scrapping of a huge 65,000-ton aircraft carrier whose keel had recently been laid. Somewhat reminiscent of his pugilist namesake — a scrape over scrapping.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

QUESTION: Is the present Hunter Street bridge the first one across the river at that point? When was it built?

ANSWER: No. The first bridge was built before 1930, I believe, and rebuilt in 1846-47. The bridge which the present one replaced was a steel structure of three spans, and crossed directly from bank to bank, not elevated as now. This is evident when one looks at the Quaker Oats building. Formerly its main entrance and offices were three storeys lower. When the new bridge was built (1920-21) a new entrance had to be provided the Quaker Oats building. When the bridge was being erected a temporary bridge did service, running from the bottom of Simcoe Street to Riverside Park.

DEAR ALPHA: When you say that the custom of touching wood relates to the wood used in Christ's cross, you do not go far enough. Long before the dawn of Christianity certain kinds of wood—hazel, birch, rowan, oak to name only a few were sacred in all the European religions, and special kinds were used for ritual fires, amulets, and the like. Christianity, which could not root out the old superstitions of 50,000 years and perhaps more, embraced them and made them its own for, as the hymn says—

Conquering kings their titles take
From the foes they captive make.

RESPONSE: Thank you. From Druids in dank forest-covered Britain to dervishes in darkest Africa trees have been symbols of deities and devils, even their very presence. Readers interested in this superstition will find hair-raising reading in Sir James Frazer's "Golden Bough", where native and primitive customs and fetishes are anthropologically analysed.

SIR: What is Canada's motto?

ANSWER: "A mari usque ad mare" (from sea to sea). While I'm at it, I may as well run through the mottoes of the Provinces—that is, those that have mottoes. New Brunswick and the three prairie provinces do not aspire to them. Ontario: "Ut incepit fidelis sic permanet" (As loyal she began so shall she (ever) remain). Newfoundland: "Quaerite Prime Regnum Dei" (Seek first the kingdom of God). Quebec: "Je me souviens" (I remember). Nova Scotia: "Munit haec et altera vincit (One defends and the other conquers). Prince Edward Island: "Parva sub ingenti" (The small under [the protection of] the great). British Columbia: "Splendor sine occasu" (Splendour without diminishment).

FEDORA: A reader of this column has, I gratefully say, accepted my challenge of last week, and gives this account of the fedora hat. Hat in hand, I salute his knowledge and herewith give him a Alphat, in appreciation—size 12.

"Regarding the fedora hat, the origin of that name is not as unlike the origin of the 'Trilby' as might be imagined. 'Fedora' was the name of a play written for Sarah Bernhardt by the famous French dramatist Victorien Sardou in 1882. It was customary in those days to name articles of dress after plays, books, people, racehorse and the like which were much in the public eye. Hence the 'Fedora' which is really a Homburg with a softer brim. 'Fedora', is of course a woman's name.

"As for the Derby, it was not always called that; it was first called the "billy-cock" hat, from William Cox, the famous London hatter who originated it as an informal hat and as a hat to be worn when riding (but not when hunting). It was popularized by the Earl of Derby, the great-grandfather of the present Earl."

DEAR ALPHA: In your column of Friday, April 22nd, you wrote about Dr. Poole, Peterborough's early historian and said that his brother was "Anglo-Israel" Poole. Why "Anglo-Israel"?

ANSWER: Your question falls pat with some further information I intended to pass on about the Pooles, which Mrs. Helen Marryat has kindly unearthed for me. Mrs. Marryat cites Rose's Cyclopedia of Canadian Biography, (1886?): "William Henry Poole (1820-1896), was born in Kilkenny County, Ireland, April 3rd, 1820, and came to Upper Canada with his parents in 1831. He was brought up in Carleton Place and attended Victoria University (this, I may interject, was then situated in Cobourg) for several sessions and became a school teacher. In 1846, however, he entered the ministry of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and he ministered to various congregations in Canada until 1879 he received and accepted a call to the Methodist Episcopal Church in Detroit, Mich. He died on August 7th, 1896. He was known as 'Anglo-Israel Poole' from the fact that he was the author of 'Anglo-Israel, or the Saxon Race proved to be the Lost Tribes of Israel'."

This book was published in Toronto. The Rev. W. H. Poole was, obviously, a British Israelite, for whom the Rev. E. J. Springett is chief Canadian spokesman now. He was, according to one list, pastor of George Street Methodist Church from 1854 to 1856.

When the younger brother, our Dr. Thomas Wesley Poole, the author of the history, practised medicine in Norwood, he lived, Mrs. Marryat writes, "in one of the houses in a terrace to the right of the War Memorial. He was Treasurer of the Township of Asphodel in 1861, and possibly longer. He left Norwood in 1864, and in September (possibly on the 23rd) was given a dinner. I can find no record of that". He was Local Superintendent of the Norwood Grammar and Common Schools, in succession of the Rev. John Hilton, from 1856 to 1863, when the Rev. M. A. Farrar of Westwood was appointed to the post.

Mr. E. C. Guillet, M. A., well-known historian of Upper Canadian days, wishes he could discover what became of Dr. Poole's library, which was supposed to have been of considerable value, and would now certainly be of historial value.

FOR THE RECORD: Every person in town between the ages of 12 and 100 is having the opportunity of a free chest X-ray so that he may know that his chest shows no signs of T.B. The mass survey, begun last Monday and continuing until the end of May, has been arranged and sponsored by a variety of organizations, from the Ontario Department of Health to the Peterborough T. B. Association, churches, women's and service clubs. It is a quick, painless job. One steps into a van, fills in a card, stands in front of a picture-taking machine. "Stand close, now don't move", and as soon as some motor begins to buzz, the operator says, "That's all". All in about 50 seconds. My card was Number 16. The person who had Number 13 is rumoured to have fled as soon as he got the card, in his flight stubbed his toe on the hour hand of the Town Clock.

THE DEAL'S OFF

Centennial In Panama

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

THE Panama Canal had so many historic footnotes, false starts and disappointed hopes that it is somewhat startling to find a company, formed to develop the isthmus, still active and celebrating its 100th anniversary. The Panama Railroad Company, organized in New York in April, 1849, began by building the first railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans on the American continent—its completion antedating by fourteen years the first transcontinental railroad in the United States.

In those days many a California-bound pioneer declined to risk life and property on the covered wagon and the threat of Indians. Instead, he—and many others after California struck gold—took sailing passage to Panama, hiked across the isthmus on the old Cruces Trail and re-embarked for San Francisco. The company's concession from New Granada (Colombia) included canal rights which the United States Government acquired by outright purchase in 1904—the canal's history of concession swaps is as long as itself. Today the original rail tracks are eighty-five feet under water and the relocated railroad is an important adjunct to the operations of the canal.

All too often a man-made project appears so logical and necessary that the feats required to bring it into being look less and less tremendous with every passing year and technical advance. The idea of a canal across Panama was almost as old as the dream of a Northwest Passage. It wasn't the first time that a winging idea had to progress on the heavier feet of practicality Even the straining westward tide, which must have seemed so irresistible to the company founders in 1849, took nearly fifty years to have tangible effect on ground-digging for the final canal which was triumphantly opened in 1914.

Bloodless Revolution

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

IN a revolutionary world, England remains the mother of bloodless revolutions. Robert Boothby, leader of the Young Conservatives, announces that nationalization of the British economy is here to stay. Speaking of the Tory ability to face facts "empirically," he adds:

"We accepted the revolution of 1832, and governed England for a considerable part of the nineteenth century in consequence. I am glad to tell you we have accepted the revolution of 1945 and are looking forward to governing England again for a good part of the rest of the century."

First 1687, then 1832, then 1945. A Toryism that can cut its clothes to fit its century is, like Virginia Woolf's Orlando, a source of both astonishment and admiration to a world that has still to learn to "agree with thine adversary quickly, whilest thou art in the way with him."

The Modern Apes

When two orang-outangs, flying from Singapore to the U.S.A., arrived at London Airport in a British Overseas Airway Corporation cargo aircraft, one of them was feeling a little "off-color." As there was a wait of several hours before they went on to America, the B.O.A.C. staff felt that they should give all possible service to this "passenger", so they sent him to a pet store where he would have every care and attention. When the B.O.A.C. cargo officials called for him, they found the orang-outang completely recovered, reclining in an armchair with a blanket around his shoulders, enjoying a television program.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou brakest.

And the Lord passed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty. (Ex. 34: 1, 6, 7.)

O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity. Take with you words, and turn to the Lord: say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciously: so will we render the calves of our lips.

Asshur sall not save us; we will not ride upon horses: neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy. I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely. (Hos. 14: 1-4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ...

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. (I John 1: 3, 9.)

Dubious Headline Hunting

Mr. George Drew's latest political foray on the defence estimates will scarcely commend itself to Canadians who believe that the safety of the state should not be made the subject of partisan jockeying. As a military man Mr. Drew should know that some details of defence dispositions and strength must be kept from the knowledge of potential enemies at a time when there is some fear of a third World War. Perhaps it is because of this knowledge that he chose to demand facts and figures regarding armed detachments—information that most people will be inclined to think should be withheld by the government in the national interest.

Though army advisers recommend against divulging these facts, Mr. Drew does not hesitate to play upon public fears by suggesting that the government is hiding the alleged inadequacy of defence measures. This is a grave charge, one that is widely disturbing to say the least. But there seems to be no vestige of basis for it in the fact that the authorities are safeguarding some military secrets.

If the government were to yield to Mr. Drew's demands and disclose all defence details, it might seriously damage the nation in its effort to avert—if necessary to win—another conflict. On the other hand, if the Minister of Defence accepts the advice of army authorities and refuses to divulge the information, the way is open, of course, for the Conservative leader to charge that the Minister is withholding essential information from the public.

This course may or may not be successful party strategy. But it is not responsible politics. Mr. Drew has shown a predisposition to go headline hunting, in and out of Parliament, on several questionable issues. His latest publicity expedition may have achieved his personal objective. But few will consider it any constructive contribution to national security or progress.

Afield

NICK NICKELS

When the Boss flips some clippings on your desk and calls for a column on doing AFIELD, to be ready in very short order, much time can be spent in looking blankly at your typewriter even though there is a lot to write about. The more I thought about things AFIELD the plainer it became that this AFIELD subject covers a great deal of ground and that it was a matter of trading and recording ideas with people that you know. In mulling over how far AFIELD I could go and that spring was well under way in some sections, small pictures of these people going about their daily business fitted into an overall pattern. Without further delay let us start AFIELD with the following paraprahs to be known simply as "NOTHING BUT NAMES."

Down on the North Shore of the Straits of Belle Isle FRED COX and his family have put away their spring sealing nets at Harrington Harbour and are painting their cod-fishing dories. Further east along the coast on the Mingan Channel JOE THERRIAULT, Havre St. Pierre, will be head over heels in village problems to do with the construction of a 14-miles rail line to the new Lac Allard titanium field. Across from his village on Anticosti Island I read in the paper the other day that the accumulation of winter mail for isolated lighthouse keepers was dropped to them by an RCAF plane. Post master GEORGES BLOUIN, Seven Islands, will have his ketch floating by now and PAUL PROVENCHER and ARTHUR SEWELL, Baie Comeau, will be gauging summer fire hazards in the QNSP timber limits.

Airline boys based at Rimouski and Mount Joli on the South Shore will be enjoying some nice spring flying weather across the St. Lawrence. Staff men of the Aerial Surveys division of the CP Airlines will be fitting cameras to Rapide seaplanes at their Lac a la Tortue base, north of Three Rivers, under CAPT. NORM FORRESTER. At the large Cartierville aircraft plant CAPT. NORTH SAWLE will be worrying with many problems to go with initial CPA flights soon to be inaugurated from Vancouver to the Orient.

CAPT. "SCRUFF" HOLLINGSWORTH at the Sault will be supervising change-over of his Algoma Steel Norseman to floats for summer. STAN WAGNER, ART SCHADE and SIG SOLMUNDSON are doing the same at Sioux Lookout. At Kenora REX KITELY, GORDY HOLLINGSWORTH and their men will have beached their planes while ex-staffer DEL DELAMERE turns his energies to business and politics.

West of Winnipeg the Assiniboine River is overflowing its banks and in the city airwaysmen MILT ASHTON and ROY BROWN wil have called a halt to winter flying in the southern section of the province. Up north, however, JEFF HOME-HAY will still be flying winter-bound trappers down from Reindeer Lake to Flin Flon. In the same weather belt where rotting lake ice is pocked with gaping air holes, Ontario fur traders OSKAR LINDOKKEN, South Trout Lake, BLAKE YOUNG, Wunnimum Lake and GEORGE SWAIN, Swain Lake, will be settling Indians' winter trapping debts as bundles of spring rats come to their posts. The hum of new outboard motors warming up will be coming from the shore of Casummit Lake as storekeeper BUCK COLLEY tinkers with them.

Ex-flier BILL CATTON, merchant of Headingly, Man., will be watching the first wavering flights of honkers as they pass over his village store to breeding grounds in the North that he knew so well. A thousand miles north of him JIM TRAFFORD, at Hudson's Bay Company's lonely Tavave post on the west coast of the Bay, will be sorting Arctic fox pelts. Even for Jim it is spring on the barrens when overland travel is at its best with dogs and komatik.

In the cold gray dawn of SATURDAY MORNING, whether it be fair or foul, trout fishermen will be whipping county streams in search of Mr. Fontinalis, the illusive speckled trout. If they use the correct lures and quiet patience their luck should be good, according to the Departments restocking survey. To date nearly 20 thousand trout fingerlings have been placed in Northumberland county streams, about 8,000 in Durham and distribution will continue until all requisitions have been filled. The hatchery at Codrington is going great guns. It is south of Warkworth. Brown trout fingerlings will be stocked during the last week in April, chiefly in the warmer waters of Durham, where it is found that they thrive best.

Remarkable success has been reported by manager H. C. Jackson, Deer Lake hatchery, in the collection of 'LUNGE SPAWN, up until the recent cool weather occurred. In one period of four days three million eggs were drawn off, most of these at the west end of Chemong Lake, a few at Lake Katchewanooka. Traps have been set up for the past two weeks and are visited daily.

Fair Building Grants

The grants, which match amounts paid by the federal government, are: London, $200,000; Ottawa, $150,000; Fort William $100,000; and Owen Sound $18,000. It had not been decided whether the grants would be paid in a lump sum or over a period of years.

Arrest Nine Germans

FRANKFURT, April 29.—(AP). —United States army agents Thursday night reported the arrest of nine Germans who they said tried to sell 4½ pounds of uranium ore for 10,000,000 Deutschemarks ($3,000,000). An army spokesman said the Germans were interested mainly in the money end of the deal and there was no indication how they arrived at the value placed on the ore. Pure uranium is extracted from such ore in the manufacture of the atom bomb.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

According to the Oshawa sports writer: "The intermediate Lakeshore Rugby League this season will consist of the four regular teams, Oshawa, Oakville, Peterborough and Orillia, with the possible addition of two more clubs from Lindsay and Fenelon Falls. This expansion would mean a lot to every club in the league, both in a financial way and in a better schedule. The residence rule this year for intermediate players allows three imports, being in residence by Sept. 1. This will mean more powerful teams and the prospect of some topnotch football." The local Panthers would welcome their old Scugog rivals back on the grid again, as well as a Fenelon Falls entry, making two short hauls from Peterborough.

Glad to hear that Jack Foote will be back here from Toronto ere the end of May. Not only did he do a big job as full-time coach of minor lacrosse in the city, but he was an outstanding player for the Petes in their championship drive. Besides being a fine fellow personally, Jack led the senior "B" lacrossers in scoring with a grand total of 123 points in 24 schedule and 10 playoff games and he'll be a big help in the stiffer senior "A" competition coming up for the Petes' gutted-stick squad. It may be recalled that Lou Vitarelli was second highest scorer here last year with 90 points and brother Deotch third with 88.

An All-Star Cast

Belleville will send a potent softball team up May 24 for the Jaycees' tourney. Such pitchers as Jim Hunter, Al Adams, Pat Maracle and Don Boyle, and other players like Vern and Leo Goyer, Herb Henn, Red Carson, Jackie Wardaugh, Timmy Williams, Genereaux and a few more. An all-star cast coming with the serious intention of taking home the hefty cash first prize. No doubt, Toronto will have teams here too that day, and some local entries may be expected. Johnny Russelle's B-A bunch picked up the main marbles last time, if we recall rightly. Entries should be in by May 20.

Quinte columnist remarks: "A few years ago, Belleville entered the Petes' tourney and, but for the pilfering antics of the local umpire (and he admitted it afterward under a barrage of suds), the Quinte squad would have galloped home with a pocketful of Peterborough bucks. They defeated the best Toronto had and then came up against a team. Yeah, guess where from. You're right, Peterborough, and were edged by a single run." He then names the umpire and dares us to print it. We're not quite nuts yet, George—that could be libel, or didn't you know? And since when did Belleville ever beat a local team at anything in the line of athletics, chum?

School Loops Going

Public School Softball Leagues started schedules Wednesday and Thursday this week. A couple of good contests dished up and some, as might be expected so early in the season, were loose as political promises ere election. In a junior joust yester aft, one team scored a mere 21 runs in one inning and the scorer still has the shakes today. But play will tighten up as the boys get warmer weather and more practice. As the school players have less than two months to play, they must start off extra early. Queen Mary and King Edward juniors were winners yesterday. Juniors go again Tuesday on two fronts, and the seniors have three tilts the day after.

While the young edition of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League aren't exactly burning up the circuit as yet, they may make a respectable showing shortly. And we think they will draw well, as most young teams are hustling ones, making up in fight what they lack in experience. The 60th home opening of Leafs, celebrating their diamond jubilee, will be next Wednesday against Newark Bears. Game is at three p.m., following half an hour or more of special ceremonies, including the Lieutenant-Governor, Toronto's Mayor, Frexy Shaughnessy of the loop, a band, and so forth. They hope to crack the present attendance record of 18,220 fans.

Royals Edge Brandon 3-2 In First Game

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG, April 29 (CP) — Montreal Royals, tagged with the "underdog" label before the start of their Memorial Cup final against Brandon Wheat Kings, today command a little more respect from the hasty Westerners who put them on the short end of the betting odds.

The Royals edged the highly-touted Wheat Kings 3-2 in the opening game last night of the best-of-seven Dominion final for the prized Memorial Cup, and Coach Tag Millar figures they only played a "fair" game.

Wheat Kings, however, look on the loss as a good omen, for they dropped the opening game of two previous playoff series, then came back to win. Too, they have a season record of not losing two successive games, and are back on home ice for the second game Saturday night.

Although outweighed, Royals traded bump-for-bump with the bruising Wheat Kings and took advantage of every break to sew up the game in the final period after blowing a two-goal first-period lead.

Fast-breaking Bert Herschfeld tallied the payoff goal at 9.26 of the last session when he flipped Neale Langill's passout from behind the net past goalkeeper Ray Frederick off a defending player's leg.

Tie Count

Skippy Burchell and Matt Benoit put Royals two up in the first session only to see Mac Beaton and Angus Juckes tie the count in the second.

Depite the 17 minor penalties and a 10-minute misconduct to Herschfeld for arguing, tempers were held on an even keel for most of the speedy contest.

The game was delayed about four minutes when rink officials cleaned the ice of peanuts, programs and one bottle tossed by fans following an elbowing penalty to Bob Chrystal, Brandon defenceman, in the last session.

In the second period when Glen Sonmor and Dick Moore were serving double penalties for high-sticking and roughing on the same play, Brandon tied the count.

Wild Shooting

Both teams started off at a terrific pace and Brandon only were kept off the score sheet by the brilliant goaltending of slim Bobby Blean and their own wild shooting.

Royals took the lead when Burchell skipped through the defence after Gord Armstrong flipped him a pass. He skated in on Frederick and let loose with a low shot which caught the left corner. The Eastern champions went two up, when Fildes passed out from behind the Brandon cage and Benoit banged the rubber into the rigging.

Beaton took a double-relay from Frank King, a standout all night, and Walt Pawlyshyn to bang the puck past Bleau for Brandon's first goal. Then Juckes' tying counter came about two minutes later when he grabbed a faceoff by the Royals' net and beat the agile Montreal custodian.

The game was played after a day in which the temperature touched a record—for the day—of 87 degrees.

OFF HIS RECORD this year, Model Cadet did not rate a chance at the Kentucky Derby, May 7, but he is a superior mudder, and Mrs. Ada L. Rice shipped him to Louisville with an eye to an off track. The son of Requested-Hadepine was a good colt when he unexpectedly won the Washington Futurity last Aug. 14. Eddie Arcaro is the jockey.

Senators Whip Regina Caps 6-4 In Sizzling, Scrappy Game

By MEL SUFRIN.

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP) —Ottawa Senators had that big first game tucked away today but they also had assurance that they can count on a slam-bang series of hockey at its toughest, fastest and scrappiest before the resting place of the Allan Cup is decided this season.

The Senators, with 7,730 fans roaring in agreement, knew they had been a hockey game worthy of the prized trophy before they came out on top 6-4 last night over the hard-hitting Regina Caps in the sizzling opener of the best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior championship. Second game will be here Saturday night.

Ed Dartnell, 27-year-old Winnipeg-born winger, was the payoff man for the Senators, rapping in three goals. Linemate Bill Robinson, another of the six Winnipeg natives on the eastern champs scored one, with Buddy Hellyer and defenceman Jack Irvine winding up the goal-getting for the

The starry line of Mel Hill, Sweeney Schriner and Chuck McCullough contributed three of the four goals to the losing cause. Centre McCullough netted two while veteran left-winger Schriner got one. Hill came in for a couple of assists while Schriner helped on McCullough's third-period goal. The other Regina tally, also in the third period, went to Lou Hauck.

Penalties Costly

Penalties played a big part in the game as Senators, who held an edge in play throughout the first two periods, scored their first three goals with Regina a man short.

Tempers flared several times and wound up with an outburst by 10-minute misconduct penalty for shoving referee Lorne Lyndon of Winnipeg and using profanity.

It happened when coach Art Somers, in a desperate attempt to get the tieing goal in the final minute of play, pulled goalie Bev Bentley out and sent on six forwards for a faceoff in the Ottawa corner. The score was 5-4 for Senators at the time.

The puck was dropped and centre Nils Tremblay got it away to Dartnell who skated to within about 25 feet of the empty Regina net and neatly slid it in.

Schriner protested loudly and demonstratively that Ottawa left-winger Bill Robinson had been inside the faceoff circle when the puck was dropped. Several players had to get between Schriner and referee Lyndon to keep the angry left-winger from committing mayhem.

Bills (Legs) Fraser in the Ottawa goal had 10 stops to 16 for Bentley in the first period; six to nine in the middle frame, and seven to six in the last 20 minutes, for a total of 23 against 31 for the Regina netminder.

Fan Accuses Durocher Of Attacking Him

By BEN PHLEGGAR.

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — Leo Durocher is in hot water again, but today nobody knew just how hot.

The quick-tempered manager of New York Giants was accused by a Brooklyn fan of punching and kicking him Thursday at the Polo Grounds. Durocher, however denied he hit anybody.

From a hospital cot, 22-year-old Fred Boysen said he would bring charges of assault against Durocher.

Boysen, a vociferous Brooklyn rooter, said he was attacked on the playing field after Durocher's Giants had been whipped 15-2 by the Dodgers.

Durocher gave this version of the incident:

"As I was crossing the field to the dressing room I recall somebody snatching at my cap. I grabbed it back and kept walking. This sort of thing happens every day. I was surrounded by members of the Giants team and there were hundreds of spectators on the field. Do you think I could knock somebody down in front of them?"

Boysen's Story

Boysen said he had been razzing the Giants' manager from a box behind the New York dugout. He gave this version:

"After the game my cousin and I went on the field. We were passing first base on our way over to talk to Jackie Robinson. Durocher came up behind me. He grabbed and punched me. As I tried to get up—I was dizzy—he kicked me in the stomach."

The incident assumed added importance because of Durocher's stormy career.

He was banished for the 1947 season by baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler for conduct detrimental to the game. Durocher was then manager of Brooklyn.

Thursday night Chandler said he had received no official report of the most recent fracas and that he had no comment.

Williams Back In Groove As Red Sox Pound A's 12-5

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitchers in the American league had better beware—Ted Williams has found the home-run range again.

Ted is back in the groove after having to be content with singles and doubles in the first part of the season. He had a big day Thursday with his first 1949 homer, a single and three walks for a perfect record against Philadelphia Athletics. He drove in five runs and contributed to the Red Sox rout of the A's pitcher from Toronto, Dick Fowler, and a 12-5 victory.

New York Yankees downed Washington 6-2 behind the pitching of Ed Lopat who won his third straight game.

Rookies Dick Kryhoski, with two singles and a triple, and Gene Woodling, led the attack on Rae Scarborough for the Yanks' eighth victory in 10 starts.

Johnny Groth and Jack Graham the two sensational rookies, each hit their fourth home runs as St. Louis Browns whipped Detroit Tigers 9-6. Groth got his with the bases loaded—his second grand slam. He has extended his season-long consecutive hitting streak to nine games.

The Brownies pounded four Detroit pitchers, including loser Saul Rogovin, for 15 hits and a sweep of the two-game set.

Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

Out of Action

In the National League, both Stan Rojek of Pittsburgh Pirates, hit on the head at St. Louis Wednesday night, and Bob Elliott of Boston Braves, injured at Philadelphia Wednesday, were out of action Thursday.

Pete Castiglyione filled in for Rojek, getting three hits, as the Pirates lost 4-2 to St. Louis Cardinals behind the eight-hit pitching of Alpha Brazle who copped his second straight.

Elliott's place was taken by Connie Ryan, who contributed two hits in Boston's 6-1 romp over the Phillies. Vern Bickford allowed only three hits, all singles, in outpitching Jocko Thompson.

Brooklyn Dodgers bombed New York Giants 15-2, moving into a first-place tie with the Braves. While the Dodgers ripped the Giants' pitchers to shreds, Ralph Branca doled out only four hits for his third straight decision.

Ken Raffensberger, Cincinnati's crafty southpaw veteran, shut out Chicago Cubs 2-0 with seven hits.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Alf Pike, former New York Ranger star in the National Hockey League, said Thursday night at Winnipeg he would coach Guelph Biltmores next season in the OHA Junior A circuit.

Pike said he had not signed a contract yet but had reached a "gentleman's agreement" with Guelph club officials.

With Rangers five seasons, and before that on a Winnipeg memorial cup championship team, Pike was coach of Winnipeg Senior Nationals for the last two years. During last season he also coached Winnipeg's Junior Black Hawks.

At New York, Danny Gardella, former New York Giant outfielder, Thursday filed notice of appeal with the United States Court of Appeals on the recent decision of Judge Edward A. Conger which denied him immediate reinstatement into organized baseball. Gardella jumped to the Mexican League in 1946 and was suspended from organized ball for five years. Judge Conger ruled Gardella could not be granted a temporary injunction, returning him to the game at once, while his damage suit for $300,000 against the sport's officials was pending.

The Brockville County Club will hold an 18-hole medal competition, to be known as the Eastern Ontario open golf championship, it was announced yesterday. The event will be held Aug. 3, two days before the Quebec open is staged in Montreal. The Brockville club will give some $300 in prize money for the professionals.

Assault, winner of turfdom's triple crown in 1946, is on his way to Belmont Park in New York to make his bid for a comeback, the King Ranch announced Thursday at Kingsville, Texas. At Barrie, Hap Emms, coach of Barrie Flyers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop, Thursday night denied that plans for enlarging Barrie would benefit only junior hockey.

"The Arena won't be used solely for Junior A hockey," Emms said. "It can be used for various types of amusement."

Debentures up to $131,000 have been issued and citizens will vote next month on the question of enlarging the Arena to hold 4,500 persons.

King Edward commenced their junior School Softball League schedule yesterday with a 26-17 win over Prince of Wales on the latter's grounds. It was a loose and high-scoring tilt throughout by both sides. Prince of Wales led 10-2 to end the second but the other squad ran wild for no less than 21 runs in a terrific third chukker. Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The immortal Babe Ruth was just making a name for himself when Boston Red Sox refused a $100,000 offer for his services 31 years ago today. Two years later, after establishing himself as pitcher and homerun hitter, the Babe went to New York Yankees, with whom he played 15 years before going to Boston Braves for a season.

Pinch Hitter Captures Race

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 29 — (AP)—A horse misnamed Halt yesterday gave Kentucky Derby guessers an opportunity to reconsider

Olympia, Old Rockport and Johns Joy moved over for the "pinch hitter" out of Mrs. Royce G. Martin's stable.

Halt, given his Derby chance only after Mrs. Martin's Sport Page developed a leg ailment that wouldn't heal in time for Derby training, won Keeneland's $20,000 Blue Grass Stakes yesterday from the two horses that were supposed to be second best to Olympia, the favorite.

Old Rockport and Johns Joy were in the four-horse, all-Derby field that Halt conquered to capture full recognition in Derby billing.

Johns Joy, carrying five pounds more than the winner and with Johnny Longden up, was just a nose away from victory. He finished second after setting the pace all the way to the wire. Wine Liste, ridden by Ted Atkinson, came third.

So, instead of discrediting Old Rockport and Johns Joy, Halt merely established his own claim to Derby recognition.

Orioles Thump Buffalo 3-1

By The Associated Press.

Pitcher Al Widmar, one of many new faces on Baltimore Orioles' roster, is the pin-up boy in the day.

Widmar, hailed in some quarters as an "iron man," turned in his third victory Thursday night as he pitched the Orioles to a 3-1, one-hit victory over Buffalo Bisons.

The 24-year-old Widmar has appeared in four of the Orioles' last six games. During this stretch he has worked 18 1-3 innings, allowing 12 hits, fanning 13 and walking only six.

Rookie first-baseman Jack Hussey deprived Widmar of a no-hitter with a scratch single in the first inning with two out.

Jersey City dropped out of first into a second place tie with Baltimore by suffering an 8-1 beating at the hands of Toronto Maple Leafs. The Giants relinquished the top rung to Montreal Royals, whose scheduled game with Syracuse Chiefs was postponed because of rain.

Rookie first-sacker Bill Glynn walloped two homers and Al Garbowski one to lead Toronto's attack, while Lou Possehl stopped the Giants on three singles.

Rochester Red Wings pounded out a 12-8 triumph over Newark Bears, combing three Bear pitchers for 11 hits. Outfielder Hal Burgett led the way, driving home four runs on four singles.

Farm Markets Dribbling Away Diefenbaker Says

OTTAWA, April 29 — (CP).—John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) warned in the Commons Thursday that Canada's markets for farm products are "dribbling away" and charged Trade Minister Howe with making statements to the House which were "far from the truth."

Pressing the trade issue in debate on a supply motion, he recalled Mr. Howe's assurances to the Chamber that Canada's trade relations with the United Kingdom were "normal" and then noted that Britain has just signed an agreement to buy all the beef and mutton that Australia can supply over a 15-year period.

He based his charge that Mr. Howe now in London, had spoken "far fom the truth" on the minister's own statement to the Commons earlier this week that his London visit had nothing to do with UK-Canada trade and was only to attend an exhibition.

Yet, said Mr. Diefenbaker, waving a newspaper clipping, the minister told reporters in London Wednesday that the primary purpose of the trip was to promote a better balance of trade with the UK.

"That," he went on, "is just one more example of the contemptuous disregard which certain ministers of the government have for the rights of Parliament to have full and complete information."

He urged that the government, before dissolution, give the Chamber an accounting of the work of the continuing Inter-Governmental Committee which studies trade between Canada and the UK. The farmers of the country wanted to know what was being done to preserve their markets.

Suggest Maori Be Appointed New Zealand Governor-General

AUCKLAND, N.Z., April 29—(CP)—A Maori may be the next governor-general of New Zealand.

The man suggested, with considerable support from both Europeans and Maoris, is Sir Peter Buck, probably the leading living authority on the native races of the Pacific, and at present director and president of the board of trustees of Bishop Museum, Honolulu.

He resigned from parliament to fight overseas in the First World War, first as a doctor but later as a combatant officer and was awarded the D. S. O.

After the war he became director of Maori hygiene, but his studies of Pacific anthropology demand that he spend more time overseas, and as a field worker for Bishop Museum he ranged far and wide over the Pacific. He brought a new approach to the native races, learning from them information that white investigators had been unable to obtain.

Honored Overseas

Honors were heaped on him by overseas universities and he achieved the signal honor for a member of a colored race of being appointed to a professorship at Yale University. Later he was appointed to the Honolulu post probably the highest post of honor for a Pacific ethnologist.

Te Rangihiroa, as he is known among the Maoris, recently revisited New Zealand after a long absence as a leading delegate to the Pacific Science Congress. In his talks to Maori tribes throughout the country he urged them to avoid separatism and to enter into full unity with the white race so that the blood and cultures of the two might be joined and used for the benefit of themselves and the country.

Supporters of Sir Peter Buck as the next governor-general argue that it would be a fine gesture to the Maoris and the world of the equality New Zealand has achieved between the two races. They also stress that Sir Peter has an unequalled knowledge of the Pacific which the United States has drawn upon freely.

It is significant that the suggestion has been given prominence in "Freedom", organ of the National party, which will oppose the present Labor government at the general election later this year.

The term of the present Governor-General, Lt. Gen. Sir Bernard Freyberg, V. C., expires next year.

Urges Training Dogs For Blind

VANCOUVER, April 29 CP)—A school in Canada to train "seeing-eye" dogs was urged by Mrs. Lorna Barclay, former home teacher of the Canadian Institute for the Blind in an address here.

She said few of the Dominion's 15,000 blind can afford to import the trained United States dogs.

"It costs Canadian blind people $500 for a "seeing-eye" dog from the United States," she said, "while United States sightless citizens can get them for $150 and pay only $50 for a replacement where that is necessary. There is no special provision for replacement in the case of Canadians."

Reason for the difference in cost was the fact that the training school in Morristown, N. J., was heavily endowed so far as Americans were concerned. It costs $1,000 to put the German Shepherds through their nine-week training course.

Senator Raps Divorce Work

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP)—A perennial complaint of the Senate—its preoccupation with divorce legislation—cropped up again Thursday.

The annual protest was lodged by Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, when he brought in the final sessional report of the Chamber's divorce committee as its acting chairman.

Because Quebec has no divorce courts, all actions of this kind from that province are put through parliament, with the Senate committee doing most of the work.

Senator Haig suggested the government designate a judge of the Exchequer Court to hear evidence in divorce cases and report on it, with parliament acting accordingly.

As it was, he said, the committee worked long hours in hearing divorce cases, often to find the Commons "haggling" over the result of its work.

The committee report showed that 341 divorce petitions were lodged with the committee at this session. Of these, 184 were recommended for passage, two were withdrawn and 155 had not been heard up to now.

Remains Of 3,000-Year-Old Palace Found In Excavations At Amora

By HAIG NICOLSON

DONGOLA, Northern Sudan, April 29 (Reuters).—Footprints made 3,000 years ago by man and beast, the remains of a palace and evidence of a snake-worshipping cult, have been found during excavations on the site of the Egyptian town of Amara near here.

The excavations, carried out by both Egyptian and Sudan officials led by P. L. Shinnie, commissioner for archaeology to the Sudan government, confirmed that the ancient Nile fortress town was built on an island as the capital of the southern half of the then Egyptian-African Empire.

Amara appears to have been a large and important town and was probably the centre of the Egyptian administration of the time and the seat of the governor-general from the reign of Seti One (about 1314 B.C.) for about 300 years.

Work during the season was concentrated on two areas, one inside and the other outside the town. The palace, discovered last season, possibly the governor-general's, has at its eastern end a fine street which must have been one of the main thoroughfares in the town.

Find Houses

Several small three-roomed houses were unearthed. The houses, which appear to have comprised a bedroom, living room and an entrance hall used as a kitchen, were built against the wall of the palace. They may have been the homes of artisans employed in the palace.

The expedition found the remains of a vegetable or flower garden. In the centre of the garden was a small building which must have been a shrine but was later used as a house, perhaps by a gardener.

It is thought this shrine was used for snake worshipping.

In two pots were the skeletons of dogs and snakes. In one case the snake had wrapped itself around the dog and the two skeletons were closely intertwined. The snakes all appear to have been pythons which nowadays are only found several hundred miles south of here.

Another much larger building discovered is thought to be a temple. It was found on the edge of the river bank and though no inscription was found to tell its story, one stone block bore the names of Tamsees Eleven, proof it was in use during the time of the occupation of the town.

Canada Takes Lead

TORONTO, April 29.—(CP).—Canada is "well in advance" of the United States in the development of organized ftiness and recreation programs, J. H. Ross, of Calgary, acting chairman of the National Council of Physical Fitness said Thursday at the closing session of the Council's semi-annual meeting. "If we can keep up the present tempo of progress and carry out the plan we have, the United States will not catch up to us in a generation," he added.

100,000 Scouts Have Year Of Good Turns

By MEL SUFRIN.

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP) — More than 100,000 Canadian Boy Scouts and Cubs today looked back with pride on a year of good turns, during which they fought floods, helped beat power shortages and rendered service in hundreds of charitable campaigns across the Dominion.

A 64-page record of good deeds for 1948 was placed before the annual meeting of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association which opened today with Governor-General Viscount Alexander presiding.

One of the most spectacular was the part played by Boy Scouts in flood relief service in British Columbia and around Winnipeg and Ottawa.

In Ontario 12,000 Scouts and Wolf Cubs were enrolled as Junior Wardens, during the winter power shortage, helping to keep the public aware of the need for conserving electric power.

More Scouts

Total Scout registration dropped from 103,759 in 1947 to 102,566 but the number of scout groups increased from 2,492 to 2,621.

A total of 724 camps—700 of the registered—were operated during the year.

The report said the Canadian jamboree for 1949 would be held this summer at Connaught Army Camp, 15 miles from Ottawa.

The next meeting of the International Committee on Scouting would take place Aug. 4 at Elveseter, Norway and the Dominion Commissioner hoped to be present.

Last June, 15,000 copies of Lord Baden-Powell's book, Aids to Scoutmastership, in the Greek language, were shipped to Athens as a gift from Canadian Scouts.

Scouts collected waste paper valued at more than $100,000 during the year with much of the money going to finance the more than 700 camps in Canada.

Speeding And Lights Main Traffic Offences

Speeding and inadequate lights were the main traffic offences in Peterborough during the past week. In city police court Thursday Magistrate W. R. Philp K. C. accepted 11 pleas of guilty to driving faster than 30 m.p.h., fining each offender $7.50. There were 11 fines of $3 each for driving with inadequate lights.

Total traffic offence fines approved by magistrate Thursday amounted to $259.50. There were five pleas of guilty and one conviction for driving cars with ineffective brakes. Each offender paid $12.50.

Other traffic offences included neglect of the No Left Turn sign at Charlotte and George St., three parking offences, six failures to obey stop signs, driving a commercial vehicle which did not bear the name of the owner and driving without a chauffeur's license.

OIL AT HOME

At present Netherlands petroleum production in the province of Drente is supplying about 25 per cent of the total home needs.

Report Seeding Well Advanced

Two-thirds of the seeding of grain has been completed in Perth county, two to three weeks ahead of the average year. Some farmers report full grain crop in. But, in North Simcoe: "practically no seeding has been done to date. Wet weather and some snow has been holding up work on the land since April 14."

Halton says progress with the sowing program has been excellent, but in Bruce it is variable. Welland reports very little spring grain sown. Looking across the province as mirrored by the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture the season's results so far have been patchy.

Meadows and fall wheat have wintered well. Some cattle have been put on pasture, but the ground has been too wet and the weather cool. In Wellington 20 bred sows sold at an average of $96; six with litters afoot brought an average of $166 for sow and litter. Weaning pigs are $14 to $15 each in Perth.

In Middlesex "feeder cattle are being bought at strong prices, with good heavy short keep steers well over $20 per cwt. Prince Edward cheese factories that operated last year have reopened. Hastings farmers with artificially bred calves "are enthusiastic about their type". Some early potatoes have been planted in York.

Drive On Gambling

MONTREAL, April 29 (CP) — Police director Albert Langlois announced Thursday his personal assumption of leadership of the police morality squad in a drive against gambling and bookies in a report to the city's executive committee, the police director recommended that assistant police director Ernest Pleau, who has headed the morality squad, be given charge of the radio division instead.

Escaped From Custody Fine Of $40 Levied

For escaping from police custody after being arrested Tuesday evening for causing a disturbance, Theodore Morin, 681 Donegal St., was Thursday fined $40 with $2.50 costs. He pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp K. C. Wednesday and was Thursday sentenced by Mr. Philp.

For causing a disturbance Morin was fined $7.50 with $2.50 costs.

Settlement Made In Johnston Case

The action for damages brought by Ernest G. Johnston of Central Motors against Albert B. Churchill of the Churchill Garage, 210 Hunter St. W., has been settled. The case was heard in part before the Hon. Mr. Justice Wilson at the current sittings of the Supreme Court.

According to the agreement Johnston will give up all rights to the garage, its equipment and supplies, and upon doing so will receive $500 from Churchill.

Johnston originally alleged breach of an agreement giving him sole tenancy of the property and a two-year option to purchase it. He claimed that Churchill violated the agreement by reentering and taking possession of the land and building.

Originally Johnston ran a used car business on a portion of the open lot owned by Churchill. The agreement, party verbal and partly written was reached in July 1948, he said.

Churchill re-entered the property in August, he alleged.

T. J. Carley, KC, represented the defendant and J. M. Robb of Belleville, the plaintiff.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Singing as they paddled, les voyageurs braved icy winter winds and turbulent swollen rivers. Their 40-foot canoes were strong and fast, and could carry as much as five tons of furs and supplies.

One of the most romantic trades, shipbuilding has grown with Canada from the day when the first sailboat was built at Port Royal in 1606. To carry furs from Montreal to Quebec, in 1752, Barques were built, weighing from 40 to 100 tons. World-famed clipper ships were made in Nova Scotia in 1797.

Two years after Fulton demonstrated the use of steam for navigation, came the Accommodation, in 1809 . . . and the Royal William, built 24 years later, first steamship to cross the Atlantic! This was progress—and progress continued.

Canada . . . land of great lakes and rivers . . . with mighty oceans on three sides . . . offers many opportunities in this age-old trade. Tenth among leading industries today, shipbuilding proves there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Cattle Prices Show Drop Of 25-50 Cents

TORONTO, April 29 (CP). — Cattle prices dropped 25-50 cents a hundredweight on the local Livestock Market this week, reports the Dominion Marketing Service. Calves were down another $2-$3 a hundredweight, while hogs, sheep and lambs held steady.

The cattle run of 5,843 head was 805 more than last week but 892 fewer than for the corresponding week last year. Dropping cattle markets in the United States applied a brake to the recent upward trend in the local cattle prices. The close of trading was draggy with a few hundred killers unsold. Weighty steers dropped 50 cents a hundredweight, closing at $21-$22 for good to choice quality. Medium to good light steers closed at $20-$21.50 and good heifers were $20-$20.50. Plain light steers and heifers sold downwards to $17.50. Butcher cows held about steady at $16-$17.50 for medium to good with a few tops at $18. Bulls were steady at $16-$18.75 a hundredweight. Fed yearlings dropped 50 cents, closing at $19.50 to $22 according to quality. Picked lots of stockers sold steady at $18.50-$20 a hundredweight. The plainer kinds were easier at from $15-$17.50. Ordinary quality milkers and springers at $150-$200 each.

Calf receipts were 1,987 head. The market was down $2-$3 a hundredweight at $24-$25 for choice vealers with a few tops at $27. Common to medium lightweights were $11-$21 a hundredweight for a drop of $3.

Hog receipts were $2,487 head. Prices were unchanged except for sows which were $1 a hundredweight lower. Grade A hogs sold for $30.25 and $29.85 for Grade B1. Sows closed at $22 dressed.

Sheep and lamb receipts were 513 head.

Good lambs from local feedlots sold steady at $26.50, with mediums at $25. One car of good Western lambs made a new high of $27 a hundredweight. Sheep were sold in small lots at from $5-$12 a hundredweight according to quality.

Suggest Court Plan

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court justice suggested Thursday that the courts might "work out a plan" to administer the $700,000 left by H. C. Mr. Justice Dalton Wells made the suggestion during a hearing called to decide whether the Cox foundation is a charitable foundation under Ontario and Dominion law. Brief Skirmishes Spark Dying Hours Of Parliamentary Session

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—Canada's 20th Parliament reaches the end of its legislative life today. If plans go according to schedule, Prime Minister St. Laurent, will dissolve Parliament tonight. He may, at the same time, announce the general election date. It is considered a certainty to be Monday, June 27.

Opposition members ranged the legislative field in a flurry of last-minute speeches Thursday as the government moved to go into committee of supply to obtain the $541,000,000 needed to pay governmental expenses until after the election. The supply debate still was rolling at the adjournment hour.

Brief skirmishes sparked the waning hours of the dying parliament.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, was threatened with expulsion from the Chamber when he declined to withdraw a charge that Defence Minister Claxton had sought to "mislead" the House.

Finance Minister Abbott took exception to a statement by Real Caouette, Union des Electeurs member for Pontiac, that both the Commons and the government were controlled by "money power." Mr Caouette, too, withdrew the statements at the suggestion of the chair.

There were several newsworthy government announcements in the opening stages.

Standing By

Mr. Claxton disclosed that four North Star aircraft are standing by with the Canadian destroyer Crescent at Hong Kong to assist in the evacuation of Canadians

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, announced that the government had purchased 2,500,000 pounds of butter at the support price of 58 cents a pound wholesale.

Justice Minister Garson said the investigation into the Easter Monday disturbance at Collins Bay penitentiary is continuing.

The Senate, moving towards dissolution at a rapid clip, unanimously endorsed the North Atlantic Pact and gave final reading to government bills boosting old-age pensions and authorizing provincial marketing boards to engage in inter-provincial and export trade in agricultural products.

Opposition members blistered the government on several points during the Commons supply debate.

Mr. Drew walloped it with the charge that it had been guided in deciding on dissolution this week by "no other course than political expediency." He stabbed at the Defence Department and repeated his suggestion that a standing committee be appointed to study defence matters.

Mr. Claxton replied that the equivalent of a British White Paper is being prepared on defence plans and will be made public. It would have been tabled had dissolution not come so early.

Rodney Young (CCF-Vancouver Centre) and Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) joined in calling for enactment of a Railroad Retirement Act which would provide for three-way contributions — employee, employer and government—into a fund for retired railway workers.

Male Film Stars Provide Own Costumes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 29 (AP) —For years we have been hearing the plaints of female film stars about getting up at dawn to look glamorous at nine, and so forth. Here's Robert Cummings on the plight of the male star.

"The girls have it easy," said Cummings. 'Every thing they wear in pictures is supplied by the studio—their dress, stockings, shoes, underwear, jewellery, hair, even their falsies. They could arrive at the studio naked, if they cared to.

"But the actor has to pay for everything himself. He even has to bring his own wig, if he wears one."

His complaint is that none of an actor's wardrobe—theoretically part of the tools of his job—is tax deductible.

Suits cost $250 apiece and he has got at least 40 of them. He has about 45 hats, costing up to $40 a copy. Ties are $15 apiece and he buys two of each, in case he spills gravy on one during a picture. His shirts run $18 and they are usually expended during a picture, since they have to be laundered every day.

Cummings emphasized these are almost strictly for his film work. He claims he goes out only one night a week and then wears slacks, an old sport coat and moccasins.

He ended his lament of the male star's fate by recalling his bachelor days:

"I had to have a sharp wardrobe and a fancy car and foot the bill at the night clubs. And my date, who was earning 10 times as much as I was, would brag about how she borrowed her dress and furs from the studio."

Israel A Bulwark in East Says European Observer; Berlin Air Lift Incredible

A natural feeling of arrogance in their new-found statehood may cause some sporadic disturbances in Palestine by over-zealous Jews, warned Ken MacTaggart, staff writer of the Globe and Mail, Thursday night. He was speaking to the Kinsmen Club and representatives of other service clubs in the city in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. MacTaggart said that western peoples would be well advised to withhold their criticism of such outbreaks should they occur until any trouble is over. Any such disturbances, he believes, would be due largely to over-exuberance.

Worry of Communism overwhelming the feudal Arab countries is greater than concern lest Communists overrun Israel, said Mr. MacTaggart in explaining the Jewish outlook in Israel.

After walking in the streets of Tel Aviv several times, you somehow get the impression you might be walking in the streets of Hamilton, Ontario, or some other Canadian city. After all, Jews of Palestine are made up pretty much the same as we are—of stock which came from many parts of the globe, Polish, German, Hungarian, Scandinavian, Scots, English and American," he reported. "All Jews, but all with the same ideas of freedom as we possess."

Checking on reports he had heard of the Jews using German and Russian arms, he found that more than 70 per cent of the armed vehicles had trademarks of Canadian and American manufacturers. The attitude of the Jews, he said, was "When a burglar enters your home and someone hands you a gun, you do not say 'I'm sorry, but I don't use that kind of gun.' You take what you can get and use it."

Incredible Berlin Air Lift

In speaking of the Berlin Airlift, Mr. MacTaggart called it the most incredible thing in the world today. He compared the isolation of Berlin with a city the size of Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa completely separated from the world by a wall 50 feet high around it.

Not only food is flown in but the raw materials required to keep the manufacturers working. He said that one electrical company in Berlin employed 23,000 people before the war. The staff is now at that point. All the finished products are flown out on the return trips of the planes. He said that 38 tons of salt are flown into Berlin every day just to season the food, go great is the load carried.

This winter, Mr. MacTaggart explained, each German in Berlin was allowed 25 pounds of coal. Six or seven families, he explained, would pool their coal to heat one large room. Even then, he added, they only started the fires in the stoves about 7 p.m. For electricity the Western zones are divided into 12 zones. Each zone is allowed two hours of electricity per day. During that two-hour period the housewives were required to do all their cooking and heating water for the other 22 hours.

Berliners Leave Russian Zone

All the time in the Russian-controlled sector of Berlin the Russians are offering inducements in the way of food, heat and electricity. Yet, he said, the people are continuing to enter into the western zones. He quoted one German as saying:

"Over here in the western sector I can go to the top man and complain if I feel I'm not being treated well. Over there in the Russian zone I dare not open my mouth about anything."

In closing, Mr. MacTaggart lauded the Jews on their constitution, the Israel constitution, claiming it to be "the model for the world." The constitution, he said, could easily be read in 35 or 40 minutes and it followed constitutions of all the countries of the democratic world.

G. Wilson Craw, Managing Editor of the Examiner, introduced Mr. MacTaggart who was thanked by James Wharry. Mr. Wharry also presented Mr. MacTaggart with a gift from the members of the Kinsman Club.

Award Buchanan $1,100 Damages

In a settlement reached today at the non-jury sitting of the Supreme Court, Robert Fairs of Burnham St. will pay John T. Buchanan of Toronto a total of $1,100 damages plus costs.

The action arose out of a motor vehicle collision on the Bancroft-Whitney Rd., about a mile north of Maynooth on Christmas Day, 1947. Buchanan was driving a motorcycle equipped with sidecar north on the road when he was in collision with a car driven by Fairs heading north.

According to the testimony of Provincial Constable Stanley W. Palmateer of Bancroft, skid marks showed that Fairs was over the centre line of the road at the point of impact.

The motorcycle was knocked into a snowbank and Buchanan received a broken wrist.

Justice Wilson called counsels for the plaintiff and defendant into his chambers at the conclusion of the plaintiff's testimony. The final assessment of damages was for damage to the motorcycle and pain and suffering to Buchanan.

Ralph Standish was the defendant's solicitor while J. F. McGarry, KC, of Toronto, appeared for the plaintiff.

Summer Theatre A Tourist Lure

Peterborough will have an annual summer theatre if the plans of Michael Sadlier, managing director of the Peterborough Summer Theatre, materialize. Mr. Sadlier briefly outlined his plans in an address to the Kiwanis Club on Thursday.

"We hope to make it something of a summer attraction for the citizens of Peterborough, and a major attraction of the city," he said. "We want to come back and make it an annual affair. If we get good support and the people turn out we will be able to come back each season."

While primarily for the citizens of Peterborough, it is expected that the plays will have a quick appeal to tourists.

The productions have been carefully chosen to appeal to a broad variety of tastes. Seven comedies and two melodramas are scheduled. Fortune, My Foe—the three act play by Roberison Davies will be the first one staged. The final production will be an intimate musical, On Stage.

First Rate Company

Mr. Sadlier, who has appeared on the London and New York stages as well as in several British films, explained why summer was chosen for the theatre. It is the off-season for the acting profession and the Broadway stage artists, many of them Canadian, will enjoy a vacation in the Kawarthas while participating in the local theatre.

"It is a very good company," said Mr. Sadlier who is an astute business man as well as actor. "As a matter of fact it will probably be as good as any company on the North American stage this summer, and will be better than 90 per cent of them.

"We can get the best actors that have appeared in Canada in several years," he stated.

Each Tuesday night of the week-long productions will be given over to the employees of industry, and Mr. Sadlier is working on several other special inducements.

He told the Kiwanians that if the theatre is a success it will give the city much prestige in the eyes of the rest of Canada.

The speaker was introduced by James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and thanked by James Craig.

Police Officers Present Gift To Inspector Reid

City Police Inspector James F. Reid retires today after 37 years with the city force and 43 years of police work. Fellow members of the city force displayed the esteem and affection in which the Inspector is held when Thursday they presented him with an easy chair and a cheque.

With the gift the Inspector received a card signed by all officers of the city force.

At a presentation ceremony in the city court room, Constable Andy Dalton read an address in which he paid tribute to Inspector Reid, who, he said, would be missed at the police station, although it was hoped he would be a frequent visitor there.

The chair was presented to the Inspector by Chief Constable John Thompson and Constable M. D. Traynor presented the cheque. All members of the force subscribed to the gift.

The address to Inspector Reid was as follows:

"Dear Inspector Reid: It is with regret that at this time we, as members of this Department and employees of the City Buildings, have come to the parting of the ways. For many years you have been a familiar figure in and around the City Building and it will be indeed strange when you are not here."

"Being a Scotchman, you possess a trait of making friends and among these friends are we your comrades. We have found you to be fair in all your dealings and the public knows this too, as through the years you have been in contact with them."

"The members of the Police Department will miss the well-known remark that you often made as we entered the Station, to wit: 'Give me two bucks' as you collected the bicycle money and dog tag money and made out receipts with a pencil an inch long."

"We do want you to know that when you leave here it does not mean that all contact as comrades is finished. We want you to come and see us, not just once in a while, but often, and when you do come we shall be very glad."

Inspector Reid thanked his colleagues for the gift and said he hoped that Mrs. Reid and he would both enjoy it for many years.

Ask Commission To Postpone Fares Revision

Existing inequalities in the fixed taxi fares are turning the thinking of the majority of Peterborough's taxi service operators to meters, their deputation reported to the Police Commission Thursday.

The Commission was informed that most of the owners attended a meeting Wednesday at which the adoption of the meter system of fares was discussed. Their decision was expressed in a request to the Commission to postpone further consideration of fares and boundaries until an investigation has been made of the meter system in other cities. They wish particularly to enquire into the practice in cities comparable with Peterborough.

The three members of the Commission present, Police Magistrate W. R. Philp, chairman, Judge S. L. Smoke and Mayor Swanston.

The Commission agreed to the proposal of the delegation. Judge Smoke said he was in favor of meters, but he understood that the taxi owners objected to the cost of installing meters.

Ideas Changing

Hugh Davis as chief spokesman for the taxi men said that was the attitude of most of the owners in the previous representations to the Commission, but sentiment has gradually been changing.

Discrepancies in the present charges were just as obvious to the owners as their patrons. The fare was the same for three blocks as for three miles, or from the corner of Monaghan Road and Cameron St. to Langton and Hilliard streets in the extreme north end. The operators wish to avoid fare friction, the Commission was told, and the fairest method was to adopt the meter system.

Herb Stinson said he had swung over to meters, and believed it was in the interest of the taxi owners and the public.

The motion by Judge Smoke and Mayor Swanston postponed the taxi question until the June meeting of the Commission.

Taxi Boundaries

Taxi fares at present are 50 cents for one passenger within the area defined by authorizing by-law. The fare is still 50 cents for two passengers if they are going from one place to the same destination within the taxi boundaries.

The taxi boundary on the east beginning at No. 7 Highway is the actual city boundary straight north to Park Hill Road, east of the canal; then westerly on Park Hill Road to River Road and north on River Road to a point north of the old Auburn mills site.

The north boundary extends westerly from that point, crosses the river to Langton St., then south on Hilliard St. to Wolsley St.; north on Donegal St. to Fairbairn St. and westerly around Jackson Park.

The western boundary, down the west side of Jackson Park, crosses Park Hill Road, then south on Monaghan Road to Woodland, south on the city boundary to Waller St., then westerly past Alexander to the Civic Hospital area; easterly to the city boundary, south to Sherbrooke continuing south on the city boundary to No. 7 Highway or Lansdowne St. (both sides); easterly to Monaghan Road, and south to McKellar St.

The south boundary extends along McKellar St. to Park St.; south to the river to the vicinity of Peterborough-Brinton Carpet factory, crosses the river below the Peterborough Lock, joining Lansdowne St. east of the river, a stretch that is called Otonabee St., and goes on easterly, crossing the CNR to the easterly city limits on No. 7 Highway.

Robertson Davies Acclaimed By Toronto Theatre-Goers; Play Will Go To Edinburgh

By KAY REX

TORONTO, April 29—(CP).—Shouting "Author, author," an uproarious crowd of theatre-goers Thursday night forced Robertson Davies to his feet to take a bow for "Fortune My Foe."

The bearded editor of the Peterborough Examiner is the author of the three-act play which Ottawa Drama League performed for a fourth-night Dominion Drama Festival audience.

It was an evening of triumph for both playwright and the capital city group.

At the close of the performance, which drew a sell-out crowd to the big Royal Alexandra Theatre, D. Park Jamieson of Sarnia, DDF chairman, announced that the Ottawa group will take a Davies' work to the Festival in Edinburgh the week of Sept. 5-10.

The one-act fantasy, "Eros At Breakfast," last year won for the Ottawa group the Sir Barry Jackson trophy as the best Canadian-written presentation in the 1948 competition.

Given High Praise

Adjudicator Philip Hope-Wallace also had praise for Mr. Davies' "Fortune My Foe," and for its performance last night by the Ottawa players.

Mr. Hope-Wallace said it was good news to hear a Davies play was coming to his country. And he was certain that "Fortune My Foe" also eventually would travel overseas.

"It is the kind of play that will translate into any language," he said. Ottawa Drama League was "extremely lucky" to be doing it.

Mr. Hope-Wallace said the group was "fortunate" in having an actor such as W. A. Atkinson, who played "beautifully" his part as the disillusioned professor.

Lighting and setting were not always in keeping with Mr. Hope-Wallace's ideas. While Charles Ogilvie did an "excellent" job as Bucketv Murphy, the old alcoholic, he felt that his performance might have been more appreciated if the glaring "top" light had not hidden his face from the audience.

He said the group had given a good performance, but then "this is the kind of play that can't be too well done."

Opinions Varied

For a couple of hours Thursday the spotlight swung from the acting side of theatre to the men who write the plays.

It was another of the panel discussions being held in conjunction with the country-wide competition. The principals—three Canadian playwrights, John Coulter, Robertson Davies and Morley Callaghan—staged a performance as entertaining as any seen in the festival proper.

Before an audience of some 200 drama experts, they covered the field of writing from its present position in Canada to the critic's side of the fence. Their opinons vared as widely as their style of writing.

Mr. Coulter, the Irish-Canadian dramatist who has had one of his works produced by the Abbey Theatre of Dublin, felt Canadian writers should strive for a Canadian tone to their plays.

Mr. Callaghan, Toronto-born author who has put his products on the United States market, said he didn't look on "this business of writing a play as a nationalistic work."

Mr. Davies noted that it is "extraordinary" how "shy" the average stage group is producing Canadian plays.

THREE MINOR FIRES

Three minor fires were reported on Thursday. Shortly before noon firemen went to 650 Downie St., the residence of David F. Lehman, for a case of overheated pipes; a grass fire was reported on a vacant lot at the rear of the residence of W. Martin, Ware St., shortly before 2 p.m.; and a flooded oil burner was the cause of a call to the residence of A. Cherney, 145 London St.

Ukrainian Plans To Start Drama Group

By ALBERT HUNTER

TORONTO, April 29 —(CP)— Nicholas Kairez, a new Canadian with a dynamic personality, plans to put a 'heart" into what he calls the "lifeless body" of Canadian drama.

Convinced that drama, as an art, "must overcome the superficial and seek to express the truth of life," the 38-year-old Ukrainian actor, stage-director and one-time movie producer has made a humble start in Canada.

With 17 other Ukrainian actors and actresses—all highly-rated in Europe—the tall, handsome Kairez has organized the independent Ukrainian drama theatre and will direct the group's first Ukrainian-dialogue production here tonight. The play, "Stolen Happiness" by Ivan Franco, will be rpoduced in Montreal next month.

What's wrong with drama in Canada?

"Too much stress on elocution, superficial dialogue and movement, and too little organization."

His remedy is to "bring out the inner talent. A convincing actor or actress must become familiar with the type and background of the character he or she intends to portray."

When his group has a better knowledge of English, Kairez plans to open a drama school "for Anglo-Saxons" and apply the principles he learned after 18 years' intensive study in the Ukraine and Russia where he once directed the Red Army Theatre and the Theatre of Revolution.

Work Overtime To Get Treaty

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., April 29 (CP)—The United States delegation at the United Nations worked overtime Thursday night in the hope of obtaining an international press freedom treaty the United States could sign.

The assembly's 58-member social committee Thursday night completed its first draft of a preamble and 23 articles for a convention on the gathering and international transmission of news.

Immediately afterward Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, and other United States delegation members left for conference they hope may lead to removal or revision of a clause in the proposed treaty that the United States considers "completely unacceptable."

If successful, it was understood, they may move tomorrow for reconsideration of the clause, which declares it the duty of correspondents to "further international understanding" and peace and security in reporting facts.

TEAS FILLED IN

Teas as a social function were originated by the Duchess of Bedford, in the 19th century, to fill in the long gap between breakfast and late dinner.

'48 Tree Orders Being Filled

Wm. A. Anderson of Otonabee reports that unfilled 1948 applications of Ontario government forest trees were now being delivered with the 1949 orders. This was an indication that applications had not been ignored but were kept on file until supplies were available.

Residents of North Monaghan are informed that their trees will be at Kingan's hardware store Monday, May 2. The applicants are requested to call there for them. All other orders are being taken into the townships.

Trees from Otonabee and Asphodel will be delivered Monday, May 2; and for Douro, Dummer and Belmont on Thursday, May 5, if possible. Deliveries were made on Wednesday this week to the northeastern section beyond Young's Point and around Loon Lake.

Mr. Anderson said some 82,000 trees were trucked into the Chandos area. "They would have taken twice as many more, but even that number would not be large for that extensive area."

Most of the trees that are being delivered are red pine, with some white pine and spruce. The two latter varieties are in short supply, and they are being distributed on that basis.

More Jaywalkers Among Men, Experts Declare

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, April 29 (CP)—Men are worse-behaved pedestrians than women—in London anyway.

That was the word of experts during national Pedestrian Crossing Week in which police made extra effort to ensure safety at the crossroads.

No compulsion was used, on the orders of Transport Minister Barnes who said:

"In road safety we shall make greater progress if we get willing co-operation and common sense from the public."

All accidents, he suggested, could be traced to a moment of irritation or impatience. But, he believed, safety campaigns were taking effect. In 10 years, London's casualty figures had fallen by half.

Nevertheless, 130,000 had been killed and 3,500,000 injured on Britain's roads in the last two decades. The country could not "afford such losses."

"London is a real headache to me, and that is why we are making London a laboratory for road-safety experiments," he said.

Flagrant Violations

Barnes' experts, touring the West End of City by automobile, reported:

"It was noticed that men crossed the roads anywhere and seldom bothered about using the proper crossings.

"Women were distinctly better and children, on the whole, best."

Women, however, were guilty of jay-walking noted in London streets during the week. A newspaper reporter said he had watched two girls walk from the foot of Lower Regent Street to the head of the Haymarket without once setting foot on a sidewalk or using a marked pedestrian crossing. The distance is several blocks and the route includes the fringe of busy Piccadilly Circus.

Transport ministry observers said that in 36 miles of London street they checked the average number of vehicles was 1,300 an hour moving at an average speed of 11.1 miles an hour.

Blackest spot was King William Street in the heart of the business district where cars and trucks crawled at 4.2 m.p.h.

In Oxford Street, major thoroughfare in the West End shopping belt, east-bound vehicles at 8.1 m.p.h. but going west speed was cut to 6.6 m.p.h.

DOROTHY DIX

No Happiness for Man in 50s Trading Wife for New Model

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a married man over 50 years old. I have a good wife. She treats me fine and is everything that a husband could wish in a wife, but she is getting old and I have picked out a young woman to marry. The trouble is my wife won't give me a divorce and I have no grounds to get one, though I try every way to get something on her.

Can you tell me what to do? Should I just walk off and leave my home to her? or should I tell her I love her just so she won't talk too much? She thinks she knows who the woman is that I have my eye on, but I don't want her to find out for sure, for fear she will blow her top.

UNDECIDED HUSBAND.

ANSWER — Well, brother, if you take my advice, you will not be undecided about your love life. You will stick like a leech to the woman who has stood by you in sickness and in health, in good fortune and bad luck, who has borne your children and toiled like a galley slave to help you pile up the neat little fortune you possess.

Believe me, swapping an old wife for a young one is about the most disastrous trade that a man can make, for it almost always ends in spiritual bankruptcy. Of course, that isn't the point of view of a lot of men, especially if they have been successful in business. Along about the time when they get in the 50's they have a brainstorm which gives them the delusion that they are tired of their old wives and want pretty little girls for playmates, so they pension off Grandma and invest in a debutante, and expect to be happy ever after.

Won't Work

But the scheme doesn't work. Youth and age do not amalgamate. They have nothing in common, not a taste, not a habit, not a desire. There is not even anybody to whom they can say: "Do you remember?" Under Heaven there is nobody more pitiful than the elderly man whose girl wife drags him around, night after night, to parties and night clubs.

And watching your young wife dance with boys her own age will be your fate, Undecided Husband, if you swap off your old wife for a young one.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Although I am only 17 years of age, I want to get married right now to Bill, but my mother wants me to finish school. Now here is my problem: I am in love with Bill and I want him very much, but he tells me that he doesn't see any sense in our going together because we argue and fight all the time. But I have been told that when a boy and girl argue all the time it is a sign that they are really in love with each other.

I know if the Lord really wants me to have Bill that He will help Bill to realize that we were made for each other.

JUST WONDERING.

ANSWER—There is an old tradition that marriages are made in Heaven, but personally I have never seen any indication that the Lord was a matchmaker. In fact, quite the contrary. Nor is the lack of congeniality between two people any sign that they love each other, yet there are thousands of men and women, who have not a taste nor an idea nor a principle in common, who marry and live scrappily ever afterwards.

I think Bill has the right idea about breaking off your marriage, since you do nothing but fight when you are together.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I wont to give you a prescription for curing jealousy, if you happen to get a green-eyed husband. It is just to give him a dose of his own medicine. Pretend you are so jealous you cannot see straight. Accuse him of doing the same things that he accuses you of doing, and refuse to let him explain, or deny.

I cured my husband of being jealous 29 years ago by using these tactics, and we have been very happy and peaceful ever since,

O. D.

ANSWER—Thanks for the tip. It sounds workable, and if it is, it is a godsend to a lot of harassed husbands and wives whose mates are always attributing crimes to them that they never even dreamed of committing.

If every wife who has a jealous husband would meet him at the door with a tirade of abuses and suspicions about where he has been and what he has done, and if every husband who has a jealous wife would spend his evenings at home accusing his wife of having affairs with every man she knows, they would both see how absurdly they were acting and drop it, and give their mates credit for being the decent people they are.

Delegates Report On RNAO Meet

Monthly meeting of Chapter C, District No. 6, Registered Nurses Association of Ontario was held in the Argyle Street residence of the Civic Hospital on Tuesday evening.

There were 25 members present and Miss A. L. Thomson presided.

The chairman welcomed Miss Miller, District Supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses and Miss Elsa Grigors from Latvia, displaced nurse now on the staff of the Civic Hospital.

Miss Thomson reminded the nurses of the annual National Florence Nightingale Memorial Service to be held in Murray Street Baptist Church at 7 p.m. on May 1 and in the Chapel of St. Joseph's Hospital. This service commemorates nurses who lost their live in World Wars 1 and 11 and is a rededication of all nurses. Nursing sisters have been asked to attend in uniform. A reception for the nurses will be held following the church service.

It was decided that the date of the Chapter meeting for May, which is to be in the form of a potluck supper at St. Joseph's Residence will be Friday, May 20.

The evening program took the form of reports from the R.N.A.C. convention in Ottawa.

The Report of the Hospital and School of Nursing Sections was presented by Miss A. L. Thomson She reported on the address by Miss Nettie Fidler, who stated the prime purpose of nurses to render service to the public and that the urgent problems to be considered are: legislation, public relations, and finance. International Council of Nurses needs an increase in fee to help rehabilitation of nurses in Europe. Group insurance is effective in eight R.N.A.O. Districts and the plan will remain in force as long as fifty percent of the eligible members participate.

National Office of the Canadian Nurses Association has asked each District and Chapter to welcome nurses from displaced persons' camps and assist them to become asociated with recreational and cultural activities in the community. Concluding her report Miss Thomson said it was her opinion that every nurse should try to attend the annual meeting of the R.N.A.O. at some time. She remarked that it was a healthy sign to note the free discussion and the way in which younger nurses are contributing.

The second report was of the public health section and was presented by Miss Veronica O'Leary. A panel discussion in "Complete Nursing Care of the Patient" was an interesting feature of the program. This was done so that the Public Health nurse could be kept up to date on hospital procedures and the nurse in hospital given a better understanding of the work in the district because there is no line between curative and preventive nursing. The silent apprehension, fear and anxiety, which beset patients and divest them of security are a challenge to nurses today. The Public Health nurse is ready to interpret hospital routine to the family and is an aid to both patient and family when he returns home.

Mrs. E. Breckenridge presented activities of the General Nursing Section. The report on Central Registries of the Province included a special message of congratulation to Peterborough in the organization of a Community Nursing Registry, stressing that registries recompensed the labour spent on them through educational programs and general growth in nursing. The Chapter was pleased to hear that Mrs. E. Breckenridge is new chafrman of the General Nursing Section of the R.N.A.O.

Miss Ella Reid reported the Symposium on Obstetrical nursing. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion of all members attending that Dr. E. S. Robertson's speech was the highlight.

The Convention reports were all ably presented and the meeting drew to a close with a discussion of the material. The meeting adjourned but informal discussion continued over tea-cups as the members enjoyed a delicious lunch served under the direction of Miss Lorna Mitchell.

"Scallions" Can Do Much To Brighten Dinner Menu

By KAY REX

OTTAWA. April 29 —(CP)—The new green onions, or scallions, appearing on the market these days are just the thing to give that tired old dinner menu a bit of a lift.

While these new onions may be delicate and young, nevertheless they have real onion character. They usually are eaten as an appetizer or salad ingredient, but are delicious when served in other ways.

Scallions on toast are almost as dainty as asparagus. Home economists describe them as "a real spring treat."

Eight Per Person

Eight scallions are allowed for each person. Cut them six inches in length and tie enough for each serving together in a bunch. Cook in boiling salted water for seven minutes. Drain well and place each bunch on a slice of buttered toast, then untie. Pour a rich cheese sauce over the onions and serve at once.

Quick Cheese Sauce—Ingredients: one eight-ounce package of processed cheese; one-half cup milk.

Slowly melt cheese in top of a double boiler. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until is smooth. Yield: 1 1-3 cups sauce.

If the housewife is smart she will make good use of those pineapples now appearing in such quantities in the stores.

She might make a Pineapple Salad — Cream together one-quarter pound of cream cheese and one tablespoon of salad dressing until smooth. Roll in balls which are placed in the center of pineapple slices. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Delicious Dessert

Pineapple in dessert such as Pineapple Rice Bavarian Cream also is delicious.—Ingredients: one tablespoon gelatine; one-half cup cold water; one-quarter cup sugar; one-quarter teaspoon salt; one cup cooked rice; one cup whipped cream; one teaspoon vanilla; one-half cup canned crushed pineapple.

Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes and dissolve over hot water. Add to hot rice and sugar, salt and vanilla. Beat well, cool, and when it begins to thicken add fruit and whipped cream. Chill. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Serves six.

Rhubarb also is in the news at this time of the year. The housewife interested in preserving this fruit might try Rhubarb Conserve.

Ingredients: eight cups rhubarb (cut in small pieces); five cups sugar; one cup chopped nuts; one cup raisins one orange (finely cut). Simmer slowly one hour.

One-Inch Pieces

Baked Rhubarb requires four cups rhubarb cut in 1-inch pieces; one cup sugar; one cup warm water; orange or lemon peeling. Clean and cut rhubarb and pour water over it.

Place a little rhubarb in a two-quart pan and sprinkle with sugar and the finely chipped peeling. Continue to fill the pan in the same manner, then pour the cup of warm water over it, cover closely and bake in a slow oven 30 minutes.

Clergy Heading To US

OTTAWA, April 30, (CP) — The three-day Anglican Diocesan Synod which concluded Thursday expressed regret at the exodus of clergy to the United States. It believed, however, that the raising of stipends to an $1,800-a-year minimum would tend to deter the movement. The Synod also approved a recommendation by Archdeacon A. A. E. Clarke, of Cornwall that the maximum pension for clergymen at the age of 70 to be raised from $770 to $893. The maximum pension for the widow of a clergyman was also increased from $600 to $700.

Maj. R. F. Wodehouse, Flt.-Lt. J. L. Harris, and Capt. G. I. Taggart are shown in this Canadian Army photo studying the first of the photos with stereoscopic instruments. They announced Thursday they had found a break in the ice on a lake near Presque Isle, Me., which is now being investigated.

Municipalities Said Losing Their Authority

HAMILTON, April 29 (CP).—Loss of autonomy by municipal governments as a result of provincial grants was charged on Thursday by Toronto's Mayor Hiram E. McCallum before the Ontario Association of Reeves and Mayors.

"With practically each grant that is given to the municipality, a loss of some autonomy results," he said. "The grants are subject to restrictions and conditions that are not only humiliating to the municipality, but hamper its independent functioning."

Mayor Sam Lawrence of Hamilton, association president, also warned members they must be "vigilant" or municipal governments may "gradually pass out of control of their elected councils."

Mayor McCallum called for complete revision of provincial-municipal relations.

Grants Optiona

(At Toronto, commenting on charges that provincial grants had too many cosditions attached. Premier Kennedy said that if municipalities do not want to abide by the conditions of grants they do not have to take the grants. He said also there would be a conference this summer between municipal and Ontario government officials.)

Toronto's Mayor said the conditions and obligations which accompanied provincial grants paced too much power in the hands of the governments not directly responsible to the people concerned.

"Additional burdens are continually being placed on municipalities and at the same time, their sources of revenue curtailed without compensating adjusment of revenues," he said. "This places an unfair and inequitable burden on real estate, practically the only source of revenue remaining to local government."

Ford Workers Strike May 5

DETROIT, April 29—(AP)—A strike of 6,000 workers at Ford's Lincoln-Mercury plant was given official union sanction Thursday to start May 5.

At the same time, however, the CIO United Automobile Workers executive board told another 60,000 Ford employees at the giant Rouge plant to hold back. It said it wanted to investigate speed-up charges there similar to those it said it had confirmed at Lincoln-Mercury.

The board assigned a top-level team headed by UAW secretary-treasurer Emil Mazey to look into the Rouge plant situation today. President Walter Reuther said strike action would be authorized at Rouge "quickly" if the local union speed-up charges were substantiated.

Company-Union talks aimed at ending the dispute are scheduled to resume today at both plants. The UAW locals at the two plants contend production lines move too fast, endangering the workers' health and safety.

Ford has denied any speed-ups exist. Two meetings this week between company and union officials failed to bring agreement.

TRIBUTE TO POST OFFICE

A visitor to Peterborough said today "I have been travelling for years but the consideration your local post office gave me was beyond anything I ever received in Canada." It seems that this man represented a large firm and expected photographs in the city today. He had to have them at 9 a.m. but unfortunately his firm had his wrong address. He reported the matter to the post master on Friday and the photographs were at his hotel this morning having arrived on the early morning train.

Action Urged On Power Plant

TORONTO, April 29.—(CP).—The Dominion government will be asked again by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to urge the United States government to take prompt action in starting the St. Lawrence river power development.

Mr. Saunders said that if the two governments cannot go ahead with the joint seaway-power development he will urge that Ontario and New York be permitted to proceed with the power development. He hoped to see Mr. St. Laurent either next Monday or Tuesday.

Margaret Stewart Wins $200 Award

Margaret Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, 780 Water St. received Wednesday an award of $200 given annually as an art scholarship by the Junior Leagues of Toronto and Hamilton. They choose the paintings of the pupils and enter them in the contest.

Miss Stewart's paintings were entered in the Junior Division of the scholarship contest. This year is her second year at Central Technical School. Two years ago she attended Fifth Form at PCVS, having obtained her Junior Matriculation at North Bay Collegiate. While at PCVS she was a member of the Sketch Club.

The judging of the paintings took place in the office of Charles Kaitskell, director of art teaching for Ontario. The other judges were York Wilson, John Hall and Sydney Key.

Give U.N. Big Task Of Settling Indonesia

BATAVIA, Java, April 29 — (AP).—Deadlocked Dutch and Indonesian Republican negotiators today placed in the hands of United Nations the task of drawing a basic plan to restore peace in Indonesia.

Neither side committed itself, however, to accept the plan when completed by H. Merle Cochran, American delegate and temporary chairman of the UN Commission on Indonesia.

J. H. Van Royen, representing the Netherlands, and Mohamed Hatta, for the Indonesians, agreed after a week of fruitless discussion to let Cochran try his hand. They have been unable to get past the stumbling block of agreement on a plan for restoring the Indonesian Republic Government to power in Jogpakarta.

Norwegians Fear Whaling Industry May Disappear

By DANIEL DE LUCE

OSLO, April 29 —(AP)—Norway has turned whaling into a coldly scientific industry with a payoff of $60,000,000 a year. She has more than $50,000,000 tied up in floating factories that sail each winter to the Antarctic and return in the spring with 160,000 metric tons of whale oil plus refrigerated steaks.

In the brief hunting season allowed yearly by international agreement — 3½ months — Norwegians cut up and boil down more than 12,000 whales.

This country controls a majority interests in global whaling, with 10 floating factories as against eight owned by the rest of the world. But the No. 1 position is logical for Norway. A Norwegian named Sven Foyn revolutionized whaling.

Back in 1868, Foyn invented a gun which fired a grapnel with an explosive head. Instead of being annoyed by hand-thrown harpoons, whales began to be blasted into eternity in a few seconds by this Norwegian artillery.

With the best whaling far off in the Antarctic, Norwegian shipwrights invented the floating factory. It carries a squadron of catcher boats, all mounting harpoon-guns. It also has machinery for reducing the whales, which the boats bring in, to their last drop of oil.

Before the war, both Japan and Germany tried in vain to overtake Norway in whaling. Now Germany has no floating factories left, while Japan has put two into service again. Britain has four, The Netherlands one, and the Soviet Union one.

Norway is miffed at the United States for allowing the Japanese to get back into the business, and was shocked when some sources tried to get money from the European Recovery Program for new German floating factories.

Norway's Argument

The Norwegian argument is that her whaling fleet is already large enough to catch alone all the whales allowed by law, so E.R.P. financing of German floating factories would be sheer economic waste. The painful surmise is that whaling, as a result of its super-modernization, may be a vanishing industry, as was hunting buffalo on the American plains.

H. T. Knudtzon, the Norwegian government's whaling expert says that the blue whale, biggest animal in the world and basis of the business, may be dangerously nearing extinction.

This greatest of the leviathans is blue on his back, blue-grey on his belly, weight up to 100 tons and may be as long as 100 feet. On a floating factory, he becomes 18 tons or more of oil.

An international pact sets the world catch at 16,000 blue-whale units a year. A blue whale is counted as equalling two fin whales, 2½ humpback whales, or six sail whales. Actually, more fin whales are caught than blue whales.

"We had hoped suspension of hunting during the war would permit blue whales to increase substantially, says Knudtzon. "But it hasn't. A little more international co-operation would help. The truth is that whale oil production could be boosted now and fewer whales killed, if whaling powers adopted a rational schedule for hunting.

"The thing to do is to hunt later in the season when the whales are fatter. A blue whale that affords only 85 barrels of oil in December would have given 160 barrels if left alive until March.

City Shut Door On Purchasing CAS Property

The quiet insistence of Mr. C. B. Neal of the Memorial Community Centre committee Tuesday night for a written statement of the council as to whether the Children's Aid Society property, George St. south, was an available Centre site, appears to be substantially founded.

Mr. Neal argued that, before expressing approval of the Burnham St. location, opposite Riverside Bowl, the Centre committee should have written information as to the disposal of the CAS alternative. The committee, he said, had listed three properties in the order of their appeal to the Committee: the CAS property, the Burnham St. location, and Nicholls Oval.

The council was now enquiring into the cost of the Burnham St. lots, but the Centre committee had never been informed about the conclusion of negotiations with the Children's Aid Society. The committee Tuesday night supported the Neal motion, seconded by R. M. Glover.

City Clerk Outram said Wednesday there was nothing in the council records relating to CAS valuation of their property or what sum they would accept for it.

Difference In Price

One of the members of the Centre committee suggested in the Wednesday discussion that $75,000 had been mentioned in the negotiations with the CAS, but the amount in The Examiner's memory was a tentative and approximate $45,000.

At any rate, Mr. Neal emphasized that the Centre committee had no report from the council about the assumed final discussions with the CAS, a sa result of which, extending the assumpsions with the CAS, as a result considering the CAS lot, but was directing its attention now to the Burnham St. properties.

The files of The Examiner, March 1948, report a meeting at the city hall Tuesday, March 22, at which the Children's Aid Socity left the door open to the council.

Previous Report

The following is the introduction to The Examiner's report of the conference March 22:

"Two south end properties, proposed as separate arena sites, received introductory consideration of the board of Works Monday night. A deputation from the Children's Aid Soceity suggested the possibility of selling for something like $40,000 to $50,000 the Shelter block, George St. south, for the Community Memorial Centre.

A second deputation sought as a gift from the city the property on the west side of Park St. south, opposite the end of Lake St., for the Civic Arena committee's secondary rink project.

The Board, with Ald. Hurrell Dodds presiding, and all the other members of the council present, manifested interest in both proposals. Ald. Doug Miller, Gordon Armstrong and Hugh Waddell, were appointed a special committee to continue discussions with representatives of the Children's Aid Society.

It will be recalled that the general committee of the Memorial Community Centre several months ago requested the council to consult the Children's Aid Society about the possibility of obtaining the George St. south block after prolonged enquiry into securing a corner of Morrow Park had ended up a blind alley ...Mr. James Dutton said that nothing would be done about the south end block until the council had ample opportunity of considering it. "The society will give you a chance to say no if you wish."

The Children's Aid Society was represented by James Dutton, James Hamilton, J. McKerchar of Lakefield, T. T. Rodger, and Fresh Ash.

Toronto Writer Does Story About Corvette

By The Canadian Press

Hugh Garner, 36-year-old Toronto writer, has made a striking entry into the rank of Canada's novelists with his first book, "Storm Below" (Collins).

Forceful and realistic, "Storm Below" is drawn from the wartime crew of a Canadian corvette HMCS Riverford, during one of her Atlantic convoy patrols.

The death of a young ordinary seaman, Knobby Clark, from a fall during the early stages of the Londonderry-St. John's crossing began a series of foreboding events.

Defying tradition and an old sailor's superstition, the captain decided against burial at sea and ordered the body stowed below decks so that Clark's parents might visit his grave in Newfoundland.

First one misfortune and then another occurred. Some stokers refused to oil the propellor shaft where the hammock-wrapped body lay; personal quarrels broke out among some of the crew when patience wore thin abroad the tiny vessel; five merchant ships were torpedoed in the convoy; anti-submarine equipment abroad the Riverford detected an enemy sub—a perfect "contact" then lost with disheartening effect.

As the voyage progressed—seemingly at a snail's pace for the crew which was to go on 28 days' leave when it was over—tension mounted.

With the body below decks, the symbol of ill omen—the Storm Below—many of the ship's company became obsessed with a magnified awareness of their own personal troubles.

Does Good Job

Garner, a naval veteran who served mainly on corvettes, has drawn his motley group of characters well. He has refrained from overdramatizing. The events, and more particularly their effects on a crew ill-at-ease under the stress of war, are woven with a realistic thread.

The characters are neither prettified nor romanticized. Each stands out as a real person with plausible problems, whether he is the understanding English-born captain, the French-Canadian stoker petty officer, the sub-lieutenant with his roundly-detested superior attitude or the nervous young seamen on his draft to sea.

Approve Choice Of Frost As New Leader

Members of the Peterborough legal fraternity and leading Progressive - Conservative Party workers in this area expressd much satisfaction yesterday over the selection of Hon. Leslie Frost, 54-year-old Lindsay barrister and Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Mines in the Ontario government, as the new leader of the Progressive-Conservative Party in Onta All those called by the Examiner agreed that Hon. Mr. Frost, who will be sworn in as Premier to succeed Hon. T. L. Kennedy next week. was a man of proven executive ability and integrity.

James Juby, president of the Peterborough County Progressive - Conservative Association, voiced the general feeling when he said that he felt Mr. Frost would take over the premiership "with the confidence of the public."

Became The Favorite

Mr. Juby, who attended the convention in Toronto as a delegate of the local organization, declared further that "as the convention progressed it became evident that Leslie Frost was shaping up as the favorite, but the margin of his plurality, I think, was a general surprise. I didn't expect the decision was coming on the first ballot. Opinion, as I heard it, was that any of the three cabinet ministers would have made a strong Premier. That is all the more to the credit of Mr. Frost, who is quite widely known in this section of the province.

Gordon Matthews, manager of Canada Packers, Ltd., plant here, and another prominent Progressive-Conservative, stated that undoubtedly the convention picked the best man for the leadership job in electing Mr. Frost, who had ability of a high order. Mr. Matthews said the party leadership would be "in good hands" under Mr. Frost, who had already given outstanding leadership in Ontario government affairs since joining the cabinet at about the same time Ex-Premier George Drew, now Federal leader of the party, took office.

T. J. Carley, K. C., prominent Liberal Party worker, added his tribute from the opposition side. He said he was "very pleased" to hear of the honor conferred on Mr. Frost, as he had known him for many years and had a high regard for his integrity and ability. Mr. Carley declared that he felt very confident that Mr. Frost would make a good Premier, as he was very conscientious, a hard worker, and a good administrator.

REDS KIDNAP THREE BRITISH POLICEMEN

Drop Charges Against Freda Linton

Sufficient Evidence For Prosecution Lacking, Ottawa Says

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — Sobbing with excitement and happiness, Freda Linton learned Friday night that espionage charges hanging over her for more than three years of hiding had been dropped by the Federal government for lack of evidence.

Miss Linton, 33-year-old Montrealer soon to become a mother, was the last of 20 Canadians named by a Royal Commission early in 1946 as suspects in a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

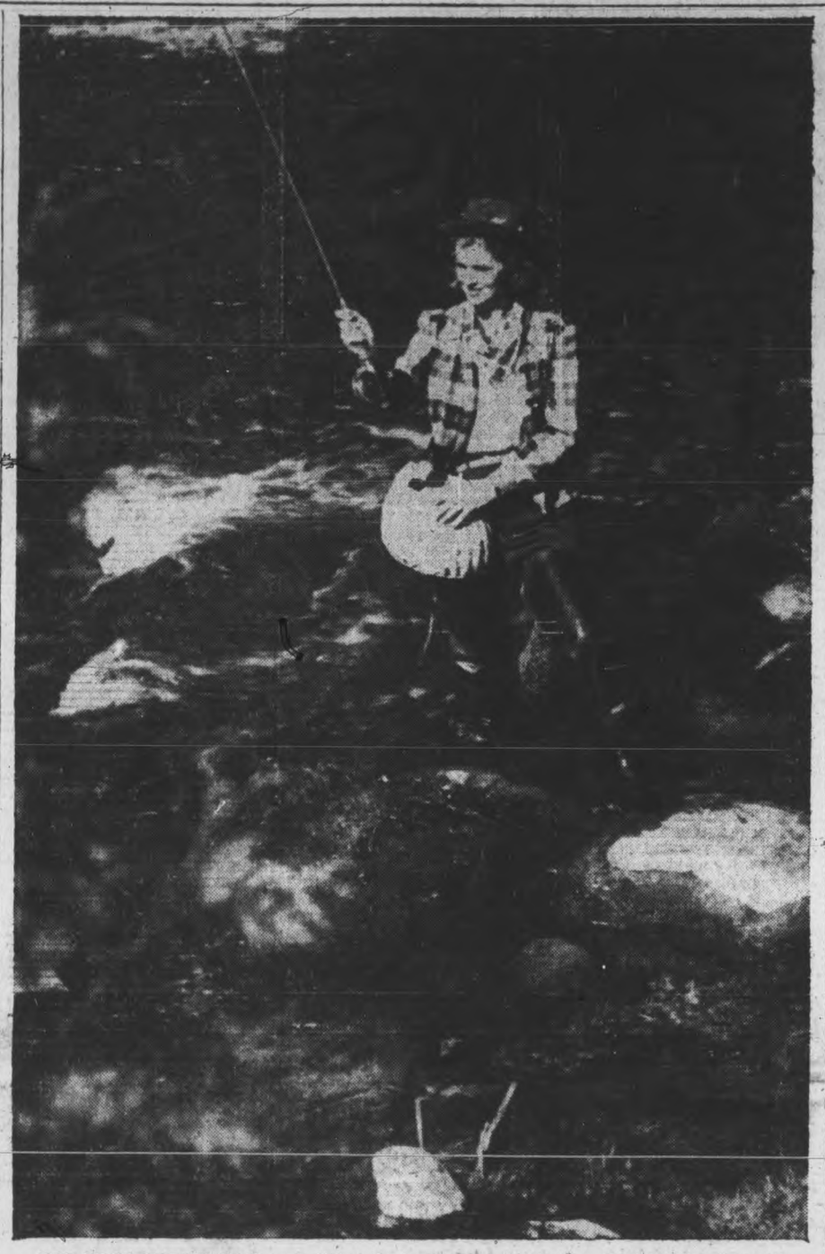
All of the 21 now have been accounted for. Nine were acquitted, 10 drew jail sentences ranging up to six years and one was fined. Thus the government books are closed on the startling case which exploded Sept. 5, 1945, when terrified Igor Gouzenko, a young Russian cipher clerk, fled the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa and unfolded a tangled story of intrigue and conspiracy involving Canadian and Russion officials.

Only three weeks ago Miss Linton surrendered voluntarily to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Montreal after 38 months in hiding.

Released on bail, the one-time National Film Board employee was scheduled to go on trial in Montreal in May on charges that she had been an information pipeline between Fred Rose and Dr. Raymond Boyer, two of the principals in the spy ring.

Rose, former Labor-Progressive Member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier riding, now is serving a six year penitentiary sentence. Boyer wealthy Montreal scientist, is serving a two-year term.

From the first sensational disclosures of the Royal Commission in 1946, the spy investigation has been filled with colorful surprises.



TODAY IS TROUT DAY and although the weather is perfect recent cool conditions will make for poor fly fishing. Water has been too cold to hatch flies, and wily one-pounders will not be fooled by out-of-season substitutes. Purist fishermen, like Dorothy Wilson, above, will have to resort to worms to fill their limit in county waters which is 20 trout, or ten pounds of fish.

CBC Dismissal Rapped By Drew

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—Dismissal of a CBC announcer—Joel Aldred—for breach of oath of secrecy was criticized in the Commons yesterday by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and the criticism brought comment from a spokesman for the CBC management.

Mr. Drew said that Mr. Aldred, 28-year-old Toronto-born news commentator and announcer, was dismissed Friday for violating his oath of secrecy through article on him in the Montreal Standard this week.

The CBC spokesman said Mr. Aldred, employed in Toronto for the last two years, was asked for his resignation because "he publicly expressed dissatisfaction with the terms under which he worked."

In Toronto, Mr. Aldred said his dismissal was the continuation of what he called a "fear complex" developing within the CBC.

Serge Koussevitzky Gives Last Concert

BOSTON, April 30 —(AP)— Serge Koussevitzky, who has lifted his baton to critical acclaim and devotion from the front rows and gallery for 25 years as conductor of the famed, 68-year-old Boston Symphony Orchestra, tonight makes his farewell appearance its official conductor.

If it's like yesterday afternoon when he gave the same Beethoven program, tonight will be both concert and drama.

The Friday faithful gave him spirited applause — and there were tears on some of the old faces.

This for a man now nearing 75 who as a peasant Russian lad ran away from home because his father would have none of the music the boy kept talking about.

Penniless in Moscow, the lad begged for lessons. He did it with so much spirit that the dignified faculty of the Philharmonic School took him in.

Asbestos Talks Break Down

ASBESTOS, Que., April 30 (CP) —Announcement of a breakdown in new settlement talks in the 11-weeks-old Asbestos industry dispute today has dashed hope the strike-harrassed women of 5,000 idle workers had entertained of soon packing lunch pails again.

Meanwhile this drab mining town, in the centre of Quebec's serpentine belt where 95 per cent of the world's asbestos is produced, is under a five-hour curfew, its shopping district deserted and its 8,500 people the subject of a province-wide appeal for assistance launched by the Roman Catholic clergy.

The latest settlement proposal fell through Friday night in Quebec City following the sixth meeting between representatives of the company and the strikers.

While Blockade Talks On Soviets Tell War-Mongers

LONDON, April 30.—(AP). — Moscow radio broadcast an accusation today that "war-mongers" in the United States and Britain have "mad plans for world domination," but cannot succeed.

The broadcast quoted a May-Day editorial in Pravda, official organ of the Communist party in Moscow, as saying:

"Terrified by approaching crisis, thirsting for an even greater increase in their fabulous profits, monopolists, the uncrowned kings of Wall Street and the City of London, decided that following victory over Germany and Japan the deck was clear for their mad plans for world domination.

"But the war-mongers miscalculated. The have not succeeded, and will not succeed in misleading the peoples. The movement for peace is acquiring ever greater scope."

A dispatch from Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, received Friday night, said the possibilities that the Berlin blockade may be lifted and the Council of Foreign Ministers resume meeting were viewed with extreme caution by the Russians.

Gilmore, whose dispatch passed through Russian censorship, reported that Moscow newspapers for two days had refained from mention of those two subjects.

Gilmore said President Truman's statement that he believes the Soviet Union is acting in good faith in the new Berlin negotiations doubtless has had a good reception in Russia.

Gilmore said there is hope—and some belief—in Russia that settlement of the Berlin problem might lead to better relations generally between the east and west.

Say Chinese Communists 23 Miles From Hangchow

SHANGHAI, April 30—(AP).—Communist columns today rolled to within 23 miles of Hangchow in an apparent move to knock out that anchor to the whole Nationalist position on the Shanghai front. The newspaper Sin Wan Poa said Government employees in Hangchow had been ordered to leave and that locally-organized militia took over police duties.

This might indicate the Nationalist soldiers had withdrawn from the coastal city, 121 rail miles southwest of Shanghai. There was nothing official to bear out this, however.

The Shanghai garrison communique said that one Communist column had reached Teching, 23 road miles north of Hangchow. Earlier the garrison said Nationalist troops had withdrawn from

Police Continue Search For Girl

ST. CATHARINES, April 30 — (CP)—A police search for 20-year-old Joyce Patterson, missing since Thursday night, spread today to the swift waters of the old Welland canal and to ravines and bushland near this Niagara district city.

Police were called in after the attractive, brown-haired girl failed to return to her home on the outskirts of St. Catharines after a Thursday night visit to a friend, Grace Hadlow, 21, two miles from her home.

The bicycle used by Joyce was found yesterday five miles from her home and police are searching for four youths seen Thursday evening along the canal road between the two homes.

"It certainly doesn't look good for the girl," said Ontario Provincial Police Inspector James Anderson.

Only clues found are the bicycle and marks showing that a four-inch rock had been taken from the ground where the bicycle was found. These clues were discovered on a point of land jutting between the canal and a weir.

Tell Officials, Constables To Be Freed

Believe Soviet Brings More Demands In Blockade Talks

BERLIN, April 30 (AP)—Russian authorities today notified the British military government that they would release by mid-afternoon three British military policemen seized Friday night on the Soviet-sector border.

The soldiers were taken into custody by the Russians while investigating a raid by Communist police on a city-owned farm which straddles the British-Soviet zone border. British authorities immediately protested.

The arrest of the trio brought to seven the number of Britsh soldiers now held in the Soviet zone. Four were taken into custody earlier this week while patrolling on the British zonal border.

Horses, cows, sheep and pigs were driven from the farm early Friday night by a raiding force of some 50 uniformed and civilian Soviet-zone police. All were armed, witnesses said.

The city-owned farm was considered by the four powers to be British-sector property.

Officer Puzzled

W. H. Spice, chief of the agriculture section of the British military government, investigated the incident and professed puzzlement.

"First we had the trouble at the canal locks," he said, "and now this. I don't know what they are getting at."

The "battle of the barges" today had apparently all but resolved itself.

British officials said they had accepted an invitation to discuss the situation with Russian Gen. P. Kwashnin, head of the Soviet transportation corps.

Officials at the locks said traffic was proceeding normally.

Move Cautiously

NEW YORK, April 30 (CP) — East and west today appeared to be moving cautiously towards agreement on lifting the Berlin Blockade and starting a conference on the whole German problem.

Following the latest in a series of secret American Russian talks, a United States spokesman said Friday night that the negotiations were "proceeding satisfactorily."

But speculation arose that Russia's Jakob A. Malik delivered further Moscow conditions during his second conversation this week with Philip C. Jessup, United States Ambassador-at-Large.

First Kiss In House Goes To Mrs. Strum

OTTAWA, April 30. (CP) — Probably the only kiss ever recorded in Canadian Parliamentary history was exchanged on the floor of the Commons Friday night.

On an obvious lark and before a heavily-packed Chamber and thronged public galleries, George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley) strode down the floor with a bouquet of flowers, handed them to Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF - Qu'Appelle) and then bent over and soundly kissed her on the cheek.

She accepted the flowers, jumped up quickly and dashed out of the Chamber [illegible]

The tests are scheduled to begin early next week. Purpose of the tests, in which gamma-ray generators on floating pontoons will bombard the vessel ceaselessly, is to determine how deeply the rays penetrate and what happens inside the cruiser when they do.

Parliament Dissolved Today Election June 27 Prime Minister Confirms

Will Announce Cabinet Shuffle Next Week; New Appointments To Senate; Try To Get Payment Of Government Expenses

OTTAWA, April 30—(CP)—Parliament will be dissolved today and the general election will be called for Monday, June 27. This is the standing in the Commons as the Government prepares to go to the country: Liberals 125, Progressive Conservatives 69, CCF 32, Social Credit 12, others six, vacant one. The standing in September, 1945, after all returns from the general election of that year, were in, was: Liberals 126, Progressive Conservatives 66, CCF 28, Social Credit 13, others 12. There have been 19 Federal by-elections since the 1945 contest.

Yesterday, as the day before, the Commons amid strong Progressive Conservative opposition, spent most of its time debating a Government bill asking for $479,000,000 to pay Governmental expenses until a new parliament can be summoned.

The House adjourned at 11.30 p.m. and was to meet at 11 a.m. today.

Mr. St. Laurent announced that temporary arrangements had been made for Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General, to give Royal assent to bills already passed in the Senate Chamber at noon.

If supply went through without opposition, as was indicated, a prorogation ceremony was expected to follow almost immediately.

Obtains Approval

Meantime, Mr. St. Laurent had made his preparations for the dissolution which he announced last Monday would take place at the end of this week. He drove to the Governor-General's residence early Friday evening and obtained his approval of a recommendation that Parliament be dissolved and elections be held June 27.

Later, he confirmed the June 27 election date to The Canadian Press.

Some time next week, Mr. St. Laurent will announce a cabinet reshuffle and a number of appointments to the Senate.

Yesterday, as dissolution approached, Jean Francois Pouliot, the member for Temiscouta, announced to the Chamber that he wished to be designated as a 'straight Liberal." He has been considered an "Independent Liberal" at his own request since he broke with the government over the conscription issue in 1944.

There were 245 Commons members in this 20th Parliament, but the voters now will elect a membership of 262. The 17 new members include seven from the new Province of Newfoundland and another 10 resulting from an increase in the number of constituencies that was legalized in 1947.

Atlantic Pact Ratified By Government

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP) — In its dying hours, the House of Commons of the 20th Canadian Parliament Friday night gave sanction without dissent to two major steps in international policy designed respectively as bulwarks of defence and of trade. The Senate had approved both earlier.

The Commons voted 185 to 0 for adoption of the Atlantic Treaty, the 12-nation pact that arose as an answer to Russian aggression. Without a formal vote it showed the same unanimity on behalf of the international wheat agreement under which 41 nations offer export and import guarantees.

The action made the Canadian Parliament the first Parliament or equivalent of any country to ratify the far-reaching treaty.

The only note of friction in the relatively brief debate came from hecklers on both sides of the House during a speech by Rodney Young (CCF-Vancouver Centre).

Under heckling, he suggested that the pact could embrace Russia; too, "if it's a pact for peace."

Prime Minister St. Laurent, one of the fathers of the treaty, also expressed the hope that it would eventually embrace all nations, including Russia. He said it had already produced some lessening of the tensions of the cold war.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, said the pact's obligations would have to be met

Anti-Reds Plan May-Day Affairs

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — Anti-Communists outside the iron curtain plan some stiff competition to the high-pressure propaganda blasts the Communists will let fly in tomorrow's May-day celebrations.

In the Soviet orbit, where Communism has the field to itself, the International Labor holiday seemed headed for its old program of denunciations of the United States and Britain.

Moscow planned the usual parade, with a big military display and a mass meeting with speeches in Rer Square.

Rival mass meetings were scheduled in France, Italy, Denmark, Sweden and in Germany where West Berlin police are alerted for possible disorders stemming from rival celebrations. [illegible] Britain's celebrations but there will be no parading in London.

Ship Sinks Row 15 Hours

4 Fishermen Reach Safety

SYDNEY, N.S., April 30—(CP) —Four men from the fishing schooner Lottie T. who rowed 15 hours through pounding seas when their vessel broke up rocks off the west coast of Cape Breton Island were safe Friday night.

The men reached shore Friday at Lapointe, near Cheticamp, N.S., on the picturesque Cabot Trail. The 10-ton schooner broke up during a storm late Thursday after developing engine trouble.

Skipper and owner of the Lottie T., out of Cheticamp, was Stanley Chaisson. Names of his crew were not available. They live several miles outside Cheticamp.

Lottie T. was headed for Cheticamp after loading 140 barrels of herring bait in the Magdalen Islands.

Another tiny fishing craft, Red Deer, out of Cheticamp, became separated from the Lottie T. during the storm but made port safely. She also carried a cargo of herring bait from the Magdalens.

RCMP officials at Cheticamp said the men suffered no ill effects from their long exposure. They were warmly clothed and managed to keep dry despite the heavy sea running during the night.

The men took to a dory after the engine trouble developed and the ship lost headway in the gale. A snowstorm sprang up and the captain was unable to judge how far off the rugged Cape Breton shore his vessel was.

Most of the night, the four seamen drifted in the dory. The storm eased up shortly after dawn and they were able to make shore.

Plan Housing Project For Army At Picton

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton told G. J. Tustin (PC-Prince Edward Lennox) in the Commons Friday it has been decided to erect a housing project for personnel of the Canadian artillery school at Picton.

Mr. Claxton said it was intended to build 200 housing units at Picton. When they would be built would depend on the speed of construction and the supply of materials and labor.

The Canadian Press Friday erroneously reported Mr. Claxton as saying it had been decided to erect the housing project at Pickering.

Ask Early Start On Power Plan

TORONTO, April 30 (CP) — Assurances that the Canadian government will urge the United States government to make an early start on the St. Lawrence Power Development were made Friday by Prime Minister St. Laurent to Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Mr. Saunders made the announcement Friday after a trip to Ottawa for a personal interview with Mr. St. Laurent. He presented the Prime Minister with a letter outlining reasons why the project should not be delayed, and Mr. St. Laurent said he would use the letter as the basis for approaching the U.S. government.

Mr. Saunders said an earlier communication from the Prime Minister reported the Federal Cabinet favored the quickest possible development of the St. Lawrence Seaway-power scheme, with the power development carried out separately if necessary

The Ontario Hydro Commission and the New York State power authority have applied to the International Joint Commission for permission to start the power project, which would produce 2,200,000 horsepower.

Expedition Seeks Man's Story At Ancient Site Near Baghdad

By MUSA HABIB

BAGDAD, April 30 —(AP)— A joint United States archaeological expedition which started work in Iraq last year will be engaged for several seasons to come in the task of unfolding the story of the growth of man.

Dr. Donald E. McCown, who headed the combined expedition of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago and the University Museum of the University of Pennsylvania, said the limited results obtained in the introductory work last November and December "have been most promising."

The group, which plans to resume work in full capacity next season, is pursuing its study of man's early years on the site of Nippur, now known as Nuffar, a short distance from Afek in the Diwaniyah Liwa (province) about 100 miles south of Baghdad.

The ancient site of Nippur is one of the great landmarks in the early civilization of Iraq (Mesopotamia). The history of Nippur is a long one, running from the prehistoric Al-Ubaid period (at least 6,000 years ago) down to the 10th century A. D. Its greatest importance was in the third millenium B. C., during the early Sumerian and immediately following periods.

Although Nippur was never a political capital of southern Mesopotamia is was, in a sense, the religious capital of the land. It was the home of Enlil, chief god in the Sumerian pantheon, at that remote period.

Nippur became less important in the second millenium B. C. with the rise of Babylon, when Murdock became chief god, but it continued to be a large and important city. The present remains cover about 180 acres.

The American expedition which started work last fall is not the first American group to undertake excavations in this important area. Nippur was the site of the first archaeological project in Iraq more than 60 years ago.

Cuneiform Tablets

From 1888 to 1890 the University of Pennsylvania had a field party there and Nippur became famous for the large number of tablets in cuneiform writing discovered in one mound containing the tempal scribal school.

Enlil's ancient home and school, Dr. McCown said, "conceal many secrets yet to be revealed and the expedition plans to work for many seasons until Nippur contributes all its highly important evidence for the story of the growth of man."

Dr. Naji Al-Asil, director of Iraqi department of antiquities, said an Iraq expedition under Fuad Safar has resumed excavations at Eridu, the most ancient abode of civilization in southern Iraq.

The expedition began work on a new site about a half mile southeast of the Ziggurat area which was the site of the excavations the last two seasons. These excavations uncovered three important findings.

1. A series of superimposed temples, 17 in number, mostly of the Al-Ubaid period. The last three temples belong to the hitherto unknown cultural period which has been named the Eridu period (about the fourth millenium B. C.)

2. The Al-Ubaid settlement of houses, streets and public buildings.

3. The Al-Ubaid cemetery where more than 1,000 well preserved tombs were exposed. This discovery has been termed of great significance.

Fire Discovered Before Start Gained

What might have been a serious fire was avoided on Friday night when salesmen at National Grocers Ltd., 200 George St. N., saw flames through the window of Elliott Stationery and Advertising Sales, located across the street.

The blaze began in the shipping room when a bag of oil soot previously cleaned from the oil stove ignited. Because the outbreak was seen almost as soon as it started, damage was limited to a small area of scorched flooring.

A sales meeting was being held at National Grocers and at about 10 p.m the flames were seen. Howard, Hammell, one of the salesmen, rushed across the road to Elliott's and raised the alarm.

Stanley C. Elliott, managing director, was working at the time, and he together with Mr. Hammell and the janitor, Harold Brady, extinguished it.

The Fire Department was called but the trio took only about three minutes to put out the last spark.

CGE Contributed $6,030,000 To Pension Fund

Canadian General Electric Company's contributions to its employee pension trust fund amounted to $6,030,000 after the addition of $1,200,000 last year. The total has been further increased by interest accretions.

As quoted from the C.G.E. Works News: "This money paid into the fund since 1938 is set aside irrevocably to be used for the benefit of employees. It may be used only for this purpose, and cannot be reclaimed by the company. This is an arrangement the company made in order that the C.G.E. pensioners may be assured a steady income irrespective of any ups and down in its own experience....

So far the Company has provided pensions for 317 employees, of whom 187 are, we are glad to say, enjoying retirement today... Although the pension trust fund was not established until 1938, the company has been paying pensions to eligible retired employees since 1925. To date a total of $1,468,000 has been paid."

An Open Letter To The Citizens Of Peterborough...

To Our Many Good Friends In Peterborough:

Many of you who have grown up in Peterborough will know of the great work we are trying to do in this south end of the city and of the many difficulties that have faced us through the years because of the inadequency of our present building.

We are a congregation composed mostly of citizens from the South End—and our area is growing apace—it is our thought that in looking after the religious interests of our people—including most specially our young people—we have a most important call and that our efforts will be well spent.

We are asking you to open your heart for us, [illegible] with your contribution that will make this campaign successful and bring our aim to a rousing conclusion.

self-supporting entity of the Church of England, doing away with our missionary aid, but to commence building ourselves a new Church, with ample facilities to further our work in the city.

We, by ourselves, are not able to raise the entire amount needed to build—$100,000—but we have decided to build our new Church in sections, each costing about $20,000 and each designed to give us the most important things first.

Our first section will be the basement, which will include an auditorium to seat 250 people—something we sorely need. In addition, there will be facilities for our committees and organizations, kitchens, meeting rooms and all the other needs that such an edifice will need.

If our teams are unable to call on you—and they will make every effort to do so—would you take counsel with yourself and mail it to us. You may make your contribution, of course, all at one time or spread over a period of time which would best suit your own needs. You may rest assured your help will be fully appreciated and acknowledged.

Yours in Christ's Service,

RECTOR & WARDENS

More Gangsters Carrying Guns In Paris

By RUSSELL HOWE

PARIS, April 30 —(Reuters)—A growing army of trigger-happy gangsters is causing a serious headache among the 21,775-strong Paris police force.

An official told me recently that in the city and its suburbs, one person in 60 is a criminal wanted by the police.

Before the war, only one criminal in 10 carried a gun — usually an unwieldy Browning. Today, nine Paris gangsters out of 10 carry a Colt or a Tommy-gun.

In 1947, there were 286 murders in Paris. The police made 249 arrests. But during the same year, there were 948 "armed assaults," for which only 439 members of the underworld were brought to book. Some 600 cases remain unsolved. Figures are not yet available for 1948.

Better Organized

Today, the "profession" is better organized than ever. The "caids" (gang chiefs) live in genteel luxury near the Bois de Boulogne or on the Riviera.

The well-organized "caid" runs a few fairly honest business concerns as a "blind," gets his name in the social columns of the illustrated magazines—and retains a legal adviser.

In recent years, French crime has been revolutionized by the invention of the front-wheel drive automobile. This easily manoeuvrable vehicle can escape from a Paris traffic block with not the slightest trouble.

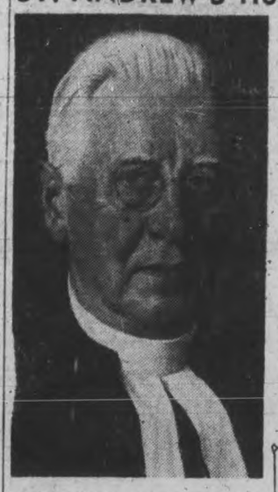
The weakness in the link of Paris crime is usually the "inside man" without whom a big robbery is almost impossible. It is usually the inside man who is caught and finally confesses.

Every year, an average of 17 policemen are shot on duty.

Denies Bootleg Milk

TORONTO, April 30 (CP) — Charges by L. B. Jolley that "bootleg" milk was being sold in Toronto were without foundation, a report of the Ontario Milk Control Board said Friday. The report, result of an inquiry conducted by Judge A. B. Currey, was made public Friday. The inquiry was made into allegations by Mr. Jolley, a Peel county farmer, that milk selling in Toronto for 18 cents a quart came from barns not inspected by the health department and from cows not tested for tuberculosis.

ST. ANDREW'S 116TH ANNIVERSARY



VERY REV. DR. GEORGE PIDGEON

MISS MARIE SCOTT

The 116th anniversary of St. Andrew's United Church falls on Sunday when the Very Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon will be guest preacher and the choir will be assisted by Miss Jean Marie Scott, mezzo soprano of Toronto.

First Presbyterian services in Peterborough were held in 1833 in a hall near where the C.N.R station now stands and the session was organized the next year with Rev. J. Maurice Roger M. A as the moderator. In 1835 a grant was made by the Crown of the lands whereon St. Andrew's Church and Manse now stand. In 1836 a stone church was built on the property and worship continued in that church until 1885 when the present St. Andrew's Church was built and dedicated

The first Sunday in May is a sacred day in St. Andrew's Church since it was in May 1833 that the first Presbyterian services were held. It was on May 2, 1886 that the present church was opened and dedicated.

Favored Congregation

The congregation feels that it is highly favored in having Dr. Pidgeon as the guest preacher for the day. He was honoured by being the first Moderator of the United Church of Canada and the church is preparing to celebrate its 25th anniversary next year.

Dr. Pidgeon is considered one of the grand men of the church an one of the architects of Church Union. Members of the congregation and community will be glad to know that they will have an opportunity to meet Dr Pidgeon at a reception and social hour the close of the evening service.

Miss Scott is also highly recommended for her lovely voice and pleasing personality. It should be a great day in the history of St. Andrew's congregation.

Don't Touch Budget So Rebates Suspended

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — Dissolution of parliament without the budget being passed, as now seems certain, will have no effect on operation of the budget tax reductions and other fiscal changes.

The only disability arising from failure of parliament to dispose of the budget will be that rebates due tax-payers under the reduced rates made effective March 22, retroactive to the beginning of the year, will be suspended.

In every other particular, Finance Minister Abbott said Friday night, the Budget changes made effective when he read his announcement March 22, will remain until or unless changed by a new parliament.

Mr. Abbott said he did not know off-hand which or how many tax-payers would be affected by the non-payment of the rebates.

Damages Awarded To Injured Girl

John W. Moore, Thompson Ave., has settled a damage action brought against him by Milton Frederick Schaefer of Albertus St., over injuries received by Schaefer's 17-year-old daughter Betty when knocked off her bicycle nearly a year ago.

Moore collided with the girl while driving his car south on George St. on May 25, 1948, at George and Princess Sts. Miss Schaefer was dragged for about 70 feet and seriously injured.

Under the terms of settlement Moore will pay the girl's father $360.50 for his share of the damages; and a further $788.27 wil ibe paid into court for Miss Schaefer. Costs of the action were $200 and were also charged to the defendant.

W. B. Gordon was solicitor for the plaintiff and T. J. Carley, KC, for the defendant.

Terms were arranged at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court which concluded on Friday.

Kidnap 3 Policemen

BERLIN, April 30— (AP). — A British military government official disclosed early to-day that three British military policemen were seized and taken into the Russian zone from Berlin on Friday. The policemen, riding a jeep, were attempting to save, the official said, some British horses from a German farm where livestock was being confiscated by Soviet zone police.

Plan Guard Force

NEW YORK, April 30 (CP) — The United Nations General Assembly Friday decided to set up a 14-man committee to study a proposal to form an 800-man UN guard force The proposal made by Secretary-General Trygve Lie was opposed by Russian-bloc countries who contended the Western Powers sought to use such a force as a political weapon. The vote was 47 to 6, with Canada supporting the move.

Want More Industries

VICTORIA, BC, Apriy 30 (CP) —Plans designed to stimulate the industrial growth of British Columbia to develop its resources will constitute the platform of Premier Byron Johnson's Coalition Government in the June 15 provincial election. It calls for development running into millions of dollars, including $25,000,000 for highways.

Plan To Make Study Of Trout Culture

Increased trout fishing facilities for the people of Peterborough and adjoining districts is the aim of an expanded program of stream survey work decided upon by the Peterborough Trout Stream Conservation Club at its last spring meeting held on Thursday evening in the PCVS Library, with the President Cam Rowatt in the chair. The members decided that during the coming summer they would intensify their efforts along this line, including continuation of preliminary studies of trout living conditions carried on last year along with an actual start on methods of improving their habitats in three particular streams.

The club is working with officials of the Department of Lands and Forests in the work, having the benefit of the expert advice of Charles Weir, departmental biologist stationed at Lindsay.

The club will concentrate its efforts on Jackson Park Creek, under direction of William Swiss: Millbrook creek, which is under Jack Arnott and Rufus Payne and Cavan stream under Wes Switzer and Wally Harvey. They will study water temperatures, volume of flow, depth of water, alkalitis content and availability of feeding grounds.

Census Cards

The survey work was not designed solely to benefit the members of the club, but for the public at large, the members feeling that the time has now come when the future of game fishing depends upon how speedy conservation measures can be applied. Club members were given creel census cards, recording cards, and copies of the "observation schedule" at the meeting and work will begin immediately.

In cases where increased flow is needed, Weirs and deflectors will be set up to bring this about. At points in the streams where the water is warmer than at other points brown trout will be placed, as this type of trout can live in warmer water while other types can't.

The recording cards show locations of temperature "stations", dates of readings, temperatures, width and depth of stream, rate of flow, and time of day reading taken. B. W. Switzer is in charge of the recording cards.

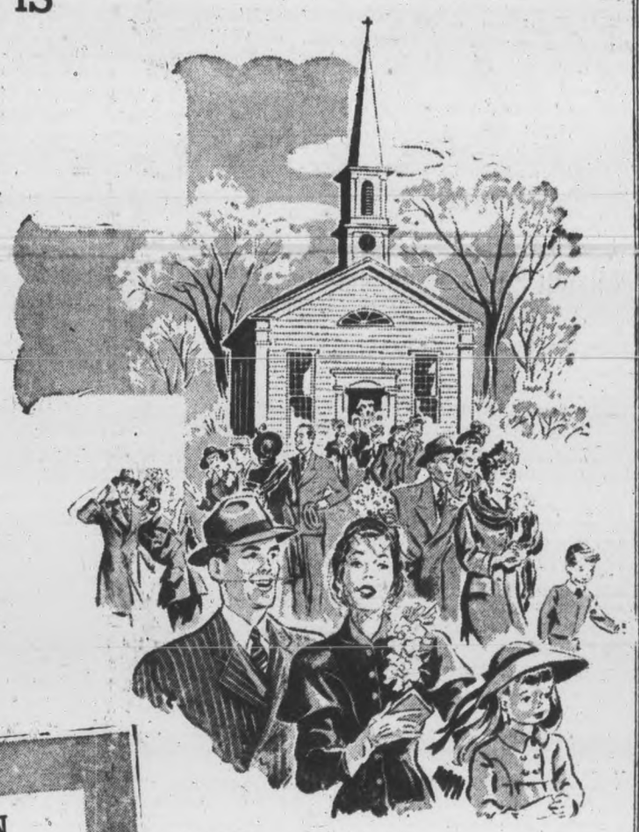
SUNDAY, MAY 1st IS

GIDEON SUNDAY

OUR MOTTO "EVANGELISM THROUGH SCRIPTURE DISTRIBUTION"

In the darkest days of history and of human life, the Bible shines like a star. It contains the solution to every problem. Plan to go to church this week-end. It is Gideon Sunday.



THE CANADIAN GIDEONS and Their Work

THE GIDEONS began as an Association of Christian Commercial Travellers in the United States, 1899. Their first objective was "Winning Commercial Travelers for Jesus Christ." With firm faith in the redemptive power of God's Word, they added another objective to help them attain the first—"A Bible in every Hotel Guest Room in America." That was in 1908.

The Movement came to Canada in 1911, and for nearly 40 years, the Canadian Gideons have worked side by side with the American Gideons in placing God's Word in the Guest Rooms of Hotels in theier respective countries. In 1931 Christian business men who did not travel were admitted to membership, and almost immediately the horizon of Gideon Ministry was extended and, in addition to Motels, other institutions were taken into the field of distribution, including Hospitals, Prisons and Asylums. Over 2,000,000 Bibles have been placed in Canadian institutions. During war years, Bibles were placed in Military Naval establishments, with personal copies of the New Testament being given to those in uniform. What may well prove to be the greatest undertaking of all was commenced in 1946, with the plan to give a personal copy of the Scriptures to Canadian school children. To reach one complete grade per year will require 100,000 copies of the special Gideon Youth Testament, which includes Psalms and Proverbs also.

THE GIDEONS are an arm of the Church, carrying out a ministry which no single denomination could undertake. Interdenominational in character, with its membership composed of Christian business men, THE GIDEONS have ready access to all institutions, and enjoy the good will of the Christian public of all denominations. The work is supported entirely by voluntary contributions. A contribution of $1.00 will allow us to place a complete Bible or 3 of the Youth Testaments. Address: THE GIDEONS, 229 Yonge St., Toronto 1 Local address, 599 Bolivar St.

Pyramids Overnight

Peterborough is having its spasms of pyramiding this week. Unlike the fabulous real pyramids of Egypt which took many years to create and when the builders did more than a day's work for less than a day's pay, the notorious dollar pyramids spring up overnight and people building them expect to get a year's pay for no work at all. Get-rich-quick schemes are as recurrent as the dreams of getting something for nothing, and half the fun in them is the spurt they give the imagination. But it is only a spurt and the fancy is quickly weighted by reality. So it was in the Gold Rush days and the pre-crash stock-market gambling period. So it is with Irish sweepstake tickets. A few people may strike it lucky; most find that they have thrown away both money and effort. The pyramid clubs now sputtering and sizzling will burn out quickly. They have, of course, been declared illegal, but it is doubtful if there is any use in the law intervening. The pyramids will crack and fall from their own spontaneous combustion without the strong arm of the law attempting to topple them.

Provincial Mottoes

Canada's motto, A mare usque ad mare (From sea to sea), is well-known, partly because of its Biblical origin, the frequency with which it appears on all manner of publications, and—let it be hoped—because visitors to Ottawa have been stirred by it as they enter the main portico of the Parliament Buildings with its two doors bearing the superscription

"The wholesome sea is at her gates,
Her gates both east and west" and between whose arches the Canadian motto is cut in stone. Provinces also have their mottoes, that is, six of the ten do, yet they are little known and less appreciated.

Mottoes are a special and sometimes delectable and amusing study (the Latin is often bad), but one need not be an expert to enjoy them, and even to think on them.

Ontario's motto is Ut incepit fidelis sic permanet—"As loyal she began so shall she (ever) remain". The sic permanet is as firm and formidable as in their various ways are Bay Street, the solid settled towns of southern Ontario and the rocks of Lake Superior. The fidelis is the conservative, U.E.L., even Toronto-British, affirmation with an eye over the shoulder at the American border. The Ut incepit is the young country and province, still beginning, still expanding. An appropriate motto, surely.

Quebec's is equally fitting. Its brevity and simplicity underline the singleness of the proud, long-memoried French-Canadian heart rising above the battle on the Plains of Abraham: Je me souviens (I remember). It is the only provincial motto not set in Latin.

Nova Scotia glories in Munit haec et altera vincit (One defends and the other conquers), and so Nova Scotians have responded since Confederation. They are still proud Bluenoses, forfending their maritime heritage from what old-timers down there call "Canada", yet conquering the seas and St. James Street, Montreal. Prince Edward Island, our smallest province, has a modest [illegible] (the small under the protection of the great). British Columbia's motto is also reminiscent of its accession to the larger Dominion: Splendor sine occasu (Splendour without diminishment), but significant of that Province proud of its mountains and roseate Pacific climate, the initial word is splendor; nothing mild and modest like parva. And B.C. means of course to increase in favour with God, all Canadians, and particularly with B.C. people. No diminishment for it.

Newfoundland's motto is perhaps the oldest, certainly the most pious, and yet suitable to that new Province to which the exploring Cabot laid claim as a new found land, and the visionary Gilbert disastrously attempted to colonize, and which even today is remarkable for the religiosity of its people: Quaerite prime regnum Dei. As that admonishment to seek first the Kingdom of God rings in the mind, the Christian promise, the complement "and all these things shall be added unto you", must raise hope in Newfoundland hearts.

New Brunswick and the three Prairie Provinces have no mottoes. The lack is as characteristic as the mottoes of the others. New Brunswick has at its core settlers from the New England States, puritanically hard at work, making a living with no time or desire for Latin fripperies. Alberta and Saskatchewan are new provinces of the Twentieth Century; Manitoba has no history as an integrated colony, as does B.C. With these three western provinces a Latin tag would be anachronistic. Their yesterday is today; their today tomorrow.

Having catalogued the mottoes, we ruefully conclude with the information that the word motto, in its root meaning (allied with 'mutter' and 'mot') means a grunt.

Encouraging Moves To Lift Blockade

It really does seem as if the recent moves by Soviet Russia to come to an understanding with the three western nations who share their occupation of Berlin is more than a tricky gesture. If so the Russian-imposed blockade may be lifted, and with it the counter-blockade established by the west. President Truman said on Thursday that he believes the Russians are acting in good faith. The time is propitious for the West, advantageous for Russia, since the West German State is about to become a reality and the Air Lift has been a demonstrated continuing success. There are signs of conciliation between both groups, or rather, of mutual toleration. The American Secretary of State, Mr. Acheson, said on Thursday evening that the U.S. would take every possible means to work out a settlement for Germany that would be fair to all, if four-power talks are resumed. The barge incident in Berlin, when Russian soldiers attempted to halt traffic in canal locks in the British sector, and over which Britain took strong action, has resulted in an official Russian apology. If the blockade can be ended the German situation would become easier and there would be a possibility of improving relations between the western nations and Russia.

Feeding Babies Beer

A local man was acquitted in Police Court the other day of a charge of feeding an eight-months-old baby beer. We have never seen proof that beer is good for babies, although we do know that in some countries children are not unused to a thimbleful now and then. We shall rashly state, however, that on ethical and health grounds, beer for babies is outside the pale. We had a dog once in a country where milk was almost unobtainable for even children, and this puppy, much younger than eight months, was raised on beer. He grew in stature and sleekness, but developed a strange malady of the knees, a hardness of them rather than a weakness. We remember also that about twenty years ago, when a new Peterborough brewery had to dump its first brew into the river, all the chickens on the banks became woozy on it. From these instances, we deduce that beer is not good for young things.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We read that Russians are soon to make movies which affect the sense of smell, as well as the senses of sight and hearing. We could say something mean about Western supremacy in this respect, but we won't, for fear of undermining democracy.

India has a Board of Control for Cricket. An augury that notwithstanding the outcome of the recent conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers which is determining what can be done about India's Commonwealth status, we may expect India to play cricket with the Dominions?

[illegible] is a petition now before the village council of Port Stanley, Ont., which demands that this oath be taken by anyone holding public office in that community: "I swear that in the whole of my life I have never been guilty of any moral turpitude; that I have never been convicted of any crime against God or man; that my whole life is an open book". Nothing about the candidate's ability to play the harp, we notice.

Two American fliers attempting to set a record for remaining aloft came down to earth after spending exactly six weeks in the air. They failed to establish a record. That, presumably, has been set in some asylum or other where people are up in the air for months on end. The two Americans might now be ready for an attempt in such an institution, and not in a flying machine.

Diary Of A Concertina-Brow

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Awoke this morning to hear a loud metallic ripping sound, like machine-gun fire or a pneumatic drill; from overhead. Feeling that I might as well die in bed as anywhere else I composed myself for sleep again, but the noise continued at intervals and after a while I arose to see what it was. It was a woodpecker, which was trying to drill through some metal flashing on my roof; if the stupid bird had moved six inches to right or left he could have pecked into a nice tasty cedar shingle, but he persisted with the metal, while I watched him and philosophized. The bird, I think, was bereft of reason—or as much reason as a bird ever has. He would pause, work up a terrific tension in the back of his neck, shut his eyes and hammer away for as long as he could stand it, and then lean back to see how he was getting on. Then, in a moment or two, he would grit his beak and try again. Robert the Bruce learned much from the spider which never gave up, but I found no lesson in this misguided bird.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: To the movies tonight and saw a trailer for a coming picture in which Wallace Beery appeared. This provoked much awe-stricken Oohing and Ahing in the audience, for the news of Beery's death appeared a day or two ago, yet there he was, making faces and wiping his mouth with the back of his hand, very much larger than life. He was an excellent actor in many ways, and I think I liked him best in "Grand Hotel" and "Dinner At Eight"; in those he had a chance to be serious, and in that mood he could be most impressive....It is often said that the movies embalm the actor's art, preserving his best performances for posterity. I wonder how many old movies the people who say such things see in a year? I have seen a good many, for one reason or another, and I always find them a little sad. Fatty Arbuckle is funny only in the memory; his pictures are depressing now. Snub Pollard and the Conklins, once regarded as very droll fellows, do not appear so when their films are resurrected. The Birth of A Nation is still a great picture, I am told, but "The White Sister", a potent boob-squeezer of the 'twenties, decidedly is not. Our amusements, like our clothes, do not seem to improve with storage.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: I doodle a great deal while I am talking on the telephone; I always draw funny faces. Psychologists say that they can tell a lot about a man's unconscious desires from his doodles; I wish one of them would go to work on mine. What do these strange, distorted countenances reveal? Do I unconsciously yearn to inhabit a world peopled with grotesques? One thing about the faces is worth noting; they all smile, slyly, or idiotically or just good-naturedly. I wish some kind psychologist would tell me why....A little girl asked me to read her a piece about clouds this evening, and I did so, although experience has taught me that reading things to children always ends up in an uncomfortable quiz, with me in the role of Marchbanks the Moron. Sure enough, she asked me where all the vapour comes from which forms the clouds. I took a leap into the dark and said that it was caused by the warm earth meeting cold air. Was the air wet, then, she asked. Yes, I said firmly. Then why weren't our clothes wet? They are wet, said I, feeling like a man stepping off a cliff. If the air is wet why don't we drown? Because our lungs are made to stand it. Like fish? Yes, like fish. Are people a kind of fish? Yes....It just shows where a little child can lead you.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: During the past few weeks I have had chats with several young men and women who think that they would like to get into the trade of which I am a humble practitioner. What amazes me about them all is their frankness.. "I'd like to get some practice in a little joint like yours before trying for a job in the Big City", they all say, or words to that effect. As they all come to me without previous experience, this gives me somewhat the feeling of a professor in a kindergarten, whose job it is to set the feet of beginners upon the upward path, soon to be left behind and patronized by my former pupils. And yet they do not want to work for beginner's pay, nor do they seem to sense the painful fact that for six months or so they will be more of a hindrance than a help. I hope that I may be forgiven in Heaven for the bittersweet answers which I return to their demands. It seems odd to me that in our present educational system, in which virtually everything else is taught or half-taught, nobody teaches these young hopefuls how to behave when looking for a job. I do not ask for grovelling humility, but some hint of modesty, and some offer of honest service, would be welcome. Does any man like to be told that he is a given point which beginners in his trade soon hope to pass?

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Was saddened today by news of the death of Col. Henry Osborne, whom [illegible] was many, and the newspapers have retailed them all, but in my eyes he was notable in two particular respects: he was the best chairman of meetings I ever saw, and he was always ready to laugh. He could discharge an immense amount of business in English and French without friction or waste of time, yet he never bustled, and a joke seemed always to be coming to birth in his mind, and revealing its glory through his eye. He was a man who might properly be called merry, and merry men are few.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Toyed with the idea of getting myself a bookplate today, to stick in the volumes which are beginning to crowd me out of the Towers. Yet I hate most bookplates; they are so stodgy and pretentious. So many of them are scratchy little engravings of shelves which appear to be weighed down with Books of the Month in rather bad condition, with "Ex Libris Mamie Klotz" in bad print at the bottom. Or even worse are those which show a monk poring over what appears to be an old-fashioned photograph album with "Joe Doakes, Hys Booke" in Gothic lettering upon it. I buy a good many second hand books, and several of them are defaced by these nasty stickers. Heaven forefend that I should inflict another upon the bookish world.

SATURDAY: Came across a chart in "Life" magazine today which was designed to help me decide whether I am a Highbrow, a Lowbrow, an Upper Middlebrow or a Lower Middlebrow. After some pondering I think I must be a Concertina Brow, for I like such Lowbrow things as beer and parlour sculpture, and I also like such apparently Highbrow things as red wine, art, ballet and pre-Bach music. But then I am a great fellow for the theatre, which is rated as only Upper Middlebrow (but of course this is a U.S. test, and they have a very mediocre theatre anyway). I even like front-yard sculpture, which is supposed to be Lower Middlebrow, though I also admire the fat, naked female statues of Maillol, which are Upper Middlebrow. In short, my brow heaves up and down alarmingly, like a concertina, and I have a few tastes which do not fit into any of these categories, like my affection for corduroy trousers and my fondness for bananas dipped in hot coffee. I am inclined to think that it must be very dull to have one's brow stuck at a particular point; I am glad my brow is able to expand and contract.

IN a recent British by-election, a Labour speaker declared that "need is the only criterion of the amount that the state should spend on public health. If it is money or life that matters then life must have the priority."

There has been a good deal of sensible comment in the United Kingdom on this kind of campaigning which applies in this country to many members of the C.C.F.

"This argument," says one commentator, "in terms of absolutes—money or life, tuberculosis people dying because the estimate is wrong—is superficial, vulgar and dangerous. It may be politically effective. But it is the kind of thinking which could quickly undermine the foundations of the health service itself."

Thus even if the hospitals, doctors and nurses of a country could be doubled or quadrupled the need would still be unsatisfied. If "need" is to be the only test then every other activity—including production—must give way. The result must be inflation which would cut down the value of the social services and indeed all services and do so inefficiently and unfairly.

Advocates of unlimited social services, however sincere, are esssentially dishonest. They lead their dupes to believe that unlimited increases in expenditures on welfare are possible without ruining the country. They speak of free hospitalization and free this and free that. But it is beyond the power of a government to make these services free. Governments produce nothing. They have no money of their own. All they have to spend is money they have taken from others, either in taxes or in loans which must be paid with interest.

Politicians who talk glibly of need being the only criterion should be tagged as dangerous demagogues.

Letter To The Editor

FIGHT AGAINST MARGARINE SELFISH

Sir: For some of us who believe in free competitive enterprise, there does not seem to be much argument to the margarine question.

In an open competitive system production has to stand ready to take it on the chin, just as the silk industry has had to do in the case of nylon, and the cotton producers and many others in the case of plastics.

I personally believe that the antagonism caused by the selfish attitude of the butter producers in their dictatorial attitude to destroy free competition has done more harm to butter sales than anything else.

The organized attempt to stifle free competition failed, but it stirred up such rumpus that now everyone wants to try margarine with disastrous results to the butter sales. Now the farmers who produce for the butter market would do better to set to work and show the public that they have the public interest at heart. People will always buy butter if they can afford it, and if the farmers who start the butter production would take steps to elminate the parasitical non-producers between them and the consumer, they would do much to regain public confidence and respect which their selfish fight has cost them.

Yours truly,
RALPH G. KILBON.

World's Food Supplies

The Bureau of Current Affairs has thrown a tempting apple of discord into the scientific arena. In a treatise on "Food and the People" Mr. Aldous Huxley, never an outstanding optimist, draws the gloomiest conclusions from the fact that, with 55,000 new human mouths to be fed on this planet every day, the world's food-producing acreage is rapidly shrinking. He certainly makes out a strong case for his pessimism. But another eminent expert, Sir John Russell, light-heartedly contests most of Mr. Huxley's grim forecasts, and pins a noble faith to the infinite resource of modern science and inexhaustible ingenuity of the human race.

What strikes the casual layman, studying these conflicting views, is the fact that the pessimists pay so little attention to two factors—the vagaries of the human birthrate, as shown by the prospect that this country is steadily heading for a population no larger than in Elizabethan days, and the immense areas of the earth still not under cultivation.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him. And he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat down to meat. And, behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster box of ointment, and stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment.

Now when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spake within himself, saying, This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that toucheth him: for she is a sinner.

And Jesus answering said unto him, Simon, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And he saith, Master, say on. There was a certain creditor which had two debtors: the one owed five hundred pence, and the other fifty. And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Tell me therefore, which of them will love him most? Simon answered and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said unto him, Thou hast rightly judged.

And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head....Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much: but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little. (Luke 7: 36-44, 47.)

And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15: 30, 31.)

Seat-of-Pants Flier's Story Is Romance of Our North

By DAVE WHITE

Matthew (Matt) Berry, a ruddy-complexioned six-footer from Edmonton, recently paid a visit to The Examiner. Although past middle-age, Matt is still an accomplished flyer — one of the breed that helped to open up Canada's Northland by seat-of-the-pants flying in that vast region little known to most Canadians and even less to the rest of the world.

Like most men with a tale to tell, he was reticent about his personal adventures, but he sounded like a one-man Chamber of Commerce when it came to selling the North Country to the uninitiated.

Now the owner of a charter air service in the North West Territories, he has three aircraft for shipping passenger, freight, and general supplies from the base at Fort Smith. But he began on a less ambitious scale.

He got his first break in 1928 as a pilot for the Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration Co., operated by the wealthy Toronto mining magnate, Jack E. Hammell. The company was doing a flying squad method of prospecting by sending in small parties of prospectors in an area that ranged from Newfoundland to the Yukon. Transportation and supply work was all done by aircraft, and it is believed to have been one of the most ambitious projects of its kind ever attempted.

During the open season, he would fly parties of prospectors and keep them supplied with food and other necessities as they trekked over large areas of the Laurentian Shield searching for the hidden mineral wealth.

In his first season he covered a wide area, servicing dependent prospecting parties in the Hudson Bay—Baker Lake—Chesterfield Inlet region. For five years he worked for Mr. Hammell flying Fairchilds and the ever-reliable Kokker aircraft.

Then he headed for the Coppermine region on the Arctic coast, and operated for three years as a pilot on Canadian Airways (later taken over by the

But he who kisses the Joy as it flies
Lives in Eternity's sunrise.

William L. Blake (1757-1827)

CPR). The payload in that particular region included passengers, freight, and furs—particularly White Fox.

Once he picked up 1,500 pounds of white fox pelts, valued at $30 apiece, at Cambridge Bay, situated about 300 miles east of the Coppermine settlement on the Arctic Coast.

Matt has a memory as ready as a card-index system; and he is willing to act immediately on his impulses.

Take, as instance, an incident that occurred late last winter. He was sitting at his home in Edmonton reading the paper when he came across an item stating that the world powers were beginning an extensive stock-piling program for base metals, lead included.

As he sat there musing over this item he recalled that 18 years before, he and a mining-engineer companion, Jim Hall of Toronto, had come across an extensive deposit of Galena lead at Detention Harbor on the Arctic Ocean, 1,200 miles north of Edmonton.

Hall and he had spotted the rich vein while flying for the Northern Aerial Mining Exploration Company, but at the time it would not have been a paying proposition to mine the ore.

Although he then said that the deposit would some day be valuable, Hall did not live to see his prophecy come true. He died in a mining accident in the Philippine Islands.

Financed by Gateway Gold Limited of Edmonton, he headed for the scene of the discovery guided only by a couple of old photographs taken at the time and by his memory of the location.

When the DeHaviland Beaver aircraft which was to relay the party on its journey, became unserviceable at Fort Smith, Matt decreed there was to be no stalling for repairs, and promptly commandeered a 20-year-old Fairchild.

His uncanny memory, aided by the photo snaps, was sufficient to lead the party right to the four-foot thick vein extending 200 feet inland and as far as the eye could see out to [illegible].

Within a few [illegible] of landing the party had [illegible] out its discovery posts and [illegible]ected sufficient samples to insure proof of the discovery. Then it was off for the Record's office in Yellowknife at top speed.

Narrowly nosing out the bids of two other interested companies that had got wind of the deposit, Gateway Gold is believed to hold one of the best Galenar strikes ever made in this country.

And all because of an ex-commercial flyer's photographic memory.

In the First World War, Matt served overseas as a pilot with the Royal Flying Corps, but he is a hard man to jog for details of personal exploits.

During the Second World War Matt Berry turned his knowledge of aviation to good account. He became supervisor of No. 7 AOS (RCAF) situated at Portage La Prairie.

But the most exciting experience he would admit in his more than 10,000 hours of commercial flying was in December, 1936, when he went to the rescue of a Roman Catholic bishop and his party of eight who were slowly starving to death on the Arctic coast east of Aklavik.

Bishop Falaise, together with three priests, a lay brother and four Eskimos found that their small boat became hedged in by ice at Pearce Point, on the Arctic Coast east of Aklavik.

There was nothing for it—so the party decided to strike inland in the hope of finding food. They arrived at a small Eskimo settlement named Paulatuk, but through the aid of a half-breed Portuguese interpreter they learned that the cache of food, which had been placed there for such an emergency, had been devoured by marauding bears.

They were left with a few caribou which had somehow remained untouched in the warehouse; and they had their dogs as a last resort. If the dogs were sacrificed for food, however, they had no means of reaching Letty Harbor, the nearest post for supplies about 65 miles north. And coal had to be transported by sled from another post 35 miles away.

Soon they found they were "just existing" and would soon have starved or perished with cold if help had not arrived.

It was thus in the middle of December when Matt Berry together with a mechanic and radio operator found the desperate party. The aircraft was immediately rushed into service to fly in ample supplies of food and fuel, and the next problem was getting them out.

The aircraft was grounded for several days due to stormy weather and the darkness. Then the machine staggered into the air on December 21, the shortest day of the year, grossly overloaded with 10 men aboard. There were three crew members and seven of the party.

Two priests and an interpreter were left at Paulatuk for the rest of the winter, but it was regarded as no hardship as they had ample food and other supplies by this time.

The trip back to Aklavik was not uneventful; when they were half way along the homeward leg of their flight, poor visibility—a combination of snow and darkness—caused them to make a forced landing.

Next day the plane skippered by Matt Berry landed safely at Aklavik, and another history-making flight in Canada's Northland was concluded. For this feat he was awarded the McKee Trophy, given each year to the pilot making the greatest contribution to Canadian commercial aviation.

Like most men who have spent considerable time in the Far North, Matt thinks it's God's country.

"You don't mind the cold," he said blandly referring to many months of sub-zero temperatures, "but for several months there's absolutely no daylight."

"It gets on your nerves—particularly if you aren't used to it."

Southern Ontario — cities — large populated areas? — Swell. But give him the Northwest every time.

'How soon can I get a plane for Winnipeg?" he enquired.

Pioneer Grave

[illegible] a resident of Ashburnham, came upon an isolated neglected grave seven miles south of Lindsay, in the township of Ops, and gives this impression of it.)

Overhead in the blue
Soared a West bound plane
Dancing and glowing
In the sun's red stain.
Not far from the path
In which I stood
A train roared by
Just skirting the wood.

The dell was sombre
In the evening light
Mist from the river...
The birds returning flight...
Stirred by the breeze
In the little dell
Whispering leaves
Had a tale to tell.

In a reflective mood
I lent an ear;
They told of a young Girl buried near.
I found the stone...
It was very old
Half sunk in the earth
And covered with mould.

A pioneer's child
Was Scottish Jean.
The stone said: at seventeen.
She departed this life
June eighteen-eighteen.
With a reverent mind
I stole away. I'll
Repair her grave another day.

Champlain To Miller Bowl; Baggataway To Lacrosse Peterborough Is To The Fore

By DON GRANT

When Champlain travelled 329 years ago through the waterways of what are now the Trent Canal, he may have seen the Indians playing baggataway, Teams from 75 to 200 men would play the game—from which lacrosse originated—on a field which varied during the game from 5 to 10 miles. Medicine men were the referees for the frays.

In wartime, the Indians used baggataway. The historian Parkman tells of the capture of the English fort Michilimackinac by a ruse in a game of baggataway. The French took a liking to this rough and tumble game, changing the game to suit themselves. Field lacrosse was thus born.

In 1867 when the Fathers of Confederation created the Dominion they did not forget lacrosse. By recognition of Parliament, lacrosse was made the national game of Canada. Many sport fans believe hockey to be it. They err; lacrosse it is by parliamentary writ.

In the Peterborough area lacrosse was strongly organized for the first time in 1880. That year the local club played with teams from Oshawa, Millbrook and Bowmanville. For a number of years the Peterborough club won the Gildersleeve Cup for Central Ontario. Players at that time were John Hackett, W. Sanderson, W. Rudkins, J. Corkery, J. Joyal, C. Lebrun, and M. Halpin.

Since then field lacrosse has been played in nearly every clear, flat local ground. Nicholls Oval, Ashburnham Cricket Place are two favorites for the players.

In the early thirties lacrosse was introduced to the fans, box style. In Peterborough the box lacrosse made a big hit. In every bracket in which a team was entered a championship was won. Many battles were fought at the old Auburn grounds and at the old lacrosse box on Townsend Street.

In 1939 Hitler waved his dark cloak of war over the world and sports. For the next seven years all sports ebbed low and lacrosse died out completely in Peterborough. The old lacrosse box on Townsend was torn down. Things looked pretty bleak for the returning players of the game.

That man is by no means poor, who has the use of everything he wants. If it is well with your belly, your back, and your feet, regal wealth can add nothing greater.

—Horace: Epistle to Iccius.

Having no place to play their games some veterans in 1946 revived lacrosse by playing in the indoor rink at Omemee. The players had to pay their own way back and forth to games. The attendance at the games was poor. But with some added younger blood who had played in a small juvenile league the year before, the team managed to make third place in the group standing. The Fergus Thistles were defeated only once that year and that was by Peterborough. The Thistles went on to take the Ontario Senior B championship.

In 1947 the players decided to form a lacrosse club with an ambitious scope at meetings held in the YMCA, the decision being made to build a new lacrosse box on the Townsend Street site. Five veterans, Ken Kingston, Doug Miller, Sr., Harry Tudhope, Peter King, and Vert Reynolds—with the help of private loans—financed the box. In seven rainy weeks the box was built. In the first week of June, St. Catharines, the Mann Cup winners in 1946, played the Petes in an exhibition game. Then the box was officially named the Miller Bowl, after Doug Miller, a lacrosse enthusiast and supporter of many years' standing.

The largest crowds ever to see a sport in Peterborough gathered at Miller Bowl to cheer their team on. The Breakspeare brothers and Aussie Tott were brought in to bolster the team. Red Creighton was coach. They won their group championship; defeated Orillia in a sizzling semi-final and won the Senior B championship in a seventh game from the Fergus Thistles in Peterborough before 4,500 fans. The crowd as well as the players paraded up and down George Street celebrating. A fire truck with siren screaming and the Citizens' Band booming added to the excitement.

At end of the season the players ran a school for minors for three Saturdays. Here the future players were taught the fundamentals of being a forward, defenceman and goalie.

With a strong Senior B team in 1948 for no opposition the team was able to give more attention to the minors in the club. Over 500 boys were in the Minor Lacrosse League with teams in three city loops, bantam, midget and juvenile. All teams entered in the playdowns made a good showing for the first year. Jack Foote, a university student and star lacrosse player, was hired to teach the youngsters. He also played for the senior team. He starred in both capacities, being a favorite with the boys on the minor teams and with the fans.

Windsor challenged the Peterborough squad, who won the Senior B championship for the second time, to play for the Levack Trophy. They proved to be easy marks for the champions. Windsor represented the Canadian-American League.

This year the senior club enters its third year of its "five-year Senior B play. This year and next they hope to make the playoffs in their Senior A grouping, and have hopes of taking as the Peterborough club prize in 1951 the Mann Cup.

Peterborough scouts are now out hunting for topnotch young players to strengthen last year's club. Additions to the Bowl are a gondola, seating accommodation at the south-end, and the players' benches will be on the same side, with the penalty box opposite side of the Bowl.

League games are expected to start in the middle of May. The cheers of excited fans will again be heard urging their favorites to dent the twine for Peterborough. Realizing their group setup this year will be more difficult, the senior team began their practices last week, preparing themselves for battles with St. Catharines and Owen Sound.

Leafs Trounce Jersey City In 8-3 Triumph

By the Associated Press.

Ed Sanicki, 24-year-old sophomore outfielder of Toronto Maple Leafs, is giving International League pitchers plenty of sleepless nights.

Whacking along at .364 pace, he has slammed out 12 hits in 33 trips with half of his blows home runs.

Sanicki, who led the loop in runs batted in with 107 last year although hitting only .236, is hitting in the style that made him a terror in the Inter-State League in 1946-1947.

The Toronto mauler hit .307 socked 30 homers and drove in 144 runs for Wilmington in 1946. The following season he hit .320, hit 37 homers and drove in 109 tallies.

Although he led the league in runs batted in last year and slugged 21 homers, his showing was a disappointment. There is little doubt that he will advance to the parent Philadelphia Phillies next spring if he continues anywhere near his present pace.

Gets Sixth Homer

Sanicki banged his sixth homer this season on Friday night as the Leafs trounced Jersey City Giants 9-3. Dick Welker, however, was the big gun in the Toronto attack. Welker belted a triple and a pair of singles and drove home three runs.

The Leafs clinched the game with a seven-run drive in the third inning to allow veteran Ed Wright to breeze to his second victory of the year.

Syracuse Chiefs edged Montreal Royals 1-0 to tie the Royals for first place. Lefty Alboresh blanked the Royals on five hits while Omar Lown yielded only three.

Newark Bears edged Rochester Red Wings 4-3, with Ted Stepowski supplying the punch with two home runs. Rookie Steve Bilko hit a homer for Rochester, one of seven hits given up by Earl Toolson.

Buffalo Bisons ended a five-game winning streak for Baltimore Orioles by taking a wild 10-7 decision from the Orioles.

New Comedy Makes Hit On Broadway

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, April 30 (CP)—The high standard set by British actors on the Broadway stage this season is recognized in the Antoinette Perry awards announced this week.

Award of "Tonys" for distinguished acting to Rex Harrison, star of "Anne of the Thousand Days," and Martita Hunt, star of "The Madwoman of Chaillcot," was a notable honor for stage performers from across the Atlantic.

Coupled with the award of an "Oscar" to Sir Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" as the best motion picture of 1948 and to Sir Laurence himself for the year's best acting performance in the same film, these selections shouud put producers and actors in the United States on their mettle.

An innocuous comedy, "The Happiest Years," hit Broadway this week and manages to bring enough laughs to make it almost worth seeing.

It is the story of a young veteran and his wife living with her parents in a small college town. The main plot—that it is not easy to get long with people—is trivially handled but the sub-sketches are bright and accurately-drawn caricatures that make for belly-laughs.

Peggy Wood is starred as a nagging mother-in-law. Thumbnail sketches worthy of note are created by Jessie Busley, Louisa Horton, June Walker and Loring Smith—all in parts that are stereotyped farce.

If the Lyceum theatre is air-conditioned this summer, "The Happiest Years" will make an entertaining evening—despite the fact New York's critics panned the effort. However, it would go much better in summer stock than on Broadway.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

All sorts of things come to the sports desk, most of them making work. Things looked brighter day before yesterday when a winsome blond blew up, but it seems she was looking for the social editor and couldn't linger for small talk. Friday saw a health almanac decorate the desk so we leafed through it briefly. It started off with a hefty heading: "Easily Tired?", which we had to admit, and came back with another: "Blood Poor, Could Not Sleep—Victim of Nerves Makes Life Miserable For Family." Those are harsh words and we deny the allegation. After all, poor blood should be fixed easily enough with a transfusion of rich red gore, and the family hasn't walked out on us yet. Though lengthy sports seasons are a strain.

* * * * * * *

There was an item of a young man of 19 who could not sleep and, without persuing it, we figured maybe the NHL had signed him to a "C" form. The ad for quick relief from tired, aching feet, we thought might interest many athletes, especially the veteran who surprises all by hitting a triple, or going around end for 18 yards. Not to mention the harriers. Ditto the one on relief for sore muscles, especially as tired flippers fling a heavy ball around so early in the season. "Do You Dread The Coming Of Night?" is a thought-provoking question asked in ye almanac, and we can only answer "Sometimes", depending on what fateful lines are penned in the assignment book.

Raining On May 24?

Sorry to say but it will rain on May 24, according to the book. It'll be showery and warmer on May 10 when the men's loop opens and lovely most of the next week. June generally will be nice but for the odd shower, and July 1 will be clear and real warm. Except for a showery third week, July will be clear and hot, and so will the first week of August, followed then by cooler weather with rain and high winds from time to time the rest of the month. Labor Day, tch, tch, heavy rains again. And so it goes. Don't blame us folks—that's what the monthly calendars in the book say. But weather prophets have been wrong before, haven't they?

Harry Baptie phones in to say there will be a practice of Westclox girl softballers at 6.30 Monday evening at Brinton Field. All prospects will be welcome, including of course last year's players. The Clockers usually come up with a strong squad, and they were provincial intermediate winners several years ago. This is the first girls' practice we've heard of so far this season, but no doubt Marines, Electrics, Ashby's, Lock Co. and Woollens, as well as the Lindsay lasses, wil ibe hard at it as May meanders onto the summery scene.

Workouts Get Stiffer

Lacrossers drill in full equipment at two this aft in Miller Bowl. They'll go nightly there next week at six and Coach Red Creighton says the workouts will get stiffer from here on in. Quite a few of the players have been out already and some are starting to swing into shape, but there's a heavy season of fast lacrosse ahead of them and no loafing will be tolerated, we're told. Jack Howse, one of the newcomers here, has been looking right smart so far and should be a big help to the Petes in senior "A" play. By the way, Shipwreck Kelly, oldtime Orillia ace, has been working in town and, while he won't likely be playing, he may coach one of the minor squads.

To Have Operation

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 30 (CP). — Marty Pavelich, National Hockey League star of the Detroit Red Wings, plans to have an operation Monday to remove the appendix which bothered him during the close of the NHL season. Pavelich said he will play baseball in Northern Ontario this summer to keep in condition.

Giant Sluggers Lead League Edge Boston Braves 10-9

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Leo Durocher, suspended manager of New York Giants, has one slight consolation—his sluggers are leading the National League.

The Giants seized undisputed possession of first place Friday night while Leo was flying home to confer with owner Horace Stoneham. The subject was Durocher's indefinite suspension Friday by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler following an altercation with a fan Thursday afternoon.

It was the same old story Friday night for the Giants, with acting manager Frankie Frisch now calling the signals—good hit, no pitch.

Two homers by Sid Gordon and one by Walker Cooper helped the Giants overcome shoddy pitching to beat Boston Braves 10-9 in 10 innings.

Clint Hartung, winner of his first two starts, was clubbed from the hill in a five-run first inning after Gordon's two-run homer gave the Giants a shortlived lead.

Nels Potter was the loser. Frisch paraded five pitchers to the hill, Sheldon Jones finally getting credit by pitching two scoreless innings.

In Second Place

Cincinnati's surprising Reds climber into second place by nipping Pittsburgh 7-3 on a late rally. Bill Werle, up from the Pacific Coast League, lost his first starting job to Howie Fox who pitched a six-hitter.

Ken Neintzelman, Philadelphia Phillies' most consistent pitcher, notched victory No. 3 at the expense of Brooklyn Dodgers 5-2, despite two homers by Roy Camhomered for the Phils.

Forst (Smoky) Burgess, rookie catcher from the Southern Association, gave Chicago Cubs a 5-4 edge over St. Louis Cards with a 12th-inning pinch single. The bases were full and there was nobody out when Burgess touched Gerry Staley for the winning blow.

Smashes Jinx

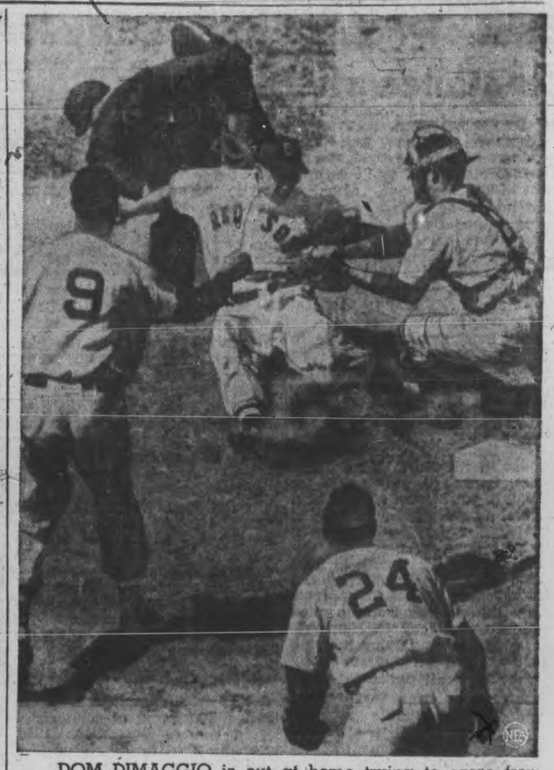
In the American League, Vic Raschi smashed a persistent Boston jinx by beating the Red Sox for the first time in his career 7-1. The New York Yankees' right-hander lost three to Boston last year. Bases on balls ruined Boston's Jack Kramer, making his first appearance of the year.

Southpaw Lou Brissie chalked up his third straight victory as Philadelphia Athletics downed Washington 6-5, to end a four-game losing streak.

The A's rallied with two in the last of the ninth to top reliefer Forrest Thompson after Washington took a one-run lead in the first half of the inning. Eddie Joost, who started the winning rally with a double, led the attack.

Gene Bearden, hero of Cleveland's pennant and world-series triumph last fall, defeated Detroit for the second time 4-1, on a three-run ninth inning. He duelled with Freddie Hutchinson for eight innings before the Indians broke it up. Dale Mitchell's triple off reliefer Marlin Stuart, his fourth hit, scored Bearden with the final run.

Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns were not scheduled.



DOM DIMAGGIO is out at home trying to score from first on Johnny Pesky's single to Taft Wright in game with A's at Fenway Park. Catcher Joe Astroth applies the tag as Umpire Art Passarella starts his fall after being bumped by the Red Sox' center fielder. Next batter, Ted Williams, 9, offers encouragement while Philadelphia pitcher Carl Scheib backs up the throw. Boston won, 10-6.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Rouyn lashes and Port Colborne Merchants will open their Eastern Canada Intermediate Hockey finals at Fort Erie next Monday and Tuesday. Third game in the best-of-three series, if necessary will be played here Thursday.

Merchants eliminated Gananoque Legionnaires in Toronto on Thursday to take the Ontario Hockey Association title while Rouyn downed Thurso Lumber Kings to win the Quebec and District Maritime Intermediate title.

The east-west final of the Canadian Amateur Junior Basketball championships likely will be played after all. At Vancouver Friday, Ebbie Bowering, president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, labelled a report that Toronto YMCA had announced their willingness to play Winnipeg Light Infantry for the title as "the best news I have ever had."

Charles Goldstein, former city magistrate, said Friday at Brooklyn he would go to Cincinnati with a committee of 25 persons to ask basketball commissioner A. B. Chandler that Leo Durocher's indefinite suspension be made for life. Goldstein, now president of the voluntary public defender committee of King's County, Incorporated, said the committee felt that Durocher's return to the sport would "impair its dignity and damage its reputation."

The official paid attendance at Friday's Yankee Stadium game between the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox was 24,069. The official paid attendance at Thursday's game at the Polo Grounds between the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers was —honest—24,069.

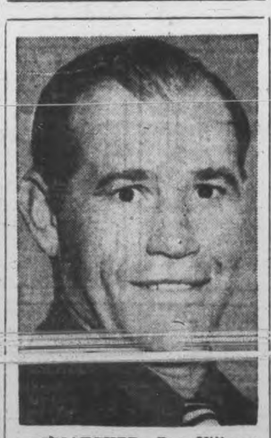
At Geneva, N. Y., signing of Maurice Peatros, 21, Pittsburgh, Pa., Negro first baseman and pitcher, was announced Friday by Tom Ravashiere, business manager of the Geneva Robins of the Class C Border League.

At Glasgow, East Fife Friday trounced Hearts 5-1 in a Scottish Football League, Division A, match originally scheduled for March 26. The postponement was slated to be played Saturday afternoon but was advanced one day.

Coaltown, the colt nobody wanted to tangle with at Havre de Grace last week, is going to get some travelling companions today in the $50,000-added Gallant Fox handicap at New York's Jamaica track. Seven horses are entered along with Coaltown, unbeaten to date this season, for the 1 3-16 mile event. Last Saturday everything scratched out of the Edward Burke Handicap at Havre and Coaltown merely walked over the track to pick up first money.

At Prague, Czechoslovakia's Davis Cup Team, winner of the European zone championships the last two years, swept to a 2-0 lead over Monaco Friday as 1950 competition for the international tennis trophy got under way.

Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, the Czechs star singles players, won without loss of a set. Drobny defeated Borgnes Pasquier 6-0, 6-1, 6-0. Cernik polished off Alexander Noghues, Monaco's No. 1 player, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.



REMATCHED—Ray Villmer, pictured above, who gained a rematch with Lou Reynheer, the unmasked Marvel, at the Brock Arena next Wednesday. Villmer was so burned up over Bert Maxwell's decision Wednesday night, that he demanded another chance with the Marvel. It was with great reluctance that Manager Jim Laidlaw finally gave in and rematched Villmer and Reynheer. Laidlaw had Atkins all signed up to meet the winner of this week's main bout, and he had to do a lot of talking to pacify Atkins. One of the conditions of next Wednesday's match is a new referee. The remainder of the card will be announced Monday.

6 Teams Open Season In Senior COBL Loop

BELLEVILLE, April 30 (CP)—Six teams are expected to open the season in the senior loop of the Central Ontario Baseball League next month. The present four teams have indicated they will accept the entries of Brockville and Smiths Falls.

League will probably operate in two sections, with Brockville, Smiths Falls, and Kingston in the East and Batawa, Peterborough and Oshawa in the West. The league executive will meet in Belleville on May 8.

Makes Last Trip

KINGSTON, April 30 (CP) — The Rapids King, passenger steamer famed for its trips through the Long Sault Rapids on the St. Lawrence River, is making its last trip. It is being towed from Sorel, Que., to shipyards here where it will be broken into scrap.

On Suspension Durocher Quiet

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP).—"The Lip" was silent to-day as he began the first full day of his second suspension from baseball in three years.

Leo Durocher, pugnacious manager of New York Giants, was under orders from his boss, Horace Stoneham, to keep still.

He will get his chance to talk next Tuesday when he appears before Commissioner A. B. Chandler in Cincinnati.

Chandler suspended him Friday following a brief fracas on Thursday with a Brooklyn fan at New York's Polo Grounds.

The fan, 22-year-old Fred Boysen of Brooklyn, accused Durocher of punching and kicking him after a 15-2 rout of the Giants by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Durocher denied he hit anybody. He said somebody tried to grab his cap and he grabbed it back.

Boysen's charges, said Leo, are ridiculous.

Urges Steps To Keep Markets

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — W. R. Aylesworth (PC-Frontenac-Addington) said in the Commons Friday that the government should take steps to preserve export markets. Exports to Europe were at a higher level because of ECA spending, but this would end in a few years. Also, the United States might develop surpluses of such products as wheat and bacon and stop its "off-shore" purchases of these items under the plan.

Mr. Aylesworth said Canada has lost substantial ground in farm markets in the United Kingdom. There was danger to farmers and to the general economy in dependence on the US for markets.

Steps should be taken also, to increase markets within Canada for farm products. This could be done by increasing the take-home pay of urban dwellers through lower taxation. Particularly, indirect taxes should be lowered.

Mr. Aylesworth said this could be made possible by lowering the costs of government.

Airman Honored

WASHINGTON, April 30 (CP) —Group Capt. Leonard J. Birchall of St. Catharines Friday was honored officially as the airman who tipped off allied commanders to a Japanese attack on Ceylon in 1942. The 33-year-old airman, now assistant air attache at the Canadian Embassy here, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in an investiture at the home of Ambassador Hume Wrong. He also was made an officer of the Order of the British Empire for his efforts on behalf of his men during 3½ years as a prisoner-of-war.

Charges Government 'Smothering' Haliburton Uranium Development

OTTAWA, April 30 (Sepcial to the Examiner)—All eyes in the House of Commons turned on Clayton W. Hodgson, Progressive Conservative Member for Victoria Thursday night as he claimed the fabulous uranium reserves of Eldorado were petering out.

Only that morning a Toronto paper had stated that the Government owned mine was sending some 200 men into the Northwest Territories and Northern Saskatchewan in a renewed frantic hunt for the substance that is the basis for atomic energy, and the Victoria member wanted to know why the Federal Government still persisted in hiding the reports of some of the leading geologists on the continent who had investigated the Wilberforce area.

Five pointed questions were placed on the order paper in an effort by Mr. Hodgson to lift the lid on what the Mines Department knew of the uranium in his area.

Want the Report

"I asked to have a report by one of the top geologists of the Department of Mines and Resources tabled some three weeks ago. As yet, I have not seen it, nor have a heard of it being tabled. However, the Department can continue its silence as long as it likes because I have found one. I took it out of the mothballs. This is a report on uranium by the top geologist of the Department of Mines at Ottawa.

In 1947 the then Minister of Reconstruction sent up to that area a geologist and his mining engineers. The people in that area furnished these men with equipment, dynamite, tools, and workmen — everything they wanted. The people paid for that out of their own pocket and it amounted to over $800. Since that time they have been endeavoring to get a report of that investigation.

That commission was headed by Dr Fortier. If the report was favorable we should like to know it, and if it was bad we want to know that. We do not want our people to continue working and investing their money if there is nothing there.

We have had some of the top geologists of the North American continent in that area and they have told us the goods are there. The people have tried by every possible means to secure this report. When people put up that much money to assist the government they are entitled to a report, but so far they have not been able to get it.

These are questions that I should like to put on the order paper, but not to be answered in the same manner as the question I put on about the timber controller. It was not answered at all. If they were treated in the same manner as the tabling of this report, there would be no use putting them on the order paper. I should like, therefore, to ask the Minister of Mines and Resources or his parliamentary assistant to answer these questions. If he does not want to answer them now, he can send the answers to me. I am anxious to have them.

The Five Questions

Why, since 1930, when its commercial possibilities were confirmed in the findings of the senior geologist of the mines department, did the federal government fail to assist in developing the Wilberforce uranium deposits while at the same time paying excessively high mining and recovery costs at the Eldorado mine?

The government has spent over $60 million at Eldorado and it is a well-known fact that Eldorado is petering out. It is well-known that the government is engaged in a frantic search for more uranium in that area in order to justify the expenditure in that place. At the same time we are satisfied, not only by the government's report that has been hidden, but by other geologists from the United States, that there is a great ore body of uranium in the Wilberforce area.

Why, in the face of the Spence report, have both the federal government and the atomic energy control board refused to acknowledge the existence of the Wilberforce uranium resources?

Since examination and confirmation of the uranium resources of the Wilberforce area by agents of the atomic energy control board in 1947, headed by Dr. Fortier, why has the government flatly refused to make the results of their findings available to the private enterprise that put up the money to finance that operation?

Why was Dr. Lang of the atomic energy control board not allowed to put through his recommendation for the aid and development of the Wilberforce uranium properties by three or four of his top scientists of the atomic energy control board?

Will the government give terms of reference to the special select committee of the House of Commons already set or being set up to deal with questions relating to atomic energy in the Wilberforce area?

Stock Markets Irregular In Dull Sessions

By The Canadian Press.

Stock markets moved irregularly in dull sessions this week, broken slightly by movements in individual issues and groups.

Activity slowed to a crawl with the market generally fighting selling pressure. Mining issues slid downwards, highlighting Canadian exchanges but Wall Street was content to putter along.

A last-minute rally firmed New York slightly Monday and small demand pushed prices mildly higher Tuesday. Early firmness was wiped out in Wednesday's session and the downtrend continued into Thursday. The Associated Press 60-stock average closed unchanged at 62.9, a gain of .5 from last Friday.

Increased selling, especially in papers, shoved Toronto industrials into the lowest ground since the beginning of March. The group showed a loss of 1.75 on the Exchange's index.

Western oils were the only group to hold firm, gaining .20 over the week. Activity was centred in a few key issues that were interested in new developments in the western oil fields.

Metals Depressed

Further cuts in non-ferrous metal prices continued to depress the base metal market with a flurry of selling late yesterday, pushing the group to the lowest level in 12 months. A loss of 2.78 was marked up by the list.

The three-week advance in Golds was broken as producers declined steadily at an increasing pace to close yesterday at the price level of April 1 and down 2.36 from last Friday.

Volume for the five days was 3,204,000 shares, an average of 640,800 compared with a four-day average of 837,000 shares the previous week.

Papers held the limelight in Montreal, declining rapidly to lose 19.45 on the averages. Decreasing earnings as shown in many first-quarter reports and signs of easiness in the sulphite pulp market were depressing factors. Several stocks sold at lows for the year and selling pressure was strong.

Fly Eskimo Patients

CHURCHILL, Man., April 30—(CP)—An RCAF Dakota, with three ailing Eskimos and a nurse aboard, left for Winnipeg Friday night after a Norseman aircraft had brought the four here from Chesterfield Inlet, 400 miles north, earlier in the day. The Eskimos included a boy stretcher case and a woman, both suffering from poliomyelitis. The third, another woman, also was a walking case but nature of her sickness was not disclosed.

Bruised In Derailment

LUCKNOW, Ont., April 30 — (CP)—The three passengers on a Canadian National Railways train escaped with bruises Friday in a derailment three miles east of this Bruce county village. They were: 73-year-old Mrs. Beaton of Kincardine, and her two grandsons, Murchie and James who were returning home from Toronto. The three were thrown out of their seats when the train left the rails, tearing up 500 feet of tracks.

PC Senate Leader Predicts Election Right 12 Weeks Ahead

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTAWA, April 30—(CP)—It's been a big and pleasant week for John Thomas Haig. The 71-year-old Progressive Conservative Senate leader called the shot on the federal election date about 12 weeks before Prime Minister St. Laurent made it official.

It's an experience of some satisfaction for a man who has sat in the Manitoba Legislature and the Senate for three decades —and never once on the government side. He was named to the Upper Chamber shortly before the Bennett government went into extinction in 1935.

In a throne speech address Feb. 3, he quietly interjected the belief that Canada would go to the polls June 27, and let it go at that.

Senator Haig said he had thought it all out.

Back in January, he says, Mr. and Mrs. George Drew came out to Winnipeg and he watched them in action "and I said to myself, 'mister, if I was Prime Minister of this country I wouldn't have those two running around making an impression any longer than is absolutely necessary.' "

There was that reaction of the new leader of his party and also the feeling that business was slipping just enough to bring fear of a depression. So he figured there would be an early election.

When he came back to Ottawa in late January and got a look at the legislative program, he figured it would take until the 26th or 27th of April to complete.

Traditionally, July and August are bad election months and if the government wanted a June election they would pretty well have to dissolve the House right away and call it for the final eligible date, Monday, June 27, because it takes about 60 days between dissolution and polling.

That's the way he calculated and he outlined the same method to a reporter long before Mr. St. Laurent virtually confirmed the date this week.

Now, in the corridors, they're ribbing him a bit and they're all just a little envious. As for Senate Haig he just grins and if you ask him how the election will go he'll grin some more and say the equivalent of "not on your life; I'm resting on my laurels."

Trout Fishers Tog At $50 Bait To Boot

When today dawned over the crest of a country hill at the foot of which is a twisting trout stream, the novice trout fisherman could be seen decked out in new flashy fishing garments. For this new experience he has paid nearly $50, that is, if he was fully prepared to meet the ordeals of troutfishing.

This estimate of $50 requires the barest of good equipment. This equipment would include a trout fishing pole, creel, special trout line, a net, hip rubber boots. His clothes are not included in the estimate unless a dunking is had sometimes after slipping on the bottom of the stream.

This year a good trout split bamboo pole about eight feet long will cost the trout fisherman approximately $21. If the fishermen prefers a steel pole the price caries according to the type. Steel poles cost $5 and up. Creels, depending on the size desired, may be bought from $3.50 to $12 and still get among the best made. A fishing reel may be bought from $3 up.

For keeping the bait a small bait canteen will cost the novice a mere 45c. Flys, like the fishing poles, vary with the kind wished. Ordinary trout fly may be bought for three for 25c. But is a special type is wanted the cost will depend on the size, color and shape of the fly. Worms this year are the same price as last year, a cent apiece. Salmon eggs, the favorite bait of many a trout fisherman, sell for 35c a bottle, an estimated 100 eggs in each bottle.

An important part of the fisherman's equipment is his footwear. For the fisherman who stays near the shore small rubber boots can be bought cheaply. But for the real trout fisherman who wades the streams hip rubber boots will cost him $6. The special trout fisherman's boots can be bought for $9.

For head cover an old fedora passed down from generation to generation is suitable for holding trout flys.

Drew Criticizes Remains Same

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — Air-risk insurance for Trans-Canada Air Lines' Atlantic pilots has not been changed, the Commons was informed Friday by George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe.

Mr. McIlraith had been asked earlier by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, about a press report which Mr. Drew said concerned "cancellation of the insurance on the pilots of TCA flying on the transatlantic route."

Mr McIlraith said the only cancellation was that of non-occupational insurance instituted during the war because of war risks involving pilots who had stopovers in war theatres.

"There has been no change," he added, "in the air risk coverage which provides $20,000 for captains and $15,000 for first officers on Transatlantic runs."

Mr. McIlraith added the dropping of the insurance had had no effect on contract negotiations between TCA and its pilots, which were on "a most friendly basis."

Pilot Insurance Planes Used

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Friday in the Commons criticized the North Star aircraft being flown by Trans-Canada Air Lines and said talk of their engine failures was common on all airports in Canada.

Speaking on a supply motion, he said he had had experience with North Star engine failures five times since January and four members of his party had run into that type of trouble during the last week.

It was a serious problem for TCA pilots and they were concerned about what to do. Their concern was well known in the government departments affected.

He blames the failures on the fact the engines were constructed for military aircraft. They were built for high speeds and were considered expendable equipment. The problem could be solved by installing another type of engine.

Mr. Drew said his party had wanted to see the public accounts committee established so it could delve into the details of the contract between the government and Canadair Limited of Montreal. He alleged that the prototype of the North Star aircraft had cost $15,000,000 but that the government had disguised the amount spent.

God's Revelation To Hosea

REV. E. R. James

I DREW THEM WITH THE CORDS OF A MAN: WITH THE BANDS OF LOVE. Hos 11; 4.

What do you know about Hosea, one of the lesser propets? Will it amaze you to know that through him God revealed His greatest secret that God is Love. God speaks to Hosea in these thought provoking words: —"I drew them—(the people of Israel)—with the cords of a man; with the cords of love". Hosea is a small farmer, not an aristocrat like Isaiah. God loves the common people, which is a thought underlying in His sending prophets who are of the people.

The revelation came to Hosea through a horror in his family. Gomer, his wife, was untrue to him. Time and again he brought her back to his little farm. But it was too quiet for the pleasure loving woman. He probably met her at a threshing bee, was captivated and married her. To his third son he gave the name Loammi, which means "not my own".

The revelation came to him in the quiet times of probably watching and caring for his sheep; for God speaks to a man in trouble when it is still and quiet. God moved him to think about his own nation—Israel. He clearly saw that they were far from God though they attended His worship. They were full of greed and hatred. Hosea called them spiritual idolators, men and women who were spiritually unfaithful to Jehovah.

Hosea brought back Gomer time and again because he loved. God sent His prophets to His people to bring them back; if they will return. Hosea knew that in his own heart there was pain and grief at the conduct; but he brought her back because he loved her. Then slowly, gradually he realised that in the heart of Jehovah there was the same pain and grief. There sank down into Hosea's heart these words of meaning:—"I drew them with the cords of a man, with the cords of love". There came to the little farmer the soul shaking thought that like him Jehovah suffered. A still greater thought that like him faced failure. Gomer would not repent; Israel would not repent. Probably this is the hardest thought for a devout Jew to realize that there could be failure in God's attempts to bring men back to Him.

God is Love is the key note of this ancient book written seven hundred years before the birth of the Christ. "When Israel was a child I loved Him and from Egypt I called him to be My son". Hos 11; 10.

The opening chapter shocks us:—"Go, love a woman of whoredom". It is the opinion of ancient and modern commentators that these words are not to taken literally. Hosea looks back upon his love and sees that Gomer though pure when he married her was in heart impure and false. Many a man has made the same discovery in his marriage relations. Hosea loved Gomer otherwise he could not have stood the strain and horror.

GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD THAT HE GAVE HIS ONLY BEGOTTEN SON: THAT WHOSOEVER BELIEVETH IN HIM SHOULD NOT PERISH, BUT HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE.

Jesus—Master, Savior, King

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

During the last journey of Jesus to Jerusalem, through the region of Perea, "beyond Jordan," Jesus spoke with hitherto unaccustomed definiteness of the dangers that awaited Him, and of His sacrificial death. The disciples failed to understand His words, however, and apparently still looked toward His establishment of an earthly kingdom.

But now the time had come for His public commitment, and the fulfillment of His ministry. Previously Jesus had shown great reluctance to public full commitment. When the disciples, or at least Peter, hailed Him as the Messiah, His charge was that they should tell no man. When the multitudes thronged upon Him, seeming to force some fuller commitment, He retired to the mountain, or desert, or took refuge in a boat on Lake Galilee. The record is that "His hour had not yet come."

We cannot know what was the inner consciousness of Jesus, but now, with equal conviction, He knew that the hour had come. Instead of retiring, He moved where the multitudes were. He accepted their homage and plaudits, as they cast their garments in the way, and hailed Him with their "Hosannas." He, who had been Master and Teacher, now became Savior and King. "Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord."

The Messiahship of Jesus was now fully proclaimed, though His ministry was yet to find its fulfilment in His death and resurrection. One cannot read the record of that triumphal entry into Jerusalem without a sense of the amazing nature of that unstaged pageant, the holiest and most moving procession in all history.

But deep is the sense of the contrast between that holy event, with its serene King; of the religious enthusiasm of the people on the one hand, and the sad events of a few days later, as other, aroused to hatred and fear, sent Jesus to the Cross.

The significance of that last triumphal entry into Jerusalem was not all in that great, spontaneous religious pageant, in which Jesus publicly accepted the acknowledgment as Messiah and King. This public commitment had deeper and more serious meanings, more serious at least in terms of His personal danger.

It was not without reserve that Jesus attacked the evils and hypocrisies of His time, especially the hypocrisies of the professed religious authorities and leaders, who ought to have been the foremost defenders of righteousness.

In words that have never been surpassed in the intensity of their invective, He pronounced the woe and judgment of God against the professedly religious who devoured widows' houses, while they made a pretense of long prayers (Matthew 23). He launched out against the formalism of a religious profession that neglect judgment, and mercy and faith.

His attack was not on the forms of religion, "These things ought ye to have done," but upon the leaving undone of all that the forms professed: "Ye serpents, ye generations of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?"

Those who think that Jesus had no social mission and message might well consider the utterances of that last week. It is hypocrisy to profess allegiance to Him as King, unless we accept Him as Savior.

$20,000 Drive Started For New Church

St. George's Anglican Church on Braidwood Ave., will mark another milestone in its 40-year history Sunday when its campaign for $20,000 to commence building a new church will be officially opened. This is the first step in a far-seeing program which will finally give the south-end residents not only a new church, but a fine meeting place to fill a long-felt need.

Rev. E. C. Moore, genial rector of the church, will open the campaign at divine service at 11 a.m., and a crowded church is expected to hear the important announcement. Canvassers have already been briefed and will commence their canvass on Monday. The campaign will last for the next several weeks.

St. George's serves an important area of the city south of Lansdowne St., although it has a considerable number of members in other parts of the city, and is rapidly growing as new building takes place in that area. Its numbers, however, preclude a truly city wide canvass and it is the hope of the planning committee that all interested friends of the Church will come forward whether or not it has been possible to assign canvassers to them.

Started as Mission

The new church will be another link in a long chain of history commencing with the opening of St. John's Church nearly a century ago. From St. John's Church sprang All Saint's mission, and in later years, at the turn of the century, the St. George's decided to become a self-sustaining parish, leaving the mission field, and at the same time setting up its own mission of St. Alban's in the extreme south end of the city. The campaign for the new church is the latest is this historical series.

The present church is small and old fashioned, having been created out of an old home brought from the river bank at the Otonabee nearly 40 years ago. At that time there were very few houses in the area, and the mission slowly but surely grew as the city grew. The facilities available at the present church were necessarily limited and it is as much to give the church workers a worthy home for their

County Settles For $1,200 Road Spill Case

Non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario, Mr. Mr. Justice Wilson presiding, concluded by Friday as two more settlements were reached out of court.

John J. Shannon of Norwood and R. Vaughan of Trent River were awarded $1,700 for damage to a car and injuries received as a result of an accident involving a road grader operated by the County of Peterborough. The accident occured on the Boundary Rd. on the evening of September 7 as Shannon and two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan, were going west from Norwood to Warsaw.

Shannon claimed that the road had been torn up on either side of the grader which occupied the centre of the road. When he came over a hill at an estimated speed of 30-35 m.p.h. he had the alternative of colliding with the grader or driving into the torn up sections of the road, he stated.

The plaintiff testified he chose the latter course and when he drove on to the torn up section his right wheel hit a large rock and the car was overturned. Both he and Vaughan, co-plaintiff, were injured.

Mr. Justice Wilson heard Shannon's testimony and without waiting for cross-examination he counselled a settlement.

The settlement was for $1,200 and costs, the principal to be divided between the plaintiffs as they saw fit.

F. D. Kerr, KC, assisted by Walter Howell, represented the County, and W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, appeared for the plaintiffs.

No evidence was heard in court on the action brought against the Township of Faraday School Area Board as the result of John McKenzie, 14, of Faraday losing an eye while playing at school. It was dismissed without costs.

The boy was playing at noon hour at the Faraday public school when the accident occurred. It was alleged that the teacher was not supervising play of the children at the time.

It is understood that the Township paid the boy's out-of-pocket expenses and a portion of the legal costs.

NEW ALDERVILLE INDIAN SCHOOL was opened, unofficially, on Monday, a combination school and teacher's residence. One of the finest of its kind, it cost the Federal Government around $20,000. The class of 27 pupils is shown in the top photo and the exterior of the building, Centre. For 12 years teacher in the community and native son of Alderville, John Loukes and his wife are seen in the cosy living room of the staff quarters attached to the school building.

Board Fence 8 Feet High Around Wreckers

If anybody gets permission to carry on a car wrecking yard or scrap heap, one of the conditions on which it will be granted is the erection of an enclosing eight-foot high board fence.

Police Commission has its salvage yard bylaw almost ready for signing and sealing. It includes the auto-wreckers. Another clause sets back the tin heap at least 200 feet from its nearest highway.

This bylaw, it is understood, is being aimed at one Thomas Hughes, and any others who have scrap heap designs on the tidiness of the city.

Residents of Monaghan Road south recently complained to the council that after they had invested money in new houses of the Arndon and McKellar subdivisions, Mr. Hughes was permitted to begin his collection of old cars at their front doors. The city itself has constructed new streets, roads, sidewalks, and has greatly contributed to the residential development of that part of the city. Petitioners to the council complain that the Hughes place is an unsightly and depreciating blemish on that neighborhood, and that he ought to be ordered to find land for his wrecking business somewhere remote from new homes and domestic investments.

The council called on Chief Thompson for some action against the Hughes industry, and it was reported the Hughes claimed to have an operating right under a provincial license. That does not satisfy the council and the ratepayers. They requested the Police Commission to fix up a regulating and control bylaw.

Referring to the council and not to the Police Commission, Chief Constable John Thompson recently commented: 'if they put some teeth in it we'll do the rest."

In the meantime, the new south end ratepayers are wondering what length of time the council requires to come to grips with the Hughes collection.

JUDGES ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

His Honor, Judge Sheldon L. Smoke of Peterborough was elected one of the executive members of Judges Association on Friday. Judge J. H. McDonald, Sault Ste. Marie, was elected new president, succeeding Judge Ian Macdonnel of Toronto.

Army Week Plans Include Visit Of RCR Band

Plans for the presentation of Army Week, May 15-22, in Peterborough have now been released and expectations here are that the series of shows and demonstrations will outclass last year's effort, when several thousands attended numerous exhibits of training, and more than 40 joined the local reserve force regiment.

The 50th HAA Regiment RCA, with it associated 37th HAA workshop RCEME recently formed, are in charge of arrangements and have lined up a series of attractions for citizens of Peterborough.

On the opening night, when it is expected the Mayor will take part along with many outstanding citizens, the city will have the pleasure of hearing one of the top military bands of Canada in the presentation here of the RCR Band of 27 pieces.

On Tuesday evening, the demonstration will be given under the eye of Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, Commander, Eastern Ontario Area, and it is expected that he will be accompanied by various members of his staff.

Travelling Army Circus

On Wednesday evening, Peterborough will be receiving the Army's travelling circus at which exhibitions in detail will be given of various interesting army operations, including actual demonstration of how the Canadian Army units were supplied during the war, down to the last detail; the army's fast-digging telephone-signal post hole digger and line layer; the special army driving test convoy, which will put citizens of the city through a 'thorough drivers' test; arc-welding equipment with actual operations on the spot; demonstrations of the latest high-speed anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank guns, special command and maintenance lorries, with personnel to explain their uses. A special moving picture show will be held in conjunction with the convoy, and displays of all equipment will be shown.

The 50th Regiment will have special demonstrations of firing technique against night-raiding aircraft from Trenton and will have a complete command post set up in the Armoury field, even more complete than last year's effort.

Arrangements have been made for special broadcasts and information booths, while inside the Armoury will be demonstration booths of all the equipment which the Peterborough Reserve Force unit has available for training, including radar, motor transport, technical maintenance, technical stores.

One of the features of the convoy inside the Armoury, will be the setting up of a complete field kitchen and refreshment room for the convoy operators, which will be open to the public, as well as displays of the present rations a soldier receives while in the army, under army conditions. The public will be invited to watch the actual conversion of rations to the cooked product, and will be invited, as well, to sample the products of the army kitchen.

The regiment and its workshop are now preparing for their own demonstrations and for Summer Camp in late June, at which many of the workers of the city, now members of the Unit, are expected to attend for actual firing of their long-nosed 3.7 HAA guns against aircraft targets. Those recruits who join the regiment during this special Army Week period will be able to go to the summer camp at Picton.

HARLEY KEEFER, the new president of the Rotary Club. He succeeds William J. Hamilton. Other members of the 1949-50 executive are Ernest Braund, vice-president; Peter LaBranche, secretary; John McColl, treasurer; and Sid Black, sergeant-at-arms. The directors are Herbert Bradburn, Clare Collins, Jack Dewart, Charles Pilon and Hugh Waddell.

6,000 X-Rayed In First Week

Six thousand industrial workers in Peterborough have had chest X-ray this week, the first of a six weeks survey of the city's residents. First week's schedule was for nine industrial plants to be visited by the mobile unit, but many smaller places of employment have also been included in the program.

By the end of next week the unit will have visited all major industrial plants and will be ready to start a month's tour of selected centres where all members of the public are invited to be X-rayed free of charge.

A unit technician told the Examiner Friday that there has been a 95 per cent coverage of employees at the factories they have visited. X-rays have been taken at the rate of at least 800 an hour which is considered highly satisfactory progress.

CADETS PARADE

Peterborough Cadet regiment held their first dress parade of the spring training Friday afternoon from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m. The cadets led by Cadet Col. George Coros and Cadet Major Donald Armstrong went down Aylmer St. to Brock, across to Hunter St., up Murray St., then across the parade grounds before the school. About 50 per cent of the cadets had their uniforms. They have only one week's practice under their feet. The bugle band, who have been practising all year made a smart showing. The trumpeters have a snappy method of raising their new trumpets before and lowering them after a selection.

Student Band Of The PCVS Given Acclaim

By HARRY THEOBALD.

Peterborough Board of Education is entitled to a bow of congratulation on the sparkling success of the second annual concert of the band of the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School Friday night. It is hardly two years ago since the Board of that time decided upon a venture into the field of student music, engaging Mr. Albert Croasdale as instructor and director.

The first dividend on that investment was the concert of a year ago, but in September last year fourteen of the original group, nearly half the band's strength, did not return to school. With the new term, Mr. Croasdale enlisted new musical recruits, and the second dividend from the boys and girls was their fine program Friday night.

The Board of Education received another handsome dividend in this band's selections from their repertory, and especially in the beauty of expression of the lovely, haunting theme of that standard concert piece "Finlandia" by Sibelius, still living in honored old age in his native land.

The impressive quality of tone was in the deep and rich sentiment, almost hymnal in its emotion, which the thirty-five boys and girls of this year's PCVS band evoked. They played with refreshing assurance, no doubt the reward of painstaking rehearsals, closely knit harmony and balance of instruments, and unmistakably with a sense and appreciation of the theme that erased in hearing any awareness of the comparatively brief time the youngsters have been together. The feeling for music is the essence of appreciation, and to the members of the band it is something that will likely reward them all their days as their musical experience expands.

Test Piece

Finlandia might have been regarded as the test piece of the evening's recital, and in it the students demonstrated not only their own enthusiasm for this special option and opportunity at PCVS, but also the extent of instrumental progress that can be achieved in a comparatively short time under the experienced and devoted teaching and leadership of Mr. Croasdale.

The students themselves may take most of the credit for the enjoyable entertainment they provided for the appreciative audience of more than 500 who attended the concert. Their playing was precisely and neatly responsive to the Croasdale baton. That clean cut quality was only one of the obvious acquisitions of the

Indian Children Move Into New School At Alderville

ROSENEATH, April 29—(ENS).—The happiest person this week in Alderville is schoolmaster John D. Loukes, who moved on Monday with his 27 Indian pupils from a drafty inadequate Mission building to a new combined schoolhouse and teacher's living quarters. Mr. Lukes has taught in Alderville for 12 years and is himself a native son. He has also worked under the most trying conditions. His original school burned down on Jan. 21, 1946, and he has had to struggle along in the tumbledown Mission building ever since.

The new school, a one-storey structure, with a large basement for manual training, is modern in every respect. It is the most up-to-date school of its kind, with good heating facilities, plumbing and connected to the Hydro. On the south side of the school is a three-room apartment, furnished, as the teacher's residence.

Official Opening Later

The official opening of the school will not take place until the end of May.

The building, valued under $20,000, was financed by the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa, under the supervision of the Indian agent, V. M. Eastwood of Peterborough. Flex McMillan, contractor, was in charge of the cement work and carpentering. Walter Down, Jr., of Roseneath, had the contract for the painting.

Honeymooners Hurt In Crash

Honeymoon plans for Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hurd, 338 Rideau St., married Friday in Ottawa, were upset when the car in which they were travelling to Detroit did a double somersault on Highway 7 four miles east of Havelock at 5.40 p.m. Mr. Hurd lost control as he was taking a curve in the road and the car turned over twice and came to rest on its wheels.

The bride suffered broken ribs and the bridegroom was badly shaken up. The couple were given shelter for the night in Havelock and proceeded to Peterborough for X-ray treatment today.

British Bosses Urged to Take Workers Over 40

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, April 30 (CP)—The the first time since the pre-war depression, a familiar cry is being heard in Britain: "Too old at 40."

It is voiced by thousands of experienced men who in letters to newspapers and magazines and appeals to their members of parliament complain that being over 40 bars them from suitable employment.

Said one, a war veteran: "I am 46. I don't look it or feel it, yet for the first time in my life I have started lying about my age."

This man said he has had 29 years' experience as a business manager, production accountant, company secretary and chief executive. He writes 15 or 20 letters of application every week. Long out of work, he has had to mortgage his savings and insurance policies.

The cause of the over-40s is championed by the ministry of labor, whose latest returns show that 155,598 men and women aged 41 and over now are drawing unemployment benefit.

"The greatest crime for an unemployed man today is to be over 40," said Brig. C. C. Russell of the Ex-Officers' Employment Association, supporting an appeal by the London Chamber of Commerce for firms to give the over-40s a chance.

He added that of 2,000 men on the books of the association more than 1,000 are over 40.

A de V. Leigh, secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce, told the Canadian Press: "Many of the jobless are men of proved administrative ability who, once they got into a firm, would prove the worth of their age and experience."

Employers give these reasons for the plight of middle-aged workers:

1. There has been a big reorganization in industry.

2. Younger men returning from the services are given preference.

3. Employers cannot fit the over-40s into pension and superannuation schemes.

"Another adverse factor is the rapid rise in the average age of the nation," a ministry of labor official said. "In 1946 it was found that 43 of every 100 people in Britain were over 40. By 1951 there will be 46—a three-per-cent increase in five years.

The Evening Standard in an editorial urged the government to make "a scientific survey of the whole problem."

Tern Threatened With Extinction If Not Secluded

NEW YORK, April 30 (CP).—The tern, a likable little bird, is dying out along the Atlantic seaboard.

The reason: Too many people. They tramp all over the islands where the tern likes to live. And if there's one thing the tern likes, it is a nice quiet home-life.

Pretty soon, unless something is done about it the tern will be as extinct as the dodo. That's why the American Museum of Natural History is trying to get its hands on 17-acre Great Gull Island, in Long Island Sound.

Dr. Richard H. Pough, the museum's curator of conservation, says the idea would be to make the island an exclusive happy breeding ground. Abandoned gun emplacements of the old army fort there would be a vantage point to study the tern's habits.

"Terns must nest on bare ground and in a place protected from foxes, skunks, dogs and men," says Dr. Pough. "Above all, they must not be disturbed.

"The tern is dying out because its home-life has been disturbed. Picnic crowds scare them from their eggs and hot summer sun kills the embryos."

If the museum has its way, a man will be stationed on Great Gull Island to wave picnic parties off. Even official visitors will be shushed.

Tern-watching is a fascinating job, says Dr. Pough. They are pretty birds which look something like small gulls, but they are more discriminating in what they eat, and much more attentive to personal tidiness. And what about sex?

Well, says Dr. Pough, a tern can't tell just by looking, any more than you or I can.

They just watch each other closely until one or the other reveals male or female characteristics. If a tern acts like a female, they seem to accept that verdict. A male tern pecks another tern. If he gets pecked back, he figures he has pecked a male.

But once that confusion has been cleared up, the tern family gets on beautifully.

CGIT Doings

St. Paul's

Worship period was centred on the theme "We Receive, We Serve" at the regular meeting of St. Paul's CGIT this week, when Mary Irwin read scripture and Christine Monk led in prayer.

It was announced there would be an inspection of uniforms next week.

The following girls were chosen to receive the offering at the Synodical meeting being held Tuesday evening, Josephine McMeekin, Mary Irwin, Christine Monk, Helen Ward, Marion Jones, Norma Ball, Grace Hudson and Jean Smith.

Trinity

Intermediates met at six o'clock and enjoyed a box lunch supper. Barbara Shier was appointed to represent the group at the meeting of the Girls' Council.

Much interest was taken in a true or false quiz on the subject, "How much do I know about alcohol?" The girls divided into three groups, each group interviewing a member of the congregation. Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Miss Hanbidge and Mr. M. Elliott co-operated in this regard. Upon returning to the church the girls did an experiment with alcohol. They are bringing their findings to the next meeting.

Joan White presided for the business meeting of the Senior group this week. Dorothy Woodcock invited the girls to her home on May 23 for a sewing meeting. The Chinese Youth Hymn, "Unafraid," was practised in preparation for the reaffiliation service which is being held next week. JoAnne Watson was chosen to attend the meeting of the Girls' Council. The film strip, "Boy Dates Girl" aroused considerable discussion.

George Street

Shirley Pritchard, Joyce Copp, Shirley Head, Arleigh Brotherstone and Carol McKenzie took part in worship when they took the theme, "Christ Is Risen."

Jane Jarvis was in the chair for the business session when plans were made to have a baseball game. This was followed by a skit put on by Senior girls.

Discussions were held by senior and intermediate groups and seniors made plans for a mother and daughter evening to take place in May.

DOROTHY DIX

Formerly Attentive Husband Now Neglects Wife for Child

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband is a middle-aged man, 15 years older than I am. Up till now we have always been so close to each other and he has treated me as if I were his little girl rather than his wife, but now since the baby came—it is his first child — he gives all of his love and attention to it, and I am being left out in the cold.

Dorothy Dix

If I complain to my husband about being neglected, he goes into a rage and tells me that he adores me and to quit pitying myself, but I am starving for affection from him, for he hardly ever pets me or puts his arms around me.

What shall I do? Any help would be appreciated as I still love my husband very much.

NEGLECTED WIFE.

ANSWER: My advice to you is to follow your husband's admonition to quit pitying yourself. Grow up and act like a sensible woman instead of a spoiled child. Above all, try to realize what a ridiculous figure you make of yourself in being jealous of a baby.

For that is what is at the bottom of your gripe against your husband. Because you cannot monopolize him, you have worked yourself up into a fine frenzy about being wanted and having lost your husband's affections, and you are just as green-eyed over a little toothless, hairless, girl-baby as you would be over any husband-stealer.

Hard For Woman

Perhaps your husband does make too much fuss over the baby. Maybe it is hard for any woman to play second fiddle to her child. But surely there is no more touching sight than that of the joy of the middle-aged man, who has longed for children, when he holds his first-born in his arms.

No woman should begrudge her husband the happiness that he gets out of his children. Nor should she think that he loves and admires her less because he is so absorbed in his youngsters. In reality, they are the strongest tie that can bind two human beings together.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 and my friend is 17. and we are to be married in two months, but this is our problem: we are insanely jealous. There are lots of girls who work in the same places our boy friends do and we always accuse them of flirting with these girls. We check them up every night they are not with us and this always leads to a fight. We stay angry for about five or six days then make up and everything is fine for a few days, then it starts all over again.

Is there anything we can do to cure ourselves of our jealousy? Should we postpone our weddings until we learn to trust our boy friends more?

VERY JEALOUS.

ANSWER: Why jealous people get married is one of the profound mysteries of life, for they are bound to know that, no matter how much they love each other, they can have no peace and happiness. They will always be fighting and sore and bruised and maimed from the blows they have dealt each other.

So my earnest advice to you two girls, who are afflicted with the poisonous disease of jealousy, is to put off your marriages until you can cure yourselves of it. Certainly it is folly for you to marry men whom you believe to be heels, whom you trust so little that you check up on their every statement.

No marriage can be a success that isn't founded on faith and trust. So if you are suspicious of everything your boy friends do, call off the weddings.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man of 19 years and, because of difficulties in my home life, have gone to live with my chum and his parents who have always been very good to me. They have treated me like their own son, but it has become obvious that they have lost all interest in me. These people have never suggested that I leave, but I feel that I have no right to live with them under the present circumstances.

My chum and I still get along quite well, but there isn't the same interest as there used to be. Would you please advise me as to the correct thing to do?

HOMELESS.

ANSWER: The correct thing to do is to leave, and do it right away. There is nothing that we are more certain to do than to wear out our welcome if we don't make our visits short and long between.

We sympathize with our friends when they are in trouble and willingly hold out a helping hand for a reasonable length of time, but it doesn't take us long to lose our interest in deadbeats.

"OSCARS" AWARDED—Canada's first "Oscars" were presented to producers, directors and other technicians associated with the film industry in a special ceremony at Ottawa this week. Top film of the year was "The Loon's Necklace," which had its locale in British Columbia and was based on an Indian legend. For this F. R. Crawley of Ottawa, in left photo, was presented with his "Oscar" by Reconstruction Minister Winters. Robert Anderson, right photo, won his awards for the production and direction of two National Film Board pictures in the non-theatrical class, "Feeling of Hostility" and "Drug Addict" which were praised for their courage and honesty. The awards were Canadian paintings chosen by the winners.

Gala Ladies' Night Held By Sales and Ad Club

Fabulous! The only word for the Sales and Ad Club ladies' night. The party where a diamond ring, a radio phonograph, $23 bottle of Chanel No. 5, double theatre passes for a year, and gifts of such value are on a list of 40 door prizes. But that's not all. They had 25 spot dances and gave prizes.

All this went on Friday evening in the Empress Hotel where 165 couples were in on the year's biggest evening of fun. Between draws there was dancing to good music. When the bandsmen stopped for a rest, the guests went to work on high-piled plates of elaborately prepared food.

A superby floor show offered the first treat of wit and humor by Eric Christmas who recently arrived from London, England, and the comedian received a warm welcome. The puppets of Hal and Renee Marquette performed on a Punch and Judy stage. They had a clown juggling colored bals, did weird things with the bones of a dancing skeleton, allowed a mother duck to hatch an ugly duckling right there, and topped the show with a real night club "strip-sation'. Non-professionals Lynne and George Gorman, from Ottawa Ad and Sales Club, entertained with splendid imitations of songs by Mary Martin and Bing Crosby, and Mr. Gorman went through the actions of Danny Kaye singing several of his hit songs.

Even the invitations and admission tickets were unique—proclamations which exhorted Knights of Chivalry to bring their ladies out for frolic, festivity, fantasy and mirth. To many went "prizes of great price" but as they left the dance each couple got a gift and a bag of favors.

Russ Baer, chairman of the ladies' night committee, worked hard to make a much-anticipated event better than ever. He announced each prize and the donor's name, then called ladies from the crowd to make the draws and Bob Gamble handed out the gifts. All the coveted articles were on view except the ladies' slack suit and it received special attention when modeled by Miss Patricia Moyles.

Following are the lucky winners of door prizes:

Mrs. Ed Bickell, silver water pitcher; Mrs. Gil Putnam, garment vault; Mrs. Dave House, floral piece; Mrs. Fred Leslie, motor rug and 10 gallons gas; Mrs. John Miller, pen and pencil set; Mrs. Doug Hayes, aluminum grill; Mrs. Bill Jones, bottle of Chanel No. 5; Mrs. Errol Wilson, tickets to Barbara Ann Scott; Mrs. Doug Anderson, Seth Thomas boudoir clock; Mrs. Dick Ward, thermometer; Mrs. Cliff Vincent, double theatre passes for one year; Mrs. Ross Thompson, rug; Mrs. Homer Ouellette, one ton coal; Miss Shirley Pringle, slack suit; Mrs. Bill Cuppy, dressing gown; Mrs. Earle O'Toole, occasional chair; Mrs. J. Mrs. Eddie O'Brien, wrist watch; Mrs. George Lancaster, tickets to Barbara Ann Scott; Mrs. Austin Jonah, toilet set; Mrs. Nels Hills, Doulton figure; Mrs. Russell Morgan, cabinet of silverware; Mrs. Hugh Waddell, coffee maker.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Good Foundation For Home Important Factor

No matter how well built the superstructure of a house, it will soon show signs of depreciation if the foundation is defective, because any unequal strains in the foundation wall are eventually transferred to the framework or the walls of the house.

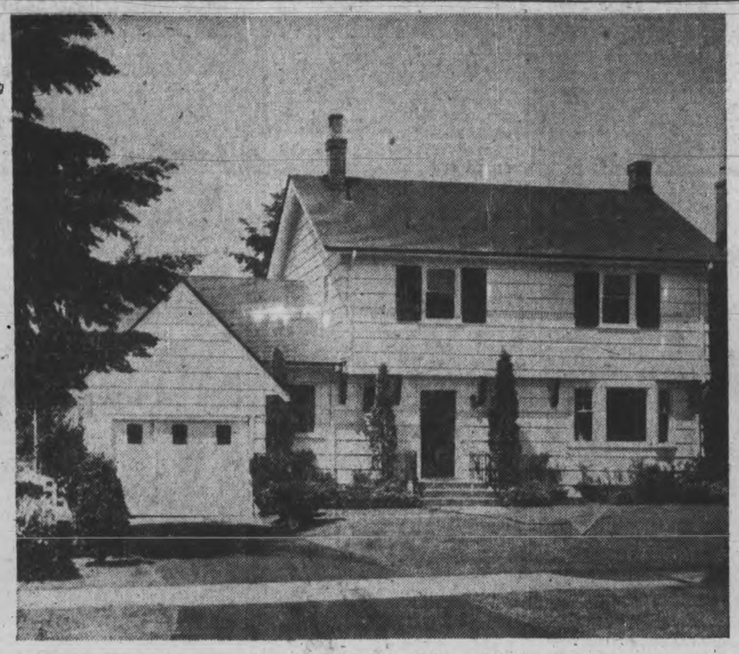
Cracks in the foundation walls may spread up through the house, damaging not only brickwork and stucco on the exterior, but also plaster, wallpaper, woodwork and tilework in the interior. Floors are thrown out of level and doors and windows stick in their frames.

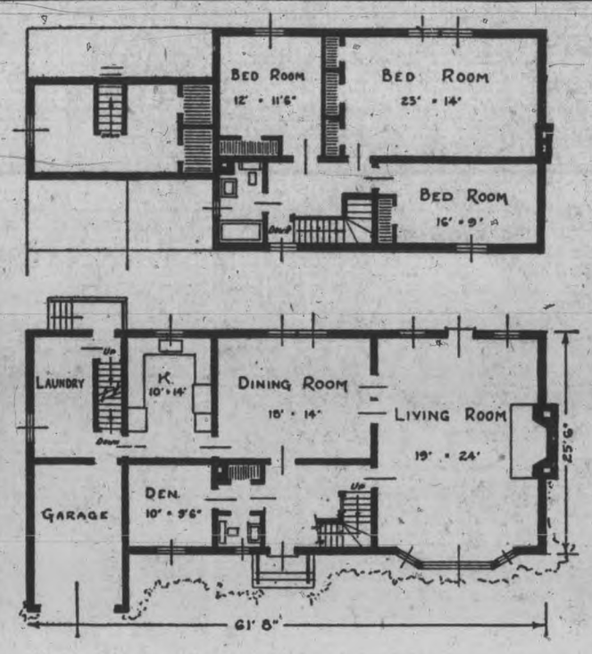
Of the various causes of damage to foundations, settlement is probably the most common. Numerous precautions are taken to prevent its occurrence. In the first place, the foundation must rest on firm soil which will not settle when the weight of the house is brought to bear on it. The foundation should not be laid on newly-filled ground, nor on soil which is softened and weakened by water.

In any case, the bottom of the foundation walls should be widened out on each side to form what is known as "footings". These support the house on soft soil very much as snowshoes support a person in soft snow. If a house must be built on a filled lot, the foundations must extend down to "virgin" or undistrubed soil if unequal settlings and its disastrous results are to be entirely avoided.

If water is encountered in the soil when excavating, means should be taken to prevent its entering the cellar, either through walls or floors. Usually a line of tile drains laid all around the house just outside the bottom of the foundation and running to a cesspool, sewer or dry well will keep the cellar free of water. If the soil is usually wet the foundation walls and the cellar floor must be made waterproof by one of the methods in vogue, the choice depending on the kind of foundation wall and the severity of the conditions.

Concrete can be made waterproof in most cases by the use of a correct mixture or by the addition of waterproofing substances. Brick, stone, hollow block wall and concrete can be made reasonably waterproof by the application of waterproof coatings to the outer and sometimes to the inner surfaces.





HOUSE NO. 54 — Without following closely any particular style, this house achieves a very pleasant home-like atmosphere. It will surprise many to learn that it is so large—there are eight rooms without counting the first-floor laundry room. Features that are sure to interest the owner-to-be are the cosy den, the first floor wash room, huge living room, master bedroom, and inside entrance to the garage. The room over the laundry and kitchen is actually used as a maid's room. However it might well serve as a playroom, or bedroom for the boys. Not shown in the plan is the kitchen "breakfast bar" situated along the wall toward the den. The full width of the master bedroom is taken up with the clothes cupboards, with sliding doors. As the owners pointed out, all principal rooms face the rear, to drink in the sunlight. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

It is estimated that 25,000,000 people visit zoos in the United States every year.

Find Drama Festivals Expensive Business

TORONTO, April 30 (CP) —It costs money to hold a Dominion Drama Festival here.

D. Park Jamieson of Sarnia, Ont., DDF chairman, Friday told a Board of Governors meeting that this year the festival started off with an estimated budget of $20,000.

"And we're afraid that it will be nearer $25,000," he said.

Box office receipts for the week are expected to total $12,500 and the festival has received some $10,000 in private donations.

"If expenses don't go over $20,000 we will break even," said Mr. Jamieson.

UE Delegates Meet For Quarterly Council

Delegates, are attending the Quarterly Council Meeting of District 5, UE-CIO with local 524 and 527 hosts. Delegates are here from Montreal and other places in Quebec, Brockville, Belleville, Kingston, Cobourg, St. Catharines, Welland and Toronto.

The two-day session beginning today will discuss key issues in the coming contract and wage negotiations this year.

But it will not be a case of all work and no play, for tonight there will be a dance in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel.

Crushed In Elevator

TORONTO, April 30 (CP) — George Buchnar, 11, was killed Friday when crushed between an elevator and a floor of a west-end Richmond street building. Police said that, unknown to the building's caretaker, the boy entered the elevator and decided to take it for a ride.

FAIRBROTHER—In loving memory of Mrs. John Fairbrother, who passed away, May 1st, 1943.
In the silence of the night God's message came.
—Ever remembered by the family.

JAMES—Mrs John James who died April 29th, 1931.
There is an open gate
At the end of the road,
Through each must go alone
And there is a light.
We cannot see.
Our father claims his own,
Beyond the gate.
Our love ones
Find happiness and rest
And there is comfort
In the thought
That a loving God knows best.
—Ever remembered by daughter Mrs. William Wilson.

OLIVER—In loving memory of David Oliver, who passed away eight years ago, May 1st, 1941.
God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he was laid.

POUTNEY—Suddenly at St. Joseph's Hospital, Toronto, Mr. E. J. Poutney, beloved husband of Mildren Frances Martin, formerly of Peterborough. Resting at his late residence, 123 McKay Avenue, Toronto. Funeral Monday, May 2, 1949, at 3 p.m. Interment Park Lawn Cemetery.

SPINKS—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Evelyn Spinks, who passed away May 2nd, 1943:
We do not forget her, as we loved her too dearly for her memories to fade from our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
But the path is growing shorter and time passing by,
Soon we will meet her up in heaven where there's never a sigh.
—Ever remembered by father, mother, sisters and brothers.

Student Band

band. In its full volume and sonority, the band has a fine clarity of sections, combining into tonal texture that was evidently the chief end sought by Mr. Croasdale.

In its softer or piano effects the band also gave reassuring evidence of instrumental ability as in the lightly played accompaniments of two vocal solos by Mr. S. T. Castle, the melodious 'Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "The Rosary." These were minor test pieces, and they were smoothly played accompaniments that deserves a special mention.

Delightful Melody

The band opened the program with 'O Canada" and the Croasdale march composition, "On the Square," followed by the selection from "Show Boat," familiarly tuneful, including "Make Believe" and "Old Man River." The concert in fact was delightful melody throughout. Alex Ingram was assisting clarinet soloist in the Clarinet Polka by Henry Davies. Other numbers were Ketelby's Persian Market; a pleasing diversion in humor in "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf" from Walt Disney's "The Three Little Pigs"; an arrangement of "The Lost Chord"; an item that toyed with part of the Peer Gynt suite of Grieg, arranged by F. L. Buchtel, and appropriately named "Peer Gynt's Nightmare" that was not quite up to the smooth level of the rest of the program; and two fine numbers, "Bless This House," and "I Pass by Your Window," with Mr. Cecil Gallagher as cornet soloist.

The band was assisted by Mr. Gallagher, Dick Crowe playing trumpet, G. Hutchinson tuba, and Hugh Davidson kettle drummer in the percussion set.

Guest artists

Rounding out the program were the numbers contributed by three young men of the Metropolitan Junior Band, Toronto, who were accompanied in a fast motor trip by Fred Boddington, a friend of Mr. Croasdale, arriving during the inermission.

Robert Smith, cornet soloist and gold medal winner at the 1948 CNE, played Waltz Fantastic by Harry Hartley, and Rubenstein's Melody in F. Mac MacDonald, scholarship winner, almost hidden by his big double-B tuba, played variations of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" and Samsonian Polka.

Ken Allen, who like Mr. MacDonald won two first prizes in the Toronto Kiwanis Festival, is a solo trombonist who has fine command of his instrument in tone and technique. He played a Hartley Polka and "Bless This House." The young visitors sustained the high quality of the concert.

A violin trio, Miss Ann Collins, Bob Bogue and Bob Hutchinson, contributed a delightful instrumental variety in the two durably popular pieces, "The Kerry Dance" and "In a Monastery Garden."

The members of Mr. Croasdale's 1949 band are:

Flutes— Helen Dummitt, Lois Holman.

Oboe—Ninita Bogue.

Clarinets—Jack Doleman, Don Curtis, Carol Raper, Roger Ingall, Harvey McFadyen, Bob Ross, Maxine Sine, Thelma Sanderson.

Saxophones—Bob Bogue, Jack Veenman, Joyce Beggs.

Trombones— Garry Robinson, Jim Galoska.

Percussion—Bill Nichols, David Bacon.

Trumpets—Ruth Poole, David Mitchell.

Cornets— Wilfred Jones, Eric McCue, Terry Graham, Joyce Beals, Margaret Bryant, Doreen Raddon.

French horns—Shirley Roberts, Bob Hutchinson, Ethel Roberts, Patsy Scharf.

Euphoniums — John DeNure, Craig Corner.

BB-flat Sousaphones — David Fanning, John Burns.

Bass Viol—Bill Frisken.

SARDINE NOT DWARF

The true sardine is not a dwarf fish, but the young of the pilchard, a species of herring.

Mo And Jo Come Out Of Winter Quarters

Motorists, if you should hear strange noises when you drive by Howard Berry's service station on the road to Port Hope, don't think you have suddenly been propelled into jungleland—it will just be "Mo" and "Jo" chattering away at you. And who are "Mo" and "Jo"? you ask. They are 4-year-old monkeys, no less, which Mr. Berry has on his property near the highway.

"Mo" and "Jo" have just come out of their winter's hibernation at the Filtration Plant in Peterborough, where they were so well cared for that they are now the "picture of health". Mr. Berry expressed his appreciation today to the keepers of the zoo at the Filtration Plant for looking after his charges so capably. He has just completed a new "house" for the monkeys inside their cage for their greater comfort, in which they have been placed.

The main diet of the monkeys is bananas, of which they are very fond, but they are vegetarians and grass eaters as well.

Request Protection

GENEVA, April 30 (AP)—The Vatican yesterday asked that warring countries pledge religious solace for civilians under the protection. At the diplomatic conference here on war conventions, Msgr. Paul Bartoli, Vatican delegate, offered an amendment to an article which would oblige belligerents to provide adequate medical care and hospital treatment for civilians.

Dit Clapper Addresses Father, Son Banquet

The annual father and son banquet sponsored by Knox Men's Club was held on Wednesday evening. Following a very fine meal served by the Women's Association, during which Miss Eleanor Taylor played piano selections, V. Grainer, president of the club, was toastmaster. John Donaldson led in community singing and musical numbers were given by Murray and Ann Mander on the mirimba and drum. Jack Flagler favored with two vocal numbers.

The toast to the church, proposed by Allan McIlwraith, was replied to by A. Pitchford. Billy Logan very ably proposed the toast to "Our Dads," to which W. R. Potter responded.

The guest speaker, Dit Clapper, took as his topic the developing of young hockey players through the medium of the farm system. He pointed out that as a boy developed talent and the ability to skate fast he gradually worked up to NHL material, and if he had the skill to fit in with his teammates, he would be in to stay. A good number of questions were asked of Dit and much information gained regarding hockey as it is played in the NHL.

A very enjoyable evening closed with the singing of God Save the King.

Princess Margaret Spends Day On Beach

CAPRI, April 30—(Reuters). — Princess Margaret went to the beach today in a blue-and-white cotton dress and white sandals to spend the second day of her stay here sunbathing.

The yacht loaned to her by the naval commander of Naples was again waiting for her by the Saracen's Tower.

Princess Margaret planned to climb to the village of Anacapri during the afternoon. If the weather holds she will stay in Capri until Tuesday, then go on to Sorrento.

Obituary

RAYMOND FRANCIS TERRY

Funeral service for the late Raymond Francis Terry, 35, of Fraserville was held on Monday at the MacPherson Funeral Home, Millbrook. The Rev. B. Heywood of Bailieboro United Church officiated. Pallbearers were Ray Bothwell, J. O. Pue, C. Fisher, Clayton Thexton, Harold Thorn and Melville Van Slyke.

Mr. Terry died at his home Friday. He was born in Bowmanville, son of William Terry. He came from South Monaghan about five years ago to live in Fraserville.

He leaves his wife, the former Doris Loretta Gardiner, and three children, Garry, 6, Allan, 4, and Gordon, one year of age. There are twin sisters, Mrs. Melville Van Slyke (Elva) of Oshawa and Mrs. John Edgerton (Vera) and a brother, John, both of this city.

Mr. Terry was employed as a machinist at the CGE and was a member of Centreville Presbyterian Church.

Flower bearers at the funeral were Wilfred Lunn, Vertile Kennedy, Joseph Bradshaw, William Cooke, Wallace Terry, and representatives from the CGE.

Permission Granted For Lacrosse Tag Day

With considerable reluctance but with a desire to help a boys' project, Police Commission has given permission for a tag day Saturday May 14 in aid of juvenile lacrosse. A letter from Ken Kingston said it was hoped that $300 to $500 might be collected in this appeal to the adults of the city. Some 200 boys will be selling Lifesavers in the streets supervised by 20 men, much in the manner of the Boy Scouts and their Apple Day.

The inclination of the Commission appeared to be toward refusing this request in the policy of frowning on tag day and street appeals. The only apparent reason why it was granted was in its purpose of promoting an organized sport among boys of the city, and also as an encouragement to elders to take an active interest in them.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Farmers Have Played Important Role In Plant Breeding . . Survey of Dundas County Shows Decline In Farm Population . . . "Working Together" The Theme Of Junior Farmers' Conference.

"Most of our Canadian spring wheats trace back to, and have some of the valuable chraarcteristics of Red Fife," writes F. Gfeller of the Cereal Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, in a brief sketch of the contribution of some individual Canadian farmers to the agricultural development of this country.

At the top of the Gfeller list is the name of David Fife of Otonabee Township, Peterborough County. Some years ago the Examiner published a lengthy account of the origin of Fife wheat in the pioneer stage of this province, and emphasized the important fact that this wheat in seeding quantities was available for planting inn the Canadian West for the first general and extensive farming operations before the CPR was completed.

The significance of the Fife wheat from Otonabee has diminished with the passing of the years and with the development of new varieties which retained its essential qualities with stouter resistance to rust which it lacked and also earlier maturing. Mr. Gfeller does not expand his subject, but it may be claimed for the wheat that came from Otonabee that it laid the foundation for the Empire granary of the Western Provinces. Marquis, and later breedings from the parent stock contributed the superstructure, but for years Red Fife was the standard No. 1 hard wheat in the Liverpool market, the centre of the cereal world.

Destructive rust in the first wheat crops of this county prompted David Fife to try to obtain a more suitable variety of spring wheat.

Mr. Gfeller says: "Fife received a sample from a friend in Scotland and grew it in his garden. Most of the sample turned out to be winter wheat, but a few plants were spring type. These were saved, sown and harvested. This was the origin of the variety Red Fife that really started the wheat industry in Western Canada.

Red Fife was too late in maturity to be a really successful variety, and Sir Charles Saunders (years afterward) at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, started making selections and crossbreeding to create an earlier one. Red Fife was crossed with an early maturing Indian wheat, and the result was Marquis, which in turn has been used as a parent in the breeding of the rust-resistant wheats. Most of our Canadian spring wheats, therefore, trace back to, and have some of the valuable characteristics of Red Fife.

Western Canada developed an outstanding farmer-plant breeder. This was Dr. Seager Wheeler. He introduced Bobs wheat from Australia, and selections from it gave Red Bobs, Early Triumph and Supreme. Red Bobs filled a very important place because of its earliness and high yield.

Back in Ontario again, Robert Dawson of Paris became interested in an outstanding single wheat plant in a field of Clawson winter wheat. He selected this plant, and it gave rise to Dawson's Golden Chaff, the predominant soft white wheat in Ontario. Dawson's is only now beginning to be replaced by plant breeders' productions such as Rideau and Cornell 595. It has also been used by the plant breeders in cross-breeding. . . . It is a parent of Rideau produced at the Central Experimental Farm and also OAC-104 from the Ontario Agricultural College.

Plant breeding to-day is becoming a complicated business. The good qualities of many varieties must be combined by the highly specialized plant breeding teachniques. Also, in order to get disease and insect resistance, the help of other specialists such as plant pathologists and entomologists is needed. Farmers cannot now hope to make much improvement in varieties by plant breeding methods, but their co-operation with the plant breeders is very much appreciated both in experimental work and in raising pure seed."

POSTWAR BRITISH FARMING

The war agricultural committees in Britain are more advisory and mutual help organizations today than the controlling and prosecuting bodies they were during the war.

These committees are composed mostly of land owners and farmers familiar with farming conditions in their districts, though the committees themselves are under direct control of the Ministry of agriculture.

"Many of the wartime powers of the Ministry have been relinquished," according to an article in better Farms, "notably cropping instructions, and the government relies on price incentive to induce farmers to produce necessary crops.

A farmer has a guaranteed market and a predetermined minimum price for the important three-fourths of his production. The government does retain, however, powers to prevent too much of the ground going back to rough pasture. The time has not yet come, if it ever does, for complete reversion to livestock farming as opposed to arable farming.

Early in the war farmers were classified into three grades of efficiency and the government can still dispossess the lowest grade farmer if after a year of supervision, help and warning, he has not improved his farming methods. He has the right to appeal to a special tribunal should he be threatened with dispossession. Only in few instances has a farmer suffered this extreme penalty."

The National Agricultural Advisory Service, a government organization, has eight regional administration offices. Each office has a staff of scientific and husbandry experts whose services are available to any farmer. A telephone call or postcard will bring to his farm a specialist in whatever field his problem lies. There are also county and provincial specialists available.

Research by this department has improved calf management, which may in time raise Britain's average milk yield of 510 gallons per cow by 20%, thus attaining the milk objective without increasing the number of animals. Quality of pasture has been improved so that one acre can do the work of two, and release more acres for arable farming. The grazing season has been extended a month at each end by the use of better grass strains; arable crops have been increased by regarding pasture as a crop in rotation, the field afterwards being plowed up and sown with wheat or potatoes, which in turn benefit by the increased fertility from the freshly manured and enriched land. . .

The Marketing Board, financed and run by dairy farmers, has set up grass drying stations all over the country. Thus the farmer who cannot afford the plant to dry his own grass, has the benefit of good quality forage, high in portein content. The drying station rents his grass field, sends men and machinery to do the work, and sells the grass back at a cost of not more than $72 a ton. The Board also has a chain of artificial insemination centers with high quality bulls.

JUNIOR FARMERS AT O.A.C.

"Working together" was the theme of the annual meeting of the Junior Farmers of Ontario at the beginning of this week which was attended by more than 500 young men and women of the rural community of the province.

Don Milburn, Peterborough county director, said one of the most interesting panel discussions was on the subject 'working together in the farm business". It embraced in a paractical way various aspects of family relationships, including partnerships and father and son agreements.

The theme of working together was extended through the greetings of visitors from the United States, particularly from Ohio, New York, Nebraska and Indiana, from Alberta and Prince Edward Island, and also by several visitors from England and Switzerland.

President W. R. Reek of O.A.C. where the conference was held advised both junior and senior farmers to direct their affairs toward the readjustment into which their indutsry had already entered. He said they should try especially to reduce waste and avoid losses which could be anticipated. Boarder dairy cattle, unthriftly meat animals, and poultry with low-lying records should be disposed of to ensure maximum production at minimum cost.

Co-operative business was the subject of a talk by Leonard Harman of United Co-Operatives of Ontario, carrying the conference theme into working together in business.

Burritt Mann of the Peterborough delegation presided in the call to worship with which the meetings opened Sunday evening.

Allan Poole of Lanark county was elected president of the association for 1949.

TWO MEETINGS

The directors of the Women's Institute are meeting Monday May 2 at 2.30 p.m. in the office of F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, to prepare for their annual district conference at Havelock in June. . A meeting of Kawartha Medical Services has been called for Wed. May 4 at 8 p.m.

HYDRID CORN ADVICE

"Eastern Ontario farmers should not take a chance on a variety of hybrid corn that takes more than 80 to 85 days to reach maturity," was the recent advice of James A. Garner, director of extension with the Ontario Department of Agriculture in a radio talk.

Because some of Peterborough's farmers have demonstrated the grain corn can be successfully grown in this area, it is probably receiving more attention from others in their production planning.

On the topic of safeguards for the buyer of seed, Mr. Garner said: "With over 90% of the grain corn and 50% of the ensilage corn being grown from hybrid seed, regulations of the Dominion Department of Agriculture require that each container or bag carry two tags. One shows the name and address of the seller. The other is the official tag of the production service of the federal department, showing the variety, official seed inspection number and the grade of the seed.

The recommending of certain varieties for different areas is done by the Ontario committee. It is composed of representatives of the Dominion and Ontario Departments of Agriculture, topflight plant breeders and representatives of the seed producers and growers. One of the main responsibilities of the committee is to carry out trial and performance tests of all new varieties which appear to give promise.

These test are carried out at the Harrow experimental farm, the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ridgetown Experimental Farm. Tests are also made at selected farms in southwestern, central and eastern Ontario. The results each year are analyzed for yield, maturity, growth characteristics, and resistance to disease and insects. Varieties found to be superior are then put on the recommended list."

Early maturity is a first consideration, Mr. Garner said. "Immature, wet corn has often given the Ontario corn crop a black eye. Then, too, the farmer who is producing corn for feeding on his own farm can ill afford to take a chance on storing corn which is immature or high in moisture."

On this subject of grain corn, it is timely to mention a supply of booklets on the harvesting and storing of ear corn, written by G. P. McRostie, department of field husbandry, O.A.C., copies of which may be obtained at the office of E. C. Paterson, agricultural representatives.

One of Mr. McRostie's comments is the fact that O.A.C. tests of grain corn for eight years indicated that "corn has yielded approximately twice as many pounds of grain per acre as has been secured from barley".

DUNDAS COUNTY SURVEY

Probably typical of rural Ontario are the findings of a survey in Dundas county in the present issue of "The Economic Annalist", published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

In the 30 years period from 1918 to 1948, the average farm family in Dundas has decreased by one person. The decrease of those under 21 years of age has been more than twice as great as the declined in the number of those over that age; and the decrease of men is exactly twice that of women.

The survey was applied to Dundas dairy farms, but the changes that have been observed there are regarded as similar to conditions in the province as a whole.

In 1918 the number of persons on Dundas farms averaged 4.9 as compared with 3.9 persons in 1948. Total decrease in adults was 0.3 persons; and of children under 21 years the decrease was 0.7 persons per farm. Causes were increased mechanization, reducing the need of manpower, and higher wages and shorter working days in cities.

Some increase is shown in farm acreage from 98 acres to 104 acres in the size of the average farm. There are more larger farms between 160 to 200 acres, and fewer of those less than 80 acres.

It was found that farmers whose land remained in the family generally retained ownership until they reached 70 years of age. After the father's retirement a younger member of his family succeeded him usually at 37 years on the average. "Fathers have no doubt desired to retain a high degree of control as long as they were physically able, in spite of the fact that the sons were doing the bulk of the work."

LET 'ER BUCK—Little Patrick O'Brien, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis O'Brien of Calgary, is determined he's going to grow up to be a real rootin' tootin' cowboy, even if he is a bit awed by his big St. Bernard steed. The three-year-old steed, Prince, whose proper name is an imposing Mamitou Excelsior the Ninth, is a favorite with children living near his Eau Claire Avenue home in downtown Calgary. He spends hours each day trotting about with youngsters gleefully riding on his special-built western saddle.

FERGUSON TRACTOR
3 PLOW CAPACITY
How can a tractor so compact, so easily handled, put forth so much power for the heavy jobs? Two reasons! FIRST—is the Ferguson System of Linkage and Hydraulic Control. It takes advantage of natural forces in linking implement to tractor, making them one single "self-propelled" unit, and automatically increasing traction for the harder pulling. At the same time, the work of raising, lowering, carrying and controlling depth of the implement is done for you, hydraulically.
SECOND—This power, so fully utilized, is supplied by the "farm-type" overhead valve engine of Ferguson and Continental Motors design. Engineered and built for low operating cost, with longer hours of running on the many different kinds of work you'll find the New Ferguson can do.
Together, this combination gives you a farm machine with more than enough power, yet easily controlled, flexible for the wide range of farm requirements.
Whether you judge tractor performance by how easy it makes your work, the time saved, or by how much it lowers your cost of production, ask us to arrange your demonstration. You'll find the New Ferguson is the ... farm machine for you.

A MISER ON FUEL
Exceptionally high torque at low engine speeds often lets you use third gear when you'd expect to need second. Rugged, heavy-duty construction with drop-forged crankshaft, ... cam-ground aluminum alloy pistons, ... full pressure lubrication and precision manufacture—an engine built to "take it"!
It's the FERGUSON SYSTEM that makes the difference!

$100,000 STOLEN JEWELS AT WASAGA

PRINCESS MARGARET ROSE, accompanied by Air Marshal (retired) Sir John Henry D'Albiac, Commandant of London Airport, walks to the waiting aircraft of the King's Flight in which she left the airport for a holiday in Italy last week. She is staying in Italy for about one month, travelling with a lady in waiting, Lady Mary Harvey; her personal maid, Miss Robina MacDonald, and a Scotland Yard detective.

Boy 7, Spots Suitcase With Loot

Think Gordon Barrett Arrested Week Ago Stole Eaton Gems

TORONTO, May 2 —(CP)—An estimated $100,000 in stolen jewellery was found Saturday in a cottage outbuilding at Wasaga Beach by a seven-year-old Toronto boy, police reported today. The cache was identified as loot taken several weeks ago from the Eaton Hall.

Police said they believed Gordon Barrett, who already faces charges of receiving stolen property, is linked with the latest find.

Last week, a $25,000 cache of stolen goods was found in Wasaga Beach lodge owned by Barrett. Tip-off came from Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg.

The jewellery, found in a suitcase in a small shed by seven-year-old Keith Finlayson of Toronto, was identified by Marvin Ridgway, a Collingwood jeweller, as loot taken from the home of Lady Eaton. The cache was made up of jades, gold watches, topaz and platinum pieces and exotic stones. Many of the pieces had the Eaton crest and initial.

Sees Suitcase

The jewellery was found on the property of J. Tordoff, Keith's uncle. The lad said he saw the suitcase and some clothes stuffed in a corner of the small building and called his uncle who advised Provincial Police Constable Frank Huribut, on guard in the neighborhood.

Three truck loads of stolen goods found in the Barrett cottage have already been taken to nearby Collingwood for identification and police are keeping guard over the remainder of the loot, which includes large quantities of electrical appliances, stoves, furniture, plumbing fixtures and guns.

Police said they believe Barrett hid the jewellery on Tordoff's property shortly before his arrest last week.

Pair Of 15-Year-Olds Armed With 3 Rifles Ambushed By Police In Hobo "Jungle"

PARRY SOUND, May 2 (CP) —Two 15-year-old Toronto boys, armed with three rifles, were ambushed yesterday by Ontario Provincial Police in a hobo "jungle" near the Canadian National Railways terminal here.

Police said they were attracted to the scene by the sound of rifle fire. They said the boys had a Winchester 38.55 and two .22 calibre rifles.

The boys said they had run away from their Toronto homes April 23 because they wanted to "get away". Knowing they were sought by police they had moved as often as four times a night, the boys said. Saturday night when they thought the police were very close they had stood in a river up to their necks. They lived on partridge and quail and on one occasion had killed and roasted a skunk, they said.

Police said they believed that the boys, who are being held in jail here, are responsible for a number of break-ins reported in the district recently.

Accent On New Jet Planes As Stalin Reviews Big Soviet May Day Parade

MOSCOW, May 2—(CP)—Prime Minister Stalin Sunday reviewed a magnificent May Day parade which put the accent on new jet planes overhead rather than the troops marching across Red Square. For several hours Stalin stood atop the Lenin Mausoleum as more than 1,000,000 Russians celebrated the traditional Socialist holiday. His son, Maj.-Gen. Vassily Stalin, led the Air Force show.

"The accent was on jets," said Capt. Lawson H. Randall, Canadian Air Attache. He said the demonstration was "impressive."

Brig.-Gen. Russell E. Randall, United States Air Attache, commented that the parade "showed evidence of the continued technical progress of the Soviet Air Force.

(No details of new weapons or jet-plane types were mentioned in correspondents' dispatches from Moscow. All dispatches pass through Soviet censorship. One part of a story on the parade by Eddy Gilmore of the Associated Press did not reach New York.)

"No Aggression"

Then of this year's May day demonstration was that the Red army would never be used aggressively.

For an hour and twenty minutes, picked detachments of the three services paraded. Then a colorful civilian demonstration swept across Red Square.

In an address to the participants new Minister of the Armed Forces Marshal Alexander Vasilevsky, declared that United States "reactionaries are trying to unleash" a new world war and that Russia's armed forces must be ever alert to guard faithfully the Russian motherland and the "peaceful work of the Soviet people."

Western diplomats said Stalin seemed to be in good health as he stood on Lenin's tomb with members of the Politburo and Communist leaders.

House-To-House Search Conducted By Police After Girl Found In Canal

Tries To Trace Youth Keeping Company With St. Catharines Girl; Find No Marks of Violence, Dies by Drowning

ST. CATHARINES, May 2—(CP)—Police Sunday were conducting a house-to-house check here in an effort to trace a young man alleged to have been keeping company with Joyce Patterson, 20, whose fully clothed body was recovered Sunday from the old Welland Canal. Information that Joyce had been having dates recently with a young man was given to police Sunday, although she had previously been said to have no interest in boys.

The dead girl's sister told police Joyce had been out with a boy on several occasions, although she did not know who he was.

Police said they could find no reason why the girl would have committed suicide because she was cheerful Thursday night and was looking forward to a trip to New Yo' An autopsy showed that the girl died from drowning.

Police said there were no outward marks of violence on the body of the Louth Township girl, who disappeared about midnight Thursday while riding homeward on her bicycle after visiting a girl friend.

When found, she still wore her gloves. Her wrist watch had stopped at 11:49, which police said probably indicated the time she entered the water. It was learned after an autopsy that pathologists found water in the girl's lungs.

The point at which Arthur Vernon, the girl's brother-in-law, and Aaron Pearce found the body after the canal had been partly drained is about 600 yards from the spot where the girl's bicycle and flashlight were discovered shortly after her disappearance.

The girl spent Thursday evening with her chum, Grace Hadlow, 21, borrowed Miss Hadlow's flashlight and then set out alone for the 15-minute bicycle ride to her parents' home near lock two on what is known as the middle road, just outside the city limits.

Hear Screams

Just before midnight, Mrs. Arthur Blott, who lives a short distance from the Patterson home, heard a girl scream "Help, help, help!" Mrs. Blott's son, William, also heard the cries and the Blott dog barked and whined. Arthur Blott, the woman's husband, investigated but found nothing unusual.

Donald Hampson, 17, told police during the week-end that a few minutes before midnight he saw the girl, whom he knew by

New-Born Baby Left In Sack In Police Car

BELLEVILLE, May 2—(CP)—A new-born baby, believed about three months premature, died in hospital today about three hours after being found in a sack in the back seat of a Provincial Police car. Coroner J. Russell Scott said a post-mortem will be held at which time it would be determined if an inquest is necessary.

When a Provincial Police officer came out of the local headquarters to a car which had been parked for two hours last night, he found the child, its umbilical cord still untied.

The baby was rushed to hospital but died about three hours after admission.

Gets Off Bus Boy Hit By Car

BELLEVILLE, May 2—(CP)—Suffering fatal injuries when struck by a car as he crossed the highway after alighting from a bus, Reginald Genereaux, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Genereaux, five miles west of Belleville, died in hospital today.

The accident occurred late Saturday afternoon as the young lad with his brother returned home from Belleville after attending a show. The two boys had alighted from the bus and attempted to cross the highway. One brother got across the highway but Reginald was struck by an eatsbound car driven by Derek Broadbent of Frankford.

The young lad was rushed to hospital where it was discovered he had suffered fractures of both legs as well as head injuries. An inquest has been ordered.

Princess Leaving On Trip To Sorrento

CAPRI, May 2 (AP)—Princess Margaret will leave Capri tomorrow for Sorrento, in the Gulf of Naples.

She spent her last day on this island at a seaside villa. She will leave the island in a speedboat which once belonged to the late King Vittorio Emanuel of Italy, put at her disposal by the Italian navy.

The Princess will spend the afternoon in Pompeii.

Steal Fur Coats Worth $30,000

CHATHAM, May 2 (CP) — Thieves early today broke into the Gower Fur Store in Wallaceburg and stole fur coats reportedly valued at between $20,000 and $30,000.

The thieves gained access by prying open the front door of the store. It is believed they made the haul in a stolen car owned by Ernest C. Waldeck who lives a short distance from the fur store.

Harold Denham, manager of the store, declined to give a statement on the loss, but Chief Collins said the place was cleaned out with the exception of a small neck piece. It was reported between 90 and 100 coats were taken.

No statement on the robbery could be obtained from H. F. Gower, proprietor, at the main store in Sarnia.

700 Men Fight Forest Fires Blazing Across Manitoba

WINNIPEG, May 2—(CP)—The threat from forest and grass fires remained grave today throughout Manitoba weekend rain that gave anxious fire-fighters a breathing spell.

Provincial Forester James C. Somers said Sunday night that all fires had been brought under control with the help of the rain but he admitted that the situation "still can be serious."

Four major fires had been burning "completely out of control." The Porcupine Forest Reserve, 200 miles northwest of Winnipeg near the Saskatchewan border, and home of several large spruce logging operations, was dotted with a dozen separate fires. Some 200 men battled the flames and before the rain, it was feared that all the fires might join into one huge holocaust.

Two of the other major trouble spots were northeast of Pine Falls in the timber limits of the Manitoba Paper Company, 70 miles northeast of Winnipeg. The other big fire burned in the Sandilands forest reserve, about 70 miles southeast of Winnipeg.

One fire near the Pas, has been burning on a six-mile front.

Mr. Somers said more than 700 men have been engaged in fighting the fires at different parts of the province. At Pine Falls workmen in the power plant there were called upon to battle the flames.

Tornadoes Hit U.S.

NORMAN, Okla., May 2 (AP) —Tornadoes that roared through Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas Saturday night left nine dead and 85 injured persons in their destructive wake. In Oklahoma, ripped by sixteen rapid-fire twisters, damage may go over $2,000,000.

Last Railway Escape Cut From Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Mey 2 (Censored) —(AP)—Traffic today was reported suspended on the last railway escape from Communist-menaced Shanghai to South China.

Inside the city, the chaotic money market crashed at mid-day after garrison headquarters outlawed free trading in pre-war silver dollars on threat of death—obviously a measure of great desperation.

The Communist radio said last night said eight Chinese government armies were "wiped out" and parts of four other armies "routed" in the Nanking-Shanghai-Hangchow area. (A Chinese army is usually 20,000 men.) The Communist broadcast's claim of a "great victory" was not confirmed by Government sources.

The semi-official Chinese Central News Agency said rail service had been suspended between Hangchow and Nanchang. Hangchow is a seaport, resort city and communications centre 100 air miles southwest of Shanghai. Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province is about 280 miles farther southwest—almost midway between Shanghai and Canton, provisional Nationalist capital on the south coast.

(Central News, however, did not say what caused suspension of rail traffic between Hangchow and Nanchang or where Red troops—if any—were operating along the line.)

Money Decree

The Shanghai garrison's new money market decree prohibited trading in silver dollars except at the official rate of 4,000,000 Yuan to one silver dollar. The previous open rate had soared as high as 9,000,000.

As word of the order spread through the city, the value of silver coins crashed. With it the value of foreign currencies crashed even harder. The United States dollar, which brought 9,-

Say Amendment To Prove Costly

TORONTO, May 2 — (CP) — Clifford Magone, Ontario deputy Attorney-General, said Saturday that a criminal code amendment permitting anyone charged with an indictable offence to choose trial by jury will go into effect Oct. 1 unless a September sitting of parliament changes the legislation.

At present, certain indictable offences, theft of less than $25, assault, wounding, obstructing police or keeping a disorderly house —can be tried by magistrate without consent of the accused person.

Mr. Magone told the annual meeting of the Ontario Crown Attorneys' Association.

This will affect city and county courts. If everyone charged with such an offence elects jury trial, the cost will be terrific."

The association also decided to ask for legislation requiring title [illegible] endorsement for any liens on cars. Members said such endorsement would protect both purchases and anyone dealing in motorcars.

Burglar Alarm Thwarts Holdup

WINDSOR, May 2 (CP) — The ringing of a burglar alarm is believed today to have thwarted the efforts of (tracksmen to break into the concrete and steel vault of the East-side Walkerville branch of the Bank of Toronto about midnight Saturday.

Police gave few details and Bank Manager D. W. Marks said today that the police department has told him nothing concerning the attempted robbery.

The yeggs reached the ground floor vault by hacking their way through the ceiling of a second floor warehouse. Police found crowbars and torches lying beside the vault.

Slight Earth Tremor Felt In California

LOS ANGELES, May 2 (AP) —A slight earth tremor was felt throughout a wide area of Southern California early to-day. There was no damage reported.

The shock lasted but a few seconds. In suburban South Gate Police Officer Hans Nevr said the tremor shook walls and rattled pictures and windows.

It was felt as far away as Blythe on the Arizona border, Indio, on the desert, San Bernardina, Banning and Riverside. All reported minor shock.

Father In Cave-In Saved By Child 4

COUER D'ALENE, Idaho, May [illegible] foot sewer ditch [illegible] Sebern under piles of dirt yesterday, but he was rescued alive because of his alert four-year-old daughter.

Sebern, 30, had been digging the ditch in his back yard. Apparently he was down on his knees when it caved in. His daughter, Nancy, who was playing nearby, ran to a neighbor's house for help.

The neighbor hurried to the ditch while his wife called firemen. He dug furiously in the dirt until he found Sebern's head. He uncovered it and wiped the dirt from the man's eyes and mouth.

When firemen arrived they moved an inhalator next to the ditch, propped up Sebern's head and gave him oxygen. At the same time, other firemen started removing 500 pounds of dirt that held the man prisoner.

Dr. Alexander Barclay said the man's condition was "critical". He suffered chest injuries.

UN Officials Notice Change Russ Delegates Friendlier

NEW YORK, May 2—(CP) — Western delegates to the United Nations said today they noted a change in their social relations with Russian-bloc representatives. Recently there had been several indications that Russian and Eastern European delegates had adopted a freer and friendlier attitude towards the West—but only on the informal, cocktail-time level.

In the general assembly debates, the Soviet delegates continued to call the western powers "aggressors" and "war-mongers."

The western delegates linked what appeared to be warmer, afterwork cordiality with Russia's proposals to lift the Berlin blockade.

Some said if the blockade were lifted—as appeared likely—the neighborliness would spread out from the house parties to the assembly hall.

Western diplomats said they were skeptical, however, of the motives behind the unaccustomed companionability. They were inclined to doubt there was any change in basic Soviet policy. The new familiarity might be merely a manoeuvre—but the west, they said, could not afford to reject any overtures of friendliness which might prove sincere.

The varying personalities of the Russian delegates have been taken into account.

For example, Andrei A. Gromyko, top Soviet deputy foreign minister, seldom smiles but often surprises bystanders with witty remarks wheih indicate he has a broad knowledge of western ways

On the other hand, Jakob A. Malik, Russia's permanent delegate to the U.N., is affable to the point of back-slapping.

BOMBAY, May 2 — (AP) — The Gaekwar of Baroda, long considered one of the world's richest men, is just a pensioner to-day.

Maj.-Gen. His Highness Farzand - I - Khas - Idaulat- I - Inglishia Maharajah Sir Pratap Sin Gaekwar, Sena Khas Samsher Bahadur, GCIE, LL.D. — that is his full title — keeps his personal fortune, which is fabulous. Most of it is in jewels, and there is no estimate of its value readily available.

In addition, the Gaekwar is to get an undisclosed pension

The merger will add 8,000 square miles and 3,000,000 population to Bombay Province.

100 Horses Drop Dead From Overwork

Humane Society Investigating Animal Treatment By Logging Camp

THESSALON, May 2 (CP) — Charges that more than 100 horses were worked day and night until they dropped dead or were killed in the bush are being investigated by Ontario Humane Society officials and police in this lumbering community about 50 miles southeast of Sault Ste. Marie.

Humane Society officials said the death rate among 275 horses, used by a logging company in the Rocky Lake area, 80 miles north of here, was the highest of any lumbering operation in Canada.

Rosario Tessier, a Sudbury horse dealer who rented horses to the company estimated that 125 horses were killed by overwork in three weeks of hauling logs to lakes and streams.

Mr. Tessier, who has brought a suit for damages against the company, said 30 of the 70 horses he rented to the company were killed and that 20 of the others were condemned by Dr. Thomas Young, Sudbury veterinarian.

Incredible Cruelty

"It is almost incredible the way the horses were handled," Tessier said. "They were worked by alternate drivers day and night. They were driven until they dropped and died or, unable to rise, they were shot."

After the haul was over he said, 55 of the surviving horses were herded through the bush 80 miles to Thessalon. The drivers had set out with "only three bales of hay and three bags of oats for feed."

"They should have had 10 bales of hay and six bags of oats," he said.

When a truck carrying the feed broke down the horses went without feed until the following afternoon.

"Some of them wandered into the bush looking for food and they are still there."

Horses drooped out of the herd. Five were drowned crossing a river because they didn't have the strength to get out themselves, Tessier said.

Dr. Young said he had been summoned to Thessalon from Sudbury to examine the horses.

"Four horses were lying on the ground completely finished. The others were in the worst condition I have seen horses in all my experience . . . There were marks on their sides where whips made of hay wire had been used."

Driver Dodges 11 Shots Fleeing In Car

TORONTO, May 2 — Eleven shots were fired by police Saturday night during an 80-mile-an-hour chase through the week-end traffic, on No. 2a Highway, from Scarboro to Whitby.

William Haggerty, 32, of Gould St., was charged with auto theft after being captured by Scarboro Constables Art Locke and Frank Bridle at the Whitby Cloverleaf half an hour after the Pontiac sedan he was driving had been reported stolen.

With Bridle driving, the cruiser spotted the stolen car at West Hill, after receiving a message to be on the look-out for it from Sergeant Howard Cramp of the Scarboro police. Both pursuer and pursued picked up speed through the West Hill area despite heavy traffic. At Highland Creek the cruiser crept alongside the stolen car, a taxi, and Locke threatened the driver with his gun. "I practically stuck the gun in his face but he stepped on the gas and began to pull away," said Locke.

Speeding through Highland Creek area, Locke fired several shots into the back of the stolen car as week-end drivers pulled off the road to give the careening cars the right of way. At the Rouge Valley bridge the cruiser again came alongside the fugitive and Bridle attempted to crowd the other car off the road.

The driver of the stolen car refused to be pushed off the road, and the front fenders and bumpers of the two cars locked. "I thought we were going to hit the abutment at the side of the bridge as both cars swerved to the side of the highway," said Bridle.

During the wild chase Locke was keeping Sergt. Cramp informed of their location over the radio while trying to puncture the tires of the fleeing car. After three miles of travelling side by side, the two cars broke apart and the chase continued toward Whitby. Each attempt of the police cruiser to crowd the other car off the road succeeded only in scaring the other traffic off the highway. Cars ran on to the shoulders all along the road as the chase progressed.

At the Whitby cloverleaf Provincial Constable Dave Batat of Oshawa was waiting for the stolen car, and as it came into view he drove his cruiser in front of it and managed to put it off the road.

The stolen car ran on to the right-hand boulevard and swerved around, climbing half-way up the bank at the side of the road. As the driver jumped from the car Constables Locke and Bridle pounced on him and subdued him after a brief struggle. He is charged with dangerous driving as well as auto theft. The taxi, which was punctured in six places by Locke's shots, belongs to Jack Lewis of Toronto.

Mindszenty Case Inquiry By UN Likely In Autumn

NEW YORK, May 2 (CP) — The United Nations General Assembly Saturday backed action taken by Britain and the United States—under the peace treaties—to settle the dispute over trials of church leaders in Eastern Europe.

In effect, the 58-member assembly approved the protests lodged earlier by the western powers. They said the human rights guaranteed in the peace treaties had been violated in the trials of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Primate of Hungary, and 15 Protestant leaders in Bulgaria.

The vote on the resolution, originally proposed by Australia and Bolivia, was 34 to 6, with nine abstentions.

Canada supported the move. As a signatory of the peace treaties she has associated herself with the Anglo-American charges and will be kept informed of further action.

The resolution avoided any accusations against Hungary and Bulgaria, but left the question on the assembly worksheet for possible UN action next fall.

The six countries in the Russian bloc, casting the negative votes, fought the move to the end. They contended the church leaders were traitors and that the trials were an internal matter, not the business of the UN.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, told the assembly that such arguments were "not rational."

"It is the hounding of men for their political opinions that is the basis of our complaint against the Hungarian and Bulgarian governments," he said.

May Set A Day To End Blockade

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—A date for lifting of the Russian blockade of Berlin may be set this week.

Present prospects are that a meeting this weekend may reach agreement on ending the Russian blockade and the Allies counter-blockade and setting a date for a meeting of the Big-Four foreign minister on the German questions.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, United States ambassador at large, said after his last meeting with Jakob Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, the talks were "proceeding satisfactorily."

The London Daily Herald, organ of Britain's ruling Labor party, said today Malik suggested to Jessup at Friday's meeting that the blockades be lifted at the end of the first week in June.

"How are you doing?"

He said she replied:

"Fine."

Police announced that they were holding William Hendry, 23, formerly of Allanburg but now working on a farm near the girl's home, on a charge of giving false information. Acting Inspector James Anderson of the St. Catharines city police said Hendry had given what was considered a conflicting story of his movements Thursday night.

Friends and acquaintances of the dead girl described her as quiet, steady and dependable. They said she had been in excellent spirits and apparently had no worries.

Miss Hadlow said Joyce had no steady boy friend. She said Joyce "very rarely" went out with boys.

London Police Battle Reds Over May Day

LONDON, May 2 — (CP) — Police and May-Day demonstrators clashed Sunday in London in a battle lasting two hours as Communist and their supporters tried to form processions in defiance of an official ban on political marches.

At one stage anti-Communists attacked marchers trying to reach Trafalgar Square.

A crowd of about 6,000 watched demonstrators, including many girls and women, engaged in hand-to-hand scuffles as mounted and foot police seized and destroyed banners.

Eight men and a girl were arrested by police.

Nine young Communist demonstrators chained and padlocked themselves Sunday night to the railing around the United States Embassy on Grovesnor Square in the west end.

Police said the demonstrators shouted anti-American slogans and distributed Communist leaflets to passersby for almost a half hour. A crowd of several hundred watched police use hacksaws to cut through the chains.

The demonstrators were taken to a police station and charged with using insulting words and behavior. One also was accused of assaulting police.

British Guiana Severs Relations

By The Canadian Press

The British Guiana Federated Seamen's Union has severed relations with the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), charging that the striking CSU failed to "keep us informed of the true state of affairs but rather gave us false impressions."

Announcement of the British Guiana union action was made in Georgetown after a meeting at which it also was decided to withdraw support of the CSU, said to be Communist-led, in its battle with the Seafarers International Union (AFL) for control of shipping jobs.

The British Guiana Trades Union Council previously had withdrawn its support from the CSU in its dispute with Canadian shipowners in east coast ports whose announcement that they had signed an agreement with the SIU precipitated the strike March 31.

Expect UN Sidestep Franco, Italy Issues

NEW YORK, May 2 —(CP)— United Nations delegates today began the fifth week of their special spring session with growing signs that there will be attempted to sidestep such stormy issues as Franco Spain, Indonesia and Italy's pre-war colonies.

The 58-member assembly was scheduled to vote on a United States proposal to speed up hearings on Israel's bid for membership. There still is a possibility the application will be postponed until the September session.

The political committee has worked four weeks on the problem of disposing of Mussolini's pre-war African empire. But no plan proposed up to now seemed likely to gain the two-thirds assembly majority necessary for approval.

A Shanghai garrison communique said Nationalist forces still were holding Kunushan, 32 miles west of Shanghai, despite heavy Communist artillery bombardment at the outskirts of the town.

The communique claimed Nationalist successes in fighting in the Kunshan area.

A small Red force which reached the vicinity of Taichang, a mile or so northeast of Kunushan was eliminated by Nationalist troops, the garrison announced.

These Reds might have been flank defenders of the Communist force which attacked Kunshan. The garrison said their strength was only 200 and was "totally wiped out."

There was no news here of the fighting south of Lake Tai 50 miles or so southwest of Shanghai where the Communists seemed to be throwing more important strength toward Hangchow.

A traveller from Hangchow said today that city had been occupied by Nationalist militia.

3rd Field Park Company Plans Reunion

Tales of the D-Day landings in Normandy and the bitter battle through the Low Countries that culminated in Germany's defeat will be exchanged on Wednesday when members of the Third Field Park Co., RCE, hold a reunion here.

About 50 members of the original company of 168 that were recruited in Peterborough in August 1940 will meet for the first time since demobilization at the Koffee Pot for a banquet and social evening at 8 p.m. All of them are expected to be residents of Peterborough and district. Out-of-town engineers, however, are welcome.

If the reunion proves a success the Engineers hope to have a large get-together in the Fall when comrades scattered across Canada from the Maritimes to British Columbia will be invited. None of the officers of the Third Park Co. are local men and considerable organization would be necessary before a major reunion could be held.

Captain George Walker of Chatham recruited the original Company in 1940 and it went overseas on August 23, 1941. It was attached to the Third Division and fought through the Normandy campaign, the battle for the Low Countries, and eventually took part in the occupation of Germany.

Together with the field engineers the Third Field Park Co. landed on the Normandy coast on D-Day, entrusted with the task of clearing the beaches of mines and other obstacles. It was they who with their bulldozers cleared the rubble from the streets of Caen, allowing the British-Canadian drive to press on.

The Company was also in the van of the breakthrough from Nijmegen that was one of the final thrusts of the war.

Two members of the Company won Military Medals. Sapper (Tex) Heathcote of Vancouver, B. C. received his for returning to a stalled bulldozer to bring it back under heavy fire. This action was performed at Udem, Germany.

Sapper John Duval of Rouyn was another Military Medal winner. With his 20-ton armored bulldozer he crashed through a heavy wall this making a clearance for trucks to get through.

Those wishing to attend the reunion should inform Babe Fontaine, Water St., or Pete Vitarelli at their places of business.

Leslie Frost Spends Weekend In Lindsay

LINDSAY, May 2 — (CP)— Leslie Frost, Ontario premier-designate, spent a quiet week-end in and near his home town, resting after the convention which last week chose him leader of the Ontario Progressive Conservative party.

He filled the goldfish pond behind his Lindsay home Saturday and then went with his wife to his log cabin at Pleasant Point on Sturgeon Lake. There, while Mrs. Frost baked butter tarts, he checked over his fishing tackle in preparation for a jaunt he hopes to take soon.

He dropped in Sunday at Cambridge Street United Church for a few minutes chat with Rev. Harold B. Neal, an old friend.

Rev. G. K. Tyler Preaches At Park Street

Park St. Baptist Church celebrated its 54th anniversary Sunday with the Rev. G. K. Tyler, Leamington, Ontario, being the guest speaker. Mr. Tyler is a former minister of Park St. Church, leaving Peterborough 12 years ago, to go to the 1st Baptist Church in Woodstock where he was minister six years. For the past six years he has been in Leamington.

For his morning topic, Mr. Tyler chose his text from Luke Chapter 23, verse five. He said that Christ by His teaching and action challenged the people of His day that he might arouse them. He did this so that their lives might become transformed and be enriched. His disciples, he added, continued that ministry and the Christian Church has always, like Her Master, been a disturbing influence on the world. The speaker purposed that churches at the present time need to be stirred by the spirit of God out of their conformity to things as they are.

Mr. Tyler, using the subject "Alternative to Futility" read Chapter 6 of John verses 15 to 21. He dealt with the story of the storm on the Lake of Galilee and the peril of the disciples. He suggested that the alternative to their sense of fear, frustration and futility was the sense of calm, peace and security which came to them in the coming of Christ.

Miss Eleanor Jillard, contralto, Toronto, was the guest singer for the services. She sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings", "He Smiled On Me", "Hold Thou My Hand" and "Green Pastures". The choir's anthem at the morning service was "I Waited for the Lord" and at the evening "The Lord Is King".

Had Only Few Drinks Prisoner Declares

"I was not drunk, I only had a few drinks of beer," was Howard Fairfield's plea to Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, today at city police court. Constable Grant Gillespie was of a different opinion, however, and told the court that the accused had been sitting on the corner of George and Simcoe streets Saturday evening with a case of beer at his feet while the Salvation Army was holding an open air meeting there.

The constable said he also saw the accused staggering along the street, but Fairfield could not agree with this. He had come into [illegible] from the farm where he worked north of Omemee, and he had three or four drinks of beer.

He told Crown Attorney John Bradshaw that he did not drink much beer and still insisted he had not been drunk. Mr. Bradshaw suggested that as the accused was not used to beer three or four drinks would result in drunkenness.

Fairfield was fined $10 with $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail.

Lobbying Is Big Business In U.S. Capital

An interesting feature of Federal government in the United States is the prevalence and activity of lobbyists at Washington, D.C. There is nothing new about groups of various kinds making representations to governments, but it seems unlikely the practice was ever before carried to the lengths regarded as commonplace in Washington, where lobbyists are registered and where interests ranging from the cradle to the grave are represented.

If any reader thinks that statement fanciful, we call attention to Mr. Stanley Posner, who is paid $5,000 a year to lobby for the National Institute of Diaper Services of New York, and to Mr. William C. Henning of Columbus, Ohio, who receives $6,000 a year to look after the legislative interests of the American Cemetery Association. One of the in-between numbers in the lobbying act is the family laundry, for the clothespin manufacturers of the United States are represented by Mr. Richard A. Tilden of Washington, who, when working, receives $100 a day.

The earnings of these special pleaders are as varied as the range of representation. At one end of the scale are lobbyists who work for nothing; at the other, there are lobbyists receiving annual incomes in the five-and-six figure neighbourhood, which is a pleasant neighbourhood indeed. One of the unpaid lobbyists is a Mr. Thomas E. McGrath, the self-appointed agent for an outfit he calls "Taxpayers, U.S.A." Since Mr. McGrath is undoubtedly lobbying for a far larger group than any of his colleagues in Washington, it seems rather unfair that he should be unpaid, but as the post is his own creation, he is presumably content.

One of the biggest annual lobbying bills is paid by the American Medical Association, which passes out more than $100,000 a year to several lobbyists to make sure its wishes are persuasively presented to Washington legislators. At the moment, the chief aim of the A.M.A. lobbyists is reported to be to convince legislators that national health insurance would be detrimental to the nation as a whole. Another lobbyist, Mr. Gerard D. Reilly, is paid over $50,000 a year for lobbying against certain phases of labour legislation, and there are more than a score drawing salaries ranging from $10,000 to $40,000 a year.

The activities of these registered lobbyists are quite legitimate, but they must add heavily to the cares and burdens of the legislators. We imagine the legislators at Ottawa, although quite familiar with the efforts of special pleaders and pressure groups, must be very happy that lobbying there is not on the scale prevalent in the United States capital.

Foreign Films In Peterborough

Not all the best movies are made in Hollywood or England; not all the best film actors speak English. Yet foreign films, some of which are superlatively good as works of art and entertainment have generally been considered impracticable for presentation to English-speaking audiences. That is a mistaken notion. A good film carries itself in whatever language it uses either because it is a work of art or is purely light entertainment, or is a combination of the two. Music, graphic and stage arts transcend language, and entertainment is entertainment wherever people laugh, [illegible] In order that good foreign films may be seen on this continent, Film Societies have been organized for private showings of them. The large number of these societies and the thousands of members in cities big and small prove that foreign films can be appreciated and enjoyed.

Commercial films, at first reluctant to display foreign movies fearing that they would have no box-office appeal, have realized the popularity of the Film Societies and are now boldly bringing French, German, Italian and even Russian movies into their movie houses on this continent. Toronto and Montreal have movie houses devoted almost entirely to foreign-language movies, and the box-office receipts are good. Smaller cities like Peterborough cannot support such movies full time, but in this city we have a flourishing Film Society and occasionally a commercial house will bring a foreign film for a one or two day stand.

These ventures have not all been successful, partly because the majority of people go to a movie for entertainment not for edification, and some of the foreign films shown here have been of greater technical and educative interest than good entertainment. The large audience which went Thursday evening to see the fine Italian movie Pagliacci based on Leoncavallo's opera and with the great tenor Gigli in the chief role shows that Peterborough people will go to good foreign movies. They were obviously enthralled and delighted by it. Can there be any doubt now that a really first class foreign movie, good as entertainment and art (the one aspect cannot properly be separated from the other), will receive popular support and be greeted by a large, appreciative audience, grateful for the opportunity?

Highway 2 S

Between Brockville and Gananoque is a highway called "2 S", one of our newer roads, and with little doubt our finest King's Highway in Ontario. It is not a throbbing speedway like the Queen Elizabeth Way between Toronto and Hamilton, though on Number 2 S motorists can make excellent time if they choose, because its surface is wide and good and its length no greater than Number 2 above it. But most motorists are tempted to drive at a leisurely 40 or 50 and to enjoy motoring on a highway as it cannot be enjoyed elsewhere.

The "S" of the road's designation means "scenic", and scenic it is. It closely follows the banks of the St. Lawrence for many miles of one of its more lovely reaches. At this season on a balmy bright day the views from Number 2 S are exquisitely delightful—blue water, buffed clouds overhanging the Thousand Islands, hazy hills in the American horizon.

Highway 2 S is not news in the timely sense, but so splendid is its situation, so well-mannered are its appointments (turn-outs, picnic grounds, stone ballustrades, verdant shrubs and trees), and so free of commercialism, that it is news at any time for anybody every time he travels along it. The planners and builders of Highway 2 S—there must be remarkably fine minds and souls among them—have shown that man can work in harmony with nature and cater to humanity's heart even in creating a modern highway. It is not yet a two-lane road, but even when it becomes one, there is little danger that it will deteriorate into a mere speed-way.

M. Pouliot Goes Straight

It does less than justice to M. Pouliot Independent Liberal M.P. for Temiscouata and whose home is at Riviere du Loup on the Lower St. Lawrence, to tag him with the hackneyed phrase a stormy petrel of Parliament. Even M. Pouliot's rare silences in the House sessions are like the quiet before a squall. M. Pouliot is a man of independent mind which he does not hesitate to express and of independent attitude. For instance, during the war he left Mr. Mackenzie King's flank and crossed the House to proclaim himself an Independent. Until Friday last he therefore sat as an Independent Liberal. But on Friday M. Pouliot announced in the Commons that he wanted henceforth to be known as a "straight" Liberal. His full support of Mr. St. Laurent and the present Government may not be always unembarrassing to the Government, but that a man of M. Pouliot's independent nature should come out wholeheartedly in support of the St. Laurent administration at this election time must be encouraging to Mr. St. Laurent. It does not mean that his policies can win the favour and full co-operation of people who think for themselves, even of the flamboyantly idiosyncratic M. Pouliot.

Atlantic Pact Ratified

Almost the last act of the Twentieth Parliament of Canada before dissolution was to ratify Friday evening by a vote of 185 to 6 the most important treaty agreement Canada has ever made in peacetime—the North Atlantic Treaty. Canada is the first country to have ratified it. This treaty has already, in the Prime Minister's opinion, lessened the tensions of the "Cold War". This has happened because the Treaty is documentary evidence of strength, and no war can be won, even a "Cold War" without might. The month of May has begun in an auspicious international atmosphere: the Atlantic Treaty is coming into effect; the new state of West Germany is in its final formulative stage; and Russia is showing a new compliance which may result in the ending of the Berlin Blockade and the resumption of tolerable relations among the Four Powers.

Of Cabbages And Kings

By PETER ELIOT

CHARLES de ZEMLER in Once Over Lightly—The Story of Man and his Hair, tells a story of an officer whose face was richly carbuncled, who entered a barber shop, seated himself in the chair, and at the same time placed his naked sword on a nearby table, the hilt within reach.

"Take a look at my face," he said to the barber. "Now," he added, "if you shave me without bleeding, there is a guinea for your expertness. But if you draw one drop of blood, I'll run you through the body."

The barber looked at the menacing sword. He looked again at the face then back at the sword. He shook his head.

Up stepped the apprentice boy. "I'll shave the gentleman," he volunteered.

He went at the task carefully. Finally, he finished the tedious job. The officer demanded a hand mirror and examined his face carefully. Not a drop of blood showed anywhere.

"Here's your guinea," said the officer. "But first tell me how you dared risk your life after your master refused to risk his?"

"I took no risk," the boy answered. "You see, I was watching your face carefully. If I had drawn blood, I'd have seen it first. I had my razor in my hand. Your sword was on the table. Before you could have reached it. I could have cut your throat."

MUSICAL fans (continues de Zemler) used to be fond of getting a lock from the head of a cherished idol. So it was that when Richard Wagner, at the suggestion of his physician and as a possible palliative for the severe headache to which he was subject, decided to have his long locks shorn, his barber envisioned an opportunity to reap another sort of harvest by disposing of the crop.

First, it appears, the wily fellow did a bit of advertising. The news soon spread among his regular customers that here was an exceptional opportunity to acquire a lock or two direct from the great composer's head without recourse to the importunity which had, in so many cases, proved vain. They immediately placed orders with the barber, some paying cash in advance.

However, the barber had neglected to take Frau Cosima Wagner into his confidence or even into consideration. That fond and provident lady, instead of remaining quietly at home when the master visited the barber shop, took it upon herself to go along. Furthermore, she had decided to make a personal appearance in the shop itself and therefore stood by as the scissors were applied to the head of her lord. Even that did not satisfy her. At each snip of the scissors, Frau Cosima reached and caught the hair as it fell and cornered the entire lot.

The barber kept throwing out hints but Frau Wagner paid no attention. When the master's haircut was complete, the barber had nothing to show for his labours save the fee. Dismayed at the prospect of having to confess to those who paid their cash that he was driven by fear of consequences to confess to Frau Cosima. She was impressed but not so far as the offer to give up any of the Wagner hair. However, she did let fall a suggestion the barber found decidedly helpful.

"Why," she told him, "my butcher's hair is very much like my husband's"

So the barber had the idea. He wooed the butcher and won him. In this way he was able to satisfy preferred customers with locks from the butcher's head. Some never discovered that the strands they treasured ever afterward had not touched the pate of their beloved idol.

THE appearance of S. Winsten's Days With Bernard Shaw recalls the story of G. B. S. in the book store. He was poring over a second-hand shelf of much marked-down volumes, when he came across one of his own plays. The book was inscribed moreover to a friend, beneath whose name on the fly-leaf, Shaw had written, "With the compliments of George Bernard Shaw." Buying the book, Mr. Shaw wrote under the original inscription: "With the renewed compliments, G. B. S.," and sent it back to the early recipient.

A CHARACTERISTIC Churchill story is told by J. B. Atkins, genial editor of a Monthly Bulletin, in Incidents And Reflection:

"Winston told me," he writes, 'that the Morning Post and been very kind to him in his political campaigning so far. It had given a good deal of space to his speeches, and had even allowed him to visit the office to revise proofs. On one occasion the Editor was surprised at the modesty of youth when Winston struck out "(Cheers)" at the end of a speech, but was still more surprised when he substituted "(Loud and prolonged applause)".

"Once during the first World War," writes Lord Croft in his My Life Of Strife—"I saw a suspicious-looking figure in a Staff Officer's kit walking round my trenches without leave. Hoping to catch a spy, as they were always rumoured to adopt staff disguise, I pounced upon him. Imagine my surprise to find the pale-faced and red-haired Eighth Duke of Northumberland, then doing special work for the War Office."

Birkenhead could be simply devastating to an interrupter in the House of Commons or anywhere else. "His quickness was really remarkable," continues Croft, "and once when he was castigating Lloyd George's famous Budget, referring to the tax on ungotten minerals, he said: 'you might as well put a tax on bachelors for ungotten babies.' A voice from the gallery called out words to the effect (although not quite so respecable) 'introduce them to the suffragettes.' "

There was a roar of laughter and the whole audience was convulsed except Birkenhead, who, Lord Croft relates, looked deeply pained and said like a flash, "No, sir, I disagree with you, on the contrary both these matters should be left to private enterprise."

Too Many Elections?

Between now and next fall we are to have a Dominion general election, plus elections in British Columbia, Manitoba and Nova Scotia. Too many? In some parts of Europe they might not think so.—Ottawa Journal.

The London Declaration

Ottawa Journal

INDIA, becoming an independent republic, is to remain a full member of the British Commonwealth.

Constitutional pundits, those who believe that forms of government, plus words written on parchment, are more important than acts of faith or of mutual understanding, may be shocked by this. They will miss the central truths of the world we live in, forget the various stages through which the British Empire and Commonwealth developed.

That development has come not through adherence to rigid formulas, but through flexibility, through genius in adaptation, through abiding faith in freedom as a cement of nations and men.

When in the darkest hour of the war, Winston Churchill offered the Republic of France full union with Britain and the Commonwealth, he, with his great imagination, anticipated the thing which has now come with India. It is a thing not for lamentation, but one to stir the hearts of all who believe in the Commonwealth's still greater destiny.

Montreal Gazette

IT is of value to India, which will have the strengthening association with the Commonwealth nations amidst the serious difficulties of its new independence in a very troubled world. And for the other nations of the Commonwealth, an important tie is maintained with the new nation which is the best guarantee for stability in that Asiatic region, in which Soviet infiltration and advance have been most serious.

The formula may be a nuance. But it may prove to have the strength of an urgent truth.

New York Times

THE agreement by which India enters the British Commonwealth as a republic underscores the unique adaptability of the British system and the extraordinary evolution of the Empire. The advantages of an unwritten Constitution, which is not hampered by words in overcoming realities, were never bettered exemplified than in the compromise formula which allows a republic to function freely within a monarchical framework. The Statute of Westminster, the the charter of the Commonwealth; states the Crown is the symbol of the free association of the member states. But India, oddly enough, chooses to name the King instead of the Crown as the symbol of unity. The asssociation itself is expected to be known hereafter as the Commonwealth of Nations instead of the British Commonwealth.

Thus, with changes of verbiage that would not be possible under a less flexible system, India becomes a republic while joining the Commonwealth and accepting the monarchy as the symbolic bond that holds it together. An anomaly, truly; but an anomaly that accomplishes the essential purpose of bringing India into the Commonwealth and permitting her to enjoy her own form of government.

Montreal Star

IT was in 1775 that Edmund Burke remarked that a great empire and little minds go ill together. The wisdom of the great 18th century Irishman was not absent from 10 Downing St. this week. The issue facing the Commonwealth Conference was not one for the Commonwealth alone. It was one which affected the whole world. It has been met in a manner befitting its greatness.

It sets asides the hitherto accepted constitutional dogma of formal allegiance to the Crown. It replaces it with the doctrine that the King is the symbol of our free association and that the King is, in this capacity, head of the Commonwealth. His Majesty remains King of Canada as he is King of Britain. Our allegiance and our relationships are unchanged.

By what right has this been done? "A state without the means of some change," said Burke, "is without the means of its conservation." What has been done is in accordance with the rule of every land,—"pre Freedom slowly broadens down Fr precedent to precedent.".

O question alone remains. Is the new form wide enough, will its interpretation be ual to the breadth needed, to remove the commonwealth constitutional problem for from the hands of those who might in e future seek to use the new formula asidence of some limiting tie upon Indian from? The Declaration of London has obusly met Mr. Nehru's needs, though it nt have been wider yet. Will it also nt those of his successors, or the needs of se opposition party which will in due se rise in India? The relationship with E have shown the danger of half-asures. The new formula, designed with th experience in mind, will, we hope, et the situation fully.

WHAT India's career as a Dominion should have lasted for less than two years is not surprising. It was on August 15, 1947, that both Pakistan and India ostensibly ended one of their differences by assuming Dominion status. But for a quarter of a century India has looked forward to the greater autonomy of a republic, and it was but on April 3 last that Pandit Nehru confirmed this by declaring that "this has been our dream for the last twenty to twenty-five years."

The dream has now come true.

Whatever legalistic formulae may be advanced in the constitution, the real test will be made when practical issues arise for decision under it. Legal, monetary and even defense relationships must be affected; and when the even broader issues involved in potential trade with the United States and South American are brought into the picture, there would seem to be plenty of room for later revisions of today's concept of India as a republic within the Commonwealth whose head, in part real and in part merely "symbolic," is the British Sovereign.

Bie Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

So God created man in his own image, in the image God created he him; male and female created he them....

And God saw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good. (Gen. 1: 1, 26, 31.)

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them....

But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. (Gen. 2 6, 7.)

Work Of Gideons Shows Big Gains

At the YMCA on Saturday night the second annual banquet of the Gideons was held with A. L. B. Harrington, Toronto, the special speaker. On Sunday in many of the city churches Gideon Sunday was observed with special speakers from the organization. The Gideon movement started as an association of Christian Commercial Travellers in the United States in 1899, this spread to Canada in 1911 and for nearly 40 years the Canadian Gideons have been placing the Bibles in guest rooms in hotels. In 1931 Christian businessmen who did not travel were admitted to membership and almost immediately the Gideon work was extended and in addition to the hotel activities the work has spread to hospitals, prisons and schools.

What has proved to be the greatest undertaking of all was commenced in 1946 with the plan to give a personal copy of the Scriptures to Canadian school children. For three years the Peterborough Camp has been doing this work in the schools of the city and district. Lew Parks and Charles Collins showed pictures during the banquet of the distribution of the Scripture to the Madoc public school children.

Frank Stevens the president occupied the chair and said that the Gideons were not a separate denomination but a group of men who aimed to work along with the church and its ministry. Ministers and laymen representing a number of the churches in Peterborough and district were present. Mrs. Reader and Mrs. McConnel sang a duet and Wally Mulligan, Winnipeg was heard in a solo. Herb Pullybank read the Scripture and led in prayer and had charge of the sing-song.

Mr. Harrington was introduced by Cecil Roberts, Toronto field secretary. Mr. Roberts told how the budget of the Gideon movement in Canada has increasel from $8,000 to $82,000 and of the great gains in membership. Mr. Harrington, a lawyer, took as his subject "Victory Through Faith". Faith the speaker said came by hearing the Word of God spoken and also by reading the Word. Christ only dwells in the hearts of men through faith but in order to have this faith man requires meekness. Gaining that meekness man then through faith gains life, liberty and love.

Man Has Failed To Keep Pace With Invention

That man's inventive genius has far outstripped his moral life and his lack of ability to control these inventions has brought about many of the troubles of this world was the opinion of Rev. Dr. Robert Lennox Principal of Presbyterian College, McGill University. Dr. Lennox was the guest preacher at the 116th anniversary of Presbyterianism in Peterborough marked on Sunday by St. Paul's Church.

At the morning service Dr. Lennox took his text Isaiah 22, vs 11 and 12: "Watchman, What of the night? The Watchman said, the morning cometh and also the night: if ye will enquire, enquire ye: return, come". And while all these new inventions may usher in the morning or a new and better day the minister warned that unless people progress morally the night and days of darkness will again return.

In commencing his sermon Dr. Lennox appealed to young men to give thought to entering the Christian ministry and while he said he did not think all men should enter the ministry, there was no better way for them to invest their lives than through Christian service. "They should give first thought to this work for their is no greater challenge today."

The prophet Isaiah in his time saw the lights on and darkness and evil covering the world just as Churchill many years later, in one of his great addresses, described the light of freedom going out all over Europe. While freedom has today returned to many nations Dr. Lennox warned that unless people change morally there will be a returning again to times when darkness reigns. He feared that human nature being as it is does not change much and "we are too willing to put our trust in education, scientific improvements and international organization".

"I do not mean that we should not have these for they all play a part but they are not a solution to our problem but are often only a way of increasing them. Men must seek the true God and worship him for if we worship other things and place our dependence on them, people are little better than idolaters," Dr. Lennox declared.

Ernest Adams baritone from Toronto and recent finalist in Singing Stars delighted the congregation at the morning service with his singing of 'It is Enough' taken from Elijah and the 'Twenty-third Psalm'. The choir sang the Hallelujah Chorus.

Ray Villmer and Lew Reynheer, the unmasked Marvel, have been rematched in the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday night. But with a different referee. The rotund Bert Maxwell got himself conked in a crucial spot—or should we say at a crucial time?—in their last meeting and was sprawled on his back stargazing when Villmer pinned big Lew. Then Lew kicked off the ropes to toss Villmer and doggoned if Maxwell didn't pop up in time to see that and count popular Ray out. The fans sizzled like T-bone steaks. The pair put on a rough, wide-open scrap to keep the place in an uproar, and there'll be nothing barred in the return match. Two good supporting bouts, also.

President Don Thomas of the COBL sends word up from Belleville that a league meeting will be held there on May 8. Entries will be checked then and the schedule drawn up. An unofficial poll among the four clubs of last year (Petes, Oshawa, Batawa and Kingston) indicates that they're agreeable to adding the entries from Smiths Falls and Brockville, Smiths Falls and Kingston, with the other comprising Batawa, Oshawa and Peterborough. Probably working out an interlocking schedule to provide one trip each to the other section. Sounds okay except it makes for several long hauls for each club.

Mowry, who fractured a leg early last season and side-lined the term out, is going to try to beat out George Doresco for the first-string catcher's job, and knows he has a task on hand. The same applies to every candidate for positions with the 1949 Stags." Mowry played a lot of good ball here in the 30s ere heading down Niagara way.

Church Softball League has 22 entries, four peewees, six bantams, three midgets, four juniors and five seniors. Officials are checking on grounds now and play may start this week. Loop winds up with the finish of the school term, though the seniors might carry over a bit longer. They have to watch for exams as most the players attend school. President Ted Naish of the Church Athletic Association—he's also on the City Softball League executive — has been working with Max Board of the Catholic Softball League and it may be that peewee and bantam winners of the two loops will meet finally for city church honors.

Over the week-end, the Catholic Softball League was organized with Romeo Mongraw president and Harry Fraser secretary-treasurer. These and the team managers form the executive. They have 18 teams in, nine peewees (under 12 by May 1) and nine bantams, under 14 years of age. Representing St. Alphonsus, St. John's, St. Peter's, Immaculate Conception and Sacred Heart. Five fields available and schedules will open next Monday, finishing the end of June. It's a good start and, like the Protestant Church League, gives a lot of boys good competition and assures the City League of future material. Winners, as mentioned before, of the two loops may playoff early in July, probably in sudden-death games.

Coaltown, unbeaten this year, Saturday ran up his seventh consecutive victory for 1949 by galloping to an easy seven-length margin over Vulcan's Forge in the $50,000 added Gallant Fox handicap at the Jamaica track in New York. Three Rings was third.

The Calumet Star was timed in 1:56 1-5, a second off the track record, for the 1 3-16-mile run. He took things easy under a 130-pound impost, biggest load he's ever carried. Steve Brooks was the jockey.

Coaltown paid $2.50 and $2.20. There was no show betting.

The victory was worth $36,800 and boosted Coaltown's earnings to $231,000.

Residence rules requiring players to play with their hometown teams or the nearest team were endorsed Sunday at the opening meeting in Hamilton of the Provincial Women's Softball Union of Ontario. The union presented eight life membership pins. Recipients include past presidents Ann Spalding of Preston, Mae Brown of Galt, Gladys Mortimer of Peterborough and Jean Hous of Simcoe.

At Toronto, K. B. McKellar of the Toronto Boulevard Club was elected president of the Canadian Lawn Bowling Council at the annual meeting here Saturday. Cricketers Get First Win Against Trinity

By C. H. IRESON

The Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club opened its season with a victory over Trinity College School in a Port Hope exhibition match on Saturday. They took it by the substantial margin of seven wickets, the score being TCS 60, with P-W passing that total with only three men out, but at call of time the score was 79 to 6.

The School batted first to make a good start against the bowling of Wright and Pyle, with Thompson (13) and Bruce (13) taking the score to 26 for 2. There was a slump then before good bowling and 9 were down were 47. The last man, N. Cooper, scored 12 not out and the total reached 60. Bowling honors were shared by Pyle, 6 for 29, and Booth, 4 for 17.

Wright and Booth, the opening P-W batsmen, soon took the score for a well-played 22. Wright was to 49 before Booth was caught out 1 run later for 24, and the score was tied with 3 wickets down and won by 7 wickets. It was a satisfactory win for the visitors in view of the heavy schedule in the Toronto Council. They took the field with almost no practise. Wright, Pyle and Boyle, last year's starts, were in great form with both bat and ball. Two newcomers, W. Freeman and E. Tomsett, showed they were good cricketers and should help a lot.

Brandon Edges Royals 3-2 To Tie Series

BRANDON, Man., May 2 (CP)—Brandon Wheat Kings came up on even terms with Montreal Royals Saturday night in their bid to house the Memorial Cup for the 1948-1949 season.

Wheat Kings edged Royals 3-2 to tie their best-of-seven game Dominion junior hockey final at one game apiece. The Eastern champions won the opener 3-2 at Winnipeg last Thursday, and the teams will play the third contest here Tuesday night.

The victory kept intact Brandon's season record of not losing two successive games, and in turn halted Royals' winning streak at 14 games.

As in the opening contest, the game was not decided until the third period. Tied 1-1 at the end of the first, 2-2 in the second, the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle, with Brandon clinging to a one-goal margin after Jack McKenzie's marker at 10.50 in the third frame.

McKenzie, with two, and Frank King accounted for Brandon's goals, while Matt Benoit and Roland Rousseau tallied for Montreal. However, it was to the two goalkeepers—Ray Frederick and Bobby Bleau— that most of the glory fell.

Halt Rushes

The two goalies time and again halted goalmouth rushes, kicking and diving in spectacular fashion to save what seemed certain tallies, with Frederick of Brandon particularly brilliant in the last 10 minutes of the final period.

Royals pulled away to an early lead in the first period when Benoit converted Gordie Knutson's rebound. Wheat Kings were fortunate to tie the count before the period ended. They were handed a gift goal by Vic Fildes, Royal defenceman, who tipped the rubber into his own net. Frank King, nearest the play, was credited with the score.

A Glen Sonmor-to-McKenzie goal put Brandon out in front for the first time in the series McKenzie cut in front of the Royal net, drew out Bleau, and drilled the puck home.

Rousseau's shot, which never left the ice, pulled Montreal on even terms at 14:55 in the second session.

McKenzie's winning counter came on a slap shot which Bleau failed to hold.

Say Durocher Chances Brighter

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP) — Things brightened for Leo Durocher today as the suspended manager of New York Giants prepared to leave for Cincinnati and a session with Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

The trigger-tempered Giant boss is scheduled to appear before the Commissioner tomorrow morning and explain what happened after that game at the Polo Grounds last Thursday.

Durocher's chances for continuous baseball employment took on a brighter hue when a source close to Chandler said Sunday that the Commissioner was just being cautious when he slapped an indefinite suspension on "The Lip."

This spokesman, who didn't want his name used, said the Commissioner feared some sort of vandalism might break out in the Harlem district near the Polo Grounds if he didn't do something quickly.

This would indicate that Chandler has not already judged the case, as some had supposed, and will weigh the evidence before rendering a verdict.

Thistlewaite Runs First In Harriers' Annual Race

Albert Thistlewaite, 23-year-old distance runner of the Peterborough Harriers Club, won the second annual three-mile road race on Saturday in the rather slow time of 18 minutes, 17.6 seconds. He won handily, not being pressed at any point, but failed to break the course record of 16 minutes, 49.5 seconds set up last year by Ray Donnelly.

Thistlewaite took the lead from the start with Armstrong second, than Dougherty, Martin, Outram, Flowers and McNeil running back about 25 yards. At the half-mile mark, Armstrong took the lead briefly for some 50 yards and then fell back to fourth place with Martin moving up to third. At the three-quarter mile mark, McNeil speed up to go into second spot, Dougherty falling back to fourth. The position stayed this wey till the mile and a quarter, when Flowers, a sprinter who was running out of his class, moved into the fourth slot.

Bigger Lead

Halfway through, the positions were the same but Thistlewaite had a lead of 150 yards. Shortly after, Dougherty and Armstrong, who did well till then, fell out of the running. At two miles, Flowers stepped up his pace in a try to catch Martin for third place, but Martin also tightened his pace to keep ahead as he tried to catch McNeil. Thistlewaite crossed the finish line running easily, and McNeil did, too, but Martin looked as if he could use more speed work to develop his pace and wind. Hugh Outram, 15, of the YMCA, did well in finishing fifth and should develop soon.

Roy Barraclough presented the trophy to the winner on behalf of Donnelly, who is in Scotland. A large crowd saw the start and finish. Harriers will hold workouts at the Oval each Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7.30 to get ready for the annual track meets.

Thistlewaite's time was 18 mins., 17.6 sec.; Neil finished in 19 mins., 33 secs., and was followed by J. Martin. Also competing were J. Flowers, H. Outram, J. Dougherty and J. Armstrong.

Senators Trip Regina 3-1 Chalk Up Two-Game Lead

OTTAWA, May 2 — (CP). — Regina Capitals may have to do some high stepping if they hope to stop the powerful Ottawa Senators' "special delivery" line and get back into Allan Cup competition.

The tricky trio of Nils Tremblay, Ed Dartnell, and Bill Robinson played a major offensive part again Saturday night as the Senators defeated Regina 3-1 to take a two-game lead in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior hockey championship. Third game will be played here to-night.

The smooth-passing forward line, which seems to be most dangerous when least expected, has consistently sparked Ottawa throughout the final.

They have accounted for six of the nine goals scored by Senators in the first two series games.

Dartnell, 27-year-old Winnipeg-born rightwinger, scored three goals, and fellow-Winnipegger Bill Robinson scored one from the other wing as Senators won 6-4 in the first game.

Saturday night Robinson had one and Tremblay scored a goal in the 3-1 victory.

Ottawa Line Best

The big Ottawa line has outshone the highly-touted unit of Sweeney Schriner, Chuck McCullough, and Mel Hill which has three Regina goals to its credit thus far.

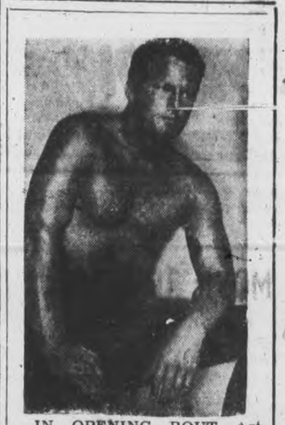
A crowd of 8,039 fans Saturday night saw Senators take a 1-0 first-period lead on a goal by Tremblay with defenceman Jack Irvine and Dartnell assisting.

After a scoreless second period Ab McDougall beat Bill (Legs) Fraser with the tieing counter at 1:15 of the third period, Bill Kyle and Lou Hauck assisting. The Senators came back five minutes later, however, with Robinson scoring on a screened shot from a faceoff pass by Tremblay.

Buddy Hellyer then put the game on ice with his second goal of the series, with linemates Lude Check and Emile Dagenais assisting.

Regina had a first-period edge in play despite Senators' lead and managed to keep on fairly even terms during the second. But after knotting the score, the Caps faded quickly and Ottawa had a big edge from there on.

After the game Manager Tommy Gorman predicted flatly that Ottawa now would take the series in four straight.



IN OPENING BOUT—Art Brady pictured above, who will meet Ivan Rasputin in the opening bout at the Brock Arena Wednesday night. Brady is a newcomer here and Ivan Rasputin returns to the ring after a long absence. Chief interest centres in the main bout where Ray Villmer has been rematched against Lew Reynheer (the unmasked Marvel). A new referee will be on the job at the insistence of both Villmer and a number of fans who have asked Manager Laidlaw to make sure of this. The semi-final will see another newcomer, Tug Carlsen from Seattle Washington, in with the 330-pound Cardiff Giant.

Phils Down Dodgers 4-2 Braves Capture 2 Games

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They laughed when the Philadelphia front office announced in dead seriousness this spring that the once futile, forlorn Phillies hereafter would be known as the "Fightin' Phillies."

They laughed all the harder when the Quaker City's chronic second-division outfit proceeded to belie their new nickname by dropping six of their first nine starts. That was four days ago.

They're not laughing any more. The rival National league clubs simply fail to see anything funny about a team that just got through knocking off the highly-rated Brooklyn Dodgers three times in a row.

The Phils' 4-2 Sunday victory boosted them out of the League cellar, 12 percentage points above Chicago Cubs. They now are only half a game out of the first division.

The Phils collected 10 hits, scoring all their runs on loser Preacher Roe. Home runs by Andy Seminick and Del Ennis gave Ryss Meyer a 4-0 cushion to work on. A home run by Duke Snider with one man on base accounted for all Brooklyn's runs.

Braves Stand First

Boston Braves moved into undisputed possession of first place, winning both ends of a doubleheader from New York Giants 6-4 and 4-2. Siby Sisti's ninth-inning single with the bases loaded drove in the tying and winning runs.

Johnny Antonelli, Boston's 19-year-old bonus southpaw, won his first big-league game in his first start in the nightcap. He allowed six hits, walked nine before he was rescued by Nelson Potter in the ninth.

Harry (the Cat) Brecheen and Stan Musial teamed up to give St. Louis Cardinals an 8-3 victory over Chicago Cubs. Brecheen spread out 13 hits for his second victory. Musial led the hitting attack on five Cub hurlers with three hits and two walks.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati divided a doubleheader, the Pirates winning the opener, 10-4 and the Reds taking the second game 5-2. Danny Murtaugh helped Bob Chesnes gain his first victory of the season in the opener, rapping out three hits and driving in four runs.

Boston Red Sox blasted Allie Reynolds and Frank Shea for 14 hits and an 11-2 triumph. Johnny Pesky, Vern Stephens and Ted Williams walloped home runs for the winners. Mel Parnell doled out six hits for his third straight triumph.

Pitches Two-Hitter

Bob Lemon pitched a two-hitter for Cleveland, but bowed to Detroit's Hal Newhouser 3-2 on Dick Wakefield's three-run homer in the first inning. Lemon walked two men before Wakefield crashed his homer. Newhouser registered his third victory against one defeat.

Philadelphia Athletics smashed out two more victories over the hapless Washington Senators 15-9 and 7-3 with the second game halted after seven innings because of the Pennsylvania curfew law. Outfielder Elmer Valo paced the first game attack with a pair of triples, each coming with the bases loaded. In all he drove in seven runs.

Chicago White Sox whipped the Browns twice in St. Louis, 7-6 and 14-11 to make it seven in a row over the Browns this season.

Labor Party Settles Down To Get Votes

LONDON, May 2 — (AP). — The Labor Party and the Conservatives used down-to-earth campaigning techniques to-day in preparation for another major test of voting strength.

The test comes May 12 in more than 400 English and Welsh borough elections. Approximately 23,000,000 voters are eligible to participate.

They will elect borough councils, which administer schools, health, housing and other municipal services. Some councils also run transport and water-supply systems.

Political strategists on both sides will study the outcome of the borough balloting to determine trends for next year's general parliamentary election, when the fate of Britain's Socialist evolution will be decided.

Both parties have urged their local agents to concentrate on door-to-door campaigning in the borough elecions.

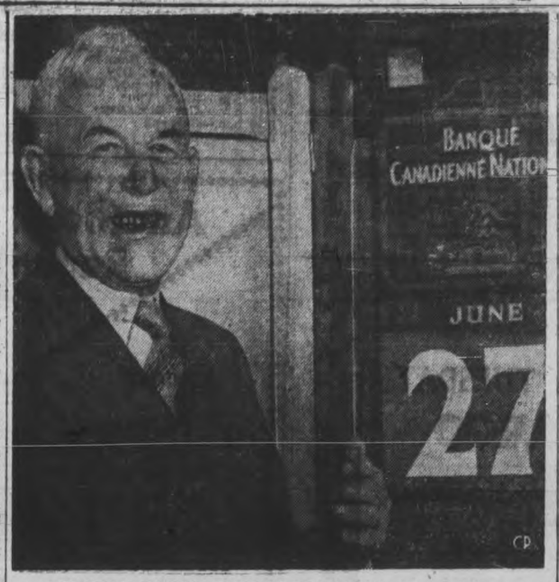
New Confidence

A new confidence was obvious among the Conservatives. Labor Party leaders, on the other hand, have been surprised and concerned by the Conservative strength shown in county council elections early in April.

In those elections the Labor Party lost about 300 seats in all to Conservatives. Labor showed strength in the coal-mining areas of Wales, but was surprisingly weak in the Midland industrial areas and in London.

Labor's loss of county council seats was attributed in part to the government's budget for 1949-1950, issued during the week the voting was in progress. That budget held most taxes at their current high levels and increased the prices of some basic foods by reduction of state subsidies.

However, a careful analysis of the April balloting turned up still another factor. While Labor polled about as much strength as usual in local elections, the Conservative Party got out a particularly heavy vote.



CRYSTAL-GAZER EXTRAORDINARY—That's the new title parliamentary observers are pinning on Senator Thomas Haig, Opposition Leader in the Upper Chamber. The Senator, a veteran campaigner, guessed the date of the general election—June 27—12 weeks before Prime Minister St. Laurent made it public.

Named CCF Candidate

WINDSOR, May 2—(CP)—William C. Riggs Friday night was nominated CCF candidate in Essex East for the June 27 federal election. He will run against Health Minister Martin, J. Russell Turnbull, Progressive Conservative candidate, and Cyril Prince, Labor-Progressive candidate.

Report Trout Refused To Bite

TORONTO, May 2 (CP)—Ontario's trout season got under way during the week-end and it appears the fresh water delicacy was tipped off too. The trout just didn't bite as expected.

Water conditions were ideal in Bruce and Grey counties as a record influx of anglers tried their luck. Although hundreds of fishermen turned out only three persons reported catches—none of them over 12 inches long.

Competition in the Frank Slater contest at Owen Sound offered little more. One of the biggest fish caught in the district was a six-pound, two-ounce Rainbow trout taken by Murray McDonald of Owen Sound at nearby Bothwell's Creek.

Anglers in Eramosa, Puslinch, and Guelph districts reported poor catches. Marion Hagey, 16, of Eramosa caught two medium-sized trout while a few others hooked Rainbow trout.

Water was medium high in the northern section of the province, with worms being the favorite bait. Bill Ripley of Copper Cliff, who hasn't missed an opening day in 50 years, returned this season with an empty creel.

The Algoma district, considered one of the best fishing grounds in the country, saw scores of United States fishermen turn out. Results were fair.

Special Scout Course

OTTAWA, May 2 — (CP) — Scouting commissioners from all parts of Canada took part in a special training course conducted at Canadian Boy Scout headquarters here during the week-end. Indoor Rallies Mark May Day

By The Canadian Press.

Communists celebrated May Day with indoor rallies in eight Canadian cities. But there were no parades or other public demonstrations.

The Toronto group staged a pageant, with music and speeches, in downtown Massey Hall. Similar observances were held elsewhere in Ontario in Windsor, Hamilton, Timmins, Sudbury and Port Arthur.

A parade was scheduled in Vancouver but rain forced its postponement until next Sunday.

Roman Catholics staged anti-Communist May day demonstrations in Cornwall and Windsor. In each city, more than 10,000 Catholics took part in parades and rallies.

Most Rev. John C. Cody, coadjutor Bishop of the London Diocese, told the Windsor marchers that Communism "can do little harm in a country where the people are good."

Transport Minister Chevrier, speaking at Cornwall, called Communism a doctrine "which seeks to destroy the individual and instill in the hearts of the people the love of the state with no regards for spiritual needs."

VOL. XCVIII, No. 102 — PRICE FIVE CENTS — MONDAY, MAY 2, 1949

Fred Pulver Heads B'nai B'rith

Fred Pulver on Sunday night was installed as president of the Peterborough B'nai-B'rith at an installation ceremony held in Beth Israel Community Hall. A crowd of more than 100 witnessed the ceremony conducted by Lou Herman, past president of the Toronto lodge, and member of the Eastern Canadian Council of the B'nai-B'rith.

Mr. Pulver succeeds Harry Yudin as president.

...er officers for 1949-1950 are ...rris Black, first vice-president; Harry Silver, second vice-president; Hy Smith, treasurer; Harry Yudin, chaplain; Joseph Rogow, warden; Irving Moldaver, secretary; and trustees Harry Florence, Leo Rice, Max Beck, Richard Ruskin, Irvin Cipin, and Z. Levine.

No Hatred

"Thank God we haven't had the hatred and strife that they have had in Europe," said Rabbi Judah Washer of Toronto, guest speaker.

"Here we have 3,000 miles between Canada and the U.S.A. with no hatred, but rather 'peace bridges,' because we have built a new world with a keener sense of brotherhood; because America was built by Pilgrims who were religion conscious."

But that does not mean we have found an ideal civilization, he counselled.

The Rabbi traced the great civilization of history and stated that each had contributed something new. Hebraic civilization was largely borrowed from the Babylonian, he said, but to some extent it was revised by the Hebrews who became known as 'the people of the spirit," or "people of the book."

Rome became wealthy and powerful but the empire fell because of the inroads of materialism. People, believing the civilized world destroyed, started to pioneer a new one and pushed into Europe. The result was a new civilization in Spain, he said.

Materialism caused the collapse of this mighty empire too, he said; the final blow coming with the defeat of the Spanish Armada. A new civilization then rose in France, Holland and Germany; but they began to fight among themselves, each wanting to become master.

Great Change

The Industrial Revolution brought great changes in the world; new inventions, railroads, methods of mining, and at the same time intolerance and hatred," he stated.

Although skeptical of UN's ability to cope with today's problems, the Rabbi conceded that it had some successes to its credit, and pointed out that it was still surviving.

A new civilization is being built in the Eastern world, he stated, and he contended that this civilization was as inexorable as history itself.

In the new State of Israel both Jews and Arabs are benefitting contended the Rabbi. People are living better and they are healthier in the new state. It has been beautified and a university has been built.

"But the whole world is not ready for Israel and the new civilization," he said. "It (Israel) is in the midst of its infancy, and the world is trying to stop it."

The world must learn that it cannot live by the sword, but by religion and culture as practised by Ancient Jewry, said Rabbi Washer. "The time will come when the House of God will be a House of God to all people," he concluded.

Harry Cherney introduced the speaker, and he was thanked by Morris Black.

Certificates of Merit were presented to Irvin Cipin for membership work; to Morris and Leo Rice of Lindsay, Max Beck and Harry Yudin for work during the year.

Canoe Upsets Perfect Cast Rescues Man

Trout fishermen took to the country in droves early Saturday morning to wet their rods for the first time in the season. Everything was in their favor, it appeared. The weather was perfect but many of them failed to reckon that its conditions in April were such that the cool month was not the sort of weather to make fish bite. It was too cool for natural trout food, flies, to hatch and they were therefore not to be tempted with man-made lures. The lowly garden worm was the general bait that took the overall catch which was disappointing.

Taking the popular fishing areas by districts, the greatest number of fishermen were gathered on the Cavan stream and pond where landowners gathered one dollar per head for the privilege of trespassing. It would be impossible to list the names of a quarter of the rodmen but it is learned that Arthur Winslow took 14 fish in Cavan while Ernest Fowler, on the same waters, came home empty handed. Ken Jakins, Lakefield, and Jack Lee, Peterborough, went up into Dummer township and came back with two. Down on the Big Ouse River, Al Legroux and Herb Bromley found results disappointing and the same applied to Don Smith and Frank, east of Havelock. Natives of the village and several American visitors showed better results.

Rochester Party

Harold Kennedy, president of the Havelock-Belmont Fish and Game Association, guided a party of seven from Rochester and they were able to take their quota of ten and 12 inchers by 5 p.m. Saturday. Donald Youmans, 13, hooked the largest trout in the Havelock district. It measured 14½ inches and was taken at the dam south of the CPR tracks. Robert Bruce Pollock took three trout, the largest scaling 13 inches. These were taken from Valpareen Creek and in the same spot Douglas Hill hooked two that measured 12 inches and H. A. McNeely had four in his creel that averaged ten inches each.

Down near Port Hope, Stanley Hayman and Vernon Fuller claimed that fishing was not too bad and they came home with 15 trout between them. In the Omemee district, Jim Herron and Joseph Minicola were able to take 11 trout and were slightly disappointed in an area that they thought should have been much better.

Rescues Fisherman

Jack Arnott, Pete McGillen and Jack Hayward drove off north of Madoc to Green Lake and between them took nine trout between 13 and 17 inches. They saw others with some nice catches, especially a Toronto-Madoc party who showed them one beauty that weighed three pounds. They also had a flurry of excitement when a Toronto fisherman lost his balance in his canoe and upset. Mr. Arnott cast out with his line and reeled the fisherman and boat towards him where he was able to touch bottom and in a second perfect cast, retrieved the paddle as well.

Fair fishing was found northeast of Bancroft by Fred Stepheson and William Smith. Veterans Bob McLellan and Dick Jones tried likely-looking spots on Eel's Creek, north of Apsley, and caught nothing. They called their outing a "complete bust".

Lorne Bateman, C. A. Doolittle, Ross Hood and Michael O'Leary are still up north and their story will not be told before Wednesday. Edward Boyler, Otonabee St., Garnet Burns and party got home late Sunday evening. Mrs. Boyler found a 19½-inch trout in her ice box today but her husband had gone to work and neglected to tell her where it was taken.

PCVS Cadets Prepare Mock Ack-Ack Battle

An outstanding part of the PCVS cadet inspection Wednesday May 11, will be a demonstration of a heavy ack-ack gunsight in operation. All the positions on the gunsight will be operated by cadet officers and men. Aircraft from Trenton will take part in the demonstration as enemy aircraft. The detachments are now being taught by the Administration and Training Staff of the 50th Heavy AA regiment with which the PCVS cadet regiment is affiliated.

After the demonstration of the cadets on the gunsight, other cadets will stage a mock infantry attack on the gunsight.

It is understood that Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, and DSO, Commander of the Eastern Ontario Area will be the inspecting officer. He will be accompanied by Capt. R. Graves, Area Cadet Officer.

WINNER OF DRAMA FESTIVAL AWARDS for his playwriting and his directing, Robertson Davies, editor of Peterborough Examiner, is seen in a third role, that of actor. He played a bit part in his own production of The Taming of the Shrew, in Toronto Saturday, which starred Mrs. Davies as Katherina.

Injured By Roller

COTTESLOE, May 2 (ENS) —Howard Patterson met with a painful accident on his farm Thursday when he fell from a roller and was dragged for some distance before it passed over him. He received head and chest injuries.

The horses were caught by Mrs. Patterson, who found her husband lying in the field. She was able to get him to the house.

RCMP Actions Termed Ruthless

An appeal to the Canadian Congress of Labor to rally its 350,000 members to take action in full support of the Canadian Seamen's Union was signed by the 175 delegates attending the UE Quarterly District Council meeting held here over the week-end.

The action of the RCMP at Halifax was denounced as "ruthless violence" and Congress officers were urged to issue a public statement condemning the St. Laurent government. In the telegram dispatched to the CCL, the UE delegates asked them to call on other political parties to make their position known.

"The attack on the Seamen's Union is not an isolated act, it is part of a boss objective to destroy the trade union movement," the telegram says.

"The ruthless violence by RCMP on CSU members in Halifax indicts the St. Laurent government as being part and parcel of shipowners illegal action in signing contracts with the scab agency—SIU," the delegates declared.

Delegates from the two Peterborough UE locals that attended were: Local 524— Jack Morton, Cyril O'Donnell, J. Wilson, Alex Seppala, J. Murphy, J. Grierson, K. Chiles, Philip Doherty, George Niles and William Whibbs; Local 527—Duncan Drummond, T. Ross, J. Whalen and J. M. O'Brien.

Details of the general policy which were hammered out at the meeting have not yet been revealed.

Truck And Car Collide

NORWOOD, May 2— Drivers of a truck and a car escaped injury, although both vehicles were badly damaged, in a sideswipe collision which occurred on No. 7 Highway, two miles east of Norwood, at 2.15 p.m. Saturday. The truck owned by the Norwood Dairy, was driven by Gladwin Irving, Norwood, and the car by Joseph Galka, Jr., Oshawa.

The collision occurred when Galka attempted to make a left turn. As he did so the truck was in the act of trying to pass the car, with the result that the vehicles came together side on. The car landed in the ditch upside down after the impact, which caused about $250 damage to the truck and $150 damage to the car.

Both machines were travelling in an easterly direction at the time of the accident, which was investigated by Constable H. Cook of the Provincial Police, Peterborough.

Word Received From Missionary Now In Shanghai

"We know not what the next week will bring forth." This was the key statement in a letter which Howard Clark, RR 1, Peterborough, received last week via Air Mail from his sister, Miss Greta Clark, well-known Anglican missionary worker, who is now engaged in Bible teaching in Shanghai, whose fall to the advancing Communist armies may come at any time. Miss Clark said that she was safe and well and had spent an enjoyable Easter holiday period.

Miss Clark's relatives in this area have received no word yet as to whether or not she has heeded the request of the British authorities that missionary workers leave the city quickly on ships made available to them. The possibility exists that she might be on her way home by now, but it is considered more likely that she is still in Shanghai.

Miss Clark's letter to her brother was written the week previous to its receipt and did not make any references to the issues involved in the civil war.

She has been in Shanghai since early in January, having been evacuated from Kaifeng on December 12 because of the city's threatened capture by the Communists. She is now teaching in the Shanghai university and in various law schools and has served in China since 1919. Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark of Omemee and her last visit to her old home was in the spring of 1946.

124 Enumerators Start May 9 On Voters' List

Enumeration of the electors of Peterborough riding for the federal elections begins Monday, May 9, Mr. Arthur J. McClellan, returning officer informed The Examiner today.

"We have to appoint 124 enumerators," he said, "half of whom are recommended by the Liberal party and the other 62 by the Progressive-Conservatives. That is according to practice which prescribes that enumerators shall be nominated by the two parties with the largest number of votes in the last previous elections. In this riding they were Progressive-Conservatives and Liberals."

Mr. McClellan's office is in the post office building, the second floor quarters vacated some time ago by the Trent Canal Department. The entrance is from Water St. and the telephone number is 23933. Mr. McClellan said enumeration is to be completed by the end of next week.

Announce Results Of Trade Fair Draws

Draw results from three exhibitors at the Kiwanis Trade Fair were announced today.

L. Peter Dominik, Hunter St. West, Draw: Winner of the Mantel Radio, M. Gervaise, 193 Parkhill Rd.; Mary Griffin, 570 Gilchrist St. won a table lamp while Bert Austin, 271 William St. won a fluorescent bed lamp.

J. J. Turner and Sons Draw: The luggage was won by Dan Isaac, 502 Chamberlain St. and Mrs. B. Garside won a gallon of DeLuxe Enamel. Mrs. Garside lives at 980 Western Ave.

The Peterborough Mattress and Spring Co. have a problem to cope with. The bed in question weighed 175¾ pounds. Six people guessed the weight within a quarter of a pound. The total returns are incomplete as yet and a statement as to the final disposition of the draw will be made in the Examiner to-morrow.

Workmen were busy this morning removing the exhibit partitions, stage, curtains, and extra wiring that was put in on loan by L. Peter Dominik especially for the fair. Over 2,000 feet of cable was used.

Pedestrian Injured When Crossing Street

There was one minor casualty on the city street during the weekend when Gilbert Milliken, 463 Albert St., was struck by a car Saturday afternoon while crossing at Charlotte and Aylmer streets. His nose was cut. Constables Harold Mesley and G. A. Edmison investigated.

An accident involving two cars occurred Sunday at the intersection of Hunter and Aylmer streets when Carmen Dick, 482 Reid St. and Ralph Cuthbertson, RR 2, Norwood, collided. Mr. Dick's car had a dented righ rear fender and the grill of Mr. Cuthbertson's car was damaged. The incident was investigated by Constables Mesley and Edmison.

Joseph K. Foley was arrested and charged with careless driving after he was involved in an accident with two other cars Saturday as he turned out of the market square. As he made a left turn to Water St. his car struck a car proceeding north on Water St. driven by Edgar D. Humber, 862 Water St. and then, when turned in a westerly direction, struck another car travelling south on Water St. driven by D'Arcy Carter, 134 Lock St. The cars driven by Mr. Humber and Mr. Carter both had damaged fenders and running boards and a fender and bumper of Mr. Foley's car were damaged.

Ontario County

Ontario county Liberals are meeting May 11 at Whitby and the C.C.F. in Oshawa the same day. The riding is represented by Arthur Williams who defeated the Liberal and Conservative candidates in a by-election a year ago. The same three leaders will probably meet on the Ontario riding hustings again. Frank McCallum, Prog.-Con., has already been nominated; Arthur Williams is a certainty to carry the C.C.F. banner, and Lyman Gifford, prominent farmer in the county, will likely be the Liberal nominee.

'Taming of The Shrew' Wins Director Festival Trophy; Top Prize To Hamilton Play

By KAY REX, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 2—(CP)—Interest in the "live" theatre is growing in Canada. This is shown in the size of the audiences drawn to the Dominion drama festival which closed here Saturday and in the fact that groups from New Westminster, B.C., to Montreal walked off with awards. Top prize for the best production of the week-long competition—The Bessborough Trophy—went to the Players Guild of Hamilton for its presentation of a three-act American comedy, "John Loves Mary," by Norman Krasna.

This is the first time the veteran Hamilton company won the trophy, and Adjudicator, Philip Hope-Wallace gave it to them for what he described as a "successful and highly professional" job.

Nearly all the major awards went to groups and actors making their debuts in Dominion competition.

A year-old troupe from New Westminster, B.C., The Vagabond Players, walked off with the Festival Plaque for the best English production, excluding the Bessborough winner. Their presentation of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" was termed "very good".

Montrealers Take French Prize

First entry in the country-wide competition brought double honors for a French-language School of Drama, Le Conservatoire La-Salle of Montreal, which took the Festival Plaque for the best French production. The group's presentation of the Racine tragedy "Phedre" was a "memorable" performance for Mr. Hope-Wallace. To Madeline Sicotte who starred as the unhappy Queen, Phedre, he gave the best-actress award, the Nella Jefferis Trophy.

Another Montreal group, making its first entry in the competition, the Negro Theatre Guild, took home the Martha Allan Trophy, for the best visual presentation. This is the first year of the award and the Adjudicator gave it for what he termed was a "handsome presentation" of the powerful Eugene O'Neill drama "Emperor Jones."

New Honors For Editor

The festival brought new laurels to Canadian playwright Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner. Not only did Mr. Davies win the Louis Jouvet Trophy for his direction of the Peterborough Little Theatre's production of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," but he also won the $100 prize which goes annually to the author of the best Canadian-written work entered in the regional festivals.

The play, "Fortune My Foe," was produced by Ottawa Drama League, winning for the capital city group the Sir Barry Jackson Trophy given annually for the best Canadian-written production in the final festival.

W. A. (Bill) Atkinson, who did "extraordinarily" well as the disillusioned professor in the Ottawa Drama League's presentation of "Fortune My Foe," received the Henry Osborne Trophy. The award, to be made annual to the best actor in the Dominion-wide competition, was donated by friends of Col. Osborne of Ottawa, one of the founders of the festival, who died two weeks ago.

Full-Length Plays Only

The variety in length and type of plays chosen for competition was one point which Mr. Hope-Wallace introduced in his remarks at the close of the week of drama.

He wondered if it were really a festival or competition. In a competition, he suggested there should be a system of categories with awards for the best play of its kind.

"This is purely a harassed adjudicator's point of view," he said, with a smile. But at the same time, he pointed out the difficulty he had found in deciding from among the comedies, tragedies, short plays, and long plays, presented by the 12 competing groups.

On the length of play, at least, his wish has been fulfilled. Festival officials have decided that henceforth only full-length plays will be eligible in the Dominion contest.

Veteran Vessel Stoney Lake Changes Owners

The old "Stoney Lake" that used to tie up at George St. wharf in the summers, when navigation through the Kawarthas and the Trent was flourishing, is moving father off from the old home waters.

As the "Island Queen" of Kingston she has been sold to interests in Montreal and Lachine, Que. Four or five years ago this district saw the last of the sturdy "Stoney Lake" when Kingston buyers took her from her port of Young's Point for excursion and river cruising service on the St. Lawrence River. She was no doubt the best boat the Stoney Lake Navigation Company of Young's Point ever owned.

Capt. Pat Young identified her for the Examiner in the press note from Kingston today. Her steel hull was built in Toronto 35 to 40 years ago, was assembled and put together at Young's Point. The machinery was installed there, and the Stoney was finally launched, and for years was the pride of the Youngs and Capt. Scollard and her crew.

The last of the lake boats was the Islinda which has been idle since the fall of 1945. Far more people than ever before are coming into the Kawarthas every year, but the customs of the people have been entirely changed by the combination of motor cars and good roads, making almost every last lake and bay accessible.

4 Plays Share TopDramaHonor

OTTAWA, May 2 (CP)—Four plays, the creative brainchildren of amateur playwrights in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia, shared top honors in the country-wide playwriting contest by the Ottawa Drama League Workshop.

The winners—L. C. Money of Montreal, Mrs. F. E. Binns of Kamloops, B.C., Gerald Scott of Toronto and Mrs. J. L. Coupal of Ottawa—will divide some $225 prize money between them.

Their writing efforts were adjudicated by Charles Rittenhouse, prominent Montreal producer.

Six other Canadians received honorable mentions in the contest which the workshop has conducted annually for the last 11 years.

Mr. Rittenhouse admitted that he had a tussle picking from the score or more plays that were entered this year.

Each had their good points and faults. Mr. Money's "Elopement A La Mode" he found "an attractive period reproduction by someone with a lively admiration for Jane Austen's Bennets."

Mrs. Binns' "Amnesia" displayed "almost irreproachable" construction and writing ability.

The entry by Mr. Scott of Toronto "The Maplecroft," was the "most sensitive and 'Canadian' play in the contest."

Finally, of Mrs. Coupal's "When the Bough Bends," the adjudicator said "an intelligent audience should be griped by this drama and its thesis," that of alcoholism.

WHALE OF A CATCH—This is probably the largest fish Andrew Fougere, Shediac, NB, will ever find in his nets. Checking his catch this week Fougere found this 18-foot whale, weighing a ton and a half, trapped in the strands. Looping a rope around the tail of the whale, Fougere and his crew fought an hour and a half to drown the mammal before finally bringing it to shore.

Will It Be Love Or Brute Force Governing Man?

The world must decide whether love is to govern the relations of man or whether man will give in to the desires of the brute, the Very Rev. Dr. George Pidgeon declared Sunday evening when addressing the congregations of St. Andrews' and Trinity United Churches on the 116th anniversary of St. Andrew's. Dr. Pidgeon, the first Moderator of the United Church of Canada, spoke at morning and evening services at St. Andrews.

Love was not merely an attribute of God but was His very nature, Dr. Pidgeon said. This principle was a spark from the rock of reality.

Man was helpless owing to the consequences of his misdoings until God sent his son as the Saviour. The Father and Son were inseerably one in the sacrifice which was made in order that men might have that love in their own hearts.

Love was often thought of as a force demanding the sacrifice of all other things in life and wrecking the life that refused to submit. Every young pair wanted vows because they wanted the roots of their love to reach the character. Maintenance of love through the long years of wedlock depended on resoluteness. There were many couples who did not deserve the fidelity and devotion they expect because as soon as they were united they gave up all the things which kept love alive.

The greatest messengers of love were the missionaries. Many of them were in Communist China where conditions were changing from day to day.

Miss Jean Marie Scott, Toronto mezzo soprano, sang at morning and evening services.

The church was almost full to capacity at the evening service, which was followed by a social meeting at which the congregations met Dr. Pidgeon.

Thomas Gawley Marmora, Dies

MARMORA, May 2 (ENS) — The funeral of Thomas Gawley took place today. The service at the Marmora Free Methodist Church was conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. H. Bache, with Rev. L. C. Ball, district superintendent, delivering the sermon. Burial took place in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

Mr. Gawley's death occurred on Saturday. He had been in failing health for about ten years and became critically ill two weeks ago.

He was in his seventy-sixth year and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Gawley of Marmora Township. Two years ago he and his wife celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were married at the old Methodist parsonage, Eldorado, by the late Rev. H. B. Rowe. Following their marriage, Mr. Gawley took up farming on the farm at Malone now occupied by George Fox.

Went Out West

Then the urge came to go west and for two years they lived north of Weyburn, Sask. Returning to Marmora Township and to their former residence, Mr. Gawley was employed by the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Limited, for two years. Eventually he bought the old Laughlin Crawford farm where he remained ten years. His son-in-law, Wilbert Jones, purchased the property. They then resided for three years on the Cordova road near Beaver Creek bridge. In December, 1941, they came to reside on North Hastings Avenue in Marmora where they have lived up to the present time.

Besides his wife, he is survived by the following children: Clifford, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. Bert McCann, (Maggie), Belleville; Mrs. Frank Morrison (Mabel) Niagara Falls, Ont.; and Mrs. Wilbert Jones (Gladys) Marmora Township.

Leafs Divide Twin Bill With Syracuse

By The Associated Press

"Winning pitcher Bailey," an infrequent line in last season's Jersey City box scores, is becoming quite common in Giant games this International League season.

Wes Bailey, lanky 26-year-old righthander pitched the Giants into first place Sunday, as he blanked Montreal Royals 2-0 in a game halted at the end of five innings because of rain. The scheduled second game was postponed.

The victory was Bailey's fourth of the season against no defeats. Bailey stopped the Royals on four hits.

Al Widmar hard-working righthander of Baltimore Orioles also posted his fourth victory of the year as he beat Rochester Red Wings 10-1 in the second game of a doubleheader. The Wings captured the opener, 6-3.

Toronto Maple Leafs knocked Syracuse Chiefs out of first place into second by dividing a doubleheader with the Chiefs. The Leafs grabbed the opener 10-6 and the Chiefs the finale 7-2.

Trailing 6-2 going into the eighth inning, the Leafs blasted rookie Art Hartley and two successors for eight runs to sew up the first game. Big blow of the rally was recruit catcher Lew Heyman's three-run homer. Bob Usher, Sam Meeks and Frankie Drews homered for the Chiefs.

Usher paced the Chiefs to victory in the nightcap by banging out four hits including his second homer of the day. Usher socked out seven hits in nine trips in the two games, clouting three doubles in addition to his homers. Meeks also hit for the circuit in the windup.

Newark Bears and Buffalo Bisons battled to a 5-5 tie with the Bears deadlocking the issue with a two-run rally in the sixth inning before rain halted play. The scheduled second game was postponed.

On the hobby table were patchwork quilts, embroidery work, petite point pictures, wicker work, pen and ink drawings, paintings, figurines in plaster of paris and dried apple. There was wood work by Stewart Whetung, Terry Rowe, Michael Townsend and Dorothy Crapp.

A miscellaneous collection of Italian brass, Belgian pottery, Swiss carving, a German beerstein and a miniature baby beer mug complete with nursery rhyme were also displayed.

A collection of antiques included momentos of the early settlers. There was a shawl brought from the old country in 1825, a candle mould, silver tea pots handed down from mother to daughter, a black satin and lace apron, more than 100 years old, a pair of French vases, a tooth extractor, souvenirs of the Boer war, the First and Second World Wars.

William Webb of Lakefield showed colored photographs including the running water at Lakefield, Young's Point and Burleigh. A glove company and a mining company also gave displays.

Children Compete

The school children competed for five prizes in each room, a total of 10 points being given in writing, art, modelling and wood work. Entries in bird houses, coping saw and household furniture included small tables, ironing boards, wall brackets, lawn figures and knife box, etc. There was also a potato printing class and the cooking was open to boys and girls.

First prize in the chocolate cake class was won by Jimmy Dunford aged eight, of grade 3.

Sewing, knitting and examples of handwriting were exhibited. They included dolls dressed by their owners knitted scarves and caps. The juniors exhibited some fine pieces of plasterine and soap carving.

Competition prizes were awarded as follows: Junior room, Joan Townsend 1, John Darling 2, Eleanor Lloyd 3, Ruth Dewdney 4, and Nancy Duane 5. Junior room, Joan Freeburn 1, Ruth Tedford 2, Dorothy Clark 3, Bobby Tedford 4 and Mary Ellen Young 5.

The committee which was responsible for the function was headed by Walter E. Hinze, principal. Committee members were Mrs. H. B. Jackson, Joseph Traynor and G. Tedford.

Tea was served by Mrs. J. Jones and her committee. Miss Mary Spencer poured tea and was assisted by the Misses Margaret and Helen Dunford. Children had ice cream and soft drinks.

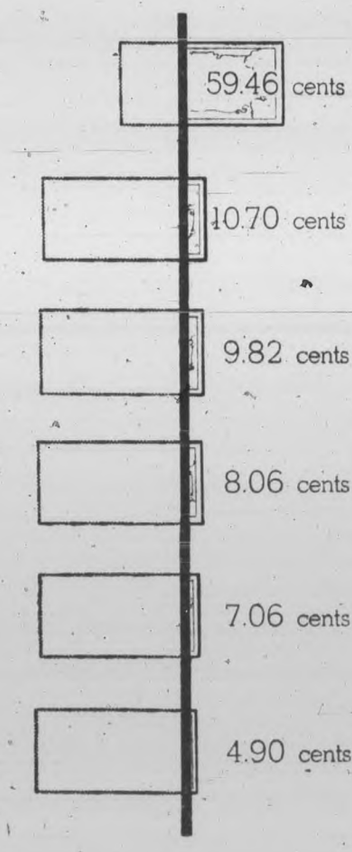
REMEMBER HALIFAX BIRTHDAY—The Post Office will issue June 21 this special stamp commemorating the 200th anniversary of Halifax. The stamp, from a painting by C. W. Jefferys, RCA, depicts the first building on the site in 1749.

Just before payday you've probably looked at what's left of your wages or housekeeping money and said: "Where does the money go?" A company must ask itself the same question, and each year provides the answer in its annual report.

The dollars we received last year—for gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil and other products—went this way:



Crude Oil and other raw materials we needed to make the products took the first big slice. Depending on where you live your oil may have come from Arabia, from South America, or from deep in the United States. In Canada only Alberta produced crude in quantity.

Manufacturing and packaging came next—complex and intricate refining operations are needed to make the hundreds of oil products which find thousands of uses in our homes and industries, on our highways, in the air and on the sea.

Transportation was the next big bite—products must move over wide areas to serve all communities in Canada.

Marketing was fourth. Marketing provides the products you need wherever you are—power, heat and lubricants for factory, farm and home. Marketing supplies that local businessman, the dealer; and if you're a fuel oil user, keeps oil in your tank!

Taxes to provincial and federal governments absorbed 7.06 cents. And this does not include gasoline tax, which—depending on where you live—takes from 22 to 35 cents out of every dollar you spend for standard grade gasoline.

Profit was 4.9 cents out of each sales dollar. From this we paid three cents to shareholders as dividends. The rest was used—together with a lot more money we borrowed and still more obtained by sales of investments—to help meet your increasing needs for oil!

Houses Passes Interim Funds Before Closing

OTTAWA, May 2 — (CP) — Parliament's life is ended, but the echoes of a turbulent session stretched today into the general election campaign and voting Monday, June 27.

Commons members leave behind them one of the moist boisterous sessions in Canadian parliamentary records, marked by the toughest jockeying in many years for position in the electoral race, and at the same time historic in many respects.

It had seen Louis St. Laurent and George Drew both take seats for the first time as prime minister and leader of the opposition. It had watched them duel brilliantly, at times roughly.

It was a session at which neither government nor opposition gave nor asked quarter.

But for all their differences, the legislators could bury the political hatchet in the cause of world peace, and both chambers did this to achieve unanimity in ratifying the Atlantic Treaty last week. The protective alliance went through on standing votes of both houses, with not a dissenting voice.

King's Valedictory

Not the least of the historic aspects of the session, perhaps, was that it witnessed the valedictory of Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, prime minister for more than 21 years.

Saturday's dissolution came quietly at about 1 p.m. EDT after a harried week of driving for the end of parliament to meet the electoral deadline for a June 27 election.

Just before that, the government obtained passage of $470,000,000 of "interim supply" funds to carry on the administration of business until the new parliament meets—and passage of five bills to set up companies to pipe oil and gas out of the Alberta fields.

As the house dissolved, there remained no indication of the date when parliament would be convened, though a fall session was certain.

Teresa Heffernan Is Bride Of Thomas Dolan Saturday

A lovely wedding in St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday morning was that of Mary Teresa Heffernan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip Heffernan, and Thomas Wilfred Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dolan. The Rev. P. P. Butler said the nuptial mass.

Daffodils and tulips decorated the church and red roses were on the altar table. Mrs. Cyril O'Donnel played the wedding music and Mrs. D. Campanaro sang during the ceremony and signing of the register.

The bride's gown was of 18th century white satin embellished with tiers of point d'esprit lace and trimmed with a bertha collar of nylon and lace. She wore a Queen Anne headdress trimmed with beads and baby pearls and carried a cascade of lilies and sweet peas. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Joseph Heffernan.

Matron of honor was Mrs. John Shaughnessy who was frocked in orchid embossed satin, and the bridesmaid was Mrs. Cyril O'Toole, sister of the bride, frocked in blue moire taffeta. They wore matching fan-shaped headdresses of net with shoulder-length veils with scalloped edge, and carried rings of yellow roses with pastel shaded sweet peas.

Mr. William Dolan was groomsman for his brother, and ushers were Thomas Heffernan, and Gerald Dolan, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held in the Empress Hotel, Mrs. Russell Little sister of the bride, received, gowned in blue crepe with accessories in dark brown. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore blue moire dress with navy accessories. Each had a shoulder bouquet of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolan flew to Cleveland after the ceremony and will later visit Buffalo and Toronto. For travelling the bride wore a three-piece ensemble of two-tone grey wool with gray straw hat trimmed with paddy green and accessories in green and grey. Her going-away corsage was of orchids.

On return the couple will live at 55 Armour Rd.

sisted by the groom's mother in grey crepe with red roses.

For her wedding trip to Chicago the bride changed to a navy ensemble and straw sailor hat. On return the couple will reside in Toronto.

Using Bread As Wraps For Wiener

By MARY MOORE

There is a great proportion of housekeeping money spent in bakeshops by housewives who want to serve their guests the nicest tidbits they can buy, made by professional bakers.

I wonder if enough of us explore all of the possibilities of using plain white bread for our parties—besides using it for sandwiches of course.

Last week I paid 36 cents for two boxes of finger rolls for hot dogs for a small party my children were having. If I had been on my toes I would have done what I am going to suggest to you today.

I have dubbed them

and think they are better than hot dogs because there is more dog and less bun—which is the ration I like. These are economical too, and most satisfying, and your husband and his friends will like them. They are hot, and crisp and juicy and mouth-watering—and what more can you ask?

Cut white bread in 5/8 to 3/4 inch slices and remove crusts. Wrap each slice around one weiner having corners overlap on top. Impale a pickled onion on a big toothpick at one end stick the free end through the bread and weiners to hold them firmly. Toast under broiler, having the broiler pan about 4 inches away from the heat, and the bottom heat turned on too. This takes longer, but heats and cooks the weiners through, toasts the bread just right. Pass mustard, when you serve these piping hot from the oven.

Cheese or Garlic or Poppy Seed Loaf

This is not original with men and I have suggested it to you before, but I have requests from readers and my own potential guests for it, and to serve it when they come to our house.

There are three good versions but for all of them you slice off five outside crusts of bread—leaving only the bottom slice on. Slice the bread 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick, but not through the bottom crust.

Have ready, about 1-inch slice of butter, slowly melted. With pastry brush, brush the slices black and front with it.

If you are using cheese sprinkle grated old cheese on and between the slices generously—use up about 2 cups grated cheese this way.

If you are using garlic it has to be ground or pounded or chopped so finely that it will brush on with the melted butter, with which you have mixed it.

If you are using poppy seeds sprinkle about 2 ounces of them on the buttered slices sprinkling top edges of slices generously.

Bake in oven of 300 deg. Fahr. until bread is hot and toasted at edges, and slices spread apart. If cheese is used loaf should be baked until cheese is melted and tinged with gold.

When you serve this you simply pass the hot toasted loaf on an oblong dish, and your guests bread off a slice (however, my guests usually discover that the leftover bottom crust is best, for it is saturated wth the melted butter).

Once I sprinkled this with the cinnamon-toast mix of cinnamon and brown sugar; this was one time when unexpected guests dropped in and I was planning to go to bed early and read—so it did not take long to slice that loaf, brush it with butter while Peter mixed the brown sugar and cinnamon.

I intend to mix cheese with thick Italian tomato paste and try that sometime. If it is good I'll tell you.

"Be Prepared" Is Advice At Nurses' Service

More than 60 nurses of the city who follow Protestant faith attended the Florence Nightingale memorial service in Murray St. Baptist church Sunday evening. Members of the profession throughout the nation hold his observance each year during May, the month of her birth. They also commemorate the nurses who lost their lives in two World Wars and rededicate themselves.

Former nursing sister Mrs. Harvie Ball (Betty Mathison) wore her unform of World War Two. Eighteen members of the Civic Hoespital graduating class were also in uniform.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan based the timely remarks in his address on the story of "Ten ladies and ten lamps" as given in St. Matthew. With a warning to be always ready and watching, he said "God makes a demand upon us for untiring and adequate preparation for our moment of life's destiny—our time of opportunity. He will give a special task to each one in His creation. When the person realizes the place that is appointed life reaches fulfilment of maturity."

"Greed and spitefulness of men has wrecked the world," he said in reference to the present disturbed condition. "We all know we cannot rebuild it. Our foremost leaders are failing as the situation continues to grow worse.

"Only God can build a better world. He alone can save us from the effects of atomic bombs and germ warfare. The more men try to solve the problem the more perplexed they become"

Rev. Morgan entreated the assembly to model themselves after the five sensible bridesmaids who carried additional oil for their lamps in vessels rather than the five stupid ones who missed the wedding entirely because of their lack of foresight.

"We wise. Prepare your bodies, minds and souls for the task of God, in his own way and his own time, will present to you," he concluded.

A reception for the nurses and their friends was held in the church parlors following the service. They were greeted by Miss A. L. Thomson, director of nursing at Civic Hospital, Rev. Morgan, Dr. A. J. Madill and Mrs. S. J. Graham, president of the Woman's Auxiliary.

A charming tea table was set with a gold damask cloth centred with an artistic arrangement of spring flowers, flanked with rows of lighted tapers. Refreshments were prepared by the WA and served by young adult members of the congregation.

to friends who presented a pressure cooker and a gift of money was given when friends met at the home of Mrs. Fred Johnson, RR 7, Peterborough.

Dorothy Henry Wed in Toronto

At Bloor Street United Church, Toronto, on Saturday, Dorothy Elizabeth Henry, daughter of Mr. W. J. Henry of Peterborough and the late Mrs. Henry, became the bride of Bruce Warren Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parker, Toronto. The Rev. Dr. George Pidgeon officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Ernest Howse.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white lace trimmed with satin and had a circular train. She wore a finger-tip veil falling from a bandeau of seed pearls and carried pink roses.

Attendants were Mrs. John Elton, matron of honor, Mrs. Mason Maitland and Miss Jean Lancaster, Peterborough, as bridesmaids. They wore nylon marquisette in blue, yellow and pink, and carried matching nosegays.

Groomsman was Mr. John Elton and ushers were Victor Soarks, Fred Hall and Mason Maitland.

During the signing of the register the Lawrence Dafoe choir sang "Lord's Prayer" and "I love you truly."

The reception was held in Alexandra Palace where the bride's sister Miss Helen Henry of Peterborough received wearing tombola crepe with coral roses at-

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Instinct Not Reason Rules Affections of Those in Love

DEAR MISS DIX — Do you think that love blinds one to the faults of another?

A DAILY READER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—In my opinion, so far as love between man and woman is concerned, it is entirely a matter of sex attraction and neither eyesight nor judgment plays any part in it whatever. We love or we hate by instinct. It is a matter of the heart, not of the head.

Dorothy Dix

A woman may see in a man every admirable quality and yet her vision of his imperfection will not make her love him. A man may perceive a woman to be the incarnation of all the feminine virtues, yet this abstract knowledge does not quicken his pulse nor send one thrill throught his veins.

On the contrary, a woman may observe with perfect clearness every defect a man has and love him none the less for them. A man may give his soul for the woman in whom he recognizes a thousand faults. It is part of the blindness of love that it does not require perfection of its object.

Not every adoring husband thinks his plain Maria a living picture, nor does his affection enable him to look into her mind and see an intelligence that the general public does not see and that, in reality, is not true. He sees her just ordinary and commonplace as she is, but he loves her just the same.

Love Them For Faults

If most of us would canvass the list of those we love best we would find that we convicted them of a thousand defects and weaknesses. Indeed, we do not love people for their perfections, but for their faults. The place, however, where love is not only blind, but has pads over its eyes, is in parental love. Men and women love each other in spite of their faults, but parents perceive no faults.

Blessed be love, for it enables us to be blind or farsighted at will.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — My wife and I were married when we were young and poor. We worked together very hard and saved our money. Now we have arrived, so to speak, and I would like to enjoy life. I would like to travel a bit and entertain in my home, but my wife is not willing to spend a penny. She is a perfect tightwad.

Is there any way that I can get her to loosen her grip on our money? We have plenty and we have no children to leave it to.

THE HUSBAND OF A PENNY-PINCHER.

ANSER — Women run to extremes, and when they are stingy they are incredibly tight-fisted. They get a perfect mania for saving. The highest joy that existence offers them is the entry in their bankbook, and to see this get bigger and bigger they are willing to sacrifice themselves and their families.

Evidently your wife belong to this group of feminine tightwads, and the hope of ever changing her is slight, because spending has become painful to her. Perhaps if you will make your wife understand that you are determined to get some enjoyment out of your money by travelling and entertaining, and tell her that she must either keep up with you or be left behind, she will loosen her grip on your pocketbook.

Possibly she may love you more than she does money, but I doubt it, for the passion of the miser for his hoard transcends all human affections.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Do you believe in a woman finding her mate through advertising? I am lonely and I have been thinking of getting a husband through one of the Lonely Heart Clubs, by mail.

What is your advice to me?

A. B. C.

ANSWER — For Heaven's sake don't be foolish enough to marry a man you have gotten through advertising for a husband. Think of the risk you would be taking in marrying someone you have never seen.

The papers have recently been full of a case of a man who married women and murdered them for whatever little money they had. He obtained his wives through answering the ads of silly women for husbands. It looks to me as if that should discourage the mail-order-husband business for a while, at least.

QUESTION: I would like you to tell me how to cook rhubarb without it breaking up. Can you make a "Betty" with rhubarb? —Amelia.

ANSWER:

Rosy Rhubarb (Double Boiler)

If possible it is best to use an enamel double boiler for this, but don't buy one for the purpose—use your aluminum or stainless steel one. Cut washed and trimmed rhubarb into 1-inch pieces. Place in top of double boiler. For each cup of cut-up rhubarb add 2 tablespoons sugar. Put over boiling water in bottom of double boiler, cover and let steam without stirring until rhubarb is tender. Chill without stirring, then pour out into serving bowl or dishes. You may require more sugar but since the rhubarb will not pack into a cup, actually for 6 cups rhubarb you are using ¾ cup sugar which is ample for most tastes.

Rhubarb Betty

Melt 4 tablespoons butter gently, remove from heat and stir into it 2 cups soft breadcrumbs and ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon each salt and nutmeg. Arrange this in alternate layers in baking dish with 4 cups raw rhubarb cut into ½-inch pieces, having crumbs on top. Bake about 40 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. This is delicious served with Devonshire cream.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Could I have your recipe for Apple Fritters cooked in deep fat? In England we served these with Lemon Sauce; could you give me this recipe too.—Sally Carson.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Apple Fritters

Batter: Sift together ½ cup flour, 1½ tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt. Beat 1 egg yolk, stir in 1-3 cup milk, add ½ tablespoon melted shortening, then the sifted flour mix. Beat until smooth and fold in the beaten white 1 egg. Pare core and slice good flavored apples—Spys for instance — and dip each slice separately into apple fritter batter, drain, then drop into hot fat at 375 deg. Fahr. Turn once, when under side is golden, and cook until puffed and golden. Remove from fat with skimmer and drain on unglazed paper, and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Do not cut apple slices thick or they will not cook before the batter is brown. Do not try to fry too many at once or you will reduce temperature of fat.

Lemon Syrup Sauce

In a saucepan mix ½ cup sugar, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1½ tablespoons cornsyrup and ¼ cup water. Boil this for 4 minutes, remove from heat, add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and ½ tablespoon butter. I like both fritters and sauce served as hot as possible. These are nice to serve when you have a light salad supper.

DIRECTIONS: There is no set rule about proportions of beef and kidney in the pot pie for the high-calorie meal, nor about which kind of beef or kidney to use. I prefer shin beef and beef kidneys. Some Old Country people insist on using flank or skirt steak and pork kidneys. In any case trim, cut into 1-inch pieces and soak the kidneys in cold water one-half hour. Cut beef in 1-inch cubes. Dry kidney and dredge both meats with salted flour. Saute 2 lbs. of meat in 4 tablespoons drippings until lightly browned on all sides, then cover with water, sprinkle with pepper and simmer until meat is almost tender. Turn into baking dish, cover with pastry or biscuit dough cut in rounds, and bake in oven of 475 deg. Fahr. until crust is done.

I think this idea of serving a shrimp sauce on an omelette is good, for it makes what might be an emergency meal into quite a tasty little feast. Keep a small tin of shrimps on hand for that time that some member of the family brings home someone unexpectedly.

Omelette With Shrimp Sauce

If this is to take the place of meat for dinner use at least 6 eggs for 4 people Separate yolks and whites, beat whites until stiff, then transfer beater, unwashed, to yolks and beat until very thick and lemon-colored. To the yolks add either ½ cup hot milk or boiling water, salt and pepper, then fold the whites into them. Pour into very hot pan in which is melted 2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat. Allow heat to be high for 1 minute, then reduce as low as possible for about 5 minutes. Dry off top of omelette in oven, if you have one. Fold over on hot platter to serve. Pour over it—

Shrimp Sauce: Make 1 cup medium white sauce, using the brine on the shrimps and evaporated milk to make 1 cup liquid. Use 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 tablespoons flour, blended together, then stir in the liquid. No salt is needed. Add trimmed shrimps, heat through.

Social Situations

SITUATION: A woman asks you a question concerning your husband's business affairs. You are not sure he would like to have you discuss them.

WRONG WAY: Answer the question but impress on her the fact that you prefer not to have what you say repeated.

RIGHT WAY: Sidestep the question. A wife can always feign ignorance of her husband's business affair if she wishes.

6—In Memoriams

EASON—In loving memory of Pilot Officer Richard Frederick Eason, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Eason, Keene, who was reported missing after operational flight off Dover, England, on May 1, 1944.
Into the void, and we cannot know,
We who must wonder and wait,
What happened in the fevered sky
As you gallantly braved your fate
You failed to return, God does it mean
For always, or just for a while
Shall we see again, when this is past,
You warm, remembered smile
Helplessly, helplessly waiting here,
The eternal question beats
Against the brain relentlessly,
As days trudge into weeks,
In the void—yet this we know!
That you are not alone
For the Lord Himself is by your side,
Leading you on toward home.
—Ever remembered by the family.

McLEAN—In loving memory of Mrs. John McLean.
Her smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall
She had a kindly word for each
And was beloved by all
Some day we hope to meet her
Some day we know not when
To clasp her hand in the better land
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed by her daughter Mrs. E. R. Stevenson.

THORNE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George A. Thorne, who passed away three years ago today, May 2nd, 1946.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden,
Sheltered from sorrow and pain,
Safe in God's wonderful keeping
Until we shall meet him again.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

VASS—In loving memory of a dear Husband and Father, Walter Vass who passed away very suddenly May 7, 1946.
When last we saw your smiling face,
You looked so bright and well
Little did we think dear Father
I was our last farewell.
There's a road called remembrance
Where thoughts and wishes meet
We take that road in thought to-day
To a loved one we cannot greet.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife, son and daughter.

Dr. R. K. Burns To Address Personnel Men

DR. R. K. BURNS

A dinner meeting, sponsored jointly by the Personnel Association of Peterborough and the Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for Tuesday at the Empress Hotel.

Guest speaker will be Dr. R. K. Burns of Chicago. Born in Alberta, he moved to the States in 1916. He attended the University of Washington, the Yangtze University in China, the London School of Economics in England, and received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

At present Dr. Burns is engaged by the Chicago University as executive officer of the Industrial Relations Centre. He is also Director of Personnel for all the plants of the Outboard Marine Corporation in the States and Canada.

The Personnel Association is a group of personnel managers from industry. When it was started a few months ago, George Barns of Canada Packers was elected as president with Reg. Reid, Outboard Marine, vice-president; Al Thompson, A. Wander Co., secretary-treasurer; and F. McMann, Port Hope, executive member.

The purpose of the Association is to promote better employee-employer relations in Peterborough industry. The group meets once a month to discuss mutual problems, and is undoubtedly doing a great deal of good work in this industrial city.

MAPLE LEAFAGE LATE

Sunday's warmer weather quickened the weaving of the drapery of leafage on the maple trees of the city. The extruding of foliage appear to be at least three weeks later than usual, but Dr. S. Y. Walsh's tulips, a bright spot on Charlotte St., at Rubidge St., were in gay bloom this morning.

BECOMES US CITIZEN

Dick Fowler of Toronto, star right-hander for the Philadelphia Athletics, will become a United States citizen today. Fowler, although a native of Toronto, has been living for some time at Oneonta, N. Y.

The 27-year-old is one of the three Canadians on the A's Club. The others are Phil Marchildon and Hank Biasatti, reserve first baseman.

Overcome By Smoke Student Recovered

LONDON, ONT., May 2—(CP)—Geoffrey Caldwell, 21-year-old universiy of Western Ontario student, was released from hospital overnight after recovering from effects of smoke suffered while fighting a fire in a dwelling early Sunday.

Caldwell is the son of a Prescot, Ont. industrialist and on several occasions has been the escort of skating star Barbara Ann Scott.

With two other students, Caldwell successfully fought a blaze that swept a clothes closet in their rooming house.

Falls In Crevice

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N.H., May 2—(AP)—Rescue workers today searched for a skier who slipped and fell into a 100-foot crevice. The skier, identified as Dr. Paul H. Schiller, 40, was believed killed in a fall down a crack formed by melting snow. Dr. Schiller, former head of the psychology department at the University of Budapest, came to the United States two years ago.

WINS BOWLING TOURNEY

At Toronto, Percy West of Woodstock, won the Canadian Bowling Association open tournament championship Saturday with a record 1,125 score. The former mark was 1,108.

Tommy Sutcliffe, of Toronto, with 2,589, won the men's high aggregate. Harry Moggach and Al Ornhang of Montreal captured top honors in the men's doubles with 1,800. Jean Bruce and Len Ostan of Ingersoll, Ont., triumphed in the mixed doubles with a score of 1,645.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

There was an attempted burglary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Kingan, 46 Kingan Ave., Saturday night, only a few days after the couple left for a visit to Europe. After entering the house through a window the intruders must have been disturbed, for they left without taking anything from the house.

FREE HEAT

Natural hot water for many of Iceland's volcanic springs is piped to provide heat for office buildings, homes and public swimming pools.

Former Apsley Woman Dies After Accident

APSLEY, May 2 (ENS)—Mac Hastings received the news last week that his sister, Mrs. Harry Reed, had died in Hamilton Hospital following an injury received when she was struck by a truck on a Hamilton street two weeks previously.

Mrs. Reed had spent three years as a resident of Apsley and, by her mild and helpful manner, endeared herself to all residents.

While here she was a valued member of Women's Association and choir of Trinity United Church and the Apsley branch of the Women's Institute.

Hold Card Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Canadian Legion Branch No. 381, held a successful card party in the Legion Hall recently. There were eleven tables in play. High score winners were Mrs. Martin Reddick and Russell Booth. Consolation prizes went to Irene McIlmoyle and V. Reddick. A number from Mount Julian attended the card party.

Independent Liberals In Trinity Riding

TORONTO, May 2 (CP)—An Independent Liberal party organization has been set up in Toronto Trinity riding, it was announced Sunday night by Frank Feeney. He said it is formed of Liberals who were barred recently from a meeting of the Toronto Central Liberal Association.

Mr. Feeney said the Independent group's nomination meeting will probably be held after the nomination meeting of the official Trinity riding association. Two persons have already been chosen as possible Independent Liberal candidates in the Federal election June 27.

Dog's Owner Collects $200

At least one dog's food is going to increase in amount and quality Monday for Perky collected nearly $200 in his pyramid club Sunday night. This amount is only temporary as the full returns have yet to come in. His master expects that when all the money is collected the amount should be about $300 or more.

In desperation, when one of the members of the pyramid club his master belongs to dropped out, Perky's name was substituted. Now its a case of "Who's Gnashing Whose Teeth."

The dog's owner expects to collect a goodly sum Monday night with his wife collecting Tuesday night.

"MAN . . . what Pleasure!"

Yes, it's certainly a pleasure to wear Watson's S'port Short. The fabric is soft, the fit is perfect, and the full elastic waistband adds to your comfort—which is increased by a firm elastic support that's part of this garment. No buttons to come off. Easy to launder. No ironing. Ask for Watson's "372".

Watson's "555" Criss Cross French Shorts have a somewhat less firm masculine support which you may prefer. Otherwise these shorts have the same desirable qualities as No. "372".

GOOD CITIZENSHIP
is a lot of little things

THIS IS NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

A Free Press is one of the privileges of Democracy. Canadian newspapers, almost without exception, are examples of free enterprise—reporting the news truthfully, without bias . . . without censorship. As a citizen, the press is not only your eyes and your ears but also your mouth. Your opinions, expressed verbally or by letter will be welcomed by the editor—and published, should they be considered in the public interest. Your newspaper, perhaps more than any other single medium, teaches our people the real meaning and value of "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Judy Garland Going Strong Without Lessons

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 2 (AP)—For most of her life, people have been telling Judy Garland she will lose her voice if she doesn't stop singing so loudly. Today she is still going strong—and as loud as ever.

In one of her rare moments of talking about herself for print, Judy reflected on her voice:

"When I was a kid in vaudeville, people would say I'd lose my voice before I got much older. That alarmed my mother, so she sent me to a vocal coach.

"The first lesson had me trying to blow off a piece of paper pasted on my forehead. 'Breath control,' she said. Next she had me singing with a pencil in my teeth. 'Poor diction' she said. I told her I didn't usually sing with a pencil in my teeth"

When Judy revolted against such methods, the teacher said, "you don't want to sing like Kate Smith, do you?"

"If I'm lucky, yes," 12-year-old Judy replied.

Not a Lesson Since

She hasn't had a lesson since. She can't even read music today. Her new songs are played or sung to her and she catches on that way.

And though she has danced with Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly on the screen, she has never had a dancing lesson.

"I think a lot of your talent is dried up by too many lessons," she said in an interview on the "Annie Get Your Gun" set. 'If you've got it, it usually comes out anyway."

To use the words of one of the "Annie" songs, Judy has made her way by doin' what comes naturally. It has done well by her, too; she is one of the screen's highest-paid stars.

The main thing to remember about Judy is the fact that she has been in show business continually since she was three.

17 Fatalities Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

The mystery-death of a 20-year-old St. Catharines girl and the death of a test pilot at Malton Airport, near Toronto, were among 17 week-end fatalities recorded in Eastern Canada by The Canadian Press.

Police are still seeking the cause of death of Joyce Patterson, whose fully-clothed body was taken from the old Welland canal a short distance from the girl's home at St. Catharines.

Test pilot Robert Weber, 23, of Guelph, died Saturday soon after he was taken from the wreckage of a surplus United States Air Force training plane at Malton Airport, near Toronto. The plane dived 800 feet after its motor failed.

Mrs. Ida Ritchot, 39, a Canadian Customs inspector, drowned in a car which plunged into the Richelieu river at Noyan, Que., and the body of Earl Doyle, 32, was found at Amherst, NS, after he had been missing on a fishing trip.

William Amer, 27, was fatally injured in a mine cave-in near Sudbury and in Windsor eight-year-old Rosemary Lowes died in hospital from burns suffered when her pyjamas caught fire four weeks ago.

Dies From Fumes

Abraham Lincoln Mills, 83, Merrickville, Ont., undertaker, was asphyxiated Sunday from coal gas fumes in his home. Alex Chisholm, 74, of South Porcupine was hit by a train entering the station at that Northern Ontario town and in Montreal Aime Rufiange, 19, died of injuries suffered Thursday in a factory.

Eight of the deaths were caused in highway mishaps.

Mrs. Victoria Desbiens of Dalton, Ont, was fatally injured in a three-car collision on the Hull-Montreal highway 15 miles east of Hull, Que. Arthur Picard, 36, was crushed between a motorcar and telephone pole near Montreal and in Bridgetown, NS, Elsworth Eldridge, 84, died in hospital. He was hit by a truck April 27. Two-year-old Marcelle Robinson was struck by an auto in Montreal.

Michelene Lacombe, four, was crushed under the wheels of a backing truck at Hawkesbury, Ont., and in Niagara Falls five-year-old William Secord was hit by a car Saturday.

Kalman Nagypal, 50, was knocked from a farm tractor at a Windsor street intersection and in Toronto Gerald Pickes, 15, fell against the side of a truck when his bicycle wheel caught in a street car track.

Average Hollander Upset About Indonesia's Freedom

By NEL SLIS

THE HAGUE, May 2—(AP)—Three years of fighting in Indonesia and worldwide expressions of disapproval of the Netherlands stand have not changed the average Hollander's basic feelings on that issue.

He still asserts he and his government are morally right.

The Hollander feels strongly that his cultural and economic ties with the Indies should not be snapped suddenly.

The Hollander pictures himself as an exemplary colonizer and claims, as if with parental pride, that he helped develop the Indies for the world's enrichment.

It can safely be said that only a small minority of the population in this country favors an immediate transfer of sovereignty to the Indonesians.

The Hollander is irritated at the continued strife in Indonesia. Looking upon Indonesia as child, he professes that the child should have independence, but not prematurely. Rightly or wrongly, he takes pride in the fact that little Holland with its 10,000,000 population has ruled a vast, sprawling territory across the world — an empire with 72,000,000 subjects.

15% of Income

Before the war, Indonesia was responsible for 15 per cent of the Dutch national income, in return on investments, shipping services and trade in products. Dutch annaul profits amounted to $160,000,000 on an estimated investment of $1,000,000,000.

But ties with Indonesia over the centuries were not merely economical. The Dutch freely intermarried with the Indonesians. There are many brown-eyed Eurasion types among the blue-eyed, fair-haired Hollanders.

The Dutch believe that Britain snapped her ties with India and Burma prematurely and they do not want a similar experience.

Queen Juliana is deeply concerned over the problem. But being a constitutional monarch, she expressed only the approved policy of her minister. She has been helpful in holding a coalition labor-Catholic government together thorugh the stress brought on by the Indonesian issue.

Government officials have said that loss of Indonesia would not only strike a blow to the Netherlands but also at the reconstruction program of Western Europe. They argue that Indonesia has long been important to Western Europe as a supplier of basic foodstuffs and raw materials, and as a valuable market for European goods.

British Army Plans Biggest Peace Show

LONDON, May 2 — (AP) — The British Army this summer will hold its biggest manoeuvres since the end of the war.

They coincide with extensive fleet exercises by warships from most of the Atlantic-pact powers.

A War-office spokesman said the army exercises probably would involve between 200,000 and 300,000 men here and in Germany and continue on and off in both countries for six weeks to two months.

"There is a possibility that some new army weapons developed by the Ministry of Supply may be tried out during some phase of the manoeuvres," a spokesman said.

REPORT PLOT AGAINST ALLIED WARSHIPS

Will Tie Canada's Defence More Closely With U.S. Need More Trade—Claxton

Plan to Standardize Arms, Battle Orders To Increase Co-operation, Organize Production of Speedy American Jet

DETROIT, May 3 (CP)—Canada is going to tie its defence plans more closely with those of the United States, Canada's Defence Minister, Brooke Claxton said Monday. To do it, he told the Economic Club of Detroit, there must be "closer integration in trade with your country."

Canada was the best customer of the United States, importing nearly as much as 20 Latin countries combined, but "only too often our growing manufacturing industries find themselves excluded from American markets. And yet it is our very industrialization that makes Canada your best customer."

He cited three ways in which defence plans between the two countries were being standardized:

1. Canada was turning from the traditional .303-calibre rifle for the army to the American 30-calibre rifle.

2. Canada will start production of the F86, speedy American jet fighter, and hopes "that additional arrangements along similar lines will be possible."

3. Canadian forces have switched from British to U.S. "communications systems, battle procedure and battle orders."

Great Difficulty

The Dominion discovered during the Second World War that "large delays and great expense were caused through our having to make weapons and equipment to British designs but according to North American industrial techniques, procedures and even industrial standards."

Full defence partnership between the two countries involved "closer integration in trade with your country," he said.

". . . American tariffs are much more effective in shutting out Canadian goods than our tariffs are in excluding yours. Only by expanding our exports to your country can we maintain Canadian-American trade at present levels. And to do this, some lowering of trade barriers and a more flexible administration of tariffs should be worked out."

Prepare Plan To End Blockade Within 10 Days

NEW YORK, May 3 (CP) — Russia today was expected to be presented with a western-powers' plan to end the Berlin blockade within 10 days.

An authoritative source said Britain, France and United States Monday shaped the proposal, which included calling a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers—probably starting the last week in May—to try to settle the whole German problem.

Philip C. Jessup, United States Ambassador-at-Large, was asked by the representatives of the two other western powers to transmit the joint proposals of Jakob A. Malik, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister.

The source, who declined to be identified, said Jessup might have met Malik Monday night in the eighth of a series of secret conferences which started Feb. 15.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain and Jean Chauvel of France were called into conference by Jessup Monday in the offices of the United States delegation to the United Nations.

The three diplomats decided, the source said, to tell Malik that they believed the time was ripe for Britain and France to be brought into the talks which Jessup has been holding alone with the Russian representative.

Take Over Store To Display Loot

COLLINGWOOD, May 3—(CP)—Ontario Provincial Police have taken over a former shoe store here to display tons of loot recovered recently at the nearby Georgian Bay summer resort of Wasaga Beach.

Robbery victims from all over Ontario will be allowed to "shop" for their stolen articles. The store, however, is not big enough to hold all of the $300,000 loot which includes jewels, a walk-in refrigerator, steel beams, and plumbing fixtures. Lady Eaton has identified the jewelry as articles stolen from her home at King. They were found Monday by a seven-year-old boy in an outhouse at the Beach.

Gordon Barrett who owns a 14-room lodge at the Beach was charged with receiving stolen goods, following the discovery of another cache last Tuesday. Police said the goods represented hauls made as long ago as 1947.

Turkeys Get House Nine People Evicted

TORONTO, May 3 — (CP)— Charles Hannah, his wife and seven children are living today in a small tent in a field at nearby Dixie, only a stone's throw from the house from which they were evicted Monday because the owner Tony Kri wants it to raise turkeys.

The family spent Monday night in the tent with their belongings and furniture piled in the field. A deputy sheriff from Brampton had directed Mr. Hannah's two brothers to assist him in loading the household furniture into trucks and evict the Hannah family.

"If something isn't done I'm going over to the Brampton court house and leave all the children here," Mrs. Hannah said. "They've moved us out of a six-room house to make room for a lot of turkeys."

Freight Derailed

INGERSOLL, May 3 (CP) —The eastbound C.N.R. main line at nearby Beachville was expected to be cleared tonight from wreckage resulting in Monday's freight train accident when a 50-car freight train crashed into a string of standing box cars. The westbound line was cleared Monday night. Today, single track traffic was operating between Ingersoll and Beachville.

Russia Plans To Borrow Four Billions

LONDON, May 3—(AP)—Russia today announced plans to borrow 20,000,000,000 rubles (about $4,000,000,000 at the Russian imposed rate) from its own people to spur its national economy.

Interest will be paid in lottery prizes, a customary practice in Russia.

Moscow radio gave details of the loan, fourth since the war, in a Russian-language broadcast heard in London by the Soviet Monitor.

The loan is to be paid off in 20 years.

The Soviet council of ministers, announcing the loan, said it was being made "in order to attract the means of the population for the fulfillment of the state plan of rehabilitation and development of the U.S.S.R. national economy in the fourth year of the post-war five-year plan and for the fulfillment of the entire five-year plan to economic and cultural construction ahead of time."

The amount of the loan is to be raised by the sale of bonds to Russian citizens. The bonds will carry four-per-cent interest, but all interest will be paid in the form of lottery prizes to holders of one-third of the bonds which are drawn in twice-yearly lotteries.

The holders of the two-thirds of the bonds not drawn in lotteries will receive only the face value of their bonds at the end of the 20 years. Winners have their bonds redeemed and get no second chance to win the same ticket.

Top lottery prize is 50,000 rubles. Other prizes are from 25,000 down to 200 rubles on bonds of 100 ruble denomination. Rubles are worth about 20 cents each.

HINTON, W. Va., May 3—(AP)—Seven persons perished today when fire swept through a two-family frame house.

Fire Captain John Lively said it burned so quickly all seven of the sleeping occupants were trapped without a chance of escape.

The bodies recovered were identified as those of:

Mrs. Anna June Deeds, 24-year-old divorcee, and her two children, Drema Kay, four, and Hazel Joyce Deeds, six; Mr. and Mrs. James Ellison and their three-month-old daughter, Diana Frances, and Homer Tincher, about 30 a visitor.

Fear Deep-Sea Strike Crippling Steel Industry

By The Canadian Press

With three ore-carrying freighters tied up in Halifax, the possibility of the deep-sea shipping strike affecting Cape Breton's steel industry was reported at Sydney, N.S. Monday by an official of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

Describing the situation as "serious" the official said that if production is curtailed because of a shortage of ore some of Dosco's 4,200 workers might have to be laid off.

Three of four freighters that normally carry ore from mines at Bell Island, Nfld., to Sydney, became strike-bound in Halifax on their annual trip there for repairs. In Halifax, it was reported the Seafarers International Union (AFL) were preparing to man the freighters.

Other developments Monday in the struggle for control of shipping jobs between the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) and the rival SIU included the manning of another ship by the SIU at Quebec City. The strike, now in its second month, was called by the allegedly Communist-led CSU after east coast shipowners signed an agreement with the SIU.

A CSU organizer at Quebec said the Saguenay Terminals freighter Sunray was manned by SIU men from Montreal who were escorted part way by police in radio cars. An attempt to intercept the SIU motorcade nine miles shy of Quebec was unsuccessful, the CSU spokesman said. The CSU crew left the Sunray under police guard, and the ship sailed later for Port Alfred, Que., with its cargo of bauxite.

In Montreal, Clem Anson, General Manager of the Sydney, N.S., steel plant of the Dominion Steel and Coal Company, said there was no danger that the strike might result in a cut of steel production.

Freda Linton Liberated, No Evidence

If Tie-up Uncovered With Espionage Will Press Charges

MONTREAL, May 3 (CP) — Freda Linton was liberated—the Crown stressed this was not acquittal—today on charges of conspiracy to violate Canada's Official Secrets Act.

Philippe Brais, K. C., special Crown prosecutor told the court that police investigation showed Miss Linton's association with others connected with the Soviet espionage ring in Canada "did not link her in any overt act."

Therefore, he said, the Crown was obliged to withdraw its charges against Miss Linton "for the present."

However, the Crown prosecutor added, if in the future evidence should be uncovered to show that Miss Linton actually committed an offence against the Official Secrets Act, "charges will be brought against her."

Return Bail

Miss Linton's bail of $2,500 on which she had been free after her arrest April 11 after surrendering to police and ending a hide-out period of more than three years, was returned to her and she was formally released.

Speaking to newspaper men afterwards, Miss Linton said:

"I am very glad that the government has at last decided to follow a fair and impartial course in my case by dropping all the charges against me."

"It shows, I believe, that the statements made about me in the Royal Commission (on espionage) report were entirely unfounded."

Mr. Brais said the Crown decided to withdraw its charges following study of the decisions of the Ontario Court of Appeal in the cases of James Scotland Benning and Dr. Henry Harris of Toronto who were acquitted on appeal of their convictions of violating the Official Secrets Act.

The Crown prosecutor said the basis for reversing the convictions against the two men was that no "overt act" was proved linking both men with the espionage network. This condition applied too in the case of Miss Linton.

3 Movie Stars Safe In Flood

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, May 3 (AP)-Film stars Tyrone Power, Orson Welles and Linda Christian are safe today in flood-ravaged Morocco.

But Cecile Aubry, 17-year-old French film actress, was missing and at least eight persons were reported dead in the flood area, which includes Algeria.

(In Paris, the newspaper France Soir said today Miss Aubry was safe after being marooned for three days in an Arab village. The paper quoted French army authorities in Marrakech.)

Miss Aubry, appearing with Power and Welles in a motion picture, failed to return from a sightseeing tour Friday.

French soldiers helped police in the search today as the skies cleared after three days of heavy rain.

Power and his wife, Linda Christian, were safe to Toufliat, 25 miles from Quarzazate. They are guests of a Moroccan aristocrat there.

Pope Will Receive Princess Margaret

VATICAN CITY, May 3.—(AP)—A source close to the Vatican Secretariat of State said today Pope Pius would receive Princess Margaret during her stay in Rome.

The Princess, on a month's holiday in Italy, will leave Sorrento Thursday for Rome.

Before she left Britain, two Protestant organizations asked the King to see that his 18-year-old daughter did not have an audience with the Pope.

"The long historical struggle against Papal influence in the reigning house" of Britain was cited. The protesting bodies were the Protestant Truth Society of Britain and the National Union of Protestants in Northern Ireland.

WARM WEATHER DELIGHTS—This is a common scene at this time of year when the sun really gets hot and children find their last year's sail boats and make their way down to the neighborhood park for a pleasant Sunday afternoon. This young captain and his mate would agree, I'm sure, if you asked them.

Picton Troops To Attack Atomic Plant

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Chalk River's atomic pilot plant, one of the country's choicest military targets, will come under air attack this week, but it will be much ado about nothing.

Soldiers from the anti-aircraft artillery school at Picton, will be moving up the highway to the big army base at Petawawa, when, theoretically, the enemy pounces and they strike back.

Equipped with four radar sets and both heavy and light guns, they were in the midst of an eight-day training exercise that takes them to Petawawa for shooting practice on its ranges.

The mock attack on Chalk River is woven into the movement of the troops from Picton to Petawawa.

The officers in charge will consider the soldiers as representing two full anti-aircraft regiments operating with an infantry division in defence of Chalk River. At the same time, it will be considered that two other choice targets—the nickel mine at Sudbury and the canal at Sault Ste. Marie—are under attack, too, only in this case it will be even more theoretical.

Both their attackers and defenders will be mythical.

Canadian Exports Down $13,200,000 In 1949

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—Canadian exports for the first three months of this year are down from a year ago. The Bureau of Statistics reported Monday that value of exports to all countries for the first quarter was $658,800,000, compared with $672,000,000 in 1948.

However, value of goods sent to the United States increased during that period by 10.5 per cent to $345,150,000 compared with $312,333,000 a year ago.

The over-all decline was the result of a lower volume of goods sent to the United Kingdom and Europe during January, February and March.

Canada's total domestic exports during March were valued at $216,800,000 compared with $228,400,000 in the same month a year before. The month's decline followed a small increase during January and a slightly larger increase during February.

Exports to the United States during the month were to the value of $122,418,000 compared with $112,519,000 in March, 1948, representing an increase of 8.8 per cent for the month.

March exports to the United Kingdom were $39,498,000—down one third from last year when $59,182,000 in goods were sent. First quarter total was 139,435,000 compared with $175,790,000 in the comparative period of 1948.

Can't Decide How Girl Died

ST. CATHARINES, May 3—(CP)—Investigation into the death of 20-year-old Joyce Patterson, whose body was found in the old Welland Canal, has failed to establish whether she died as a result of an accident, foul play, or suicide, acting police inspector James Anderson said Monday.

Police found the body Sunday after an intensive search since Thursday night when the young rug-factory worker disappeared en route home from visiting a nearby friend.

The bicycle on which the girl travelled the two-mile road home was found on the path near the canal. Subsequent reports of several youths seen in the vicinity late that night led police at first to suspect foul play.

Police said Monday they could find no cause for suicide. Joyce was cheerful Thursday night when she left her friend—21-year-old Grace Hadlow—and was looking forward to a trip to New York.

An autopsy revealed water in her lungs. There were no marks of violence on her body. No inquest will be held, police said.

Say Red Plan To Block Sea Channel

Communists Capture City of Kwangteh, Lose Six Battleships

SHANGHAI, May 3 —(AP)— British, United States and French naval craft left the Shanghai waterfront because of a reported Communist plot to block their passage to the sea, a United States navy spokesman said today.

The spokesman, from the staff of United States Vice-Admiral Oscar C. Badger, said "reliable sources" told the United States navy that Communists planned to scuttle a ship near Woosung, the Chinese Nationalist garrison, that would have blocked the larger ships from the sea.

The spokesman evidently disclosed this "plot" to offset accusations that the United States navy had "run out" on Communist theatened Shanghai.

Warned Twice

Details of the "plot" came from the same source which had previously tipped the navy the Communists had a similar plan to bottle up naval vessels in Tienstin earlier this year, the spokesman said.

The navy evacuated numerous persons from Tientsin shortly before the city fell and the route to the sea was cut.

The navy spokesman said the Woosung "plot" was "nipped in the bud." He declined to give details saying it was a Chinese matter.

He said after the plot was "nipped" the American President Lines liner President Wilson came up to the Shanghai waterfront past the Woosung garrison. The Wilson tied up at a bund pier and evacuated 300 persons after an overnight stay.

Capture Kwangteh

Kwangteh, important city midway between Wuhu and Hangchow, has been captured by Red troops, the Peiping Communist radio said today.

The radio claimed victory for the Communists in a battle on the borders of Kiangsu-Anhwei and Chekiang provinces. The radio said 2,400 Nationalists were captured.

The report has not been confirmed by any other source.

Windsor Tough Spot For Circus Artists

WINDSOR, May 3. — (CP). — Windsor air must be tough on circus and carnival performers.

Monday night Capt. Roman Proske, operator of one of the world's only tiger farms, was clawed by one of his trained tigers during a circus performance. He required medical treatment.

A week ago a snake handler with a carnival had to go to hospital for treatment for a bite from a python and last week-end another carnival employee died of a heart attack just after the show had closed.

Pumps 7 Hours, Saves Wife In Iron Lung

Motor Breaks Down On Train Trip, No Replacement Parts Available

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—Mrs. Shirley Palmer is alive today because her husband, Bob, is a deft hand with a beer-can opener.

Mrs. Palmer, 27, a pretty strawberry blonde, lay in a portable "iron lung" in a pullman bedroom here and smiled as her 31-year-old husband told the story.

Mrs. Palmer was stricken with infantile paralysis eight months ago.

She is en route from Los Angeles to the Biggs Memorial Hospital, Ithaca, N. Y., for treatment.

As the train sped eastward Sunday from Laramie, Wyo., the armature of the electric motor which operated the "iron lung" air pump began to smoke. Nurse Margaret Aylward switched the lung from the train's power circuit to that of a two-hour battery supply.

The train conductor wired ahead to Cheyenne, Wyo., where several electricians boarded the train. Then Palmer began what was to be a marathon of more than 10 hours working the lung pump by hand.

He disconnected the electric motor arm which operates the pump bellows, skipped a handle over a steel pivot pin and, squatting beside the apparatus, worked the pump up and down. Nurse Aylward counted "one-two-three-four, one-two-three-four" in a monotonous chant to guide his timing.

Are Burned Out

"The electricians found that the armature was burned out," Palmer said. "They wired ahead to North Platte, Neb., for a new armature or a new power and pump unit. Meanwhile I sat there and pumped until the handle bent.

"Then I began to wonder what I was going to use for a new handle. I had the can opener handy, and it had a little hole through the end of it which slipped over the pin nicely. So, I slipped it on and used it as a handle."

There were no replacement parts at North Platte, but the Omaha fire department wired the train that it had a new pump unit.

Only when Omaha firemen brought the new unit aboard the train and hooked it up did he stop his even rhythm—17 pressure changes a minute.

Urges Raw Materials Sent To Canadian Market To Balance Sterling Trade

LONDON, May 3—(CP)—Britain Monday was urged by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canadian Trade Minister, to encourage Colonial and other Commonwealth countries to ship raw materials to Canada as a means of balancing trade between Canada and the sterling area. Speaking at the opening of the British Industries Fair, Mr. Howe said in an address prepared for delivery that the post-war increase in the volume of goods going to Canada from the sterling countries, outside the United Kingdom was "disappointingly small."

He said there was an unbalance of between £75,000,000 ($300,000,000) and £100,000,000 ($400,000,000) in the trade between Canada and the sterling area, and it was "unrealistic" to think the difference could be made up by expanding the sale to Canada of manufactured goods from the U.K. alone.

Speaking generally of the fair, Mr. Howe said his presence here was "one more evidence of our common dsire to promote and foster a strong and healthy trade between our two countries."

Congratulates Britain

He congratulated Britain on the progress she was making in getting back on her feet economically, and he also spoke warmly of the co-operation between Canada and the UK in economic matters.

Pointing out that Canada's exhibit at the Fair stressed the Dominion as a customer of Britain's rather than as a salesman, Mr. Howe declared Canada's basic policy now is to sell more to the United States and buy more from Britain.

He hoped that the Fair would point the way to British exporters for new market opportunities in Canada. The Dominion offered unparallelled opportunities for absorbing exports from the United Kingdom.

Building Strike Toronto Threat

TORONTO, May 3 —(CP)—A laborer's union today set a deadline for tomorrow for a city-wide construction strike which would tie up 46 projects employing 5,000 men.

Mike Nicols, organizer of the Construction Laborers Union (A.F.L.), said a strike now in progress would spread to other projects unless the Toronto Builders Exchange agrees to grant the union a modified closed shop agreement.

The strike of Toronto building construction workers continued to spread today as 250 laborers and skilled craftsmen walked off their jobs at the new Bank of Nova Scotia site at downtown Bay and King Streets.

"We are ready to tie up all building in the city," Nicols said. "All we lack is enough picket signs."

The Construction Laborers' Union (AFL) Monday pulled its members off two big construction jobs, the new Hospital for Sick Children at University Avenue and the new Bank of Montreal building at Bay and King streets. Workers in other trades refused to pass picket lines at these jobs.

The union said pickets would be placed around all other local construction jobs if no agreement is reached in its dispute with the Toronto Builders Exchange, representing the contractors.

The union demands a modified union shop which would compel all laborers now employed by member firms of the Builders Exchange to join the AFL union as a condition of employment.

The Builders Exchange said that its member contractors have refused to sign an agreement because the AFL union does not represent the majority of employees.

Violence Reported On Orillia Picket Line

ORILLIA, May 3—(CP)—Violence flared briefly Monday in the picket line surrounding the Heywood-Wakefield Company plant here when non-striking employees crossed the picket line in cars.

Police said one of the strikers opened the door of one of the cars and swung at the driver but was pulled away by police. No arrest was reported.

The picket line was opened by police to allow office workers and management and a handful of non-striking workers, mainly maintenance men, to enter at noon and leave at the end of the day. The company manufactures baby carriages.

Grasshoppers Said Worst In Ten Years

REGINA, May 3 (CP)—Saskatchewan's 125,000 farmers, after 10 years of good crops and prices, seem faced with their severest test since the drought-ridden '30s when many left the prairies in despair.

The biggest grasshopper plague in 10 years has been forecast. The Agriculture Department Monday reported the first grasshoppers of the type which caused crop damage were found hatched at Lewsford near the Alberta border.

Dust storms have swept the southern part of the province with a severity unexperienced since the '30s. Ditches in the Swift Current district in the southwest corner of the province, are filled with valuable top soil and farmers in the area are waiting for rain before they seed crops.

An unidentified farmer of the Allan district, 30 miles southeast of Saskatoon said dust storms had blown away top soil, exposing millions of grasshopper eggs securely anchored to the hard earth. The farmer said he had decided to quit farming and had begun to sell his equipment.

Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollett said the hopper menace at present overshadows the possibility of a drought year. Eight hundred carloads of poison bait are available for immediate use.

In its first crop report this year, the Provincial Agriculture Department said 30 per cent of Saskatchewan's anticipated 15,800,000 acre spring wheat crop and 10 per cent of the coarse grains already is seeded.

The wheat seeding was about three weeks earlier than a year ago. Sub-soil moisture was generally "poor to fair."

Industrials, Golds Show Slight Drop

TORONTO, May 3 (CP) — Prices moved narrowly in moderately active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials and golds tended slightly lower while base metals were mixed. Western oils opened under selling pressure following Monday's advances but began to resume their advance in mid-session.

Volume for the first three hours was 435,000 shares, about 115,000 shares more than Monday's similar period.

Winnipeg Electric was a lively, industrial feature, dipping $1 at $31.50 following Monday's annual meeting. The president told shareholders that the company had never discussed a purchase agreement with the province of Manitoba.

Senior golds mixed gains and losses while a few juniors backed down on losses ranging up to 10 cents. Several issues with uranium prospects attracted attention.

Calgary and Edmonton rose 15 cents at $5.75 in a firmer Western oil list.

Noranda and International Nickel were down the minimum fraction in base metals while Consolidated Smelters gained a like amount.

Changes Made In Ball Park

Work is progressing under Armar Butcher of the parks board on Riverside Park in readiness for the opening of the baseball season later this month. A good catch of grass is showing now, but further rolling to level off the field is required especially in the outfield. The diamond will be switched around some this season with home plate about halfway between its present spot and the east fence, thereby putting centre field into what previously was right field.

A high board fence has been built along the river, and fewer balls—except the odd home run over the new right field fence—should go into the river this summer. The old grandstand followed the fate of the west stand and is no more. City bleachers on both sides of the infield will seat ball fans this campaign. Some work will have to be done, also, on repairing dugouts and tickets booths, besides patching the odd hole in the fence, but everything should be ready in a few more weeks.

Seize US Citizens' Cars For Dodging Canadian Tax

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—A "notice of seizure" has been placed on automobiles owned by two persons living in Canada and working in the United States for failure to pay Canadian income tax, a Revenue Department spokesman said today. Both delinquents live at Fort Erie. The official said this did not involve actual seizure of the taxpayers' automobiles. The notice meant that, if the taxes were not paid by the end of a year, the government then could seize the cars in payment.

The spokesman declared the step had been taken as a normal collection procedure, and only after the persons involved had ignored requests for payment of Canadian taxes.

He said the "notice of seizure" would be lifted from the automobiles when their owners paid the Canadian Government the amounts owing.

FORT ERIE, May 3 (CP)—Ross McCarty, managing director of the chamber of commerce here, said today he had received reports that Sheriff V. C. Davidson of Welland was seizing automobiles of persons who live in Canada and work in the United States and who fail to pay income tax.

Mr. McCarty said United States citizens who earn money in the United States and maintain homes in Canada are required to pay only the difference between the United States and Canadian income tax rate.

Declares Apathy No Way To Ward Off Communism

LAKEFIELD, May 3—ENS)—Mrs. G. Winder Smith gave an interesting talk on Communism at the May meeting of the Catharine Parr Trail Chapter, I.O.D.E., held Monday night in the parish hall.

Speaking on the Communist manifest of 1948, which is based on Marx theory that the whole history of mankind has been a history of class struggles between ruling and oppressed classes, Mrs. Smith stated it is nowadays the struggle between the Proletariat (the exploited and oppressed classes) and the Bourgeoisie (the exploiting and ruling class.)

Major Weakness

"To my mind," said the speaker," One of Communism's greatest weaknesses is that whereas sometime in the misty distant future Communists hope to have the peoples of the world equally treated, they offer for the present to all but the favoured few a life that no one who has enjoyed even the slightest taste of freedom would accept and after this life—nothing. In the meantime millions of people in Communist-governed countries life in a state of squalor and terror unequalled even in the days of Monarchies."

The fact that Canada was centre of a Spy Ring in which not only [illegible] but Canadians [illegible] plicated was Mrs. Winder Smith observed, a shock to most Canadians.

Many Red Papers

The speaker gave the surprising statistics that Canada in 1947 had 1 daily, 21 weekly and 2 monthly papers in English controlled by Communists, as well as 14 other weekly papers in French, Ukranian, Jewish, Polish, Crotian Russian, Slovak, Serf, Finnish, Italian and German.

"It is for us to decide and for us to take steps to ensure that never through sheer lack of interest should we allow ourselves to be swept into the position of being merely one small state in a world wide U.S.S.R."

Mrs. William Todd, vice-Regent, presided.

Gives Financial Report

Mrs. J. McKerchar's treasurer's report showed a balance of $119.64.

Mrs. J. Arnott reported $54 was realized at the recent travelling bridge.

Mrs. L. Quackenbush, post-war convener, said four boxes of food had been shipped to Britain.

$25 was voted for more food boxes by Mrs. J. Huddart and Mrs. A. Aiken.

The chapter decided to purchase six dozen cups and saucers.

Mrs. E. H. Northey, Regent, gave a detailed report of the convention which she recently attended in Hamilton.

Miss Jean Millar contributed two solos, accompanied by Mrs. McKerchar.

Lunch was served by Mrs. A. Aiken, Mrs. J. Huddart, Mrs. E. Orr, Mrs. G. Winder Smith, Mrs. J. Arnott, Mrs. A. Jackson and Mrs. L. Bailey.

Says Joy-Riding Rather Kiddish

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., today described joy riding as "a rather kiddish thing to do". He found Herbert Fontaine, R. R. 3, Peterborough, guilty of taking a car for a joy ride from Johnston Motor Sales, 437 Water St., without Mr. Johnston's consent. William Brown, 501 Aylmer St., who faced the same charge, changed his plea to guilty, after Fontaine had been convicted.

Fontaine said that Mr. Johnston had got into the car with Brown and himself for a trial run. The engine stalled soon after they started and Mr. Johnston got out. The engine then started and Mr. Johnston shouted "O.K.", which the two accused men thought was a signal for them to drive on.

After the ride, they returned with the car and offered Johnston $500 for it.

Mr. Johnston said he did not get into the car and had not given the accused permission to take the car away.

Fontaine was fined $15 with $15.75 costs. Brown was placed on suspended sentence for a year.

Fontaine had also pleaded guilty to stealing hair lotion and took paste from a grocery store. On this count he was fined $5 with $2.50 costs.

Efforts to telephone Hangchow, 121 miles southwest of here, brought the reply the lines were "out of order."

The Communist radio said also that Taiping, 125 miles west of Peiping, had been taken. The city, last Nationalist bastion north of the Yangtze except surrounded Tsingtao, on the coast, surrendered on May 1, the radio said.

A Nationalist garrison communique earlier said that six Chinese warships captured at Nanking by the Communists had been sunk by government planes.

The assertion came a few hours after the rumble of artillery was heard to the northwest of Shanghai. There was no sign of approaching Communists, but chaos in the financial market grew during the day.

The communique said the National Air Force in 10 days of bombing and strafing attacks had damaged two more of the 12 ships which had been left to guard Nanking and were trapped by the Communists. In addition the government announced its forces destroyed 10,000 Communist troops, 600 trucks, 500 wooden river boats and 300 horse-drawn carts.

Dresden Delays Licence Bylaw

DRESDEN, May 3 (CP) — Mayor Walter S. Weese told town council Monday night that newspaper publicity was the reason council had indefinitely postponed referendum on a by-law to license restaurants to serve negroes.

At its last meeting, council of this western Ontario town had voted to place before the voters a referendum on municipal legislation licensing the town's restaurants, after it was claimed that three of the five Dresden restaurants would not serve meals to negroes. The vote had been slated for April 19.

A deputation of negroes appeared before council Monday night to get what one member of the delegation said was "first hand information on a rumor that the referendum is off."

"A vote now would not be in the interests of your race," Mayor Weese said. Newspaper publicity has reached a point where a vote would do your cause injustice."

Mayor Weese turned to reporters and said: "I want the papers to get this straight. The relationships between the two groups have always been pleasant until this came up."

Fete Harwood Couple On Silver Anniversary

HARWOOD, May 3—(ENS)—Harwood Community Hall was crowded to capacity on Saturday evening for the Silver Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Graham, of Harwood, when many friends and relatives gathered to celebrate this occasion with them. Twenty tables of Progressive euchre were played, and the prizes were won by Mrs. Walter Bates, Mrs. Thomas Bates, Mrs. John Young and Mr. S. O'Connell.

Community singing was enjoyed followed by a solo by Mrs. Garnet Isaac, and a duet by Carlene Wellwood and Audrey Stevenson. Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Larke also sang a pleasing duet. Frank McCulloch of Baltimore spoke and Major R. E. Drope, M.P., asked Mr. and Mrs. Graham to come to the platform. Mrs. A. Lawton read an address and Mr. and Mrs. Graham were presented with the following gifts on behalf of the community: flowers, presented by Miss Phyllis Isaac, silver tray and cream and sugar set by Mrs. S. O'Connell; occasional chair by L. R. Isaac, and tri-light by Jack Robson.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham both replied, expressing their appreciation for the gifts. There were two hundred present for this happy event.

Seeks Trade Balance

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—Argentine's new ambassador to Canada said Monday his country wants to buy more goods from Canada but only "as much as you buy from us." Atilio E. Garcie Mellid, recently appointed to the post, told his first press conference here that Argentina wants to buy railway cars, aluminum, farm machinery, and newsprint. It can pay for them with hides, seasonal fruits and wines.

Northumberland Tories Choose R. Earle Drope

CAMPBELLFORD, May 3 (ENS)—No attempt is being made by the present government to find sure and profitable markets for the produce of your farms," R. Earle Drope, M.P. declared after he had been unanimously chosen federal candidate of the Progressive Conservative party for Northumberland county at a nomination convention held in the town hall, Warkworth, Monday night. It was one of the largest conventions in the history of the party in this riding.

The auditorium and council chambers were filled and a loud speaker was installed on the outside of the hall to accommodate the overflow.

"It is important," Mr. Drope continued, "that we should have ready markets for our cheese and apples. The United Kingdom, the surest market in the world for our farm surpluses, is at the present time importing apples and cheese from other countries."

Plans Reckless Spending

He said that this year the opposition had been denied the right to examine government expenditures. The reckless spending of public money, he declared, had increased taxes and the Liberals hadn't reduced the national debt to the amount of the surpluses. "Every expenditure the government makes should be carefully examined in the House and no order-in-council should be passed without being published," he stated.

The candidate was born in Harwood and educated in the local schools. He won the Military Medal in the First Great War for bravery in the capture of Hill 70. He enlisted as a private and was elevated to the rank of Major overseas. Mr. Drope farms the old homestead and is manager of the local co-operative creamery. For seventeen years he has served on the School Board and is the county representative on the Cobourg Collegiate Board. He is chairman of the Harwood Park Commission and for two years has been vice-president of the Ontario Creamery Association. In 1945 he was elected to the House of Commons. He has three daughters.

Mrs. Ruby Meggs reported on the women's activities at the recent Toronto convention. She said that George Drew, national leader of the party, addressed the women's section on the evils of Communism.

Party Solidly United

"I want you to realize," said John G. Diefenbaker, MP, federal member fo Lake Centre, Sask., chief speaker at the convention, "that the Progressive-Conservative Conservative party stands united in every part of this Dominion regardless of what the Liberal press says. When we take office we are ready to shoulder the responsibilities of government and work out a system of planning that will ultimately bring security to all our people."

He said that Canada's apple and lumber markets had practically disappeared. The United Kingdom was making trade contracts with communistic countries and purchasing bacon and cheese from the Scandinavian states. The Liberals never speak of the British market, he said. "It is true," he remarked, "we are selling large quantities of farm products to the United States under the Marshall plan, but this is not a sure market. The Liberal policies regarding market will lead us to national stagnation, unless there is a change of government," he said.

He stated that the Progressive Conservative party takes a strong stand against communism, believe in the four freedoms and in the preservation of the constitution. He said that income taxes and the sales tax should be reduced, a national security fund set up, trade restored and a higher income guaranteed for farmers.

Murphy, Toronto, ex-minister of the Interior under the Bennett government.

George Nicholls led in community singing and two solos were sung by Miss Priscilla Chernoff with Miss Drope at the piano.

Overseas Buyers Entertained At Opening Of London Trade Fair

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, May 3 — (CP) — Overseas buyers were entertained Monday night by the Lord Mayor of London and applauded a statement by Hon. C. D. Hower that Canada must "sell more to the United States and buy more from Britain."

The dress by Canada's trade minister was received with enthusiasm at the dinner.

Howe said it would be painful for Canada to trade with Britain or the United States "to the exclusions of the other."

"Therefore," he said, "we must do all in our power to bring our trade with our two principal customers into a better balance—a balance that should be accomplished by expansion of trade rather than by contraction."

The audience formed part of a huge contingent of buyers here for the 28th British Industries Fair—an occasion for manufacturers to display their wares to foreign buyers.

Importers flocked to the two London halls and another in Birmingham.

Of Special Interest

Canadian importers found special interest in displays of textiles, leather goods, chinaware and pottery. W. W. Fuller of Sioux Lookout, Ont., expressed interest in a machine for compressing sawdust and wooden chips into board.

Buyers at the Lord Mayor's dinner heard Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, reply to the Canadian trade minister.

Wilson said that he believed there was a full realization in Canada that "for us to sell more, Canada must be prepared to buy more."

"This in turn places on British industry the obligation of doing everything in its power to supply Canada the goods Canada wants at prices which compare, quality for quality, with those asked by any other nation."

Wilson said he was looking forward towards his coast-to-coast tour of Canada later this month in which "I shall see for myself what the prospects are for increasing our exports to Canada—and what further steps we need to take."

No Danger Of War

LONDON, May 3—(Reuters)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian prime minister, said here Monday night that he thought there is "no likelihood of war" in the near future. "If ye utilize this interval of years properly we may assure peace for a much longer period."

Reds Flouting UN Principles —Diefenbaker

CAMPBELLFORD, May 3 — (ENS)—"Your organization represents the finest in international principles and all that the United Nations' Society stands for," said John G. Diefenbaker, K.C., federal member for Lake Centre, Sask., at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club on Monday.

Equality of human beings irrespective of color," he continued, "is the first great principle embodied in the International Declaration of Human Rights. This declaration recognizes tolerance, brotherhood and freedom within the law which are the elements that raise men above the beast."

Solid For Pact

He said that it was a moving scene in parliament when every member voted for the Atlantic Pact. They voted together, he stated, to preserve peace, not only for the present generation, but for those who follow. He said that Russia had five million men poised at strategic points in Europe ready to move at Stalin's command. "Parliament can do nothing to preserve peace", he remarked, "unless the soul of our country catches the spirit of a true Christian democracy."

The principles embodied in the San Francisco Charter are being flouted by the Russians in their refusal to co-operate with the democratic nations."

Must Guard Freedoms

He urged his audience to participate in public service and to defend to the utmost their democratic freedoms. Candidates imbued with high principles and noble purposes should be chosen for public office, he declared. Declarations and pious announcements were useless unless they were backed up by community effort. "The science of government is just as high as we make it," he said.

R. Earle Drope of Harwood introduced the speaker and Rotarian Ralph Locke moved the vote of thanks. President Bill Brady, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. Diefenbaker with a book, "Service Is My Business."

EDMONTON, May 3—(CP)—A ban on setting fires for clearing land and disposal of debris was ordered over most of Alberta Monday night by Lands Minister N. E. BORDERLINE ANEMIA* can rob you of vigor and fun!
GIRLS with pale faces and colorless personalities — tired girls who look and act half-alive — often may blame a blood condition.
It may be a blood condition that's robbing them of fun and friends—a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. Their red blood cells may be too pale and small to transmit full energy to every body tissue. Many women—many men and children, too—go dragging their way through life with this Borderline Anemia.
How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor
If your energy is waning and your color is fading because of this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your usual vigor.
Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood! Then your energy and color can come surging back! You can begin to get some fun out of life again!

Plenty Of Elections

The Dominion election on June 27 will be the big political event of 1949 in Canada, but before it there will be provincial elections in Newfoundland (May 27), in Nova Scotia (June 9), and in British Columbia (June 15). Inevitably the results of these provincial elections will be interpreted by many wiseacres who will attempt to predict the course of the federal election from them. We have observed, however, that such predictions, founded upon such evidence are rarely illuminating. Whatever the commentators may think, people have a way of voting one way in a provincial election and another way in a federal one. It is lucky that they do so. Too rigid a political consistency could paralyse Canada in ten years.

* * *

Newfoundland presents a special case, for it has never had an election before as a province of this country, and it will be having its first election of any kind since the ill-luck of the 'thirties forced it to ask Britain for a commission government. It appears that the Progressive Conservative party will offer itself in Newfoundland as the champion of those who did not want confederation; as the Conservative party in Newfoundland supported confederation this may cause some confusion, and should certainly present an interesting spectacle. The Liberals will appeal to those who favoured confederation. The C.C.F., if it enters the fight will probably keep clear of the confederation issue and will run on a straight moderate socialist platform.

* * *

In Nova Scotia there has been, since 1945, a government consisting of twenty-eight Liberals headed by Premier Angus Macdonald, and an Opposition of two C.C.F. members. The Progressive Conservative party there is in sad straits. However, it has a new leader in Mr. Robert L. Stanfield, and it is expected to enter thirty candidates in the fight; it will be strange indeed if the party cannot improve its 1945 showing.

* * *

In British Columbia the coalition government of Liberals and Conservatives will oppose the C.C.F. and Communists. At present the government holds thirty-four seats, the C.C.F. ten, and Labour one. In December, 1947, Mr. Byron Johnson succeeded Premier John Hart, and although his tenure of office extends until August he has decided to go to the people at this time, for mandate or rejection.

Elections are to Canadians what horse races are to the Irish and singing contests to the Welsh. They love them and enter into them with a spirit which they reserve for politics alone. The next two months will provide plenty of excitement.

Where Is Sportsmanship Learned?

We have been reading with interest about the latest exploit of Mr. Louis Durocher (sometimes called "Louis the Lip") who is manager of the New York Giants baseball club; it appears that Mr. Durocher became displeased with a young Negro who spoke slightingly of Mr. Durocher's team during a game; when the Giants lost the game Mr. Duroches lost his temper and kicked and mauled the boy quite badly.

It is customary for baseball fans to shout insults at an opposing team during a game. We do not like the custom, but there it is. But baseball players are professional sports, and we think that it is reasonable to expect them to be sportsmen. Mr. Durocher's conduct was definitely not that of a sportsman, and as he is very prominent in the baseball world we think that he deserves censure. Baseball players are heroes to a lot of people, especially small boys, and a hero has a public obligation to behave himself decently.

A great deal of nonsense is talked about the quality of sportsmanship, and many people seem to think that it is developed by playing games. We do not think that this is so; we do not, in fact, think that competitions of any kind develop or encourage fairness and honourable conduct. These are qualities which the contestants bring to the game with them, or else the game will be played without them. Obviously Mr. Durocher was not brought up to keep his temper and accept defeat with a good grace, and professional baseball has not taught him to do so.

A great deal of modern sport, even when labelled "amateur", is commercialized, and many players of games appear to be innocent of the rudiments of sportsmanship. They don't want to play the best game they can; they want to win, and if they don't win, their backers want to know why. That is not an atmosphere which promotes sportsmanship, and we repeat our assertion that it is well to teach sportsmanship to boys and girls before they get into big-time sport, for they will certainly not learn it there.

May Day In Peterborough

In Moscow on Sunday (May Day), Russian jet planes sizzled over Red Square in which a large concourse of people paraded or watched military parades. In London, on Trafalgar Square, Communist demonstrators clashed with police attempting to enforce the new British ban on political demonstrations in that city. In Jerusalem May Day processions were interrupted by the alarm of air raid sirens.

In Peterborough St. Andrew's Church celebrated its 116th Anniversary and St. Paul's the 116th anniversary of Presbyterianism in the city. People took their Sunday afternoon walks and marvelled that the trees were already about to break into leaf and that dandelions were dotting the lawns. Some meandered up the Otonabee River Road by car with picnic lunches. Others sauntered down town and through the parks, or around Little Lake to the green canal banks. Thus did Peterborough demonstrate its awareness of May Day, the ancient festive date of Spring.

That May Day is also a kind of Labour Day is not unknown to this city which ranks among the first dozen industrial centres of Canada. But we are fortunate that we need not emphasize the newer significance to the detriment of the old. We live in a country where jet plane demonstrations are not the order of May Day, rows between Left Wingers and police do not disturb the sun day, and the pealing of bells, not the wail of air raid sirens, sounds through the balmy air.

Wonders Of Trade

New York gourmets can upon occasion buy black (Indian) rice from Peterborough's Rice Lake at the more exclusive New York restaurants. On our tables this spring, as ornament and food, have been pineapples from the South Seas. (Incidentally, there were none last year because of trade restrictions due to our shortage of dollars.) Such things are rather wonderful, if one takes time off to wonder. Sometimes they are odd.

For instance, Georgia eating joints have created a native snack, called a "fishburger", and tourists wishing to taste the food of the region, the fish at Georgia joints, gobble fishburgers instead of hamburgers. But this month the tourists, even Canadians, in those salubrious regions, will be eating Prince Edward County sunfish in their Georgia fishburgers. It will probably be the first time many Canadians have eaten lowly sunfish. The reason for the Ontario sunfish in Georgia is that the season for fresh fish is closed in Georgia, so Prince Edward County sunfish fill the bread breach. The P.E. people are getting ten cents a pound for them.

Another and pleasant trade marvel are the spring flowers which came into our homes at Easter, on the very Saturday that snow was falling. These blooms were grown here and there, but we note that 100,000 daffodils arrived in Montreal by plane from Vancouver Easter week. That was but one florist's shipment. One trade wonder has not been performed, as far as we know. Nobody has bartered a handful of Ontario spring mud for a bouquet of Victoria anemones.

Forthcoming Founding of the Council of Europe

By W. N. EWER

THE meeting of Foreign Ministers in London in the first days of May will definitely found the "Council of Europe" or the "European Union"—or whatever name may be finally chosen for the new organization of democratic European States.

That will be in itself an historic event. Since that vague union of "Christendom" which was both the Papacy and the Holy Roman Empire, there have been many schemes for a voluntary union of European States. They have ranged from Henry IVth of France's "Grand Design" to Briand's concept of the "United States of Europe". None of them has until now come into being.

* * *

THE possible advantages of unity have always been apparent. The obstacles to unity have always been insuperable. The conflicts were always stronger than any urge to union. And yet they were the chief reason for union. Because, to the European peoples, European unity and peace seemed in a way indivisible.

To the European until half a century ago, Europe was the "civilized world". The Americas and Australasia seemed offshoots and projections of Europe. Asia and Africa were either under European rule or destined very soon to be so. The smallest continent was the master continent of the world: and world quarrels were its quarrels.

Within ordinary lifetimes the whole world picture has changed. Western Europe is now questing after unity not because it is master of the world, and because European unity would imply world unity and world peace. It is questing after unity because of a feeling that, in the new shape of the world, Western Europe can only play a great role if it can act as a united whole.

* * *

THAT is one emotional urge behind the movement for union. The other is more immediate—one hopes more transitory. Today western Europe feels itself and its way of life as a whole threatened as never since "Christendom" felt itself threatened by "Islam". "Europe" as a whole has never, since Sobieski saved Vienna, felt a common consciousness of a menace from the East. It is—let us face it frankly—a community of defensive need rather than any community of tradition or community of economic interest which is at last compelling the states of Western Europe—roughly the "successor states" of the western Roman Empire—into some kind of union.

That is important. For it poses the question of the whole future character of the organization which is now being created. Will it prove in fact to be simply a defensive device against an immediate peril? Will that peril pass—in one or other way—and the old centrifugal forces then reassert themselves? For there are still very deep-rooted differences between these nations. Or will this new partnership develop until it becomes a real organic unity, until—as the "federalists" passionately hope and believe — the men and women of these lands come to think of themselves primarily, not as Frenchmen or Danes or Italians, but as "Europeans" or at any rate "west Europeans"?

Is there, apart from the plain immediate needs of defensive partnership, apart from the plain immediate needs of co-operation in economic recovery, enough community, enough similarity, enough fundamental unity among these nations to make their ultimate political fusion either possible or desirable?

That is a question of which we in the United Kingdom are especially conscious. In one way we feel ourselves definitely Europeans. But in another sense we are equally definitely non-European. Our ties of actual kinship run not across Channel but overseas. For one Englishman who has relatives on the Continent there are a thousand with relatives in the Dominions, in the Colonies, in the U.S.A. The political ties of the Commonwealth are far closer (even though at the same time looser) than any European can understand. Our economy is linked far more with overseas countries than with Europe. Culturally, we are inevitably more nearly bound up with the English-speaking world. Both historically and geographically the British people are more than any others "citizens of the world". To become merely "Europeans" would be a narrowing, not a widening of our outlook.

* * *

IT may be that Britain with its double strong linkage—on the one hand across the Channel and on the other across wider seas—can in some unforeseeable way be a political bond between a united Europe and the other Continents. It is certain that if—to put it crudely—we were forced to choose between membership of a "European federation" and our association with the Commonwealth, we must on every ground prefer the Commonwealth. We can only be partners in a western Europe which is itself part of a far wider partnership.

Maybe, except for immediate and one trusts temporary purposes, this idea of a united western Europe is already an archaism before it has been embodied in any organism at all. History is full of such ironies.

This month's meeting of the Foreign Ministers is on the surface dealing with such detailed matters as the relationship between a Council of Ministers and an Assembly of Delegates. But underneath such almost technical discussions there lie, half ignored, some of the most momentous and most difficult problems which have ever demanded both vision and realism from statesmen.

Garmental Gabble

We can sympathize with the men's tailoring trade in Britain, and its disappointment in Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden's sartorial comedown. Mr. Eden was, for many years, a handsome example all over the world. But we can't forgive the trade's magazine, "Tailor and Cutter," for suggesting that Mr. Eden may have had "a garmental comeback." Does it mean a pantsal and coatsal match, or just a vestal revival?—Windsor Star.

Letters To The Editor

NAME SIGNS ON HIGHWAYS

Sir: I hope you have room in our valuable paper for this letter. When is the Ontario Government going to stop taking away our freedom? A few days ago a man from the Dept. of Highways called and told us all signs at the highway with the names of people who have signs up to direct their friends to where they live must be taken down before June 1, 1949, and if they want a sign they must buy one from the government.

If the dictatorial attitude of the government continues it will soon be that you can only stand back and point to the highway and say there is a road belonging to the government but we must not go near it. I think it would be more fitting if the man who gave us the message were put to work on the road and try to get it a little smoother, as it is like driving on a stone pile.

Yours truly,
N. M. BOLTON.

BELIEVES LIQUOR PETITIONS NOT ALWAYS RELIABLE

Sir: In Tuesday's Examiner there is a reference to a vote in Havelock asking for the establishment of a Liquor store and Brewers' warehouse in this East Peterborough County village. We understand the above vote has been authoriezd as a result of a petition signed by 25 per cent. of the bonafide electors, and forwarded to the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario, at Toronto.

In this connection we wish to draw your attention to the result of a similar vote taken a week ago, in the Township of Keppel, near Owen Sound, and reported in the Toronto press. In this contest, as in Havelock a petition was circulated asking for a vote on certain questions and was signed by the required 25 per cent. of the voters whose names were on the list.

When the vote was taken last week, the highest vote "for", on any of the three questions submitted was '79', with '663' "against". Evidently, of the 25 per cent. of those signing the petition, in this instance around '285' persons, but '79', or less than one-third (⅓), voted 'for' on any of the questions asked in the original petition.

Commenting on the results in Keppel and on some 30 other similar Ontario contests held recently, two truths seem fairly well established. One, the utter unreliability of liquor petitions to gauge how people will vote on a secret ballots. The other, the growing resentment against increasing outlets for the 'galloping consumption' of liquor with all its accompanying evils of highway disasters, assaults and killings, broken homes, shattered lives and undernourished children.

Even The Examiner, editorially, of late, raised quite a 'squawk' about the resultant injurious effects upon children of an increase of '1' cent per quart in the price of milk, but never a 'squeak' about the tragedy the parent, or parents, who think nothing of spending $5.00 for a bottle of liquor, or a 'night out', while their "Little Ones" are often left in squalid homes, to 'freeze or burn'.

"Wake up Ontario!"

Sincerely,
G. A. BRETHEN, President,
Peterborough Temperance Federation.
Norwood.

UNSATISFACTORY C.P.R. SERVICE

Sir: I think it is high time that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company took stock of some of their Peterborough employees. After reading of some complaints regarding train service to and from Toronto in your columns recently, I am prompted to re-open the subject and illustrate in a few words, an experience I have just had.

Sunday evening, May 1st, at 9.00 p.m. DST, I called the Depot Ticket office to enquire of train service to Toronto. After ten rings of the 'phone, I received no answer. I then called the Uptown Office, and after being answered and the question asked "What are your train departures to Toronto in the morning", a voice repeated my question to another party in that office and said "Shall I tell him?"

Immediately the voice returned to my conversation and said "I'm sorry Sir, we don't know the train times at this office, you'll have to 'phone the station", advising me that there would be someone at the station at 12.00 midnight.

At the stroke of 12.00 midnight, I called the station and was advised of train departures to Toronto, namely—4:55 and 6:10 a.m. EST. I immediately retired and rose to meet the 4.55 train, knowing that I had to be at the station by ten minutes to six (our time). I was. The train had just left. The ticket agent advised me that the 4:55 train now leaves at 4:35.

My appointment in Toronto was 9:00 a.m. sharp. I am now sitting in a restaurant waiting to see the clock read 7:10, but unwilling to waste any more time over the C.P.R. (in Peterborough), I am writing this note to you.

I trust you will find space for this letter and also hope that the powers-that-be will rake through some of the refuse and give the citizens of Peterborough a 1949 type of train service.

"MAYDAY".

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed. And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it. And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die....

And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air: and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof....

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man. (Gen. 2: 8, 9, 15-17, 19, 21-23.)

Praise Howe Speech

LONDON, May 3—(CP)—London morning newspaper today editorially praised the plea for expansion of multilateral trade agreements by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe and gave reports of his address prominent display. Howe, Canada's trade minister, spoke Monday night at the opening of the British Industries Fair. He urged Britain to encourage Commonwealth countries to ship raw materials to Canada as a means of balancing trade between the Dominion and the sterling area.

CCF Launches 5-Point Election Drive

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—Confident of emerging from the June 27 election with at least enough seats to form the official opposition, the CCF has launched a five-point campaign program, David Lewis, national secretary, said Monday.

Mr. Lewis told a press conference the CCF would go to the people on a program covering housing, socialization, social security, international trade and health insurance.

The socialization program, he said, was designed to alleviate a feeling of insecurity among Canadians deeper than at any time since the Second World War. The CCF would institute national planning with socialization to include basic industries like steel along with the banks, the Canadian Pacific Railway, packing plants, farm implement companies and ferlitilizer plants.

If elected, the CCF would go ahead with a contributory national health insurance plan, subsidized housing, and would introduce policies designed to bring trade to what Mr. Lewis described as its proper position—to be carried on at an inter-governmental level.

Mr. Lewis described Canada's housing situation as a "disgrace" and said the government plans had been a "complete flop."

200 Candidates

The CCF, he said, will have 200 candidates in the field with a full slate in all constituencies west from Ontario and partial representation in other districts. There are 262 seats of which the CCF currently holds 32.

A campaign fund of $250,000 was the party objective and would sponsore trips across the Dominion by national leader M. J. Coldwell, CCF Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, along with shorter speaking tours by other CCF members of parliament.

Mr. Lewis referred to the recent decision by the provincial party convention in British Columbia which voted 54 to 46 in opposition to the North Atlantic Security Pact. He said this in no way affected national policy which was in support of the pact.

He explained that the vote had been taken in the final hour of the convention and that if the other 34 delegates had still been in attendance the count would have been reversed.

Transport Meet Resumed June 1

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—After a brief opening sitting here, the Royal Commission on national transport Monday adjourned to June 1 at Winnipeg for the start of a month's regional tour that will carry it to the west coast.

No evidence was taken at Monday's starting session, but indications developed that controversy will arise later out of freight-rate equalization proposals to come before the commission in its broad inquiry.

Several of the provinces—chiefly the western ones—will be trying to get their rate scales levelled down to those of Ontario and Quebec, where water and truck competition has depressed railway rates.

But George A. Walker, K.C., Canadian Pacific Railway chairman, sounded what may be an opposing note when he declared in an opening statement that "reasonable" rates in one area or on one class of traffic should not be lowered just because competition has forced down other tolls.

Irish Republic Planning High-Powered Sales Drive

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

DUBLIN, May 3 — (CP), — The government of the new Republic of Ireland plans a high-powered campaign to persuade its people to "buy Irish."

Industry Minister Daniel Morrisey told a meeting of manufacturers' and workers' representatives that means must be found to overcome a "fairly definite prejudice" against home-made articles.

At present Irish buyers were "not even prepared to give the home-made goods a trial and are purchasing foreign goods in preference." Also "Irish firms are facing a high-power publicity and advertising campaign from their British competitors."

One Irish industry in the doldrums is footwear manufacturing. In a separate statement, Morrisey blamed over-production of some lines and failure of the makers to concentrate on the type of shoe in demand.

While the government was prepared to assist the industry in every reasonable way to avoid shutting down of Irish factories, the onus fell on the manufacturers to reorganize their own industry.

Only the creation of additional demand through more efficient and attractive production, and development of export trade could relieve the difficulties.

The chairman of the executive council, Dr. James succeeds Lord Harlech, pro-chancellor of the University of Wales. He is the first university head outside the United Kingdom to be elected chairman of the council.

MORE TELEPHONES FOR PETERBOROUGH

Nearly 150 new subscribers have received telephone service during the past month through a new extension to Peterborough's telephone system. This extension brings to more than 2,000 the number of telephones added within the past year—an increase of over 20%.

We are working hard to get more circuits into operation, to serve those still waiting for telephones. There is still insufficient wire and cable to meet all our needs, but supplies are gradually increasing, and all available equipment is being used to serve the greatest possible number of subscribers.

Although much remains to be done, Peterborough has more telephones today than ever before. That means greater value for every telephone user. Our current construction program is designed to give you more and better telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

From Kingston comes this item: "A policy for accident insurance of high school athletes is planned by the Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools Association. The decision was made Saturday at the end of a two-day meeting of 120 students from points between Ottawa and Peterborough. Ottawa delegates said their schools had devised a satisfactory scheme of insurance. The Ottawa representatives also invited the third annual meeting of the association to be held in Ottawa next April." There has been talk for the past year of such insurance for PCVS athletes but nothing has been done yet. The idea is sound as certain injuries do crop up in high school sports and parents often do not feel like footing the bills.

We're told that Coach Vic Obeck of McGill is interested Blair Thompson, starry PCVS gridder, and plans to interview him shortly. The captain of the senior Collegiate football squad, COSSA champs last autumn, is a fine gridiron prospect. Young, husky and smart, this backfielder can really reel off yardage in a hurry, and he should do well in the college game. Blair also broke into the City Softball League a year ago as a catcher and showed plenty of hustle back of the plate and up there at the platter with a willow in his hands. He'll leave a gap in the PCVS backfield but should plug a hole nicely in higher grid company.

"And There They Go"

Purvis Lawrason in his Tely horse column comments: "Mert Storey of Peterborough has purchased the bay stallion, Canada Direct (2.07 1-5), by Peter Brooke Jr., dam Christine Direct by Merry Direct, who is a full sister to Kinney Direct (1:59). Last year, while racing in the United States, Canada Direct started 23 times for six firsts, six seconds, one third, five fourths and five fifths. Canada Direct paced several miles last year in better than 2.10, taking his record of 2.07 1-5 and also showed he could pace a little faster as he finished fourth in a photo finish at Saratoga in 2.04 4-5. Allan Pacey of Peterborough was the big winner at Richelieu Park last week, winning the feature race with Matt McKinney, owned by Bradley and Melville of Toronto."

With the schedule opening just a week away, City Softball Loop teams are hard at it. Stew Richardson's Outlaws were slated for an exhibition tonight in Lindsay, while Stan Houlihan is busy building up Peterborough Credit Jewellers. Ken O'Toole's Uniteds drill tonight at six in the Bowl, as well as Thursday and Saturday evenings there. Howie Dalton's Cosmopolitans workout tonight, Wednesday and Thursday nights at six at the Ex., all these being open practices. Johnny Russelie's Knights go nightly at six at the Orphanage diamond. He invites junior and juveniles, too, as all spots are open and the K. of C.-ers are in the throes of rebuilding. It's a great scramble.

New Deal For Minors

With most of last year's City Baseball League officers fading from the scene this spring, something had to be done in a hurry to keep the minor loop going. So, Eddie Murphy contacted a number of good sportsmen and a meeting was held last eve in the "Y". Big trouble was a debt of nearly $1,100 for equipment bought several years back. The meeting finally decided to take over the minor league and also its obligations, paying off the debt within the next two years. It's a big job but there were too many young ball-playing boys involved to drop the whole thing. A nominating committee will bring in a suggested slate of prominent officers for the '49 executive at the annual open meeting this Thursday eve at seven in the "Y", and things should get rolling right after that.

From Belleville comes this word: "The Kingston Athletic Club, we hear from the OBA, has applied to that body for a bye in senior baseball circles this season. It's also reported that Secretary Bill Snyder has promised the matter will be taken up by his association, but at the same time he feels that the COBL executive will not look with any favor on the matter. Neither should they. With teams like Brockville and Smiths Falls coming into the loop, why should a team in the midst of things be given a bye? Why did they not enter a team in the COBL? No, we are of the opinion that Oshawa, Peterborough, Batawa, Kingston Locos and other squads will give that suggestion the well-known cold water treatment."

Pulitzer Prizes Awarded In New York

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP) — Pulitzer prizes have been awarded to "Death of a Salesman," the smash Broadway hit, and to "Guard of Honor," a novel about a wartime United States Air Force General.

The writers were named Monday by the trustees of Columbia University—45-year-old James Gould Cozzens as the outstanding novelist of 1948 and Arthur Miller, 33, as the outstanding dramatist.

Robert E. Sherwood received an award for his intimate biography, "Roosevelt and Hopkins."

The Pulitzer committee decided that the Nebraska State Journal of Lincoln, Neb., rendered the "most disinterested and meritorious service" among American newspapers. The Journal was honored for its work during the presidential election campaign.

The New York Sun's series by Malcolm Johnson on waterfront crime was adjudged the year's outstanding example of local reporting by a newspaper man.

These awards, and others for outstanding work in the fields of journalism, letters and music, were made by the Columbia trustees on recommendation of the advisory board of the Graduate School of Journalism.

Given For 32 Years

The awards, given for the 32nd years, were established in 1917 through a gift of $2,500,000 made to Columbia University by the late Joseph Pulitzer, former publisher of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A cash award of $500 is given each individual winner, and a $500 gold plaque to the winning newspaper. The drama award covers the year from April 1, 1948, to April 1, 1949, and all other awards are for the calendar year 1948.

The music award went to Virgil Thomson, 52, music critic of the New York Herald Tribune.

New Executive To Operate The City Baseball League

Plans for a complete re-organization of the City Baseball League this season were set in motion at a well-attended meeting of prominent sportsmen in the YMCA last evening. Eddie Murphy was chairman of the session which named a nominating committee, after discussing many minor ball angles, and set the date for the annual open meeting of the league for Thursday, May 5, in the "Y".

Due to the fact that the City League was in debt nearly $1,100—owing to six sets of uniforms bought several years ago—the majority of the 1948 officers will not act this year. It was felt that the senior ball club, and prominent sportsmen, might save the day for the minors and keep the league going. Hence, last night's general meeting.

Owed To Dit

Gord Young explained the debt, nearly all of it owed to Dit Clapper. Eddie Murphy stated that the old City League was, in a sense defunct and it was up to the meeting to decide if a new slate of officers would be installed to carry on and also to try to clean up the past debt. Vern Dawson asked Dit Clapper if he would be satisfied if paid within two years, and the latter said he would. It was then agreed by the meeting to carry on and do everything possible to liquidate the outstanding account. Cy Whatley acted as secretary for the meeting.

Discuss Grounds

The gathering then discussed grounds for peewee, bantam, midget, juvenile and junior games. A number of grounds for the younger clubs was suggested and these will be checked into. Armar Butcher asked to have a league official go with him, when permission is granted for use of these grounds, to have them laid out properly. Equipment, methods of raising money, coaching and several other matters were discussed. Alex Kay, as minor baseball commissioner, was on hand, too. Service clubs and the recreation commission will be asked to aid financially. Manager Ed Murphy of the senior Petes, and President Pat Calladine of the City Softball League, stated their organizations would help in any way possible.

It was decided that a strong executive be formed right away to get going on the 1949 project. A nominating committee of Harry Baptie, Pat Calladine, Cy Whatley and Ed Murphy, held a later meeting to draw up a suggested slate of officers to present at the annual open meeting this Thursday night.

Senators Shut Out Caps 7-0 To Take Three Straight Games

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Ottawa Senators will have an opportunity Wednesday night to win the Allan Cup in four straight games. But if they turn the trick, hometown fans won't see them do it because next game of the best-of-seven series with Regina Pats will be in Toronto.

The shift after three games in Ottawa was made official Monday night after 7,101 fans saw Senators display superiority in every department to shut out Caps 7-0 for their third straight victory in the Canadian Senior Hockey finals. Ottawa took the first game 6-4 and the second 3-1. Further games if necessary will be in Ottawa with the fifth Saturday night.

Star of the one-sided game was veteran goalie Bill (Legs) Fraser who turned in a superb performance in the Ottawa nets to register a well-earned shutout.

As has been the case all through the series, the highscoring line of Ed Dartnell, Bill Robinson and Nils Tremblay spearheaded the Ottawa attack. The nifty trio accounted for four goals to bring their total to 10 of the 16 by Ottawa in the series.

Top Scorers

Robinson, who like Dartnell and goalie Fraser is from Winnipeg, led the way with two. His linemates had one apiece.

Amile Dagenais, one of the two Ottawa natives in the Senators' lineup, had one along with Eddie Emberg, and Buddy Hellyer, both Montrealers.

With Ray Trainor and Hellyer assisting, Robinson scored the only goal of the first period.

Then, although outshot 9-8, the Senators added four more in the middle frame. Dagenais got one with Smart helping; Dartnell did it on a three-way passing plan with Robinson and Tremblay; Emberg got his first goal of the series with George Greene assisting and Robinson scored his second with three seconds to go with the aid of defenceman Bobby Copp.

The third period saw Greene get his second assist, setting the stage for Tremblay's goal and then Hellyer wound it up on a pass from Dagenais.

Makes 24 Stops

Fraser was called on for 24 stops in the Ottawa goal and brought the fans to their feet a number of times with spectacular saves. Goalie Bev Bentley of Regina was tested 27 times and had to make some tough stops to keep the score from mounting even higher.

The question of where the next game would be held wasn't answered until after the game when W. B. George, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association vice-president finally cleared up the confusion by announcing that it would be in Toronto.

The change from what was to have been an all-Ottawa series was made on request of the Caps who have complained that playing all seven games on the ice here would leave them at a disadvantage.

The shape of the rink differs from what the Caps have been accustomed to. They have said the rounded ends have given their defencemen trouble while the fact that the rink is 10 feet narrower than in Regina had curbed their passing attack.

McFater Takes 5-Round Rubber Match

TORONTO, May 3 — (CP). — Amateur fight fans here saw one of the best bouts in some time on Monday night when Alan McFater hard-hitting Toronto lightweight, and Ronnie Lacelle, Ottawa scrapper, met in their "rubber" match.

The 18-year-old Toronto battler took a close five-round decision in the thrill-packed main event of a nine-bout amateur card.

This was the third time the two boys had met with the previous two matches fought in Ottawa McFater took the first by a close decision, but Lacelle came back to win the second Monday night McFater wiped the slate clean with his powerful left hand.

McFater's long lefts kept flying at Lacelle's head and body throughout the five rounds. McFater flew across the ring at the start of the second round and nailed Lacelle with a hard left to the head. He kept Lacelle against the ropes with a right, left and another right to the head and then followed with a right to the body.

The third frame was about even as Lacelle seemed to find some hidden energy. He hit McFater with looping rights, but the Toronto scrapper came back with his left hook.

Tiring fast, Lacelle came out for the fourth bent on finishing the match. He pushed McFater around the ring with sharp rights and late in the round caught him with a left to the side of the head.

Th two boys staggered through a close fifth session. McFater found the range for his right to the body, but Ronnie countered with long punches from both hands.

Spotlight On Reds, Yanks For Intersectional Games

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The baseball spotlight today was focussed on New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds as the first intersectional set of clashes in the majors got under way.

Having demonstrated their ability to cope with their associates in the eastern half of the American League, the surprising Yankees now face their big test in the west, meeting St. Louis today in the first of several important series.

Although they received rough treatment by Boston in their 11-2 defeat by the Red Sox Sunday, Casey Stengel's men took 10 out of 13 games from the east, and seven out of eight in their home stadium.

That showing gave them a two-game bulge on the rest of the field. More important, however, is their 2½ and 3½ game leads over Cleveland and Boston, the teams generally figured to battle for the flag.

The big surprise in the National League has been furnished by the pre-season poll, the Reds have caused a lot of red faces by winning seven of their first 12 games. That put them in second place, only a game behind the leading Boston Braves.

Win Majority

The Reds, with their pitching ace, Ewell Blackwell, still on the sidelines, have combined good pitching and timely hitting to win a majority of their games.

However, the next ten days should show whether the Reds are better than anyone thinks they are, or are merely playing over their heads. They inaugurate a three-game series in Brooklyn today for the start of their eastern swing of the curcuit.

In addition to the showing of the Yankees and Reds, the biggest surprises of the infant season have been the poor start of Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox, and the fast getaway of Chicago White Sox.

The Dodgers won only six of their first 13 games, and the Red Sox split their first 12. On the other hand, the Chisox, doomed to the American League's basement by a majority of the scribes have won eight and lost five to take over the runner-up honors to the Yankees.

Today's schedule in the American League has the Yankees in St. Louis, Washington in Chicago and Boston in Detroit. Cleveland and Philadelphia are idle. In the National, every club with the exception of Cincinnati and Brooklyn, engage in night games. The Braves are host to Chicago, Pittsburgh plays in New York and St. Louis in Philadelphia.

Rotarians Plan Toronto Trip

Members of the Rotary Club of Peterborough are now at work on their latest money raising project in aid of their crippled children's work, namely: the sale of tickets and railway fares in connection with operation of a special train to Toronto on May 13 for a Barbara Ann Scott benefit performance. Barbara Ann will appear in the Maple Leaf Gardens, under auspices of the Toronto Rotary Club, who are staging the show in aid of their work in behalf of crippled children.

The local Rotarians have undertaken to sell a total of 862 tickets, 400 of which are already sold. They have also arranged with the CPR to run a special train of 14 coaches to Toronto. The club is not making any profit on the sale of the show tickets, having been promised a percentage of the profits on the sale of railway fares by the CPR.

An appeal was made at Monday's luncheon by Rotarian Ted Weir for more volunteer waiters, as the members plan to sell light refreshments on the train both going and coming. Profit on this service will also go to the crippled children's fund.

Arrangements have been made to have TTC street cars meet the special at the North Toronto station on its arrival to take the passengers to the Gardens. Trams will also be waiting at the rink following the show to transport the Peterborough and district ticket purchasers back to the special train.

General chairman of arrangements for the special train is Clare Collins, who is being assisted by Bob Allen, Herb Bradburn, Ernest Young, and Ted Weir.

Allied Businessmen Urged To Organize

WASHINGTON, May 3 (CP)—Formation of a committee of American, British and Canadian business men as a means of making "a real contribution toward the solution of our trading problems" was proposed to-day by Henry G. Birks of Montreal, the president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"Such a committee," he told the annual meeting of the US Chamber of Commerce, "would bring together the business leaders of the dollar and the sterling blocs in company with ourselves who have an understanding of and common interests with, you both.

He recalled that last February in London he had proposed establishment of a Canada-United Kingdom committee of business men patterned on the present Canada-US joint committee of the two North American chambers. It was planned to have the first joint meeting of the Canada-UK committee in Canada in June.

"It appears to me, however, that we should go farther than this and work for the ultimate objective of a committee of business men of our three countries—an ABC committee if you will."

YM Plans Course To Train Non-Swimmers

Questionnaires for the YMCA non-swimmers' course are being distributed in the elementary schools in the city. The YMCA is once again giving free lessons in swimming for pupils of Grade Five, Six, Seven and Eight. Due to the decreasing number of non-swimmers in Grades Six, Seven and Eight the pupils of Grade Five are going to be admitted to the course this year. There will be eight lessons given the pupils.

Al Clark, Physical Director of the YMCA, said the number of non-swimmers in decreasing. The largest class Mr. Clark ever had was 125 boys. Last year there were 75. Some schools, he said, often report no non-swimmers in the upper three grades.

One of the first things the boys are taught to do is kick properly. They are next taught to do a dive into the water. From here they are taught how to hold their balance in the water and proper breathing while swimming.

Instructors then begin the task of teaching the boys how to stay afloat. The flutter kick is taught the boys. The dog paddle is the elementary stroke and from this stroke they graduate to learn the overhand crawl.

When the eight lessons are complete the boys try a beginner's test of swimming 60 feet in the pool. An additional test is given of jumping in the pool feet first, going competely under water. They have to come to a horizontal position in the water, swim 10 or 15 feet out into the pool, turn around and swim back.

"When the boys can do that test, we're quite happy. He's pretty secure them," Mr. Clark said.

Ann Sothern Discovered Again

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 3 (AP)—Ann Sothern finds herself being discovered again.

The blonde actress has had a career of being discovered in pictures. First it was as Harriet Lake in RKO musicals, then as a comedienne in "Trade Winds," then as Maise and Panama Hattie. Her latest spurt is due to the hit "Letter to Three Wives."

Ann is proving variety with her current film schedule. Now playing a murderess in "Death in the Doll House," she goes into "Nancy Flies to Rio," a musical in which she plays Jane Powell's mother. Following that comes a romantic comedy with Robert Ryan.

There's only one trouble: She does not like to work that hard.

$3,400 Surplus Reported By Civic Arena

The first balance sheet of the operations of the Park St. Civic Arena showed a surplus of $3,400.18, as audited by Edward Humpage. Total receipts were $12,279.84 including a nest egg of $738.93 from the previous committee, and expenses amounted to $8879.66. The report was sent on to the finance committee by the Council Monday night.

Income details were: senior hockey $3,730.06; junior hockey $1,010.20; other hockey $856.08; skating $898.50; booth $4,482.46; programs $354.60 ; donations $192.40; sundry receipts $16.61. Total $11,540.91, plus $738.93 from the former committee, increasing the total revenue to $12,279.84.

Payments: wages and salaries $2,211.85; tickets $329.64; postage and stationery $142.92; advertising $158.44; light and heat $316.49; Arena equipment $1,692.62; programs $325.29; (booth items): merchandise $2,383.64; wages $831.15; expenses $312.14; sundry expenses $175.48. Total expenditures $8,879.66.

The review of the season outlined daily activities from the opening of the Arena Jan. 2 to the close March 21, and as the public remembers from this first season of the south end rink there were many cancellations of games and skating from the laxity of the weather. There were 129 hockey games; 53 hours of skating and 52 hours of practices.

Dick Ouimet, manager of the Arena, submitted a complete inventory of supplies and equipment. Ald. Dodds recently commented to the council that the expenditure of $1,692.62 for various equipment would not be incurred again next season. It included such things as furnishings for the refreshment booth and many other staple articles around the place.

Low Rate On Huge City Loan

The borrowing of $1,614,890.46 was authorized by the city council in three bylaws Monday night. The items were: $1,500,000 for the new Civic Hospital; $14,816.68 for concrete sidewalks and $100,073.78 for sewers in various sections of the city. The sewers and sidewalks were laid last year. The bylaws formally gave authority to the council to issue and sell debentures for these public works which are a reflection of Peterborough's physical expansion, and a major part of the price of the necessary community services accompanying the city's growth.

A fourth bylaw, designed for economy in interest payments on the Civic Hospital issue, reduces the rate for the first 10 years from 3¼% to 2¾%, leaving the 20-year debentures at the original 3¼%.. The hospital financing bylaws were introduced by Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman of the finance committee; and the sewer and sidewalks bylaws by Ald. Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the board of works.

Needed Extra Money

The preamble to the bylaw providing additional funds for the new hospital mentioned the fact that the existing debenture debt of the city, exclusive of local improvements debentures, secured by special rates, is $3,280,053. There was also the explanation that the original financial structure of $600,000 voted by the ratepayers, plus other monies contributed by the county of Peterborough, Utilities Commission, City Trust, and the Nicholls Hospital endowment had not been sufficient to cover the actual cost of construction, and it had become necessary to raise an additional amount of $1,500,000.

In regard to interest charges on the 20-year debentures, the rate originally contemplated was 3¼% for the entire term of 20 years. The Waddell amendment obviously effects a saving to the city by reducing the interest on the serial debentures maturing in ten years from 3¼ to 2¾%. The bonds issued for 20 years will carry the original rate of 3¼%. The bylaws were passed without comment. Their details had been discussed in committee.

The board of works bylaws, relating to sewers and sidewalks, were the customary procedure of paying this year for work done last year in that department's program as directed by City Engineer A. E. Chalmers.

These municipal services were applied for by residents, were approved by the council, and Mr. Chalmers prepared estimates of their cost. Construction bylaws were passed, and the work was done in 1948. The two borrowing bylaws represent the last step in that procedure. Incidentally, the construction bylaws received the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Get Sidewalks

Streets on which sidewalks were laid included: Fagan, Bolivar, Bethune, O'Carroll, Reid, Cambridge, Donegal, Dalhousie, George, Hamilton, Monaghan Rd., McKellar and St. Catherines Sts.

And the list of sewers included the following streets: Downie, Chesterfield, Wolsley, Brookdale, Aberdeen, Stewart, Sherbrooke, Kenneth, Grandview, Lundy's Lane, Frank, Monaghan Road, Rogers, Beverley, Manor Hill, Chamberlain, Brown, Weller, Morphet, Caddy, Wilson, Carlisle, Hopkins, Hillcrest.

The bulk of this work was for the accommodation of houses built on the city's perimeter, Brookdale and Wolsley sections on the north; Caddy, Beverley and other streets on the central east of Ashburnham; Manor Hill, Hillcrest and Weller on the northwest side; Grandview, Kenneth and that group on the central west side; together with Lundy's Lane, Frank, Chamberlain and several other streets in the Byersville area, providing services to that neighborhood as promised at the time of the first Monaghan annexation.

Another Waddell bylaw authorized the issue of debentures in the amount of $200,000 for the Utilities Commission. That borrowing is to pay for expenditures of Commission, chiefly new water mains, much of it finished and some in progress. It is authorized by the council in the usual way but at the request of the Commission which has to assume the financing of the debentures out of rates charged to the water consumers.

UE Conference On Employment For Women Only

A special conference of women only, to discuss the problems of women in industry, was decided upon at the UE convention held over the weekend in Peterborough.

It is believed that this proposed conference is a new step in trade union activity. There will be a detailed discussion of women's place in industry generally as well as problems peculiar to the UE membership. It will be held in mid-June.

Special emphasis will be laid on correcting the differential between male and female rates on similar work in factories.

The growing problem of unemployment was discussed by the 175 delegates who represent 25,000 UE workers in Ontario and Quebec. All sections of the trade union movement will be enlisted, if possible, in a campaign to combat unemployment by increasing purchasing power in the hand of the working people and by spreading available work among as many workers as possible.

To this end the UE delegates laid emphasis on full recognition of a 40-hour work week.

A substantial increase in unemployment insurance benefits was also urged by the delegates.

The two-day convention voiced strong disapproval of the North Atlantic Pact, gave full support to a nation-wide peace movement and called for coordination of CCL unions in a "fourth round" wage drive in 1949.

City's Congratulations To Hon. Leslie Frost

Hon. Leslie M. Frost, of Lindsay, is likely to blush when he reads the congratulatory resolution from the council of his neighboring Peterborough. For the purpose of this felicitous tribute, Aldermen P. J. Anglesey and Arthur Borrows dusted off several superlatives which will indicate to Mr. Frost that he is highly regarded in Peterborough, even with a tincture of envy for the Scugog community that has been consistently settling the district pace in recent years.

In extending congratulations, the resolution affirms the confidence of the people of Peterborough in Premier Frost, and also "that because of his ability in the profession of law, his training in the municipal council of the town of Lindsay, and his experience as member of the Legislature of Ontario and Provincial Treasurer, he is eminently fitted to most excellently lead and direct with great success the affairs of Canada's banner province."

The trustees sought information as to whether any organization set up by the city council was available for the distribution of the money.

Petition To Upset Bylaw Fails Sufficient Names

A petition to upset the bylaw fixing gasoline service station hours failed in sufficient signatures to the council Monday night. It required more than one-third of the total number of station operators in the city.

The petition objecting to the bylaw regulating the hours of service station operation was signed by 15 of the gasoline retailers, of whom two requested by letter to City Clerk Outram that their names be erased. Chief Constable John Thompson supplied the information that there are 54 gasoline station 'occupiers' in the city.

Mr. Outram's comment to the council was simply that the petition did not have the required number of signatures, more than one-third of the total number of gasoline station operators.

The applicants as shown by the petition were: John Russelle's service station, 904 water St.; Midtown Motors, 437 Water St.; Leo Burke, No. 7 Highway, east; Vincent Crebar, No. 7 Highway; Hayward Sinclair, 747 Park St. south; Lorne Hartman, 836 Lansdowne St.; Ted Moore, Monaghan Road and Chamberlain St.; Thompson Brothers, 75 George St. at Rink St.; Capitol Taxi, Hugh Davis, Water St. north; D. J. Little, Monaghan Road; A. J. Brady, Douro St. and Armour Road; P. Calhoun, 135 Park Hill Road; Q. S. Woods, 288 Charlotte St.; W. A. Turney, 577 Armour Road; Q. S. Woods, trucks and equipment, 465 Aylmer St.; J. W. Frizzelle, 33 Hunter St.; E. W. Whiddon, 2180 Clonsilla Ave.

The signatories who asked that their names be struck from the list were: W. T. Turney and E. W. Whiddon.

Asks Name Removed

A letter from Rae McWilliams of McWilliams Motor Sales, protested the inclusion of the name of Hugh Davis, Capitol Taxi, on the petition and also on Chief Thompson's list of gasoline station operators. He wrote, in part, "I wish to object, and request the removal of the name of Hugh Davis, the reason being that at the time the petition was signed to bring about the passing of the bylaw in question, I witnessed the signature of Mr. Davis as being in favor of the bylaw. At that time it was pointed out that Mr. Davis was not connected with the retail sale of gasoline in the eyes of the city council, and as a result he was struck from my list. If this applied then, I can see no change in his operations that would make a difference now."

City Clerk Outram reported the facts of the petition to the council with the number of station operators and the number signing the request for rescinding the bylaw. He also said the statute required every signature on the petition to be verified "by the statutory declaration of at least one witness who need not, however, sign the petition as a subscribing witness." Mr. Outram said no affidavits accompanied the petition opposing the bylaw. The petition asked for the repeal of the bylaw which fixed the hours of sale of gasoline.

Mr. Outram explained that in all such cases the number of operators in the city had to be obtained, and that information was provided by Chief Thompson. The correspondence was referred to the finance committee.

Two Boys Take $35 From Store

Two youngsters aged 10 and 12 helped themselves to $35 from the till in a store at Hunter and Queen St. Monday around 1.30 p.m. The lads had asked for permission to wait in the store for their mother and as soon as the store-keeper went into the living quarters of the premises, made off with the money, a package of cigarettes and matches.

A taxi driver's suspicion, when he saw the boys with so much money, led to recovery of $30.

Permits Issued During April For 44 Houses

New building values registered in the permits at the city hall to the end of April amount to $1,177,777 as reported today by Miss Jean Elcome of City Engineer Chalmers' department.

The comparative figure for the first four months of last year was $605,395. That is a difference and gain of 100 per cent and an indication that the industrial momentum in Peterborough is still creating a lot of new property.

The most impressive component of the April summary was the issuance of 44 permits for houses valued at $303,500.

Total for the month was $447,041 as compared with $432,683 for April last year. The permit details last month were: 10 garages $2,965; 44 houses $303,500; 102 miscellaneous $140,576. Total— 156 permits for $447,041.

Permits in April last year: 13 garages $4750; 20 houses $112,000; 100 miscellaneous $315,933. Total— 133 permits for $432,683.

Members of the council who discussed the permit figures were inclined to grasp at the 44 buildings as evidence that private building would gradually catch up on the community needs. But, there is the question of low-rental dwellings, especially the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation buildings renting around $37, for which it is believed there is a sharp demand.

If Peterborough is going to ask for another 50 of the Central Mortgage houses, the council will have to come to an early decision. The "dead line" set by Central Mortgage for applications is May 14.

Hospital Payments Total $1,077,176

Total payments on new Civic Hospital to the end of March were $1,077,176.50 as reported to the council Monday night by Mr. John Hormal, superintendent and secretary of the Board of Governors. Since then, he wrote there was further payment of $62,826.14, thereby covering virtually all the work done to recent date.

The council had asked for information regarding the prospective balance of funds to finance the construction of a nurses residence.

"On sub-trades included in the contract estimates of June 28, 1948, 70% have been let within the estimated figures. The estimated amount of sub-trades contracts let to date was $465,001. The total amount of contract prices as actually let was $461,613. Some of these contracts are subject to an escalator clause."

The comparison presented by Mr. Hornal was generally to the effect, as commented by City Clerk Outram in abbreviating the statement from the Governors, that construction is keeping within the estimated cost as shown by the amounts cited.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Often Ready to Forgive Lost Confidence Big Trouble

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married for 30 years and have had a happy life except for the past three years when I learned that my husband, who had always been wonderful to me in every way, was having a very serious affair with a young woman in his office. I was completely crushed and offered him a divorce, but he would not agree to it. Said he loved me and would put the other woman out of his life.

Dorothy Dix

I have tried very hard to get back my confidence in my husband, but to no avail. Something has happened to me inside and all the joy has gone out of my life. My husband tells me that I should forget it, that other wives have forgiven their mates for stepping off of the straight and narrow path, but I simply can't forget it.

Do you think I should leave my husband? We are both 55 years old and have no children.

A LONELY, SAD WOMAN.

ANSWER: I do not think you will be happier if you divorce your husband. It will only leave you more lonely and with no home on which to expend your energies. Better by far to accept the situation and make the best of it. Get what pleasure you can out of his companionship and remember that time is a great healer. Insensibly we grow used to suffering. Our backs straighten to the burden and somehow we go on and learn to smile again.

When your husband tells you that he still loves you after his fashion, it is doubtless true, and you can accept it for what it is worth. The average man looks at a flirtation as a mere episode, and he doesn't see what his wife goes all to pieces over. He thinks she should have sense enough to know that he is merely amusing himself with a pretty young girl. And the curious part of this, and the thing that we women can never understand, is that it is true.

Wound Never Heals

But when your husband says that women whose husbands have betrayed them forget it, he does not know what he is talking about. No woman ever forgets even for a minute that her husband has been false to her. The memory of that wrong is like a stab in the heart that never heals. She may technically forgive, that is, she may condone it to the extent of not leaving him, but she never forgets, and she never again has any confidence in him.

I often think that in the end it is the philandering husbands who suffer most, because they throw away the love and respect of their wives for mercenary kisses.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man 40 years old, desperately in love with a girl of 17. She loves me, but her family does not want her to marry me because they say I am too old for her. They have no other objection to me What is your advice?

A MAN IN LOVE.

ANSWER: I think that 17 is too young for a girl to marry. She has no stability of character. Her tastes change every day. She is crazy about a thing one minute and tires of it the next. She is full of fitful tempers and moods. She is at the playtime of life and she wants to run around and enjoy herself. All of which is perfectly natural and right.

But these are not the things that make for happiness in marriage. They are not the things that a man of 40 looks for in his wife. So, looking at it from the man's standpoint, I can think of nothing more reckless that he can do than to marry a girl of 17. If she stays in love with him, it is a mere chance. If she is contented with domesticity, it is a miracle. The odds are overwhelmingly against it; it is more likely that she will come to consider her husband an old fossil and tire of him and fall in love with some boy of her own age.

So my advice to you is to give the girl a chance to grow up. Wait until she is older. Then she will be better fitted mentally and physically, to make you a good wife.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow, fairly well off financially. I have a son who is 18 and I am most anxious that he should have a good education, but he refuses to go to school. He is a good boy, but he has such a restless disposition I am afraid he will get into trouble just loafing around. What would you advise me to do?

A WIDOW.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why not suggest to him that he enlist in the Marines? That would give him the discipline he needs and, besides, it would afford him the opportunity to travel the world over.

House Fails To Pass Budget So Tax Cuts Not Official

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Parliament quit work to head for the hustings the other day without passing the budget that was the basis for the tax cuts that just caught up with pay cheques.

So a strange situation has come to pass, one that could find itself being booted around as what they sometimes call a political football in the impending election campaign.

The lower weekly or monthly deductions at source, now generally in effect, are backed by law because the cabinet made them law by regulation. The same goes for the removal of the nuisance taxes whch brought back five-cent soft drinks, altered corporation taxes and other changes.

But the so-called Abbott Santa Claus budget is not law—and conceivably might not become law—and it was that budget that prompted the cuts.

Official Explains

A revenue department official explained it this way: The deductions at source are merely payments on account of taxes that will come due in a little less than a year. If in that time no budget is approved by parliament then the taxes due April 30, 1950, will be based on the rates in effect before Mr. Abbott brought in his recent budget. So probably every income-tax payer would owe the treasury money because their deductions were too small.

A finance department official took it up from there. If, he said, the Liberal party is returned to power June 27 it would probably call a Fall session of the new parliament and reintroduce the same budget resolutions Finance Minister Abbott presented at the session which ended Saturday.

If another party comes in it will be able to make up its own mind about what it wants to do. It might accept the Abbott budget or it might not.

That's where the electioneering angle comes in. Conceivably any party can promise to improve the budget proposals within a few months if it comes to power.

For the tax-paying public there is at least one consolation and no particular reason to lose sleep.

The Opposition parties, generally speaking, gave no indication in the budget debate that they thought Mr. Abbott had gone too far. On the contrary, their attacks mainly were designed to prove that he didn't go far enough.

Rule Embassy Man Has Taken Own Life

MANILA, May 3—(AP)—John Herbert Dickinson, British charge d'affaires here, plunged to his death today from the Hong Kong and Shanghai bank building. Police said he took his own life.

Police said they found three suicide notes in the diplomat's coat pocket.

One note was addressed to Dickinson's wife, Gwendolyn of Toronto, and another to Ronald Finlay, British vice-consul.

The third letter, addressed to police, revealed that Dickinson was suffering a deep depression.

Friends of Dickinson said he had not fully recovered from serious injuries, including a fracture of the skull, received while he was serving with the British embassy in Poland.

These sources said Dickinson was waylaid and beaten by Russian uniformed soldiers in 1947.

Ask Nazi Anti-Jews Be Tried By Israel

BERLIN, May 3—(Reuters) — Julius Meyer, head of Berlin's Jewish community said today Germany's four military governors will be asked to hand over for trial to the Israeli government "all those in Germany who committed crimes against Jews."

He told reporters this decision had been taken following the acquittal by a German court in Hamburg April 23 of Viet Harlan, former Nazi film director, accused of making anti-Jewish film.

"We now are collecting signatures to a petition calling on the military governors to hand over people like Harlan and others who committed crimes against Jews to the Israeli government for judgment," Meyer said.

More than 500 members of the Jewish community in Berlin Monday night met at the synagogue, in the Soviet sector of the city, to protest against Harlan's acquittal.

Dockers Back On Job Wait For Negotiation

AVONMOUTH, Gloucestershire, England, May 3 (Reuters)—Avonmouth dockers, who stopped work in support of the 28 striking members of the 7,100-ton Canadian ship Gulfside, decided today to return to work at once, leaving Union leaders to negotiate for withdrawal of the ship's new crew.

The dockers walked out after giving the Andros Shipping Company until 5 p.m. BST Monday to call off a substitute crew flown from Canada.

Late Monday night the crew was still aboard.

After a meeting at the dock gate early today, the dockers resumed work in response to appeals by their union leaders. They stipulated that their union should make representations that the substitute crew should be withdrawn immediately.

Charge Ship Owners Fine Strikers $1,000

BRISBANE, May 3—(Reuters) Thirty Canadian seamen claimed today that the owners of the Canadian ship Trisdale had fined them a total of $1,000 for refusing to sail the ship from here last month.

The men were released from prison Monday after serving 14 days for wilfully disobeying a awful command to take their ship to sea.

Their action was part of the strike called by the Canadian Seamen's Union in its dispute with east-coast shipowners over recognition of the rival Seafarers' International Union.

The men said they were told of the fine when they went to the Brisbane agents of the Triton Shipping Company, the Tridale's owners, to collect their effects and pay.

CANBERRA, May 3—(Reuters) —Prime Minister Chifley, who returned today from London where he signed a 15-year meat pact with Britain, has ordered a start to be made at once on detailed plans for developing the North Australian meat industry, a reliable source said. Under the London agreement, Britain will guarantee a market for Australia's exportable meat surplus and back her industry development projects.

Health Waters Found By Indian Geologists

NEW DELHI, May 3— (AP). Samples of water from 23 different mineral springs in Bihar have been examined and geological experts say that some closely resemble well known European and American medicinal, table and spa water in mineral composition and radioactive properties.

The Geological Survey of India bottled some suitable types of spring waters for tests by the public.

Reports from those who used the samples are stated to be encouraging. Some have reported that the waters on continued use prove efficacious for rheumatism, skin diseases, digestive disorders and leprosy.

Social Work Being Retarded By Lack of Sufficient Funds

"If only we could get our hands on some of that large amount of money Canadians are now squandering on drinking, gambling, and smoking" was the wish expressed by Lt.-Col. V. Pearl Payton of Toronto; Women's Social Secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda; when speaking to the Rotary Club on Monday in the Empress Hotel about the work of her department. She said that, while her greatest need was for trained, devoted women willing to spend their lives in the service of those less fortunate, a great deal more could be done for the unmarried mother and her child, girls released from prison, orphaned children, and the aged, if more money was available.

Lt.-Col. Payton, who is a native of Peterborough, where she began her work in the Salvation Army, was introduced by Major Charles Watt, officer commanding the local corps. She said the Army stands greatly in need of more nurses, X-ray technicians, dietitians, and case workers for its general and maternity hospitals across Canada.

Miraculous Record

In detailing the hospital work of the Army in Canada, the speaker told the club that in the three-year period of 1945-47 there was not one maternal death in connection with the 7,000 births which occurred in the Army's Grace Maternity Hospital in Winnipeg. This record was described as "miraculous" by Dr. R. A. Kelly, city health officer, when he thanked the speaker after her address.

Col. Payton said that need of something constructive being done on behalf of the unmarried mother was the basic reason why the Salvation Army became interested in hospital work in Canada. The work was started first in private homes and has grown so greatly in the intervening years that now the Salvation Army operates three general hospitals, eight maternity hospitals, three receiving homes for ex-women prisoners, two children's homes and six "Sunset" lodges for elderly people. The first maternity hospital was built in Winnipeg in 1904 and for the past 15 years it has been operated as a general hospital.

The speaker stated that there were 20,000 births in the eight maternity hospitals operated by the Army in Canada last year; of these 2,400 were children of unmarried mothers.

Spiritual Side

Lt.-Col. Payton laid stress upon the "spiritual" aspect of the work done by the Salvation Army in all its institutions. She cited a city in Ontario where in one year 57 out of 100 young unwed mothers cared for by the Army were "converted." The sporitual side also enters into the training of nurses, who have drawn much praise from their patients for the "sympathetic bedside manner" which their Salvation Army training tends to develop.

The speaker declared that monetary returns have very little place in the life of a Salvation Army officer; sacrificial devoted service for others being the compelling motive. She cited the period during which she earned a cash salary of $15.00 a week while superintendent of the Winnipeg 250-bed hospital as evidence of this approach to the work.

In discussing the work of the "Sunset Lodges" for old people, she said that there are long waiting lists of people desiring such accommodation, and that the Army "could not begin to cope with the problem of meeting this demand."

Lt-Col. Payton, at the conclusion of her address, introduced Captain Mary Webb, Salvation Army social case worker, of Toronto, who gave details of one case she handled recently of a teen-aged mother to illustrate the work done along this line. She said that last year in Toronto 466 unmarried mothers were aided by the Army.

Announce Dates For Canonization

VATICAN CITY, May 3 (AP)—At a semi-public consistory Monday the dates were fixed by Pope Pius for the canonization of two French and three Italian women.

One of these was the 15th century Queen of France, the blessed Jeanne de Valois, wife of Louis XII.

Two of the solemn and colorful ceremonies by which the Roman Catholic Church raises its heroes and heroines to the highest honors will take place this month and in June.

The other three were fixed for the feasts of the Pentecost and Ascension of holy year. Holy year begins Christmas eve, this year, and runs to Christmas eve, 1950.

The process for the sanctification of Jeanne de Valois has been on the church books more than 300 years, since 1644.

Here are the Saints to be created, and the dates of their elevations:

Jeanne de Lestonnac, a rich and noble woman of Bordeaux who died in 1640 after deserting her comfortable life and founding the Order of the Daughters of the Blessed Virgin Mary, for the care of the poor. She will be raised to Sainthood May 15.

Giuseppa Rossello, Italian, founder of the Daughters of Our Lady of Mercy. She died in 1880, and will be Canonized June 12.

Bartolomea Capitanio and Vincenza Gerosa, Italian women of the last century who together founded the Sisters of Charity. They will be raised together to Sainthood on Ascension Thursday of the holy year.

Jeanne de Valois, French Queen, will be elevated on Pentecost Sunday of holy year.

Give Money To Widow

KINGSTON, May 3—(CP)—When Vernon Tye, an electrician, died recently, he left a number of jobs unfinished. Next Saturday 25 members of the Kingston branch of the Electrical Contractors' Association, of which Mr. Tye was a member, will finish the projects and turn the money over to his widow.

GETS NEW NAME — Residents of Sunnyside, a small community near Kitchener, decided recently to change the name of their centre to Kingsdale in honor of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who was born in Kitchener. The new post office was officially opened April 27, and even the postmaster was appropriately picked. This photo shows Postmaster John B. King, no relation to the former Prime Minister, sorting the first mail for Kingsdale.

Peterborough Gladiolus Society Visits Omemee Horticulturists

OMEMEE, May 3 (ENS)—Approximately thirty members of the Peterborough District Gladiolus Society were guests of the Omemee and District Horticultural Society Thursday evening. One of the visitors, Harold Ball, gave an address on gladioli.

President John Bent in welcoming the guests spoke appreciatively of their gift of bulbs for prizes at the Omemee Window Show last year.

Those wishing to take advantage of a bus trip to the James Gardens June 6, were asked to report to Mrs. R. E. Brooks.

Many Junior Members

It was announced that this year there are 55 junior members, almost double last year's enrolment, that they had been divided into four age groups and seeds ordered for their gardens. Acknowlegment was made of a letter from Mrs. S. J. Mackey thanking the Society for receipt of a book entitled "Flower Management For Everyone," which had bees given her as a recognition of faithful membership since the organization was formed 11 years ago. It was voted to send another copy to Miss Irene Clemmet, who was also a charter member and who, like Mrs. Mackey had severed her connections with the society because of taking up residence in Toronto.

Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, introduced the speaker, mentioning the pleasant occasions when he and H. Burke had been privileged to visit the Peterborough Gladiolus Society.

Mr. Ball conveyed the greetings of his society. He recommended buying bulbs as near home as possible and selecting for beauty rather than size. He classified diseases which attack the bulbs and suggested safe remedies. He also dealt with methods of planting, choice of fertilizer and soil, spraying asd the proper method of lifting and drying the bulbs.

Pictures Shown

Mr. Bell's address was followed by screened pictures of several noted gladiolus gardens, of types of gladioli and some on chrysanthemums.

Say Red Attacks On Navy Accident

SINGAPORE, May 3 (AP)—A high British authority said Monday he is convinced the Chinese Communist attack on the Royal Navy sloop Amethyst April 22 was not deliberate.

He believed it was caused by lack of discipline among Chinese forces lining the bank of the Yangtze river, or by excitement among the troops.

The attack on the Amethyst and subsequent engagements with three other British warships involved in the incident cost 42 British lives.

He reported that messengers, apparenly from local Communist forces, assured the Amethyst safety in her present location but said it would be dangerous at the present time to move toward Shanghai.

British subjects still in the former Nationalist capital, now in Communist hands, have supplies sufficent for two weeks and thereafter may be able to get more supplies by road or rail, he said.

Demand Investigation Into Military Buying

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The House of Representatives Armed Services Committee wants to know why soldiers and sailors can buy girls' nighties, expensive jewelry and television sets tax-free and at almost wholesale prices.

It ordered the start of an investigation today. Plans are to make a top-to-bottom study of the more than $500,000,000 business of army post exchanges and navy ship stores.

The probe was ordered after civilian retailers, and some business associations, complained that the military services are competing unfairly with them. The services do not pay federal excise taxes on luxury items, and some of their stores' expenses are met from government funds appropriated by Congress.

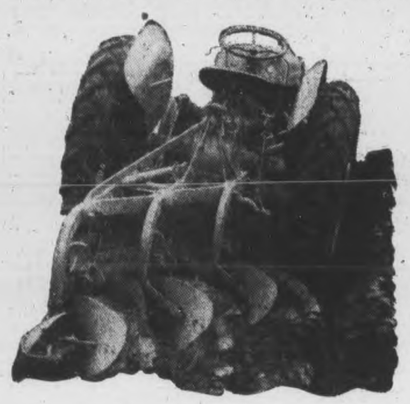
You'll feel the EXTRA POWER of the new FERGUSON TRACTOR



3 PLOW CAPACITY

How can a tractor so compact, so easily handled, put forth so much power for the heavy jobs? Two reasons! FIRST—is the Ferguson System of Linkage and Hydraulic Control. It takes advantage of natural forces in linking implement to tractor, making them one single "self-propelled" unit, and automatically increasing traction for the harder pulling. At the same time, the work of raising, lowering, carrying and controlling depth of the implement is done for you, hydraulically.

SECOND—This power, so fully utilized, is supplied by the "farm-type" overhead valve engine of Ferguson and Continental Motors design. Engineered and built for low operating cost, with longer hours of running on the many different kinds of work you'll find the New Ferguson can do.

Together, this combination gives you a farm machine with more than enough power, yet easily controlled, flexible for the wide range of farm requirements.

Whether you judge tractor performance by how easy it makes your work, the time saved, or by how much it lowers your cost of production, ask us to arrange your demonstration. You'll find the New Ferguson is the modern farm machine for you.

A MISER ON FUEL

Exceptionally high torque at low engine speeds often lets you use third gear when you'd expect to need second. Rugged, heavy-duty construction with drop-forged crankshaft; long-skirted, cam-ground aluminum alloy pistons; "wet" sleeves fully water-jacketed; full pressure lubrication and precision manufacture—an engine built to "take it"!

It's the FERGUSON SYSTEM that makes the difference!

Chinese Lose Hangchow Without Fight

Last Land Route Cut From Shanghai, Reds Trap 80,000

By FRED HAMPSON

SHANGHAI, May 4—(CP)—China's Nationalist government confirmed today it has yielded Hangchow to the Communists without a fight. Loss of this port and rail city 100 miles down the coast cut Shanghai's last land escape route to South China. The new advance trapped Nationalist forces remaining in the big triangle bounded by Hangchow, Shanghai and Nanking, 160 miles inland. One Communist radio broadcast, elaborating on earlier claims, and 80,000 Nationalists were captured in this triangle. This was not confirmed elsewhere.

Evacuation of troops by ship was continuing on a fairly large scale today.

Reports that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was still in Shanghai persisted. It has been suggested he is here to see that no "deals" are made with the Communists.

Driving South

The Communist radio reported deepening thrusts into South China, but there was no indication of any impending attack on Shanghai. Trains were reported running westward at least 26 miles and southwestward at least 50 miles today.

The government Central News said many points near Hangchow, to the northwest, were under Communist attack.

A United States navy spokesman said it has ships available to evacuate the 1,650 Americans still here, if necessary, and that the navy will stay as long as needed.

He told a press conference that American, French and British naval vessels withdrew from Shanghai itself because of a reported Communist plot to block the channel to the sea.

Many foreign residents of Shanghai were moving out of hotels and apartments where police and troops were stationed, because of unpleasant conditions. (The censored dispatch did not amplify this).

Town Hall, Garage And Store Destroyed By Flames; 5 Departments Answer Call

Peterborough Dep't. Sends Pumper To Aid Of Northumberland Village Blaze Originates In Stillman Garage

WARKWORTH, May 4—(ENS)—The political forum of Northumberland County for 65 years or more, Warkworth town hall was a smoking ruin at noon today in one of the most destructive fires in the history of the village.

The town hall was apparently a complete loss together with Stillman's garage and McNallys' store adjoining it on the northwest.

Property damage estimated at noon was in excess of $100,000, but the town hall could hardly be replaced for probably twice that sum.

The fire was first noticed by John Allen, undertaker, at 10.30 a.m. smoking from the northeast corner of Stillman's garage, and Canadian Tire branch store. He immediately sounded the alarm, and the Warkworth volunteer brigade responded quickly, running hose lines to the creek several hundred yards west of the main street.

Wind Fanned Flames

From the beginning the firemen were overwhelmed by the effect of a strong northeast wind that whipped up the flames in the Stillman cement block upper story. That building was soon blazing. Only a driveway separated it from the town hall to the south of it. McNally's store was on the north side of the Stillman place.

The windblown flames attacked metal roof of the municipal building with concentrated heat that burned into the wood beneath it. From that break through the hall's protection it was at once apparent that the building was doomed. The strong wind blowing down over the hill to the north of the village was reinforcement to the flames that left the firemen almost helpless.

Calls For Help

In the meantime calls for help were telephoned to the Fire Brigades at Campbellford, Roseneath, Hastings and Peterborough. The Peterborough Department left the city at 11:20 a.m., and arrived here at 12:10 The nearest brigades had arrived a little earlier, but for a long and despairing hour the Warkworth firemen battled the flames and wind alone.

The fire was brought under control shortly after the combined force of firemen had seven or eight lines of hose, with the boosting pumpers, playing streams on the three buildings.

The two residences close to the town hall on the southeast side, occupied by Wilbert Hoard and William Dingman were kept sprayed with water, escaping with only slightly scorched roofs.

Of the three buildings within the damaging radius of the fire, McNally's store suffered the least, but all its side nearest the Stillman garage was extensively burned. Street opinion regarded the three of them as virtually complete losses.

Awakened By Smoke

Russian Troops Seize Canal Shipyards

BERLIN, May 4 (Reuters) — Russian troops today occupied the Teltow Canal shipyards which are partly in the American and partly in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

An official of the German-owned shipyards told reporters:

"Russian tommy-gunners, headed by an officer, came into the American side of the yards, closed all entrances and refused to allow anyone to enter or leave.

"They stopped all work going on.

"We do not know what the reason for this is, but yesterday Soviet-control-led German police accompanied by east-zone economic officials came here and claimed that the entire shipyard was situated in Russian occupied territory and therefore subject to Russian control."

An American official spokesman said the dispute at the yards appeared to centre around certain personnel employed there whom the Russians wanted dismissed.

"United States officials are now in conference with the Russians and are trying to straighten the matter out," he added.

Truman Agrees To Relieve Clay

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—President Truman announced on Tuesday he is agreeing to the release of Gen. Lucius D. Clay as United States military commander in Germany.

The President also disclosed that Lt.-Gen. Clarence R. Huebner and Maj.-Gen. George P. Hays, Clay's military and military government deputies, would carry on his work pending the appointment of a civilian high commissioner.

In a statement, Truman said the work of moral and economic reconstruction in the western zone now has reached a point where the Germans were about to obtain a greatly enlarged measure of political and economic responsibility.

Asserting that Gen. Clay had completed a prodigious task of administration, the President said the general was being relieved on May 15, in deference to his repeated requests to be released from his task.

Say Farewell

GRAFENWOEHR, May 4 (AP)—The United States armed forces in Germany said farewell today to Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Thirty-five generals, 11,000 troops and scores of airplanes participated in a review and tribute to the retiring military governor. Fighter planes in formation spelled his name in the sky.

Moscow Charges U.S. Kidnapped 1,500 Russians

LONDON, May 4—(Reuters)—Moscow radio today charged the United States Military Command in Germany with transporting 1,500 Russian citizens from Germany in 1945 to "work for private persons in the United States."

The radio also attacked the British and French Military Commands in Germany and Austria for "deliberately breaking the repatriation agreement" signed at the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow in April, 1947.

Only Russia had carried out the agreement, the Broadcast claimed, adding that Britain, France and the United States were responsible for 400,000 Soviet citizens "languishing in foreign lands suffering from hunger, destitution and arbitrary rule."

The radio also reported that a Soviet displaced person sent to Canada from Europe had written complaining that he was living in "cardboard barracks, 40 to 50 people in each, sleeping in bunks in two tiers."

The refugee had added:

"We are working in the forest 9½ hours a day. The nearest inhabited place is 20 miles away."

No Expansion In N.Z. Trade

TORONTO, May 4 (CP) —Any substantial expansion of New Zealand's trade with Canada in the immediate future hardly seems possible, James Thorn, New Zealand High Commissioner in Canada, said today.

Addressing the Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Thorn added: "I regret this situation, because from my almost continuous association with the United Nations over the past 12 months, one of the conclusions I have drawn is that an aim for all the people in our commonwealth . . . is its economic health and strength and moral power, and trade should serve this aim."

Mr. Thorn said: "New Zealand's economy is built on sales to one main market, Great Britain. We are now under contract to supply her (Britain) with 97 per cent of our exports of butter and cheese and 100 per cent of our meat exports."

BULLETIN

OTTAWA (CP)—George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said today the R.C.M.P. has uncovered a number of Communist agents in the federal civil service here. For more than a year the R.C.M.P. has been screening the 30,000 civil servants employed in Ottawa. Mr. McIlraith said "Some important things have been uncovered; a woman, for instance who was a higher up, and not just one of the ordinary agents."

Tanker Sinks Near Wharf After Fire, Explosions

NEWCASTLE, N.B., May 4—(CP)—The fire-blasted tanker Elkhound today rested on the bottom of the Miramichi River after two internal explosions cracked her hull and injured three persons, including the captain. One member of the 14-man crew, Fireman Wesley Weagles of Bridgewater, N.S., was brought to hospital here after the first blast yesterday caught him asleep in his bunk. He later was reported "doing well."

Also injured were Capt. Gordon T. Weston of Rexton, N.B., and crew member Wilfred Dunlessis of Buctouche, N.B. Both suffered minor burns.

Flames raced through the 729-ton ship 15 minutes before sailing time. Her oil cargo had been loaded into tanks on a pier and escaped damage. After the explosion, she was towed into midstream.

Capt. Weston went aboard and anchored her alone, not knowing when a third blast might rake the heeling vessel.

His action prevented the flaming Elkhound drifting ashore and causing further damage, confined to broken windows on both sides of the river. The Miramichi is three-quarters of a mile wide at this northeastern New Brunswick port.

Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

The explosions erupted about 15 minutes after flames broke out and part of the tanker's superstructure was hurled over a wharf narrowly missing two firemen.

Cottage Blast Injures Man

DURHAM, May 4.—Struck in the face with the full force of an ammunition explosion in a burning cottage, Wilfred Eadie, 49, of Toronto was critically injured at midnight Monday night.

The Toronto man had journeyed to Durham by bus Monday night, and was walking down a side-road five miles northeast of here to visit his aunt, Miss Ada Banks. As he passed a cottage owned by the Hamilton Fishing Club, Eadie noticed smoke and flames pouring out. Believing some one might be inside, he broke open the door Immediately an explosion engulfed him in flames.

A passing truck driver spotted the injured man staggering out to the roadway, and took him to Durham Hospital.

Const. Illingworth of Durham and Prov. Const. Black of Flesherton investigated the blaze. Members of the fishing club had visited the cottage Sunday but there was no indication of the fire's origin.

Cabinet Changes

TORONTO, May 4 — (CP) — Hon. Leslie Frost today announced changes in the Ontario cabinet, shortly before he was to be sworn in as the province's new premier. Hon. Leslie Blackwell, Attorney General, is retiring to his private law practice. One new man enters the government, Welland S. Gemmell, member for Sudbury, as Minister of Mines. Another leadership candidate, Hon. Dana Porter, was appointed Attorney-General.

Say Building Strike Scheduled To Spread

TORONTO, May 4 (CP) — Toronto's building workers' strike called to back up a union demand for a modified closed shop, is scheduled to spread today.

The strike which since Monday has halted work on construction of two banks and the new Hospital for Sick Children, may be extended to 15 other projects, bringing the number of workers idle to perhaps 5,000.

The Toronto Builders' Exchange, a contractors' organization, rejected a demand by the International Hod Carriers, Building and [illegible] (AFL) that contractors agree to hire laborers only through the union office and to make it a condition of employment that all laborers now on the job join the union by May 31.

1950 Royal Tour Out Because Of Elections

CANBERRA, May 4 (Reuters) —Prime Minister Chifley said today there will be no Royal Tour of Australia in 1950. The British general elections in that year would make it impossible for the King to leave the country, he said.

He declined to comment on the possibility of Princess Elizabeth visiting Australia, beyond saying that she "knew she would receive a wonderful welcome if she came."

Set May 12 Date To See End Of Blockade

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Russia and the three western powers met today to work out plans to lift the blockades of Berlin May 12 and for a council of Foreign Ministers meeting May 28.

These dates were disclosed by a London source in position to know them as envoys of the four powers convened in the United States' United Nations delegation office.

The Foreign Ministers conference to be held in Paris, will be the first in 1½ years and the seventh session of the Foreign Ministers body.

Only five persons were present at today's meeting. They were delegates of Britain, the United States, France and Russia and a Russian secretary-interpreter.

Today's meeting was called to work out "details" of the two dates. It marked the first time that representatives of the four great powers had sat down together on the Berlin blockade issue since talks broke up in Moscow last summer.

Russia agreed last night to have the United States call in Britain and France.

A statement issued by the United States delegation to the United Nations said the series of talks have now reached a point where it is possible to consider "detailed arrangements for the reciprocal lifting of the restrictions which have been in existence since March, 1948 on communications with the city of Berlin".

Today's four-power meeting was called after Malik made contact with Jessup, a diplomatic source indicated.

It is obvious that Russia now agrees with the Western Powers that the negotiations had advanced to the four-power stage.

Jessup, with Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain and Jean Chauvel of France, had spent all day yesterday waiting for word from Malik.

It was believed the Soviet official himself spent yesterday waiting new instructions from Moscow regarding the joint Western Powers' statement handed to him following Monday's meeting [illegible] Jessup and Chauvel.

Considerate Thieves

TORONTO, May 4—(CP)—Haberdashery proprietor Harry Green today felt mollified by two men who robbed him last week and left him trussed up in his own neckties. Yesterday the robbers returned his personal papers, a $72 cheque and a Sweepstake ticket via the mail. However, they kept $160 taken from Green's wallet.

4 Men Trapped In Burning Mine

GIRARDVILE, Pa., May 4 — Four men are trapped 800 feet underground to-day in a burning anthracite mine.

The miners are entombed in the No. 5 Colliery of the Gilberton Coal Company near this Eastern Pennsylvania town.

Rescue workers pumped compressed air down the smoke-filled shaft in an effort to provide ventilation for the trapped men.

Water pumps, however, broke down and company officials expressed fears that the trapped men may be drowned before they are reached.

Mine Superintendent Elmer Christ said he believed the blaze was caused by a short-circuit in electric wiring which ignited the mine timbers.

Michael Caufield, Girardville miner, who escaped from the mine with three other workmen, told a reporter that three of the men were working a the third level—800 feet underground. The fourth, Caufield said, probably is at the fourth level, 1,100 feet down.

Only eight men were in the mine when the fire was discovered Tuesday night.

Several rescue workers, wearing asbestos suits and gas masks, were lowered into the smoking shaft to-day.

2 Oshawa Explosions Cut Off City's Power

OSHAWA, May 4 (CP)—Two early morning explosions in a central Hydro sub-division power station today cut off the city's power and halted work in several industrial plants.

The explosions about 7:50 a.m. were believed caused when a primary wire in the sub-station broke. One of the wires fell across a nearby automobile and set it afire. No injuries were reported from the explosions and firemen quickly extinguished the fire.

Dulles Fears War If Pact Not Ratified

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—John Foster Dulles said to-day that "war is highly probable" if the United States does not ratify the North Atlantic Treaty.

Dulles, American delegate to the United Nations, made this assertion to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in urging approval of the 12-Power Defence Alliance.

To repudiate the treaty now, Dulles continued, would reflect a change in the American point of view and this would make other nations change their plans.

"Out of that would come a war" he declared.

Dulles did not specify which countries he thinks might change their plans if the Senate refuses to ratify the treaty.

GI Starts One-Man War Score Eight Russians Down

VIENNA, May 4—(AP) — A fighting American soldier who started a one-man war against Russia had a headache today. So did the United States army.

And eight Russian officers had sore jaws.

There was an unhappy feeling that the man who writes Russia's notes of diplomatic protest would have writer's cramp before long, too.

Pte. Edward J. Touhey, six feet three inches, 230 pounds and the alleged cause of it all, was under observation in a locked room at a Vienna army hospital.

Touhey, according to Col. Willard K. Liebel, provost-marshal, had been drinking 'but not enough to cause all this disturbance."

Liebel didn't specify how much alcohol he thought it should have required yesterday to cause a man to:

Start fighting the sentry outside the Soviet-occupied Grand Hotel in Vienna's international district.

Walk across the street to the swank Imperial Hotel and slug a Russian officer standing there.

Enter the hotel and start swinging at the available supply of Russian oficers. Some said the stock pile was eight, others said 12.

All agreed Touhey took them on one at a time. Eight went down.

As a grand finale he grabbed an iron chair and took out after a Russian colonel. Then American police grabbed him. Under heavy escort, he was taken away by ambulance.

A crowd of several hundred Austrians attended the festivities.

Dublin Papers Attack Eire Citizens' Bill

DUBLIN, May 4 (Reuters) — Dublin papers today bitterly attacked the British government's Republic of Ireland Bill, which received its first reading in the House of Commons yesterday.

Under the Bill, Eire citizens will not be treated as aliens in Britain and may acquire British citizenship by applying to the Home Secretary.

"The very title of the bill is an affront to the Irish nation," the Irish Independent said. "The Irish people deny most vehemently that any foreign country has the right to interfere in Irish affairs."

Britain Plans Drastic Step To Get Canadian Trade

LONDON, May 4—(CP)—The government is willing to go to "immense lengths" to help British industry increase is exports to Canada supply minister G. R. Strauss told Canadian newspaper men today.

He said the government had instructed all its departments to "ensure that necessary resources are available for an increased flow of production to the Canadian market."

"In my department this means we will give steel to any firm which can export it to Canada—at the expense, if necessary, of other firms," he continued.

"This, as you will appreciate, is a drastic step."

"We hope and believe Canadian buyers will be able to respond to these efforts and so help increase trade between our two countries," he added.

Strauss referred to the pre-war trade set-up when Britain was able to balance her payments with Canada through dominions trade with the colonies and other countries. But today the United States and Canada were buying less from other countries "and our own investments abroad were largely sold to finance the war."

This lack of balance had forced Britain to enter bilateral agreements with European countries.

"Canada is our largest single source of overseas supplies. We take more than one-fifth of her exports and this represents about one-tenth of our total imports."

During 1948 Canada had taken only about two per cent of the United Kingdom's machinery exports and imported from the United States 10 times as much.

King's Title Likely Will Change

New Move Result Of Recent Commonwealth Talks

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP)—There may be a change in the King's title.

This was indicated by a high External Affairs Department officer yesterday as a direct outcome of the recent Commonwealth conference of Prime Ministers in London.

As a result of the London conference there may be many changes in the Commonwealth's status.

For one thing its former name of "British Commonwealth" is being changed.

There was some confusion as to whether Canada and other members of the Commonwealth were still "Dominions." The official communique didn't make this clear and, said the officer, "I don't know just what we are."

Must Be Changed

He did know that the title of the King would have to be changed and this change would be reflected on new Canadian coins to be issued in the future.

India's decision to continue as a member of the Commonwealth opened the way for changes of status of other areas within the present framework, the officer said. A colony could become either a republic or a dominion, but the change would have no effect on admission of outside countries.

The "big thing" that has resulted from the London conference was "that the Commonwealth hasn't broken up."

Trying To Avert Strike At Ford

DETROIT, May 4 (AP)—Negotiators raced against time today in an effort to avert a strike of 60,000 Ford workers at gigantic River Rouge plant here scheduled for noon tomorrow. At issue was the charge of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) of "speed-up."

In hopes of avoiding a walkout, management and top UAW leaders arranged to meet at 2 p.m. today for renewed talks in the prolonged dispute.

The UAW International yesterday approved a Ford Rouge strike after a series of quick developments which upset earlier hopes of a peaceful settlement.

From both management and union came charges of "bad faith."

However, both promised "every effort" to settle the issue in the few hours that remained before the walkout deadline.

UAW president Walter Reuther was urged by Ford to take part in person at the negotiations.

Prices Turn Upwards In Active Dealings

TORONTO, May 4 (CP)—Prices turned upwards in moderately active dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials showed a firm list of fractional gainers and western oils bucked profit-taking to continue their third day of advance. Base metals backed down from early firmness and golds tightened.

Volume for the first three hours was 449,000 shares, about 14,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Key issues were best on the industrial board as gains ranged up to a point. Papers brightened from recent weakness and refining oils were strong. A few stocks lost gains in mid-session and losses began to show.

Senior golds added fractions and junior producers showed small advances.

SEEKS DEHYDRATION

Walking somewhat unsteadily into the police station Tuesday evening, Fergus McMahon, 463 Mark St., announced that he had taken too much liquor and asked to be put in jail for 10 days to "straighten up". Magistrate W. R Philp, KC, acceded to his request today when he appeared in city police court.

BASES CHANGED

Tenants of Zeller's Limited, immediately west of the big store at George and Simcoe Streets, have been notified that their leases are being reduced from yearly to monthly terms. Mr. D. J. Fitzgerald, said: "I don't think there is any immediate action contemplated by the company; possibly not even for this year.

A summerlike heat wave prevails over the central and eastern United States where temperatures on Tuesday rose to the eighties and nineties. In Eastern Canada temperatures also were about 15 to 25 degrees above normal for early May. Windsor reported a high of 82 on Tuesday while Montreal reached 77 and Sydney 79.

Cooler and drier air over the prairies is separated from the warm humid air in the east by a wide band of showers and thundershowers. This ban extending northeast from Colorado to Northern Ontario is moving slowly eastward and will cover much of Ontario on Thursday. Thus warm and humid weather with considerable thunderstorm activity is likely throughout the province today and Thursday.

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Niagara and Lake Ontario regions: Mostly cloudy today and Thursday. Continuing very warm and humid. Thundershowers tonight and Thursday. Winds southwest 20 except light tonight. Low tonight and high Thursday at St. Catharines 68 and 80, St. Thomas 60 and 78, Wingham 58 and 75, Trenton 56 and 78.

Summary for Thursday — Very warm, thundershowers.

Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions: Cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers today and Thursday. Continuing very warm and humid. Winds southwest 20. Low tonight and high Thursday at Muskoka 55 and 75, Killaloe 55 and 80.

Summary for Thursday — Very warm, thundershowers.

upstairs where the family had living quarters. He had been to Kingston Tuesday night, arriving home late. Smoke awakened him, and he rushed down stairs calling out the alarm that the building was on fire. His mother was in charge of a refreshment section of the garage.

The young man then rushed back to his bedroom to get his wallet, and was almost suffocated by the volume of smoke. He managed to get safely back downstairs, but ill from the effect of the smoke he inhaled.

Warkworth's population of 850 grimly recalled the main street fire of 1940 almost in the same location, but to the north of the town hall. That was a heavy loss to the village and serious blow to its business section.

The Campbellford fire brigade arrived here at 11.30 a.m., and was a big help in the anxious 40 minutes until the Peterborough contingent roared into the village. Hundreds of people from the surrounding countryside swelled the crowd of spectators, watching the combined efforts of the local firemen and their assistants from Hastings, Roseneath and the other district brigades.

Big Loss To Village

The heartbreak of this fire was the loss of the town hall. The interior was still blazing in places at 1.15. Most of the roof was gone, the interior was a tangled heap of beams and debris from the walls and roof. The destruction of the building was a deep wound to the sentiment of the village, to the people of Percy Township, and in fact to a wide area of the district embracing Northumberland and adjoining Peterborough county.

Warkworth town hall was built in 1884, it was learned here this afternoon. It was in full reality a community centre for 65 years. All the political conventions of the riding have been held here, recalling in recent years some of the remembered candidates and supporting speakers, Milton Maybee, Conservative M.P., Sam Clark, member of the Legislature, W. A. Fraser, Major Belford, Fred Slade, and the most recent nominee, Major Earl Drope, M.P., who was re-nominated by the Progressive Conservatives Monday night this week.

The building was also literally the town hall. It included the Percy township council meeting room, and the offices of the clerk, the late Peter Ewing who died several months ago, after many years of service to the municipality of Percy.

Mr. Ewing was one of the most esteemed residents of the county, widely known throughout Northumberland, and long regarded as the grand old man of Warkworth. For many years he was almost a personification of the spirit and history of the municipal building.

Many community concerts and other social affairs were held in the large auditorium year after year since 1884. And several of the elders of the village were recalling to-day the importance the Town Hall had given Warkworth in its spacious accommodation for county meetings, and particularly in the conventions and other political meetings that [illegible] here. Many of the political leaders of the province and Dominion visited this village, and had known its natural attractions by having come here in political campaigns. Percy Township's ratepayers may find it financially difficult to finance the rebuilding of the structure This afternoon the interior was a smoking and steaming pyre of district memories mingled with the heap of debris that had been the old Town Hall, Warkworth's municipal and community pride.

Among the hundreds of men who tried, mostly ineffectually, to help the firemen, were J. G. Nixon, manager of the Glenn Sawmill at Norwood, and formerly of Warkworth, and its sawyer Ira Clark, of this village, who arrived at the noon hour with other employees of the plant. When the news of the fire reached Norwood, the mill operations were stopped at once and the staff headed for Warkworth

CSU Sailors Break Law Mitchell Says

Ammunition Ship Fire At Montreal Said Deliberately Set

By The Canadian Press.

Two Federal Cabinet Ministers, Labor Minister Mitchell and Transport Minister Chevrier, Tuesday issued a joint statement in Ottawa charging that the law is being violated by members of the Leftist-led Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) taking part in strikes on Canadian ships in ports abroad.

The statement appeared to be a stern warning to the CSU, which has been striking against the Shipping Federation of Canada since March 31. In effect it appears to mean men violating this law will be punished.

(Fines by the captain are provided for in the Shipping Act, and it was reported yesterday that 30 striking seamen in Australia had been docked a total of $1,000 in pay.)

A brief fire scare aboard a strike-bound, ammunition loaded ship centred attention at Montreal.

The fire broke out among sacks on the deck of the freighter Tricape, owned by the Triton Steamship Company of Montreal. It was within eight or 10 feet of a hold where ammunition, destined for China and Pakistan, was loaded. A harbor policeman said there was suspicion the blaze may have been deliberately started.

Other Activity

Activity marked other fronts of the strike, both abroad and at home.

Georgetown, British Guiana — Twenty-five members of the Canadian Seamen's Union pleaded guilty in police court on charges of wilful disobedience to a lawful command. The men were members of the Canadian freighter Sunwhit, now manned by a Seafarers' International Union (AFL) crew.

The crew of the freighter Sunavis continued to resist efforts by police to arrest them on similar charges. They have refused to allow police to board the vessel which also is anchored at Georgetown.

Halifax—Keith Selig, CSU member, was dismissed in city police court on a charge of causing bodily harm to William Murdock, 53, of New Glasgow, N. S.

Murdock claimed he was taken in a car to the outskirts of Halifax last week and beaten up by four men.

Bristol, England—Some 1,300 dock workers at Avonmouth, Bristol's port, voted to return to work yesterday. They had left their jobs Monday protesting the presence of a "scab" crew aboard the Canadian freighter Gulfside.

The crew had been flown from Canada to replace striking members of the original crew, members of the CSU.

Union spokesmen promised to "make representations" towards removing the substitute crew from the 7,000 ton Gulfside.

2 Elderly Men Beaten, Robbed

WINDSOR, May 4 (CP)—Two elderly brothers were brutally beaten and robbed of $129 early today by two younger men who entered their home on Highway No. 18 south of here.

Elie Gignac, 75, and his brother, Hercules, 70, believe the hold-up men knew where the money was kept and also that there was no one else in the house at the time.

Hercules, who resisted the robbers, was clubbed over the head with a revolver and sent to hospital to have a gaping wound stitched.

The brothers were tied hand and foot before the strangers went to a bedroom where they took $125 from behind a trunk and $4 from another hiding place. They made their getaway, toward Amherstburg, in an automobile.

Hercules managed to free his feet enough to hobble across the road to a nephew's home where police were summoned.

Unscheduled Holiday

HOPKINTON, R.I., May 4 —(AP)—They didn't have to burn down the schoolhouse to give 332 pupils here an unscheduled holiday. Someone just left a water faucet turned on.

The flood inundated six classrooms, dropped a ceiling and damaged property in general beyond the ability of Superintendent Edward F. Wilcox to estimate. There will be no school until the damage has been re-

Deal Truman Bad Defeat On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The Wood Bill retaining most of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act was approved by the House of Representatives Tuesday night on a 217 to 203 roll-call vote which dealt the Truman administratoin a smashing defeat.

Some further parliamentary manoeuvring was in store before the bill could clear the House and go to the Senate.

But a coalition of Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans bent on retaining the Taft-Hartley law largely intact was jubilant. Conversely the administration forces, which sought repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and revival of the old New Deal Wagner Act in modified form, were plunged into gloom.

Before the roll-call vote, the House had tentatively approved the Wood Bill on a non-record tally of 210 to 196. The measure had been offered by Representative John Wood (Dem., Ga.) Previously the House defeated, 211 to 183, a compromise bill put forward by the Democratic leadership.

Final passage of the Wood Bill was delayed by Representative Vito Marcantonio (AL, NY). As the final vote was reached, he demanded that an engrossed copy of the bill be read. This request can be made if any amendments have been adopted.

Engrossment is a special printing process, which prints the legislation, as amended, in its final form. In the case of a bulky bill as the Wood measure is, it means a delay at least overnight.

The Wood Bill would "repeal" the Taft-Hartley law on paper, but re-enact most of its important features. It would retain the 80-day injunctions in "national emergency" strikes. It would keep the present non-Communist oaths, but apply them to company officers as well as union officers.

Body Identified

TORONTO, May 4 (CP) — The body of a woman found Tuesday in Lake Ontario near the Canadian National Exhibition grounds was identified as Mrs. Muriel Kirchner, 36, missing since Jan. 4. Her clothing and purse were found on the beach last winter and police said they believe she committed suicide.

BURNING HYDRO WIRES

Firemen on Tuesday afternoon were forced to cut down burning hydro wires leading into the residences of Jack Johnston and B. W. Reid, both of 373 Rogers St. A passing construction excavator-truck is believed to have jostled the wires together causing a short circuit. The wires were torn down before the smouldering portions contacted the house.

Gerald O'Neill Heads St. Peter's Key Club

Vice-president for the coming year is Robert Fitzgerald. Secretary John Armstrong and treasurer Jack Pearson.

Three-Way Fight For Peterboro' West

Election fever has not yet broken out in Peterborough, but there are some indications that the political temperature is rising.

Two of the parties—Conservative and Liberal — have yet to hold their conventions to select their respective candidates. In the case of the Conservatives this is regarded as little more than a formality as Gordon K. Fraser, member of last parliament for Peterborough West, is understood to have agreed to stand once again.

J. Howard Miles, a Peterborough auctioneer, was recently chosen the CCF standard bearer.

The biggest unknown factor in what is expected to be a three-way contest among the Conservatives, Liberals and CCF, is the identity of the Liberal candidate. Arthur H. Lewis, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association said today that his party will call a convention shortly. The exact date, however, has not been decided.

- The campaign for funds for the first section of St. George's new Church to serve the South End of Peterborough has now commenced.
- Citizens of this up-and-coming Church, which has for nearly 40 years served the community, are hard at work to make this campaign a success.
- The new building will give St. George's greater opportunity to extend its services to the hundreds of new homes which are now building in their area.
- The venture is an ambitious program and entails the support of each and every citizen of Peterborough if it is to be successful.
- There will be no great edifice, no huge structure to use up contributions — but rather a scientifically designed unit which will answer the problems of this religious service at the least possible cost.
- The erection of the Church will provide facilities for the youth of the South End; will bring them into normal contact with modern religion, and will be a tremendous factor in the true finding of peace and the meaning of democracy.
- St. George's is not a rich community — and this burden will be more than they alone can bear. They, therefore, plead with you for your generous support in their present campaign.

Refused Request To Split Up Class, Teacher Resigns

LAKEFIELD, May 4 (ENS)—When permission to divide her class into morning and afternoon sessions was refused Miss Lucille Moore, of the Public School staff, handed in her resignation, at the School Board meeting on May 2.

Due to overcrowding the lower grades, Miss Bertina Beavis' class and Miss Elsie Kidd's class have been divided this year, half attending in the morning and half in the afternoon.

Miss Moore asked that she be allowed to do the same.

Unanimously Opposed

The board was unanimously against the idea, since these children are older and also because there has been a great deal of criticism from parents of the children in the lower grades over their children only attending school half a day.

Mrs. Sam Black will be engaged to fill the vacancy on the staff.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported 279 children in attendance during April, an average of 74.69%.

Stock Broker Gets 2 Years For Theft

PORT HOPE, May 4 (ENS)—Appearing for sentence Tuesday on 40 charges of theft of about $18,000 worth of securities, John S. Milloy, 32-year-old Port Hope stockbroker, was sentenced to two years less a day definite and six months indefinite, in the reformatory, terms to run concurrently. Magistrate W. Gee, in passing sentence, said that he was not sure what the public reaction would be to the reformatory term, and that the Crown had the right to appeal the sentence.

Defence counsel Erdman Friesen pointed out that Milloy was a veteran of the RCAF serving from 1942 until 1945, later being recalled for further service in 1946. He opened his brokerage office at a time when the markets were not very good and it was a resognized fact that a brokerage office would not pay its way in a town under 10,000 people. Milloy, his counsel declared, should have closed his business as soon as it became apparent to him that the town was not large enough for a brokerage office, but he had been optimistic that in a few months the market would improve. Up against it, he had decided to speculate in order to recoup his losses, but only became more involved than ever. It had not been a case of using clients' funds to indulge in high living as Milloy had lived quite modestly, he said.

Repaid $2,000.

He turned over $2,000 in order to do what he could to repay part of the losses of his customers, instead of using it to defray the cost of fighting the charges. He had pleaded guilty and co-operated with the Securities Commission in their investigation. Milloy had no relatives to assist him in making restitution, but if given suspended sentence, it would give him the opportunity of making restitution in time.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said that he had looked into the prospects of Milloy making restitution, but could see no reasonable chance of this in the foreseeable future. He declared that he could not advise the court to grant suspended sentence. It was evident that Milloy had gone to some length to conceal what he had done from his clients.

"I do not feel inclined to grant suspended sentence," said the magistrate. "I feel sympathetic towards him because of his wife and family. It is possible that some of his clients, in giving him funds, were intending to take a gamble or they may have fully expected returns. I can appreciate the struggle he had to keep going in a town of this size. He apparently thought he saw a chance to make some money and dabbled in certain stocks but lost. He was not living expensively and apparently was trying to recoup his losses. No doubt he has suffered some anguish of mind. The character evidence is that up to that time he had lived honorably. He has a good war record and all into consideration in arriving at the sentence.

Better in Reformatory

If he is sincere in his desire to pay back what he has taken, I hope he will do so after he has re-establish himself when he comes out. The question is what should be a proper sentence, and one that will not be an invitation to others to do wrong as he has done. I think he would be better in a reform institution than in the penitentiary.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL EMPLOYERS
About NATIONAL DEFENCE

OFFICE OF THE MINISTER
OTTAWA

Dear Sir:

You are undoubtedly aware of the importance of national defence today. Essential to the development of that defence are the men of the RESERVE UNITS. The service and wartime experience of the veteran and the alert intelligence of the younger element are vital to the development of plans for national security.

All three services have been actively appealing for men and the response has been good. However, many men who wish to join are in doubt on an important point which only you, as their employer, can answer.

They would be giving part of their time to Canada. Would you on your side release them for the required annual training period? This training is an essential part of their voluntary service. You can help them to serve Canada by granting them additional leave with or without pay.

The decision is yours. Your help is needed in building a sound defence organization to help insure the peace of Canada.

Sincerely,

Minister of National Defence

Campbellford Town Council Divides On Buying Arena

CAMPBELLFORD, May 4 (ENS)—There was a lengthy discussion concerning the initial step in taking over Davidson's Arena as a community centre at the regular meeting of the Town Council. Councillors Wilson and Maier strongly spoke in favor of the motion to have the clerk and solicitor prepare the bylaw.

The Rotary and Kinsmen Clubs, Seymour Junior Farmers, Legion and Fair Board have declared their support of the project. It was pointed out that all proceedings depended on the Town Council passing the bylaw and by a vote of 4 to 3 the motion to have the bylaw prepared was carried. The name of Councillor Wilson was to be inserted as the Council's representative on the Board of Management.

The clerk was instructed to ascertain the cost of a wig-wag for Centre St. railway crossing. The CNR will pay 40 per cent of the original cost. The balance and the annual upkeep will have to be met by the municipality.

J. C. Birmingham was named weed inspector. The bid of the H. J. MacFarlane Co. to supply and lay asphalt in repairing pavements was accepted.

W. P. Moore's request to move a house to the lot on the corner of Balaclava and Pellisier Streets was referred to the property committee and building inspector. The property committee was also instructed to report at the next meeting on an offer from W. J. Godden and Sons to purchase lots west of their property.

R. J. Allan's resignation as town treasurer was accepted and his duties will terminate on May 31. He will receive three months' separation pay. The clerk with a male assistant will take over his duties.

On the request of J. W. Sweet $10 was granted to the Salvation Army Red Shield drive.

Sitting Pretty

Folk who do not live in Peterborough, or others who do and are returning to it from foreign strands like Toronto, say with some truth (and the Peterburians say it with aplomb), "Peterborough is a pretty place". And so it is, particularly at this time of year and if a person hits it on a morning when all the garbage pails are not set out along the streets for the semi-weekly collection and all the dogs have not got to them before the garbage trucks roll up. And it sits prettily in the valley of its seven hills.

* * *

But it is not of sitting pretty among seven hills on non-garbage-collection days that we wish now to comment. We wish to direct our readers' attention to the interest rate on the $1,614,890.46 loan which the City Council has authorized to be made through debentures.

✧ ✧ ✧

The interest rate is 2¾% on ten-year serial debentures, 3¼% on twenty-year debentures. We do not specifically compare these rates of interest with, say, the rate of 6% on debentures of $260,000 issued in 1920 for a thirty year period, so that the then new and now old Hunter Street bridge could be paid for. We must say, however, that we get considerable satisfaction from that comparison, even though interest rates across the country were high in 1920 and are low in 1949. As a matter of bitter fact, the debentures for the Hunter Street bridge are still paying the owners the munificent interest of six per cent., on every single dollar of the $260,000. The rate has never been lowered, and the debentures are not of the serial type—that is, none of the capital of those debentures is payable before 1950.

* * *

We compare the rates of 2¾% and 3¼% on the new serial debentures with, say, recent debentures issued in the name of the City of Vancouver, maturing in 1969, or in the name of the Township of Scarborough, maturing in 1964-68. On the former the interest rate is 3¾% and at present market value they pay 3.82 per cent. On the latter the interest rate is 3¾% and they yield 3.75 per cent. The rate on the Peterborough debentures is, let us repeat, 2¾% and 3¼%. If Peterborough can get by on that low interest rate it means that investors consider Peterborough a pretty sound proposition, as sound as the Bank of Canada, as sound as the soundest parts of Canada. If it were not so Peterborough debentures would not be marketable at the low interest rate. Investors would settle their money entirely on debentures like Vancouver's or Scarborough's, where the yield is greater. The principle is: the greater the yield, the greater the risk.

* * *

So Peterborough is sitting pretty in a financial sense. It is borrowing money at low interest rates, and that it does so indicates that people consider Peterborough an exceptionally safe investment. Which it is, and which it has proved to be during the last many years. Let us by all means continue as citizens to wail about large expenses and heavy municipal spending. That sort of noise is a wholesome check on spenders. But let us believe, as financial people in the rest of Canada believe, that Peterborough is financially as sound as a bell.

Trade With India

Canadian exports declined in the first three months of this year by $13,200,000 in comparison with the export rate of a year ago. The amount is sufficiently large to give concern, since one of every three Canadian workmen is dependent for his livelihood, so we are often told, upon exports. Unless the volume of exports is maintained, the Canadian economy cannot flourish. Therefore trade must be kept up, and new trading avenues opened to offset losses along others. At the same time that the rather glum report comes to us from the Bureau of Statistics, an encouraging one reaches us from India's Trade Commissioner in Canada. This latter shows that there are opportunities for new and expanded trade abroad.

In the last ten years trade between India and Canada has expanded fivefold. In 1948, the trade was worth $67,098,000, made up of imports into Canada of $33,400,000 and exports to India of $33,698,000. This leaves a balance in favour of Canada of $298,000. Compared with our trade with the U.S.A. or Britain, the Indian trade is small, and the favourable balance is likewise small. In 1939 trade between India (including what is now Pakistan) and Canada was worth only $14,974,000, and the balance of trade was greatly in favour of India. It is relatively small trade, but nevertheless not unimportant; and the trade can be increased.

The India Trade Commissioner's report shows that there is no lack of demand in either country for the goods of the other. The shortage of dollars (that bugaboo of world trade these years) and various consequent or concomitant restrictions impede the trade. Lack of familiarity with the markets and goods available is also a factor. The number of passenger automobiles which Canada sent India dropped from 4639 vehicles worth $4,668,000 in 1947 to 588 worth $649,000 in 1948. Our exports of canned and preserved fish were negligible, and those of textiles the lowest since 1939.

India's exports to Canada of jute and hemp accounted for 52 per cent. of the total value. Tea worth $6,972,000 was the next largest item. Rugs and carpets, worth $1,327,000 amount to four percent. of the exports. All of these were lower in 1948 than in 1947. The slack was taken up by increased exports of nuts and peanut oil.

The story of expanded Indian-Canadian trade is an encouragement for both Canada and India. Such a trade development has occurred between Canada and other countries within and without the Commonwealth, and can be stimulated. The day is gone when all our eggs may safely be left in two baskets—British and American. We are learning that the bottom can drop out of the British basket and that the Americans can walk off with the handle of theirs.

"So Long, Brother"

In our Third Column today we publish the last of the Canadian Causeries, which have, for many months, appeared every Wednesday from the pen of G. V. Evans. We were delighted and honoured to have Mr. Evans as a regular contributor to The Examiner, for in our opinion he supplied us with the best essays that we have ever seen in a Canadian newspaper; he was not a commentator, nor was he a funnyman; he was an essayist, dealing lightly and agreeably and personally with the things about Canada which a newspaper is likely to overlook. Mr. Evans is an Englishman and for some time he lived in Ottawa, working as a scientist for the National Research Council; as an Englishman who loved Canada he was able to see this country with a clarity which we who are natives seldom achieve; he was able to give us something really fresh in the line of social comment about our country.

His career has made it necessary for him to return to England. Those who read his final Causerie will see that he ends it "So long, brother". On behalf of our readers, and with the warmest gratitude, we say, "So long, brother; come back soon!"

NOTE AND COMMENT

The first baby bonus payments have been made in Newfoundland, and trade has soared. It is a little too soon to expect the birth rate to soar too.

The Calgary Herald says that Political Pie is made up of baloney, applesauce, plums and dough. And don't forget the crust; there must always be plenty of crust.

Stars could make millions in Hollywood but Hollywood is not paying off the way it used to. A movie extra, probably having assessed the situation and his own thin pocket-book, took up safe-cracking. Arrested at the end of the month he admitted to having grossed a quarter of a million dollars. However, it was bad money made by a bad actor.

A policeman in Columbus, Georgia, recently entered a house when he found the door unlocked and saw, in his own words "a big, burly man, ready to jump me". He drew his gun; the man did the same. The cop fired—and found that he had shot himself in a full-length mirror. Which just goes to show that life can be funnier than the movies, if you watch it closely.

CANADIAN CAUSERIE

Au Revoir

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

As the train reaches the open country and the sun-dappled countryside is framed in the carriage window, the telegraph-poles, flashing past, seem to be turning the leaves of a picture-album. They turn much too quickly, like an impatient or nervous lantern-slide lecturer. I want to shout "Stop!" "Let me see that again!" "Turn back!" But it is too late for that. I am being carried forward not merely by the impersonal and underlying C.N.R. but also by my own personal and particular Fate. And she, as far as I can tell, has in mind to take me across the Atlantic.

* * *

Everyone, I suppose, has their own notion of "Fate" or "The Fates". A Railroad man may well think of them eternally shunting and hauling human beings around the sidings and along the main lines of life. A Telephone man probably thinks in terms of intricate relays linking past, present and future and all humanity in an incredibly complex network of interlocking connections. The Artist has given us many representations of the ladies, mostly unflattering. My own view varies. At the moment I am toying with a purely anthropomorphic version. I think of Fate as a person in a cottage by a lake in Ontario in early summer. A pleasant conception? Oh no! For the cottage has no mosquito windows and Fate has forgotten to bring along a bottle of that wonderful deterrent that keeps the little beasts away. We human beings are the mosquitoes, and we are the plague of his life. Wildly he grabs with outstretched hand; the fingers close tight; you would say that there was no hope for that mosquito. But there is. Somehow he has found a little pocket of empty space in the closed fist, where he lives for a tense second, expecting every moment the final closing of the surrounding walls. But the fist is careless and opens, and—hey presto—the little fellow sails out to a new lease of life. I apply this picturesque and improbable interpretation of the laws that underly all Being to my own case thus: I am at the moment a mosquito which Fate has grabbed and is proposing to transfer to another existence. But who knows how thorough Fate will be this time? Will he (She?) open her hand prematurely and permit me to slip out, defying her plans and remaining obstreperously in the pleasant lake-side cottage, Canada? From here, the chances do not look too good, so perhaps I had better say at least: Au revoir!

✧ ✧ ✧

What are the things I shall miss on leaving Canada? Here is a random list, not placed in order of importance. The winter-clothes of children, which turn every one of them into little things out of an igloo or out of Grimm's Fairy Tales.... The curly hats of the teaching brothers in French districts, which remind one that the continent was conquered in fancy dress and Christianized through blood and tears.... The wail of the locomotive over desolate places....The singing sound of footsteps on snow when the mercury is really low....The courtesy of the R.C.M.P. in all situations in which you don't happen to have broken one of their more important rules.... The innate bashfulness of most of them when clothed in their red coats. (A collective noun for them in this state might be coined—a "Modesty of Mounties").... Chateau-Gothic architecture at night, against a velvet dark sky, with lights in the towers. This should be used for the third-act setting of an all-Canadian opera celebrating, with wit, colour and self-confidence, the inauguration of the New Ottawa ....The velvet dark sky without the Chateau-Gothic.

✧ ✧ ✧

And the things I will not miss!. The absence of a good Sunday newspaper.... The roads in Spring; watching closely the faces of car-drivers as they splash helpless city pedestrians. I have come to the conclusion that four out of every ten derive actual pleasure from the nuisance they cause. . . The rash of digest magazines on the bookstalls, and of undigested digest-material in people's minds. . . The lack of antique furniture in homes other than those of the very rich. . .Having to prepares one's children, whenever they have to go out during the winter, as for an expedition to the Eskimos or to some land in Grimm's Fairy Tales.

✧ ✧ ✧

Now the train begins to slow down. The pictures in the album are turned quite deliberately, and one can watch the telegraph-poles pass stately by, like the future kings before Macbeth, the glass insulators shining in the evening sun with a watery brightness. Has this mammoth of a railroad developed a soul and is it susceptible to the prayers of those who appeal to it? Is Fate opening her hand? No. We are at the border, and friendly, well-fed Passport Official is asking me if I will be returning to Canada soon. "Your guess is as good as mine"' I say, and he smiles. He riffles the passport, asks a few questions, hands it back. "Well, s'long brother". "So long, brother."

Social Credit Plans

Among the more certain things of life is the improbability of the national Social Credit party's gaining control of the House of Commons at the next federal election. Nevertheless, the party's leaders know perfectly well that the only possibility of their ever putting their theories to a practical test must wait until they can do it.

So we have had in Edmonton, a gathering of Social Credit members of Parliament from Alberta—they number thirteen, which may or may not be an unlucky number for the party. Their national leader, Solon Low, has presided over the drafting of an appeal to the voters of Canada. The Social Credit Governmnt of Alberta and the Alberta Social Credit League have pledged their support.

Mr. Low and his friends had the misfortune to open their battle conference on the very day Prime Minister St. Laurent paid his first visit to Edmonton and opened his Western tour. The result, naturally, was a deflection of public attention from the Social Credit conference; the Liberals "stole the show," but the election ballots have still to be cast and counted.

BACKYARD CLEANING TIME—KEEP IT CLEAN!

Mending Fences

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

Folklore axioms are often rooted in the verities and the statement that "good fences make good neighbours" is time-tested. The Stimulus-Response mechanism of the human nervous system is an unpredictable and awesome conglomeration of dendrites and synapses. Few environmental situations rouse a reaction more swiftly and overwhelmingly than the sight of a neighbour farmer's cows or pigs in one's field of corn or clover. In olden days most townships had a fence viewer to settle arguments when the peace of the countryside was in danger of disintegrating.

For thousands of years fences have played an essential role in animal husbandry. When pioneers began making farms in this new land they used the material available. Stone walls lined the roads and climbed the pasture slopes of the Northeast. Stump fences lasted for decades and were used over a wide area. Thousands of miles of rail fences were built in the Middle West. Hedges were planted in many places. Then wire was invented and later the barbs devised that held stock in bounds by their sharp multiple points.

Good farmers like to keep ahead of their work. If a man falls behind it seems as though he is forever struggling to catch up. A sunny April day when the soil is too wet to work is a good time to mend fence. Technically the work follows a familiar routine. Wires need to be stretched; some new posts may have to be set. Frost-heaved rocks have to be replaced.

But there's more to mending fence than just making things tight for another season. A man can lift his eyes to the April sky and the shaggy masses of white clouds; he can study the trees and opening buds. First violets are holding their faces to the sun and the deep green of winter rye and wheat is an encouraging promise of coming harvest. The hoarse challenge of cock pheasants sounds from wood's edge and the caw of crows from the meadow tells of the annual, noisy spring convention. Bluebirds' plaintive arias and robins' rollocking calls tell man that winter is really over and a new season is at hand. Mending fence is a humble task but it gives one satisfaction to walk around his acres and see that all is well.

A fence, according to Webster is an abbreviation of defence. It is a bulwark—the guardian of one's home. Man is inarticulate before the miracle of life. But his home is a part of it—and the fences represent a bit of Earth that is his own. Mending fence may be a mechanical task but it has a deep meaning.

Letters To The Editor

PUT GOD FIRST

Sir: If the dairy men and farmers did not admit consumers on the margarine question, neither was the farmers allowed voice on the Daylight Saving (grabbing) although it means a loss to them in hours and money—besides inconveniencing children and patients in hospitals etc. But that is democracy—a sort of cat and dog competition—some call it Christianity—the Judas kind.

Perhaps that is why some people do not vote; Christianity teaches that the Almighty comes first — then body and soul (spirit). But Mr. Leslie Frost (the new Ontario premier) said in his short speech over CFRB, 'Put your country first'—and so say the Russians, and you know what happens then.

I will vote for the man that puts God first, when we do just that, things will go together like a giant jig-saw puzzle, and we would wonder why it was not tried before.

SIMPLE SIMON.

ENJOYS MRS. HAMILTON'S LETTERS

Sir: Having been a reader of the Peterborough Examiner for many years I feel that it is time to write and tell you how much I appreciate your paper.

I always read "Marchbank's Diary", and "Little Abner", but before doing so, I look is another letter from Mrs. Joseph Hamilton, Stony Lake, and if there is I read it first, as in my humble opinion her letters top all the comics. I wonder why she has not copyrighted them, and would suggest a title, "Humour of the Atomic Age".

I would like to see her put up her name fo the next election, either Federal or Provincial, as I am sure, that with her writing ability, her great sense of humour and her real understanding of the problems of the day, that she would be an asset to either party, or maybe I should say any party.

I hope to see many more of her letters of constructive criticism in your valuable paper.

Sincerely,
FRED HAULTAIN.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the Garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat. (Gen. 3: 1-6.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungody, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night....The ungodly are not so: but like the chaff which the wind driveth away. (Ps. 1: 1, 2, 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. (Rom. 16: 17.)

But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtility, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ. (II Cor. 11: 3.)

Freddy: "I'm waiting for d-daddy to come home. He's never s-seen me with an earache."

"I'll take the twenty dollars, Judge," said the prisoner.

Y's Men To Sponsor Broadway Comedy

"It Pays To Advertise", a Broadway stage comedy hit of George M. Cohan's, is being brought to Peterborough May 12 to 14 by the Y's Men's Club. Eric Greenwood, a Toronto and New York producer will stage the production of the play.

Mr. Greenwood was associated with the Sam Harris Theatrical firms in New York for a number of years. Sam Harris was a partner of the late George M. Cohan and the comedy "It Pays To Advertise" was one of their greatest successes.

Star of Mr. Greenwood's production is Mack Inglis, in the role of Rodneys' advertising manager Ambrose Peale, whose main love is advertising. Adrienne Walsh plays the role of Comtesse de Beaurien who knows the meaning of "dollar" in both French and English. She tries to get the son of Cyrus Martin's competitor, Ellery, who is played by John Bavington. Charles McBride and Dennis Murphy take the roles of Rodney and his father.

This new road company for the play includes Canadian as well as American actors.

Serves 35 Years As P.R. Chief

TORONTO, May 4 (CP) — Walter Thompson, public relations chief of the Canadian National Railways, has completed 35 years of service for the line. This was celebrated informally Tuesday when newspaper men with whom he has had close contact extended their congratulations at a Canadian Press directors' luncheon at which Mr. Thompson was a guest.

F. I. Ker, publisher of the Hamilton Spectator, termed Mr. Thompson "one of the greatest railroaders on this continent, not only a public relations man but an economist," whose watchword has always been courtesy and efficiency.

Mr. Thompson said his years as a newspaper man and railroader had all been "a magnificent piece of fun."

He left the news desk of the Montreal Herald in 1914 to set up a press bureau for the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways.

Bloc Populaire To Disappear

By D'ARCY O' DONNELL

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP)—The Bloc Populaire party, an outgrowth of the national mobilization political crisis in 1942, is about to disappear with the retirement of its founder and leader, Maxime Raymond of Montreal.

Ill-health is forcing the retirement of the 65-year-old lawyer who broke with the Liberal party when it decided to mobilize men compulsorily for training in the armed forces. He formed his nationalist party on both a federal and provincial basis but it found little favor at the polls.

Mr. Raymond, who has represented the Quebec Constituency of Beauharnois- LaPrairie since 1925, led 40 candidates into the field in Quebec in the 1945 general election. He and J. I. Hamel of St. Maurice - Tafleche were the only two elected. Mr. Hamel plans to contest the June 27 election, but it is believed he will run as an independent.

Only 4 Supporters

The largest number of supporters Mr. Raymond ever had in the Commons was four. That was in the years between the formation of the party and the 1945 general election.

When Mr. Raymond broke with the Liberals, several other Quebec members went with him and became members of his new party. They were Eduard Lacroix, who has since retired from politics, Dr. Pierre Gauthier, who returned to the Liberal fold and who sits as member for Portneuf, Emmanuel, D'Anjou, who represented Rimouski at the time, and J. A. Choquette, member for Stanstead.

The party disappeared in the provincial field prior to last summer's Quebec election. It had been singularly unsuccessful, having only its provincial leader—Andre Laurandeau—and one other elected to the legislature. Its supporters have swung their strength behind the Union Nationale party of Premier Duplessis.

if every man were his own bank...

SUPPOSE you had to cart cash around to pay your bills. Pretty risky business. Hard on shoe leather, too.

You don't do it that way, of course. Like everybody else with a bank account—there are seven million of them—you simply get out your pen, write cheques and leave all the bookkeeping to your bank. That's the modern way . . . easy, simple, safe.

Handling and recording your chequing transactions is an important job. Your bank must do it right—or a competing bank will. You'll see to that!

Suppose there were no competition . . . Could you expect the same efficiency, courtesy, eagerness to earn your goodwill?

Senators Outslug Chicago As Sox, Tigers Tied 14-14

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Time was when such sluggers as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Mel Ott, Hack Wilson and Hank Greenburg had a monopoly on the four-base wallop. Not so today. Everybody wants to—and usually does—get into the act.

Already 87 athletes in the major leagues had poled at least one over the fence. Altogether they've accounted for 159 round-trippers. Even the rookies are taking the hint. Already Johnny Groth (5), Clyde Vollmer (4), Jack Graham (4), Glen [illegible]son, Stan Lopata, Puddin' Head Jones, Gerry Coleman and others have knocked the ball out of the park.

No fewer than nine home runs were hit at Chicago's Comiskey Park yesterday, seven by Washington and two by the White Sox. That was only one short of the major-league record.

Those seven round-trippers helped the Senators outslug Chicago 14-12 in a 10-inning Donnybrook. Clyde Vollmer, rookie outfielder led the hit parade with two homers, a single and double. But is was home runs by Evans and Gil Coan in the 10th that decided the issue.

Play to Tie

Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers played a 14-14 tie that was halted by darkness after 13 innings. This slugging match produced four home runs, two by each side. Vern Stephens hammered his sixth and Ted Williams his third for the Red Sox, and Johnny Groth hit his fifth and Aaron Robinson his third for the Tigers.

New York Yankees, aided by Phil Rizzuto's home run, defeated St. Louis Browns 5-3 to increase their lead in the American League over the idle Cleveland Indians to three full games. Joe Page, who relieved starter Ed Lopat in the seventh, retired nine men in a row to receive credit for his second relief victory of the season.

The pitchers fared much better in the National League, where Ralph Branca of Brooklyn shut out Cincinnati Reds 3-0 and Walter Dubiel pitched Chicago Cubs to a 4-0 victory over Boston Braves. In other games, New York Giants inaugurated their night schedule by whipping Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3, and Philadelphia Phillies won their fourth straight by defeating St. Louis Cardinals 7-3.

Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Mickey Livingston cracked home runs off Murry Dickson to help Clint Hartung register his third victory for the Giants. Gordon, who leads the National League with five round-trippers, also walloped a double and triple.

Makes Things Easier

Phil Cavarretta made things a bit easier for Dubiel with his four-base knock as the right-hander permitted only five Boston hits and allowed only one runner to reach third.

Branca, first major league pitcher to win four games this year, also enjoyed the distinction of becoming the first Dodger to hurl a shutout at Ebbets Field since Labor Day, 1947. He allowed only six hits but was wild walking six. He fanned seven.

Not a home run was hit as the Phils came from behind to beat the Cards with a six-run seventh inning.

A single by Gran Hamner and a three-run double by Del Ennis were the big blows of the inning.

Cleveland and Philadelphia Athletics in the American League were not scheduled.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A chap was showing us a copy of The Bulletin and Scots Pictorial of recent vintage the other day, and we noted pictures of a couple of girls' hockey teams which play in bonnie Scotland. Seems quite a few of the lasses there have taken kindly to Canada's winter sport. Of course, the lads of that country really go in for hockey and have produced many good players already, though Canadian boys still form the nucleus of the various clubs there. Play is fast and exciting, drawing well, and many of the Canucks returning for the summer—like Randy Ellis of Lindsay — would sooner ply their puck trade there than anywhere.

Oshawa Merchants of the COBL aren't fooling this semester. They are out to regain their former glory as loop champs and are building in that direction under Manager Ty Tyson. Artie Clemence, clever young Bowmanville flinger, and Arnie Jarrell, who pitched pro for Kingston Ponies, will be brought in if re-instatement and OBA transfers can be obtained. Several USA college players are also interested in coming to the Motor City under the student clause early in June. These newcomers (if obtained), along with the pick of last year's Motor City squad, should make the Oshawa entry a strong one in the 1949 edition of the COBL. A loop meeting is being held Sunday in Belleville to settle entries and arrange the schedule.

City Baseball Loop

Annual meeting of the City Baseball League is slated for tomorrow (Thursday) night at seven sharp in the YMCA. A nominating committee of Eddie Murphy, Cy Whatley, Harry Baptie and Pat Calladine, will present a suggested slate of officers at this time, and the completely re-organized minor diamond loop will clear the decks for another busy season. Still the matter of grounds to be settled, as well as finances, but a good start will have been made, and the various teams can now start workouts assured of a sound circuit under a strong executive. There are too many good young ballsters coming up to let this important minor league drop out now. This meeting is open.

Manager Ken (Wimp) O'Toole of the Uniteds in the City Softball League has signed up some okay material so far. Pitchers include Bob Greenlaw, Terry Wood and Lefty Reid, with Ray Fitzgerald and Tom Walton the catchers. Jack Condon and Grafstein are battling for first base, Red Sullivan will be at second, big Bud Harrison on short, and Honey Tompkins at third. Only outfielders at present are Russ Scriver, Jake Wade, Spin Spencer and Davis. He has workouts listed for Thursday and Saturday nights at six in the Bowl and would like more outfielders and battery men to attend, as there's no limit to signing players till July 15 when the roster is cut to 15 and two coaches.

Outlaws Were "In"

Stew Richardson's Outlaws went to Lindsay last eve and brought home a 14-0 exhibition win against a Scugog squad which had Eakins and Lucas on the mound. George Hunter, so the ex-junior mound ace must have something. Foster and Cournyea teed off for homers. Stew will have Eakins, Hunter, Strickland and Gordon for pitching this season, with Kumpf catching. Castle on first, Currie at second, McCarthy for short and Taylor or Cournyea at the hot corner. Outfielders include Foster, Jaquith, White, Cleary and Ralph, with Coach Ossie Anderson for utility. Looks like a strong club, eh?

* * * * * *

At an executive men's softball huddle last p.m., a change was made in the teams for the second game of the opening twin bill next Tuesday. Now, it'll be Credit Jewellers vs. Uniteds at seven, followed by Cosmopolitans vs. the Outlaws in the nightcap. Some talk of a turn-table for records on the P.A. system and a few other matters, as well as the appointment of umpires for the season. Harold Dormer was named umpire-in-chief again, with Wimp Borland, Ron Akers, Les Calladine and Jack Billingsley the other arbiters. Probably a brief opening ceremony staged to start the circuit off. Bowl will be ready for that date, barring excessive rain or some such.

Merchants Trip Flashes

FORT ERIE, Maly 4 (CP). — The Eastern Canada Intermediate A hockey championship series was tied up at a game apiece Tuesday when Port Colborne Merchants defeated the Rouyn Flashes 7-5. Rouyn won the opener of the best-of-three series 7-5 here Monday. The deciding game will also be in Fort Erie on Thursday night.

AT THE BROCK TONIGHT —Ivan Rasputin, shown above, who returns to the Brock Arena ring tonight after a long absence to wrestle Art Brady in the opening match. The main bout is between Lew Reynheer, the unmasked Marvel and Rapid-Ray Villmer. It is a rematch as both men performed here last week with the Marvel getting a doubtful win. With a new referee in charge Villmer is confident he can reverse the decision. Villmer is one sweet wrestler and gives the fans plenty of action, speed and science right from the opening bell till the end. The semi-final features a newcomer Tug Carlsen and the The Cardiff Giant. A well-balanced card.

Carl Hubbell posted his 19th consecutive victory over a two-year stretch 12 years ago today, equalling the mark set by Tim Keefe and one less than Rube Marquard, other renowned pitching masters of New York Giants. Although pounded out of the box, Hubbell was credited with the 7-6 decision over Cincinnati. His string ended at 21—an all-time record.

Walter (Turk) Broda, who will celebrate his 35th birthday next May 15, signed to play goal with Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League again next season, after visiting the sandpit of his boss, Conn Smythe. Besides agreeing to terms offered by Smythe, the Brandon, Man., fat man said he would work in the sandpit in an effort to trim his figure. He also will play softball and hopes to help the Leafs win their fourth straight Stanley Cup next spring.

Belfast Celtic, the fabulous soccer team which won the Irish League title 18 times since its formation 54 years ago, arrived at New York Tuesday for a playing tour of Eastern Canada and the United States. The tour, sponsored by the American Soccer League Inc., will last six weeks. Ten games are scheduled in New York, Toronto, Montreal, Kearney, NJ, Fall River, Mass., Detroit, and Philadelphia. Team manager Elisha Scott, who has won 33 Caps as Ireland's goalkeeper in International games against England, Scotland, and Wales, made no firm predictions on the tour. "We will all have to wait and see what happens," he said. "We expect tough opposition."

Registrations of teams and players in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association last season reached record proportions. A report issued at Toronto Tuesday by the Association showed 944 teams entered, an increase of 223 over the 1947-1948 season. Total players last season amounted to 12,878—2,189 more than the previous season.

More than 25,000,000 Britons went to the dogs in 1948. The National Greyhound Racing Society Tuesday reported attendance increased 11 per cent at Britain's 77 tracks last year compared with the 1947 figure. The exact attendance was 25,264,116 in 1947 compared with 22,811,568 the previous year. Fans bet less, however. The gross turnover was $349,225,628, compared with $478,119,492 in 1947. The society said the decrease was due to the 10 per cent tax on tote-betting imposed by the government at the beginning of the year.

Clifford Dirks, a grief-stricken High School baseball pitcher, was in seclusion at Wyoming, Iowa, after a ball he hurled caused accidental death the second time within a year. The victim was Glenn Rhoads, 17-year-old Lisbon, Ia., senior who died in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., hospital Tuesday of a delayed brain hemorrhage. Last fall a ball pitched by Dirks hit Norman Latore of Oxford Junction, Ia., in a similar baseball game accident. Latore died the next day.

Olympic strengthened his Kentucky Derby stock in an easy victory over six others in the one-mile Derby trial at Churchill Downs on Tuesday. Calumet Farm's Ponder hit the wire 1¼ lengths back and Greentree Stable's Capot was third, two lengths farther back in the field of seven Derby eligibles. Ocean Drive, Olympia's stablemate, was fourth. The winner broke fast from the starting gate, kept his lead and covered the six furlongs in 1:10 1-5, a track record for the distance. His time for the mile was 1:37 2-5.

Brandon And Royals Play 3-3 Tie In Third Game For Memorial Cup

By AL VICKERY

BRANDON, Man., May 4—(CP)—Brandon Wheat Kings and Montreal Royals today are right back where they started their best-of-seven Memorial Cup final—on even terms. After splitting the first two games on identical 3-2 scores, the clubs played a 3-3 overtime tie in the third game here Tuesday night.

They move to Winnipeg tomorrow night for the fourth contest, then back here for the fifth on Saturday and sixth on Tuesday. If necessary the seventh game will be played in the Brandon Arena May 12.

A crowd of more than 4,800 Tuesday night saw Montreal lose a 1-0 first period lead as Wheat Kings scored three times in the middle session But that lead was wiped out when Royals roared back with two counters in the last session to even the count and send the game ino the scoreless overtime.

Hero of Comeback

Gordie Knutson, former Regina Pat junior, was the hero of the Montreal comeback in the third period, scoring twice. Dick Moore had opened the scoring for Montreal in the first period.

Wheat Kings' captain Frank King scored their first tally and assisted Walt Pawlyshyn on another. Angus Jucker counted the third goal.

Lacking the fine passing attacks of the first two contests, the third game developed into a hard-checking, wide-open affair, opped by brilliant goaltending and individual rushes.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

Percy Johnston was elected as president of the Central Ontario Amateur Speed Skating Association at Toronto Tuesday. Noted throughout Canada on the long blades, he was chosen at the association's annual meeting.

Durocher Back As Manager, Now Reinstated

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP). — Leo Durocher, off baseball's griddle, to-day resumes his role as manager of the New York Giants, but still faces court action charging him with striking a Brooklyn fan.

The tempestuous Giant pilot, after sweating out four days of an indefinite suspension, was cleared and reinstated yesterday in less than two hours before Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler at Cincinnati.

Chandler held there was not sufficient evidence to show that Durocher had "deliberately assaulted" Fred Boysen, a vociferous Dodger rooter, after a wild game at the Polo Grounds last Thursday.

"I am very happy about it all," Durocher said upon his return to New York. "I am very anxious to get back to work."

Durocher was to pick up the Giants' reins to-day from Frankie Frisch, who has been acting manager.

Biggest Load

The biggest load was off the shoulders of the peppery Durocher, who, it seems, has walked hand-in-hand with trouble.

He showed no concern over the simple-assault summons which Boysen's counsel promised would be served as quickly as possible.

The lawyer, Benjamin M. Chasin, said he planned to proceed with the prosecution. He did not believe Durocher's reinstatement would have any legal bearing on the case. But he added he was "very happy" the Giants' manager was given a clean bill of health by Chandler.

Boysen, a 22-year-old Puerto Rican, contends that Durocher punched him and knocked him to the ground as the teams were leaving the field from the game at the Polo Grounds, won by Brooklyn 15-2. Durocher denies it.

Field Of 12 Shaping For Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4 (AP) —A field of 12 shaped up today for Saturday's 75th running of the Kentucky Derby, with Olympia still the horse to beat.

The ease with which F. W. Hooper's colt won the one-mile derby trial over six other contenders yesterday boosted his derby stock considerably.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who will ride Olympia in the $100,000-added would compare Olympia with his four derby winners—Larwin (1939), Whirlaway (1941), Hoop, Jr. (1945), and Citation (1948) —but said Tuesday night, "I wouldn't trade my chances with anyone" in Saturday's classic.

Not pushed at any stage, Olympia ran the mile in 1:37 3-5, the same time hung up by Citation last year in winning the trial with the same ease. Citation is the only horse ever to win both the trial and the Derby.

Northern Cities Open Season

By The Associated Press.

The International League's northern cities celebrate opening today and a total of 70,000 fans are expected to take in the four games.

Largest gathering of the day is expected at Montreal, where the defending champions take on the tough Baltimore Orioles. The Royal management is looking for around 16,000 to 22,000 fans to sho wup. Rookie Omar (Turk) Lown, who has a record of 0-2, will pitch for Montreal instead of Don Newcombe who has a sore arm, and hard-working Al Widmar for the Orioles. Widmar already has won four games for the vostly-improved Orioles.

Buffalo Bisons entertain the Syracuse Chiefs and a crowd near or in excess of the 17,472 record opening gate of 1946 is expected.

Toronto Maple Leafs take on the Newark Bears in their home opener with 16,000 of the faithful expected. Veteran left-hander Oscar Judd will open for the Leafs with either Bill Hoop or Duane Pillette as his opponent.

Cornwall Editor Completes 60 Years With Newspaper

By A. E. GRATTON
Canadian Press Correspondent

CORNWALL,— (CP) —Sixty years in the newspaper business and still going strong is the record of genial George Wilson, district editor of The Cornwall Daily Standard-Freeholder. And backing this unusual record is a varied career which for loyalty and efficiency as a small-town newspaper man has few parallels in Canadian journalism.

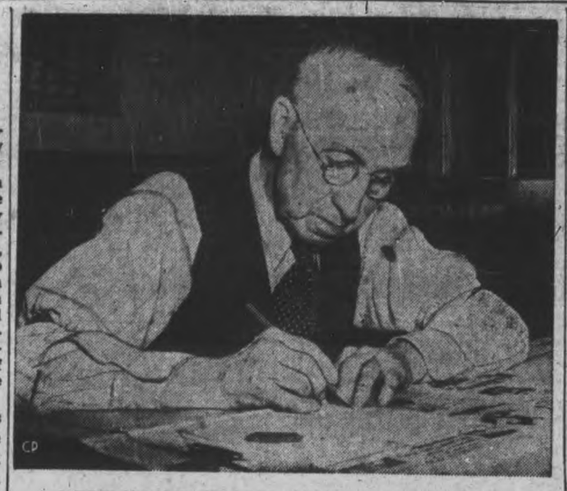
It was in the summer of 1889 that a red-haired youth started to work as a printer's devil at The Cornwall Standard, a weekly newspaper published by the late Col. R. R. (Big Rory) MacLennan, former Glengarry M.P.P. and star athlete whose feats of strength still are a legend in this district. Within a short time, young Wilson learned the compositor's trade and later became an operator of a monoline, predecessor to the present-day linotype.

For some years Mr. Wilson was employed as a monoline operator and reporter. Shortly after The Standard was purchased by the late William Gibbens, he left the mechanical staff to become a full-time reporter, a position he held for more than 40 years before being appointed district editor of The Standard-Freeholder in 1932. This appointment followed amalgamation of the two Cornwall weeklies—The Standard and The Freeholder.

Since then Mr. Wilson has been a valued member of The Standard-Freeholder's editorial staff and has become well known locally as conductor of his "Down The Lane" column, a weekly feature devoted to old-time city and district personalities and news happenings.

For more than 30 years, Mr. Wilson has been Cornwall correspondent of the Montreal Gazette. Other papers which he served as local correspondent included the Ottawa Journal and the Watertown, N. Y., Daily Times.

Some of the major stories he has covered for his own and out-of-town newspapers include the collapse of the New York-Ottawa railroad bridge span in 1898 in which 17 men were killed; the million-dollar Cornwall business district fire of 1933; the Cornwall-Massena earthquake of 1944. For many years, he covered the lacrosse beat when Cornwall teams were prominent in Canada's national game.



VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN—George Wilson, veteran reporter and district editor of the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, this year marks 60 years as a working newspaper man. Still in good health and on the job every day, Mr. Wilson is a reporter of the old school and, as this shows, writes all his copy by hand.

President Executed

First Summer Resort In Havelock Area Sold

HAVELOCK, May 4 (ENS)—The King homestead, Belmont Lake, where the first summer resort of this district was established by the late Noah King, has been sold by his son, Horace King, to George Wilde of Chemong Lake, formerly of Havelock. When Noah King, one of the pioneers of Belmont Township, came to make his home in this vicinity from Lennox and Addington County, the site he chose for his home was woods.

Ardent Fisherman

Mr. King, an ardent hunter and fisherman, realized the possibilities that Belmont Lake could offer as an attraction to anglers during the fishing season, decided to open a summer resort.

Following Mr. King's death in 1926, his son, Horace King, carried on the work. He and his family vacated the farm last Thursday to take up residence in Peterborough.

Both father and son were known to a host of Canadians and Americans as expert guides.

Hoping India To Form Branch

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP) — The The general council of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association said Tuesday it hopes India will form a branch of the Association now that Commonwealth Prime Ministers have decided to permit the new Republic to stay within the Commonwealth.

In a statement the council said that a new constitution for the semi-official organization of members of Commonwealth parliaments was approved at the five-day conference here presided over by Senator Arthur Roebuck of Toronto. The council also voted to hold the next meeting of the Association in New Zealand in 1950.

Sixteen delegates from Commonwealth countries attended the council meeting.

The new constitution resulted from a decision of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in the United Kingdom last fall to form a council on which all the Association's 41 branches would be represented.

The delegates leave Ottawa today for Quebec and visit Toronto Thursday before leaving Sunday for Washington.

On the Canadian delegation were Dr. Gaspard Fauteux, speaker of the Commons, and Rev. M. C. Davies, speaker of the Ontario Legislature.

Require $50,000 To Replace CAS Shelter

Transfer of the Children's Aid Society property, George St. south, to the Memorial Community Centre committee would involve the council in substitutional expenditure of approximately $50,000.

That was the pith of a discussion by representatives of the council and Society Tuesday afternoon.

The Society would require a new building elsewhere, constructed for its special needs in the care of its wards. Rough plans prepared a year ago, Mr. Fred Ash said, proposed quarters 35 ft by 50 ft., with basement and two storeys, providing 49,000 cu. ft. On the basis of 75c a cu. ft., as estimated at that time, the cost of the building would be $37,000. Fire escapes, furnishings, and the site would probably swell the outlay to $50,000, possibly $55,000, Mr. Ash of C.A.S. told the meeting.

This conference with Mayor Swanston presiding was occasioned by the recent request of the Memorial Centre committee for definite information respecting their preference for the south end location.

Minute of the council showed that negotiations were opened between the council and the Society, but were not concluded. The fact that they were left in suspension, Mayor Swanston remarked, was apparently an oversight.

Willing To Co-operate

Mr. James Dutton recalled that from the outset the Children's Aid Society had expressed its willingness to co-operate with the council in its efforts to secure a site for the Memorial Centre, but, he said, the initiative should come from the council. "I'd like to make it clear that at no time was there any mention of a valuation of $75,000 as mentioned at the recent meeting of the Centre committee, as reported. The question of value of the property in this instance never definitely entered the picture. There was mention of an offer of $50,000 which the Society had received, but that is as far as the matter of value went."

Mr. Dutton expressed the position of the Society that if the council wished to acquire the property it should be prepared to provide a new building and sufficient land suitable to the requirements of the Society for the care of the children entrusted to it. The accommodation of the Shelter is for 16 wards. There are now 11, but at times the number has been up to 21.

Mr. J. A. Jebson, chairman of the Centre committee, said the committee was concerned chiefly about the lack of any conclusive information about the availability of the CAS property.

Ask Written Statement

"The committee would like to have a written statement from the council, so that if this site was ever raised in question we would have the answer on file," Mr Jebson explained. "The CAS property was the committee's first choice, Burnham St. site second and the Nicholls Oval third. If we had a letter from the council saying that the Society's lot is not available, that it involves too much cost, I think that is all the Memorial Centre committee is asking. They could then consider the Burnham St. property, but we would like to have that other record, because some day some person might ask why we did not get the Children's Aid location."

City Clerk Outram quoted memoranda from his minutes indicating this matter had been discussed at a meeting April 5, 1948, but it had not subsequently been brought to conclusion.

Mr. T. T. Rodger of CAS commented that the Society's offer to the council was not being extended to any one else. As to the suggestion 12 months ago that the Society might be willing to move to the Queen Mary Hospital when it became vacant, Mr. Dutton said that was unthinkable, and he was confident that he was expressing the views of the members of the Society.

In Poor Condition

"No one knows that building better than I do," said Mr. Dutton, incidentally chairman of the Board of Health which was in charge of the isolation hospital until it was transferred to the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital. He said it was "in poor condition," was not suitable for the purposes of the Society, and would entail heavy maintenance cost.

Ald. P. J. Anglesey asked whether the Centre committee "would forget about the Shelter site in view of the cost of a new building that has been mentioned?"

Ald. Dodds went further. He proposed that the Centre committee "be advised that the CAS property is not available because of excessive cost."

Mayor Swanston finally said that the information received from the CAS representatives could be reported to the council for discussion.

The CAS was represented by T T. Rodger, president, James Dutton, Fred Ash, J. McKerchar of Lakefield; the Centre committee by James Hamilton, Herbert Bradburn and J. A. Jebson, and the council by Mayor Swanston, Aldermen Dodds, Anglesey, Young, Raine, Gillespie.

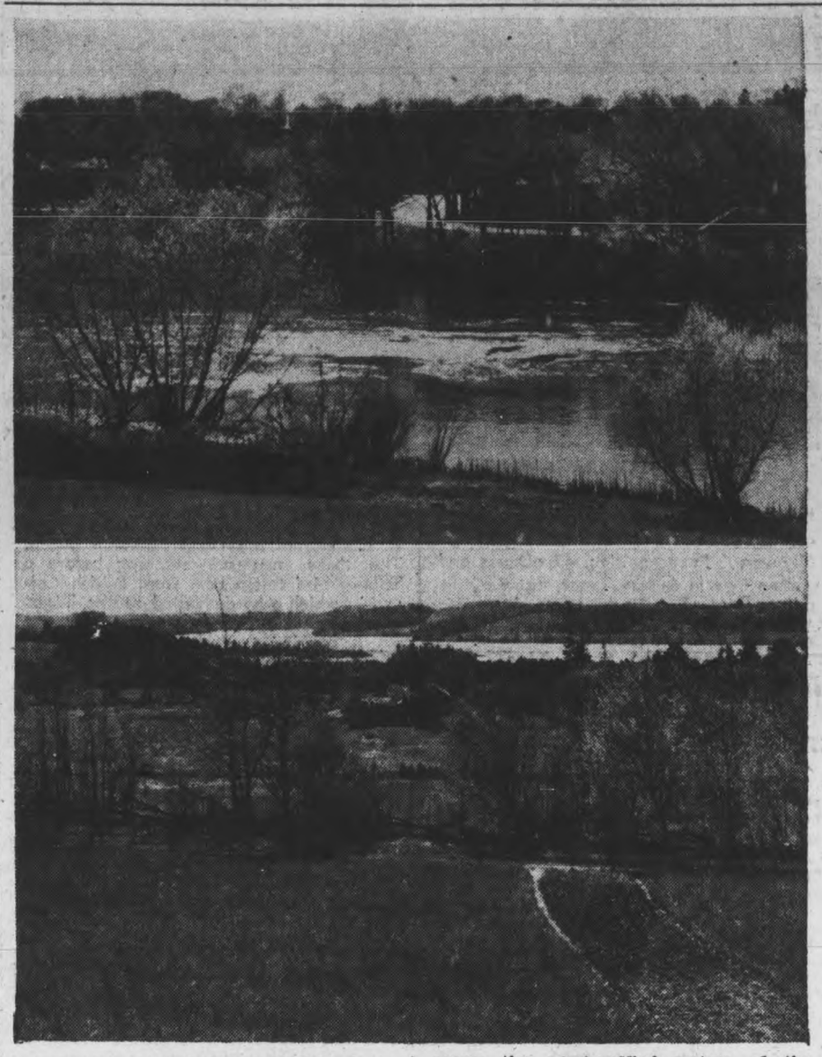
BIRTH RATE DROPS

Statistically, Peterborough declined across the board in the records at the city hall. Vitally, nuptially and mortally, the retreat was general from the levels of April 1948. Here they are as reported at the office of City Clerk Outram for April: Births, 132; deaths, 46, and marriages, 26. And for April last year: Births, 166; deaths, 60 and marriages 30.

WARRANT ISSUED

A warrant was issued today for the arrest of William Bernard who organized a program of entertainment entitled Truth and Consequences in Brock Arena in March. Bernard failed to appear in answer to a summons to city police court today to face a charge of failing to pay $22.50 in wages to Norman Howard.



INDIANS NAMED THE DISTRICT the "Kawarthas", which is supposed to mean the Land of Shining Waters. It applies to the heart of the city as shown in the Upper photo with the bright May sun shining across the wind-ruffled waters of the Goose Pond on Water St., as well as the surrounding lakes chain. In the Lower photo, the south-western tip of Chemong Lake glitters in the rolling countryside of Smith township.

Men, Women and Children Take Part In Sucker Drive

The village of Westwood was a mecca for sucker fishermen on Tuesday as hundreds, armed with sacks and pitchforks, came from Stirling, Madoc and Campbellford and surrounding farms to the mile stretch of the Little Ouse River from the village mill to the Breckenridge farm.

On Monday evening mill owner removed the stop logs from the grist mill dam to allow millions of suckers to swim upstream in deeper water. It also lowered the retaining pond six feet. Early Tuesday morning the stoplogs were again put in place and the River below the dam drained off until only a foot of water remained in a mile-long stretch. It was alive with trapped suckers.

The school was closed in the morning and men, women and children waded the drained river bed with pitchforks to throw fish ashore to companions who popped them into sacks.

One man operated a large net that yielded him a dozen suckers per minute per dip. It was hard work, but fun, and under the strict supervision of deputy Game Warden Max Humphries and Frank Taylor of Birdsall's. Some bass were netted and thrown back into the stream but neither trout nor pickerel were found.

The sucker drive at Westwood, which has been going on for many years, meets with the approval of the Department of Lands and Forests. At this point a natural water trap can be set up by the simple arrangement of manipulating water levels. The sport gets rid of suckers that feed on game fish spawn and fishermen are able to put their catches in cold storage for future meals throughout the summer. Mr. Russell reported that some of the participants each took home as many as eight bags of suckers. In his estimation, the run was only fair and did not produce a record of fish in the trap that had been taken in previous years.

Plan To Do Honor To Examiner Editor

Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, and leading Canadian author, playwright, and drama producer, will be made an honorary member of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce in recognition of "his sterling work in the literary field and on behalf of the Peterborough Little Theatre," it was announced by W. M. Gemmell, president of the Chamber, Tuesday night. Mr. Gemmell made the announcement at a joint banquet of the Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Personnel Association held in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Gemmell said that the Chamber had planned to instal Mr. Davies as an honorary member at this banquet, but Mr. Davies was unable to be present because of a previous engagement. A membership scroll will be presented to Mr. Davies at a later date in "recognition of the outstanding work he has done in these fields."

Golf Clubs Set To Tee Off

Golf courses at the Kawartha and Peterborough Clubs are being prepared for the opening of the season, which runs about four and a half months. The official opening for the Peterborough Golf Club is May 14 for men, with the ladies starting off on May 31. The Kawartha Club ladies open May 19, with the men getting off two days later. In the meantime, both clubs report a heavy play last week-end and even more may be roaming the links this Saturday and Sunday, if the fine weather continues.

A good supply of equipment is on hand in both pro shops, Gordon Harrison of Peterborough and Lex Robson of Kawartha report. Future orders may require a few months to fill, though, according to sports dealers. The ground is rapidly drying out and both courses should be in first class shape within two weeks, club officials state. The greens-keepers have been busy in recent weeks and expect excellent results shortly if not too much rain falls. Large memberships again are indicated, including many young golfers.

Unions, Employees Must Get Facts on Operation Warns Industrial Relations Authority

Unless management takes trade union members more greatly into its confidence in respect to the problems of industry, the workers of this continent will like the trade unionists of England, forsake private enterprise and embrace nationalization of industry. This was the challenge thrown out to a large gathering of Peterborough industrial personnel men and Chamber of Commerce members Tuesday night in the Empress Hotel by R. K. Burns, head of the Industrial Relations Centre of the University of Chicago.

Members of unions and employees generally must be given more facts on the operations of the companies for which they work, if harmonious employer-employee relations are to be achieved; continuation of "a stand-off policy by management will be self-defeating and costly", declared Dr. Burns. He added: "In no sense will this procedure diminish management's prerogatives; it is only plain common sense".

Dr. Burns was guest speaker at the first joint banquet held by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and the recently formed Personnel Association of Peterborough since organization of the latter group about two months ago. W. M. Gemmell, Chamber of Commerce president, presided and the speaker was introduced by C. B. Neal, vice-president and general manager of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co., who was instrumental in bringing Dr. Burns to Peterborough. The speaker is also personnel director for this company in Chicago.

To back up his warning, Dr. Burns told his audience that 1,000 British industrialists whose plants have been nationalized since the Labor government took office stated in answer to a questionnaire that if they were ever denationalized they would certainly pay much more attention to bettering employer-employee relations than they did before nationalization.

Management Responsibility

The primary responsibility for bringing about healthier attitudes between the employer and the employed rests upon management, who alone have the power to take the necessary remedial action, said Dr. Burns, who indicated his belief that industry had little time to lose in doing its part in preserving the free world from the onslaughts of militant groups of the left.

Management must recognize that "unions are here to stay and have a real contribution to make" to industrial stability. In a glance at the union's side of the picture, the speaker noted an encouraging trend developing in the United States of unions graduating from the "collective bargaining stage" to a new concept of co-operative discussion with industry on problems affecting both sides.

Leaders of industry could also do a great deal more to better acquaint the workers with the superiority of the democratic system of free enterprise over that of the Communist-controlled states. "In most industrial plants in America the employees are abysmally ignorant of the principles of our economic order and the stake they have in it," said Dr. Burns.

Human Factor

"Good union-management relations are much more important now than they have ever been before and the success or failure of many companies in the future will depend upon the way in which they handle the human factor, as distinct from purely physical considerations of plant equipment."

Company executives should so direct their business operations that their plant will become known in the community "as a good place to work," the speaker advised. He declared that many employers do not understand the essential nature of unionism, which is a necessary prelude to seeking employee co-operation.

"Most management people today are not acquainted with the innermost feelings and thoughts of the people who are working for them. A much greater degree of understanding must be reached between them if radicalism is to be crushed. The average worker now demands that he have some say in the operation of his industry. If he were confronted from time to time by his employers with the nature of some of the latter's problems, he would be more inclined to recognize that employers, too, have difficulties to iron out as well as the workers. Mutual solution of these problems is the target to aim at.

Ways of bringing about this goal enumerated by Dr. Burns included: good procedure for hearing of grievances, more training and education at all levels (supervisory, executive and worker himself), adequate seniority program, clearly mapped-out avenues of promotion, and such welfare services as retirement fund, medical aid plan, and recreational opportunities.

Describe Aims

Thanks of the gathering for his speech were tendered to Dr. Burns by J. E. Girven, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce and assistant works manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd.

General aim of the new Personnel Association was described by the president, George Barns, personnel director for Canada Packers, Ltd., here, as an endeavor to bring about "an ever-improving approach to personnel problems." He introduced as guests Arthur Kane and Fred Wyse, members of the Toronto Leaside Personnel Association.

Others seated at the head table beside those already mentioned were: F. McMann, of the Matthews Conveyor Co., Port Hope, and executive member of the Personnel Association; Al Thompson, of A. Wander, Ltd., secretary; Reg Reid, vice-president, Personnel Association and personnel director of Outboard Marine; and J. Blake Ball, treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce and comptroller of Quaker Oats Co.

THREE MINOR FIRES

Two grass fires were reported on Tuesday. The first was shortly before 1 p.m. at a vacant field at 987 Western Ave., owned by Mrs. A. Roger, and the second was on a lot located on George St., near the Civic Hospital and owned by the Bell Telephone Co. A chimney fire broke out at the residence of J. Peel, Edinburgh St., on Tuesday night.

Pastor Accepts Call To Remain On Circuit

ROSENEATH, May 4 (ENS) — At a congregational meeting and a meeting of the Official Board of Roseneath United Church circuit, Rev. R. C. White was extended a unanimous invitation to remain on the circuit another year. The invitation was accepted by Mr. White who is beginning his sixth year in this charge in June. The churches on this circuit are Roseneath, Fenella and Centenary.

During the past few days the ladies of these three churches, under the supervision of Mrs. Charles Sandercock, convener of the parsonage committee, redecorated four rooms in the parsonage. They also purchased a new rug for the study and new shades for the windows.

A baptismal service was held at Roseneath United Church on Sunday. The babies baptized by the pastor, Rev. R. C. White, were: Karen Lavigne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Halstead; James Ivan Lynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thackeray; Dennis Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Mouncey.

Commonwealth Held Together By India's Move

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP)—Fears that failure to keep India in might have meant the disintegration of the Commonwealth were held by Canada's External Affairs Department until the recent London conference dissolved them, a high official said Tuesday.

He also said:

1. The conference of Prime Ministers debated "a good deal" about the future name of the Commonwealth and finally left it up to member nations to call it what they wish. The official conference communique called it "Commonwealth of Nations," the phrase which apparently is approved by the Canadian Government although no formal rule has been laid down.

2. The communique also omitted any reference to "dominions" with the result that "I don't know just what we are."

3. There will have to be a change in the title of the King which eventually will find its way to Canadian coins.

4. Rather than disintegration, the continuance of India as a Commonwealth member opens the way for changes of status of other areas within the present framework. Thus a colony could become a republic or a dominion. But the change has no effect on admission of outside countries; that would be another new problem.

The decision to allow India to stay in as an autonomous republic with no constitutional link to the king but rescognizing him as head of the Commonwealth means, he smiled, "that we've made provision for everything now but another monarchy."

For Canada, his Majesty now has a dual role, as King of Canada and head of the Commonwealth of which Canada is a member. But the "big thing" about the conference was "that the Commonwealth hasn't broken up."

Girl Tugboat Captain Training To Be Doctor

KINGSTON, May 4—(CP)— A girl tugboat captain from British Columbia and her husband who hails from Newfoundland are completing their fifth-year medical studies at Queen's University.

As soon as examinations are over, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Gulliford plan to buy an automobile, drive west to check up on a Fraser river tugboat service Mrs. Gulliford owns and then intern for two months in the hospital at New Westminster, B.C.

Eve Gulliford first came here from New Westminster, her husband from St. John's Ffld.

R.C.A.F. REMEMBERS — When United States citizens crossed the border to join the RCAF during the war, most of them claimed to be from Texas and many actually were. In recognition, 49 officers and airmen flew to Austin, Texas, last week to pay tribute. This RCAF photo shows Air Vice Marshal K. M. Guthrie, former commander of the Northwest Air Command who headed the group, presenting a Canadian ensign to Governor Beauford Jester, centre, of Texas. At right is Maj.-Gen. K. L. Berry of the Texas National Guard. The three men are standing before a Thunderbird totem pole from British Columbia which was dedicated to the Texas airmen as part of the ceremonies.

UN Passes Unpopular Press Law

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 4 (CP)—The United Nations Social Committee Tuesday adopted a measure on freedom of the press which was rejected by Britain, the United States and Canada.

The vote on the article was 18 to 12 with 12 abstentions.

Ernest Davies of Britain, former press secretary to Prime Minister Attlee, said he was "very doubtful" Britain could sign a treaty containing the provision.

The article would allow governments to restrict free flow of information within and across their borders in order to prevent "the diffusion of false or distorted reports which undermine friendly relations between peoples of states."

Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor and United States delegate, told reporters it was the most serious of a number of amendments the 58-member committee wrote into article 2 of a draft convention on freedom of information.

Canham said the United States could not accept the "mongrel" article that resulted.

Both he and Davies said one result they feared was peacetime censorship on grounds other than national defence.

Britain Forced To Take Emergency Step

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Pres Business Editor

Sometimes, from current comment, one would almost get the idea that Britain, Canada, and the United States could be forever prosperous just be trading back and forth across the North Atlantic.

Conceivably, but not probably, you could set up Canada and the United States as a self-contained economy which could live unto itself.

Include Britain in, and you must at once forget about building walls around any selected group in this world.

Britain will trade on a world-wide basis, or perish as the Britain which she has been.

Don't Condemn

That is one reason it is not well to condemn lightly the bilateral deals which she has made with various European countries.

If she believed in that sort of trading it would be one thing, but she doesn't, and accordingly it can be hoped that these are short-term measures to achieve an immediate aim.

They can be bad, but if they are merely a means to get European trade rolling, they can result in good.

Canada has had a similar experience. In November, 1947, she put into effect trade restrictions which were against all her trading principles. For the time being, at least, they have accomplished must of their purpose, and most of them have been removed within a year and a half.

No one believes in breathing with a pulmotor all the time, but if you have been drowning it may be necessary for a while.

Fine Heckling Night But No Broken Bones

LONDON, May 4—(CP) — It was a fine night for heckling but there were no broken heads Tuesday when Sir Basil Brooke and Eamon de Valera discussed the knotty questions of Irish partition in adjoining halls.

Boos, hisses and flying pamphlets featured the address by the prime minister of Northern Ireland on "a united empire." Sir Basil promised that the British people of Northern Ireland would always remain within the "British Empire . . . the world's happiest essay in the art of government."

Things were quieter across the road where de Valera, former prime minister of Eire, locked horns with Professor D. L. Savory, Conservative member of the House of Commons in a debate on whether partition should be ended.

[illegible] under the auspices of the Fleet-Street parliament, a group of about 600 newspaper men and friends. The house did not divide on the issue and the session closed quietly.

Pupils Hurt Playing

DARTFORD, May 4 (ENS) —Raymond Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward, fractured his arm while playing in the yard at S.S. No. 5 School recently. He was taken to Belleville Hospital where the limb was set.

The next day Gordon Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr, broke his leg while playing in the same school yard.

Royal Commission On Arts Not To Be Highbrow Affair

By GEORGE KITCHEN.

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP) —Canada's Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences isn't going to be a "highbrow" affair.

That is the word of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, the engaging Chancellor of the University of Toronto, who is chairman of the so-called "omnibus" commission.

He announced to a press conference yesterday that the Commission will open a Canada-wide tour with public hearings beginning in Ottawa Aug. 1 and continuing across the country until early next year.

At the same time, said the Commission isn't going to inflict "culture" on anybody or establish "standards of taste."

Rather, the Commission's work would move along the level of the average man, with the aim of developing Canadian arts, music, letters and sciences to their fullest.

Outline Trips

The hearings opened here Aug. 1, said Mr. Massey, will last about five weeks. Then, in the first week of September, the Commission will open a western tour which will take it to Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

From the west, it will move to Toronto, Montreal and Quebec and, in January, 1950, hold sittings in Fredericton, Halifax, Charlottetown and St. John's, Nfld. The Commission may visit other centres.

The Commission's study will touch on fields which come under federal jurisdiction, such as radio, television, the National Gallery, the National War Museum and the question of a National Library. It will not deal with education as such nor other subjects which come under provincial jurisdiction.

In addition to the organizations which will appear before it, the Commission also may hear representations from individuals.

He could not estimate when the Commission will complete its work and report to the government, but he conceded that it might make an interim report, perhaps on television, before the main task is done.

Conservative Party Has 14-Point Program

ST. JOHN'S, May 4—(CP) — The Progressive Conservative party Tuesday announced a 14-point platform for the first Newfoundland election to be held May 27.

The party—which already has named 17 candidates for the 28-seat province—says that it believes "Newfoundland must have greater assurance of her ability to maintain the high standards of public services which now prevail" and declares its intention "to strive with all its power for improved financial terms."

It had earlier been intimated by national leader George Drew on a campaign tour here that financial terms of confederation were unsatisfactory to the Progressive Conservative party.

Firefighters To Seek Royal Commission

TORONTO, May 4 — (CP)— Don Dunlop, president of the Toronto Firefighters' Association, said Tuesday his group may seek appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate the position of City Fire Marshal Sam Hill.

A special sub-committee of city council yesterday recommended abolition of the city fire marshal post. The sub-committee said Fire Chief Peter Herd should have control in all matters of fire prevention and inspection.

If the recommendation is accepted, Hill will revert to his rank of captain in the fire department.

Dunlop charged that the fire marshal's position was "a duplication of jobs in the first place. That job was created just for Sam Hill's benefit."

An English doctor is said to require a clientele of 1,400 to 1,500 patients to earn a fair living.

Leopold Wants Throne Back

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 4—(AP) — Exiled King Leopold Tuesday made it clear he wants to return to the throne of Belgium.

In a letter to his brother, Prince Charles, Belgian regent, the king said:

"I am convinced you are sharing my views that the time has come for a return to constitutional normalcy."

This would mean an end of the regency.

The insistence of the king that the present situation be ended indicates he wants to wind up the regency. This could be done only by parliament, where a small majority still is opposed to Leopold's return. However, national elections to be held by the end of June may change the balance in favor of the king.

Leopold surrendered the Belgian forces to the Germans early in the second world war and became a prisoner-of-war. His action in this respect has been criticized by many Belgians. The king since the war has lived in exile in Switzerland.

Veteran Bus Driver Loses His Licence

MONTREAL, May 4 (CP) — Donald McDonald, a veteran autobus driver who never had an accident, but whose driving so worried 30 passengers recently that they staged a sit-down strike, Tuesday was found guilty of reckless driving.

McDonald, who has been driving autobuses and taxis for 28 years, was fined $25 and his driver's license was cancelled for three months.

A number of his bus passengers told the court that during a Sunday "drive to nowhere," McDonald drove around dangerous curves at an accelerated speed.

Driver Saves Houses

WESTON, May 4, (CP)—But for the presence of mind of truck driver Roy Northrop of Woodbridge, a whole row of houses might have been blown up, police said Tuesday. Workmen were resurfacing a road with oil from Northrop's truck when a cigaret butt ignited the oil on the road and flames shot 15 to 20 feet into the air. Nothrop calmly started the engine and drove the oil laden truck through the flames to a spot that hadn't been oiled. Workmen extinguished the blaze before it could spread to the nearby row of houses. Little damage was caused.

Suspend Newspaper

SEOUL, Korea, May 4.—(AP)—The government party today announced temporary suspension of Seoul's largest newspaper for "stories reflecting a support for the unlawful and totalitarian police state" of North Korea. North Korea is under Communist control, while South Korea recently became an independent republic.

54 WI Branches Organized In Past Year

GUELPH, May 4 (CP)—There are 44,150 women in Ontario towns and villages and on farms, who are enrolled in Women's Institute work now, as compared with 38,600 in 1948, Miss Anna P. Lewis, director of Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, told members of the Federated Women's Institute today. Miss Lewis was making her annual report to the spring board meeting at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Miss Lewis said th[illegible]re 1,327 Senior Women's Ins[illegible] the Province. During the past year 54 new branches were organized. Senior Women's Institutes number 774.

Discussing the co-operative program in home economics, the director said that special emphasis was placed on needs of the young matron and courses were revamped to help women cope with new pastwar responsibilities.

Miss Lewis announced that Miss Helen Kirchner, M.A., with the department for many years has been named supervisor of home economics effective April 1.

Reference was made in Miss Lewis' report to the Ontario committee for co-ordination in nutrition. Miss Lewis represents the Women's Institute Branch of the Department of Agriculture on this Committee. Dr. E. W. McHenry of the Public Health Institute, University of Toronto; Miss Mary Clarke, Department of Education and Dr. D. S. Puffer, Ontario Department of Health are other representatives on the committee.

A meeting of all heads of organizations in the Province, interested in nutritional problems, is planned for early in June.

W. D. Tolton, public relations director of the Ontario Agricultural College extended an invitation to members of the Women's Institutes to enjoy a holiday at the college. It was decided that the holiday would be arranged for July.

A donation of $5,000 toward the Women's Institute scholarship fund, has been promised for Sept. 1, it was disclosed. The scholarship fund is used for rural girls at MacDonald Institute and first awards were made in 1948. Previous donations from various branches of the Institute have already brought the fund up to $4,-[illegible]00. The latest gift is from Miss Katharine McCallum of Perth County. A scholarship under Miss McCallum's gift will be known as "The Katherine McCallum Ontario Women's Institute Scholarship."

Losers Entertain Winning Team Of St. James' WA

Banquet for the winning teams of St. James WA recent membership drive was given by the losing team Tuesday evening. Mrs. L. Gibson and Mrs. H. Ball, the loser's leaders, were hostesses to about 75 members. Tables were lovely with spring flowers. A vote of thanks was voiced by leader of the winners, Mrs. W. Davidson. It was announced that membership in the WA now stands at 103.

Devotional part of the meeting was led by Mrs. G. Seabrooke. Scripture was read by Mrs. W. Seabrooke. Mrs. Annie Wood and Mrs. Helen Pearson contributed a vocal duet, "Have you been in the garden with Jesus?"

Mrs. Fred Horton of the Dominion Women's Council of the United Church, was speaker, introduced by Mrs. Ross Moncrief. Speaking of WA work she said "This year we are entering the spirit of adventure and expectancy and must re-consecrate our lives to this work. Our 1949 motto is "advancing with the church." Members were interested in the fact there are 155,200 members in Canada.

The speaker outlined four main points of the work: 1, spiritual with the Bible as guide book; 2, educational in relationship to the church; 3, sociability, a friend to all; 4, financial aid to church. One of the first duties of the WA is to look after the personage and assist the minister she said. "Make failures of the past stepping stones of the future," she said in conclusion.

Mrs. G. Harris, president, conducted the business discussion.

Mark Anniversary

Fifth anniversary of Watch Tower Lodge No. 515, Loyal True Blue Association, was celebrated in the city Saturday with visiting lodges from Toronto, Lindsay, Port Hope, Campbellford and Apsley making an attendance of 150 members. A social evening of dancing and euchre followed. A decorated table in the centre of the room held the three-tier cake and first cut was made by M. E. Ktcheson, DDGM of Peterborough. While refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Martin and committee, draws were made for valuable prizes, donated for the occasion.

Women Argue in Washroom Men Then Fight It Out

When three women become involved in a squabble there is no telling what the outcome will be. Words may fly around in a triangle, and some members of the party might receive a few scratches. In some instances the women will take their troubles to their husbands for further action and when this happens the matter is often discussed rationally and then forgotten. On the other hand it may be considered that representations to the other parties might bring a satisfactory solution.

In this particular incident which was described before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., at city police court Tuesday, the squabble started in the ladies' wash room of a local restaurant. A heated exchange of words among the ladies resulted in a hand to hand fight between two men in a crowded restaurant during the course of which one of the ladies received a nasty blow on the face.

Conduct Resented

The woman in question, who was the complainant in the case, thought the two women who were locked in the wash room had had long enough to fix their make-up. Her continual bangs on the door were resented by the ladies within. What actually ensued appeared in court to be more a matter of opinion than of fact, but it seems there were some angry words which at least one of the women was not satisfied to leave unanswered.

A complaint to the husband of the complainant, who had been ordering supper during this interlude, was followed by his visiting a gentleman at another table—the gentleman being a brother of one of the other two women.

The matter having been discussed by the superior sexes, the husband duly returned to his table.

Here again there was a little discrepancy in reports of what followed next but there seems no doubt that the brother paid a return visit to the husband's table and a fight ensued in which the complainant received a badly cut face.

Claimed Hit By Shoe

The brother, who was facing a charge of assaulting the lady and occasioning bodily harm, maintains that he was hit by the lady's shoe, which she admits having removed from her foot.

The husband and wife both deny, however, that the brother was given any such provocation to strike back.

Returning to the initial cause of the quarrel, the court tried to establish who first introduced the quarrel. The evidence had done nothing to clear up this question and John Bradshaw, the Crown Attorney suggested that it was probably the two women who were already in the wash room when the third woman arrived. He had always considered that chewing gum was synonymous with crudeness and two of the defence witnesses had even been so indelicate as to chew gum in court.

A. L. Elliott, K.C., defence counsel, thought that the men had been most unfortunate in being drawn into the ladies' quarrel at all.

The magistrate felt that the accused may have had some provocation for annoyance although he could not justify the force of the blow which had cut the lady's face. The charge against the accused was reduced from one of assault with bodily harm, to common assault. The man paid $10 and $11 costs.

Held In Greece

ATHENS, May 4.—(Reuters).—A Romanian student and a police officer from that country, who refused to return to Bucharest after the student had forced a Romanian passenger plane to land in Greece, were brought to Athens yesterday. They will be questioned by the United Nations Special Balkans Commission. The student declared himself an anti-Communist and the police officer said he feared to return because he would be held responsible for letting the student succeed in his escape plot.
